Our 2004 season was spectacular. Pre-camp was thrilling – working with our leadership team provided a strong foreshadowing of the amazing summer that lay ahead. Activities that stand out are: Camp Idol and the other two great theater shows, Damn Yankees and the Disney Review; July 4th brought inflatable castle-shaped moonwalks and “professional” slip & slides that added an amazing spark to our annual carnival; an intense Color War was kicked off by a helicopter green-and-white-ball drop; numerous mountain trips peaked campers experiences, especially when our older kids summited Katahdin; the all-camp trip to Ogunquit brought great fun in the sun; and special visits from pirates and Court Jesters basketball players rounded out eight weeks of exhilaration.

Two staff members celebrated significant anniversaries – Steve “Taz” Barndt completed his 20th summer and Michelle Brockmann completed her 15th summer. Taz is a unique man who has an unwavering dedication to Robin Hood and our Riflery Program. Taz spends countless hours teaching our campers how to properly manage rifles in an atmosphere where safety is paramount. Our intercamp riflery teams are second to none. Michelle is a camp director’s dream – she is levelheaded, competent, reliable and loyal. Michelle handles many tasks from camper and parent issues to inspection to water skiing, not to mention her special role as mom to delightful Mikey and Julia.

As we meet with potential families, we are often asked what makes Robin Hood different from other camps. Our answer is easy – it’s our friendships – the ones that transcend borders, ages and time. We see from generation to generation the lifelong friendships that begin at The Realm, and it is these relationships that enrich all of our lives.

Our first summer has been a dream come true. We thank our phenomenal administration for their tireless energy and enthusiasm, and we thank Drew, John and Joan for extending us the opportunity. It is a distinct privilege to be the owners and directors of Camp Robin Hood, and we look forward to many more summers to come.

See you June 25th!

Bring it in PJs!! OK guys, countoff...oh, that's right, we never were too good at that but oh well, we got it down in week 7! Now gather round, find your favorite place - other than camp - and get comfortable because we're about to travel back to the amazing summer of 2004 and remember all about an outstanding group of Tinkers, Pagers, Jugglers, and one Teeny Tinker so lets go!

Remember opening day and everyone rolling into The Realm, the whole bunch of us together from day one with a couple of additions along the way. Mikey, Mark, Julian, Steven, Justin (JAG) Golenberg, Jake, Dylan (ladiesman), Jason, Alex (Sloss), Adam Sez, Brandon (BT) Taylor and last but certainly not least Justin Zipkin also known as DKE with one or two...minutes where he was or at least tried to be CKE. We also had a couple of unexpected but nonetheless welcome TPJs along the way such as Jonathon and Micah.

Remember the first evening activity - RAMPAGE!!!...Running through camp with water balloons and face paint spreading chaos wherever we went. Remember bombarding the Bards with water balloons and Wendy getting very angry, charging through camp making sure everyone knew the PJ's of 2004 were in The Realm! Remember not knowing anyone's name...for two weeks some of you, remember "I don't think the syrup likes me" BT, capture the flag and challenges galore. Remember ice skating and Micah being the best skater - ever... Mikey better off not holding Chris and Meltzer's hand and everyone playing on the arcades... "There's ice-skating here?!" and the intense game of air hockey.

Remember the great storm of 2004 and most of you sleeping through the whole thing, staff more scared than the kids! Remember Candy Canteen and sugar rushes... "Never again!"...taking a trip down to Andy's trailer and finding "Little Tommy's" cross...we never did find out about him! Remember PJ night, Dick getting yelled at by Chuck and Sez's diss list...Remember Jason getting dragged by the sailboat and the sinking ship. Remember Mikey sleeping over and then never really leaving...Micah going home the day he passed his 16 laps and Mark getting attacked by a chipmunk... apparently.

Remember "What's brown and sticky?" and Sam's reply...remember July 4th and it being one of the best days ever!! Sunshine, slip n slides, bouncy castles, cotton candy, sunsets and fireworks on the beach... missing the grand finale! Remember the first night of Camp Idol...Chris duets with Nati, amazing costumes and goes through to round 2!!...Remember the 24 hours of madness...climbing Green Mountain, Chris, Mark, Steven and Mikey getting lost but not really, Adam Sez 'rockboarding'... remember then going right to the outpost, telling jokes, campfires, fajitas and Smores... "Hey Dobry, did you Rikleen your teeth last night?"...remember when we learned how to toast the perfect marshmallow and getting up the next morning at 7am for a playday at West End. Remember the awesome game of soccer and being robbed in penalties, remember being robbed again in softball, newcomb and basketball, but oh well, we had fun...right!!!

Remember boys camp fire, PJ's getting their Saxon brothers, the storyteller, bugsrays and Green and White fake breaks! Remember using Dougie's hair as a pillow, swimming in the rain...but why wouldn't you go when the sun shone? Remember Jake getting hit by a bat and a ball in the same place but taking it well. Remember rainy days - we had plenty - and watching Nemo, Miracle and Field of Dreams... "I bet this movie sucks...this is the best movie EVER!!" Remember Blue and White day with Birchmont, softball and soccer, Robin Hood sweeps and brings home the cup!

Remember Beach Day...20 minutes, football, sunburn, flying lobsters, boogie boards and freezing water...Dylan and Brandon leave early for the photo shoot that never happened...remember Zipkin - "If we built a bridge across the ocean we could drive to Canada!" Remember winning the Mrs. Whiteglove Award, tie dyes for everyone...remember everyone buying Madlibs, Zipkin being clean for a day, hmmm...and Mark saying "I can't use another racquet because my racquet's a lefty racquet"...Remember JAG remembering when we were writing

Remember When's...Mikey falling off the benches and "Can we nominate Ben?...He's still a camper" and Adam's butt comb...remember Mikey - "Stand up Julian, we haven't said grace yet for God's Sake!!"

Remember Uncle Bob and "Next time you say something stupid, I'm gonna kick you in the slats"...remember Sez Jello face and beating the TJ's at capture the flag, MVP Jake and the fab five...remember "I'm a Robin Hood man", 16 laps and riding the waves and Mark's glittery hair... "It looks just like the shampoo"... "Yes...but it's glitter sunscreen!"... "Ohhh". Remember talent night, Dylan and Brandon bring down the house - you guys rock... the big show and the Disney Spectacular - Hakuna Matata guys!

Remember when it was Parent's visiting, Julian leaves, missed by all, a day later Green and White breaks in a storm of Green and White balls and helicopter induced frenzies! Remember picking captains congrats to Adam, Dylan, Jake and Justin...was that Z or G? Remember early morning song practices, spelling bees, Dylan breaking his wrist - cast signed by every girl in camp!... cracker eating and intense competition, white wins again, everyone has fun and camp is reunited, steaks for the winners, comedy cookout for the losers.

Remember Derek...the half penguin, half eagle and a little bit fish that gives birth to turtles with his amazing apartment in Chris' lock box... "the most over-rated thing in like is...locks"...Remember Alex saying he actually saw Derek and no one believing Chris he was real - well guess who's helping me write this article...who's laughing now, oooohhhh!!! Remember circle games and charades "how many words in the title?"..."Ummmm"...one minute later..."One!" - Adam. Remember the buffalo game and SPUD. Remember when Adam, Alex and Brandon became Norbert H. Sunkenstein, Bernard Q. Stinkenbottom and Quentin Z. Fartenhoffer and Jason saying "Who's Jonathon?" and skydiving for evening activity - we never did get round to that did we?...there's always next year.

Remember excursion and the amazing time we had, going to putt putt, Chris loses against Julia and Simon, Alpine Slides, the girls getting lost, camping out, the late night movie and bears raiding our food! Remember day two, going the loooooong way to Funtown - Saco Maine via Russia...but having a blast when we got there...Remember the Excaliber, ranked number ten at what exactly, best kind of bolts used to construct a roller coaster maybe - but actually turning out to be an awesome ride!! Remember heading for home, getting lost, falling asleep - "Are we there yet?"...Dinner at the barn and the rest of Robin Hood being there - waiting an hour for the food, remember pulling back into The Realm and heading straight for the infirmary - PJ's remain lice-free - wah wahhhh!!!

Remember when Brandon was first on the benches and always there for meal time clean-up, when Mark didn't have glitter in his hair, when Julian was wearing the right shoes...remember when Steven was quiet and was first out of bed and Dobry was awake...remember when Mikey got paged by his mom...Dylan wasn't being admired by the ladies or wasn't at water ski... remember when Jason wasn't amazing at sports and Zipkin wasn't clean... remember any of this?...WE DON'T!!

Well fellas here we are at the end of the summer, and what an amazing summer this has been, as I write this you're all next door in the 'Superbed' with a few of you already at home but all of you being remembered right now by the guys, laughing and joking and remembering the awesome time we all had as the TPJ's of 2004, but it wouldn't have been possible without certain people. To my staff, thank you for your help, Meltzer and Dick, I couldn't have done it without you, you made my life so much easier this summer, you were incredible! To my friends in The Realm especially Herneya - you make me laugh every day, I miss you like crazy and I can't wait to see you again soon I know we'll be friends forever... 'We're on it!'.

And finally to the TPJ's, you guys were hilarious, zany, a little bit mischievous - Zipkin - but always fun, I can't wait to see you guys again next summer and watch you guys take over The Realm again as the TPJ's and Squires of 2005. Keep in touch my friends - remember letters by lunch - do the same thing but keep in touch with your bunkmates and we'll all be back together again soon in this place we all love so dearly...Robin Hood. Bye guys!

YAHTZEE!!!! Gentlemen, put down the gameboys, discmen, poker chips, and, yes, even pocket yahtz. Find a cozy spot, grab a snack, (try not to spill) and take a break from life in the real world to step back with me to the amazing summer of 2004. All of you were great this summer and remember, awards do not make or break a summer. My best two years as a camper were the two that I didn't win group awards.

To my staff: You guys were more than I could have asked for this summer. We never ran into any problems with our kids and had a great time while we were at it. Staff meetings were always eventful and ridiculous, and I want to thank you for making my life so much easier than it might have been this summer.

Squeak and Kevin – you guys both came a long way this summer. I'm proud of your progress and you should be as well. I'm excited to watch you come back and mature into solid members of the Robin Hood staff.

Aquino – I never imagined that we would become such good friends this summer. I knew that I needed you on my staff and you have exceeded my expectations on every level. No matter how much I make fun of you, it was my great privilege to be on your Green & White team and you were great.

Brenner – I was nervous at the beginning of the summer about working with one of my groupmates in a situation where we were not on equal footing. Working with one of my best friends in the world ended up being the best thing that could have ever happened to me in my first year as a group leader. You push me to be better and make sure I am always having fun. You bring so much to the table that I do not and the way we have complimented each other has made this an amazing summer for me and for the kids. We came together 9 years ago, and I would love to be on stage together sometime in the not too distant future. I hope very much that you are a group leader next summer, but if not, you bet I'm taking you with me wherever I go.

Finally, to my boys: you are a great group of kids. I have been so proud of all of you this summer and what you have accomplished and how far you have come. You have the potential to become one of the best groups that I have ever seen. Remember: above all else you are here for each other, and your friendships are the most important thing about camp and always will be. I hope that in nine years all of you will still come back as I do to be with your best friends in the world and pass the love for Robin Hood onto the next generation of camp leaders. Thank you so much for this summer. You have taught me more than you will ever know. I love all of you very much and I can't wait to see each of you back in The Realm on June 25th, 2005.

It's up to you all to come back and show Robin Hood what being a group is all about. I love you guys. To my staff, all I can say is what a year. From having the two best first year aides ever to having my best group mates, my staff could not be touched. I feel like we were far more than just co-workers, we were a family. Ah, Yeomen. It seems like only yesterday we were getting on our socks and shoes to play football on the soccer field for our first evening activity. Remember Kais getting overrun by a stampede of charging Yeomen? That game was a lot of fun, and it really set the tone for what was to be an amazing summer with a great bunch of kids and the coolest staff in camp. Let's see if we can remember it all.

First of all, the crew: Carlos, Bease, Chhaya the playa, Chent, Sloss, Wolfey, Globulus, JP, Alvaro, Cohen, Sheiny, Bruno, Weiss, and Viiiiiiiince. And the staff: A-Margo, Ferny, Tim, Kais, James, A-Nuts and Truck.

Remember William Hung, Sloss captures the flag against the Quills, wins bombardment the next day, the crowd goes wild! Remember doing push-ups, always being able to count on Wolf to join in, keep your butts down! Remember Fernando's distinctly Mexican manner of waking up all you deep sleepers (Haynes). What a beautiful smell.

Remember A-Nuts' stories: The one-and-only trip to the meat factory, the fun-filled adventure to the zoo, the clown at the pearly gates, one night in San Francisco, the old smelly guy at the bar, and the coffee shop. A-Nuts please tell us a story!

Remember when you left Trucker's belongings alone? He doesn't. His boxers will never be the same. Remember when Kais discovered what clogged the sink? Baaaaloons. No Kais, it's balloons. Ah yes, baaaloons. Utterly hopeless. And while we're on the subject, remember what we found in our sink in a plastic bag? What a pleasant surprise. Thank you puto. Remember when Sloss wasn't playing Gameboy in his free time, or when Sheiny wasn't reading Shonen Jump? Miserable! What about when Beaser decided to point out how JP has a beautiful smile. 20 Bedthrusts Chen! Haynes, clean your area!

Remember Tommy Boy and American Pie 2? Slossberg was loving it, especially the part where the deer wakes up in the back seat. Remember when Trucker almost killed Sheinman? Icy Hot! Oh my god it burns! Do it, do it, be cool, be cool. Waterfights with the Lancers, soaking James' area and getting some revenge on him for being mean to you guys on duty.

Ale Ale! Vinsanity! Ok Greg, you want to play hide and seek? I throw you off mountain. Who can find you? Alvaro's history lessons at meals. The Battle of Hastings! Weiss and Rex sharing the crown for most abysmal performance in my mother is. Imagine if they had been here at the same time. Oh the misery. Remember capture the flag against the Archers when Cox nailed Haynes? The rivalry begins...

Remember when everyone had shoes at any given time? We don't seem to recall. Jimon-Jimmy, Slam! Remember when Sloss ran to second with the bat in his hand? What about Aaron's broad and sophisticated taste in music? Dave Chappelle, Oscar, you're a grouch (you all know what comes next). The count impressions, Blink 182, Cheech and Chong.

Remember Weiss' eye roll, the family Weiss visits, his tearful goodbye. Fernando bonds with Mrs. Sheinman. Sloss's dad is dominant on the b-ball courts. No stupid questions! Chhaya flexing, Mr. Globus getting injured, Mr. Wolf playing sports with us. Like father, like son. The loft challenge, Chen making it up there. Carlos' sophisticated sense of humor and grasp of the English language. We have Senior Softball? Vince leaves on a jetplane, don't know when he'll be back again. I'm from Shaboogamooooo! Shaboogayomama. Vince's dance. Are you kidnapping me? Bruno the monkey child. Somebody get this boy a bundle of bananas.

Cohen's extensive vocabulary. Remember Independence Day? Glenn, Glenn, Glenn, Glenn! Roy, Roy, Roy, Roy! Sheiny's little brother staying with us for the night, and just the night. Praise Allah. Remember Dodgeball? If you can dodge a wrench, you can dodge a ball. What about the Village. If you have any questions about the movie, just ask Rex. He seemed to get it. Remember when James went to breakfast? Learned to waterski? Learned to press play? Camp Robin Hood does not. When James cut the soda lines and got ambushed by an angry Saxon staff? What about Kais' extensive repertoire of personal belongings. Does anyone actually live there? When the horse kicked Kais in the forehead. Kais' lunchtime skit.

Remember the 1st mountain trip? Sheiny probably chose to forget the whole experience. But how amazing was that generous dude who gave us water at the bottom? Sweet relief. Remember the Birchmont tennis tournament. Miserable, sorry boys.

Wolf and Beaser's constant whispering about A-Nuts and the list of adjectives. A-Nuts singing Disney songs. One time I go to Madrid and I kill a pig. Remember when we weren't playing team handball, or when Trent wasn't getting hurt? We don't.

Remember Trucker ball? Sloss' donut skit at the talent show. A-Nuts winning camp idol. Like a Mountain Monkey should be. A-Nuts, is your last name really Nuts? Remember when any Yeoman except for Haynes and Chen were capable of catching any sort of ball, frisbee, etc. We don't. We should've done that catching intensive period Trucker. Remember Truck and Fernando leaving? Boo-hoo, we missed you guys at the end. But as Sloss would say, that's the way the cookie crumbles! Remember Manin's Bocce periods, especially the one where Sloss' grandparents tagged along? Ha. Sloss' left hook on Carlos. Carlos' brilliant sense of personal space. I am box man! Stop saying stupid things!

Remember Sheiny judo-chopping A-Nuts in the eye with the broom. Settle down Babe. Remember bunk wrestling, A-Nuts as the incredible hulk, Wolf ending the fun by kicking A-Nuts in the junk in cold blood. You're lucky you could shoot me Wolf. Gold-bond pimp-smacks, Bruno making a playa-hata out of A-Nuts. Remember pow-wows on A-Nuts' bed? Alien brain! The minute's in 5 movie! Sheiny's leopard pillow. Umm, yeah. Kais, I'm gonna have to ask you to move your area into the other bunk, umm, yeah. Dehhhh. Baaaloons.

Remember Green and White. Congrats to Aaron and Chen for being captains, JP and Trent for being co's. Remember the foreign kids losing in soccer? You guys all fought hard and did a great job for your teams. I'm proud of you all.

Remember Excursion? So much fun. The pet store at Joker's, the infamous purchase of the eel. Remember transferring it from the bag into the tank? Remember when Valerie fed the eel cheese? He's dead! Oh wait, by some miracle he's still alive. When we hid him in the woods during water country? He survived! But then the fateful Day 2, Canobie Lake parking lot. We should've known he had no chance to survive in the van. It was just too much for the poor guy (tear). And so we cried and cried, and drove off to the site of his funeral/burial: some texas bbq restaurant parking lot. The woman sitting in her car next to us: What in god's name did they just do? Haynes cutting his foot and A-Nuts carrying him to the van. Go-carts. Margo ramrodding Sloss' car from behind. Tim's pleasant odors in the van on the way back. You stinky wallaby. Remember Tim hauling in entire tree trunks for his gargantuan Aussie fire at Pawtuckaway? What's in the basket Yogi? I like it but I hate it. The frog jumping into the fire. Wolf beating everyone in bowling. Sorry about not taking you guys to the meat factory, maybe next year.

In conclusion, I just want to thank every one of you for making this summer my most enjoyable yet as a counselor here at The Realm. You fellas are an amazing group of kids, and I wish I could be your counselor for as long as I stay here. Your future is bright at camp, so keep coming back. You won't regret it.

To my staff: I couldn't have done it without you. Most athletic staff in camp baby!

Truck, Margo and Fern, I love you guys, and I couldn't have asked for a better group of general counselors to have on my ship. We gave the kids all we had and in turn everyone had an amazing summer. Thanks for getting up when you didn't get enough sleep, going to periods that weren't your favorite, and being enthusiastic about the youngsters all summer. They won't ever forget what we've done for them, and that should make you all proud.

Finally, to the Yeomen of 2004, I love you all, and you will always be my boys.....

Love, A-Nuts

LANCERS

Fellas, it is the third to last day of camp and I am writing this article. You all are probably back in the bunk playing cards or watching DVDs...Now it is the middle of the year. We are far from camp, but it is still the only thing we are thinking about. For now, put aside all of your homework, turn off your TVs, and sign off on your computers. Forget about all the stresses in your school lives, and imagine now that you are in the Lancer bunk ready for another great day in The Realm. Friar summer is right around the corner, but let's look back on the Lancers of 2004. Becker, Benheim, JB, Borden, Dan CK, Louis, Ryan, Frif, Gluck, Goldman, Robert, Elias, Kundravi, Mario, Brit, Charlie, Nigro, Nick, Schwartz, Szabo, JT, Woody, and Zip... you all made my summer the best ever...

Remember the first day...meeting the entire army of staff, fitting all of your clothes onto a single cubby, Louis arriving via Lake Ossipee. Our first activity together...one of many ultimate Frisbee games over the summer, Mario's diving catch in the end zone, Becker not playing defense, Flo: "Too Easy!". Remember our 13 and under playday against Winaukee... It's not about winning boys, that's not the Robin Hood way. That unbelievable soccer game...a goal from Elias, a hat trick from Mario, and incredible play by Hirst in goal, RH winning in a double overtime shootout. Remember Nick, Schwartz, Cristal, and others doing the Mortal Kombat dance during inspection. Plater and his And1 moves. Becker wondering when he can go fishing.

Remember the great canoe trip on the ball Saco river...Fernando joining us on his day off, Jack quitting half way, Woody's cooking, and Dan's midnight surprise for Louis. Remember Potts scary story about the beast and the staff's attempt to reenact it. It may not have been the best trip with the rain and whatnot, but Banana Village afterwards fixed all. Remember our Ultimate Frisbee games in the rain...Paul and Becker missing a few plays here and there. Camp Idol- Irish and Margo winning over the crowd but not the votes, Alex Mann winning it all deservingly so.

Remember ice skating with the Arrows, Schwartz and Rachel, Mario and Estefanie, Margo and Jenny, Zipkin in heaven on the ice...Benheim the only Canadian who can't skate.

Remember Mario's special talent...the karate chop, the football snap, the baseball swing. Going for the world record, and lots of toilet paper, 372 in five minutes. Szabo and Nigro's request for rubber gloves, Nigro eating for twenty twizzlers. Remember the constant poker in the bunk...Cash in first! Becker always owing money, Zipkin folding on pocket aces, Ryan winning money, T's world series of poker event, Zipkin wins it all. Remember Woody's attacks during Team Handball, Goldman and Margo always matching, and Kessler's McDonalds runs. Jelin arriving disappointed with his staff area. Remember when the court jesters used the Lancer showers, Nigro and Szabo being inappropriate, Rainbow disappoints all.

Remember cleaning for Mrs. Whiteglove... Winning the shirts week number two thanks to Heller's hatred for canoe periods. The Birchmont Cup- winning basketball over there thanks to some fancy head fakes from Borden, RH winning on the day, big day for camp's athletic reputation.

Remember Lancer-Yeomen water balloon fights, soaking the Yeomen bunk and destroying our bathrooms. "My mother is..." answers with Becker and Jack- Europe is not a city buddy, Jelin and Phil going insane at their table every meal, Mario: "It's cause I'm Brazilian!", Margo sitting at his own table. Remember Dan's activities in the middle of the night, Louis and his basketball, Borden and Arnot spooning, and Nigro taking the swan-Late to the social.

Remember when Paul wasn't playing game boy or wasn't at riflery...when Jack was wearing clothes in the bunk or a towel that fit...Friday night lights (I wonder who won?)...when Louis wasn't with his family...when Nick wasn't hanging from the rafters...JT wasn't at baseball...when Schwartz wasn't watching "Family Guy"... when Devon knew all the kids' names... and when the Lancers were on time for the benches...WE DON'T!

Remember Potts going insane about his area. Campers complaining about the lack of a social and then not even dancing. Remember...Borden's bottle rockets, all Lancers playing three story catch, the bed falling on Cristal's foot. Remember Jake and Valentina's err...incident. Jamie's aerobics class, Valentina's goodbye, Jack sort of moving, Jake's lack of effort, the rest of us covered in sweat. Remember the G.S. and gold rush games...the first ever gazebo to gazebo capture the flag game... Challenging the Friars to bombardment and barely losing.

Remember our barbecue with the arrows... dancing to N'SYNC, playing the pony game, and the failed spud game afterwards, Cristal and Biz. Remember Robert breaking his nose during Senior Softball, Kundravi beating everybody in soccer, and Male staff fake break. Remember our own campfire, JT, Szabo, Cristal and the rest of you guys really said some powerful stuff, don't forget those moments at camp.

Remember parents' weekend...slumber party with Dylan Taft and Robbie Nigro, interesting night for both. Trying to stay awake through the Big show with the help of little Nigro...Unique entertainment the next night. Saying goodbye to Paul, Becker, and Louis...rearranging and Gluck moving upstairs...getting excited and a bit nervous for Green and White.

Remember Green and White... The helicopter break. Captains and co's...Szabo, Schwartz, Cristal and Borden. Announcing teams at the waterfront...and the captains. Margo and Kidder leading the great Green Predators, Holczer and Aquino leading the White Fire. Kundravi coming up huge for the green, JB and Benheim dancing in talent night, Elias destroying all in the long distance run. All in all, it was a close war and a great one. Best five days of my life, easily...I will remember it always.

Remember the Lancer Pimp Pad (that lasted), hanging out with Rafi and creating a lounge. Getting terrible scores on inspection. Charlie and Robert the only ones who consistently cleaned, Louis departing off the lake. Remember signing up for activities...Tennis four periods in a row, frof with no counselor, Jack BIC gymnastics. The dance-off against the Arrows, you boys make me so proud. Remember pimp smacking and the Brit Huntsman treatment...Zipkin occasionally controlling his language...Every single Lancer going for one specific Arrow. Remember the lice epidemic, Charlie losing all of his laundry...again. Dan, Zipkin, and Jack flipping their beds on purpose.

And on to excursion...remember Aquaboggan, the pink taco, the attractive lifeguards, Kessler going top shelf with the water balloon sling shot. Goldman going backwards in the taco, Szabo getting no momentum, Kundravi never leaving the water slide, and the all Lancer rainbow err...hill.

Remember the Desert of Maine...it really was a desert! Fun in the gift shop, Kessler, Potts and of course bus driver John doing the cooking. Remember survival tips with John, Margo's interesting story, early bed time for 5am wakeup...Surprise! Late movie and LL bean until 2 in the morning. One tent leaning a bit more than the others. Day 2, shopping in Freeport, cap gun insanity started by Potts and Cristal, Juan Boblo emerges on the walkie talkie...on to fishing, Nigro and Goldman stick with the Bingo shirts, Dick and Chuck join us for the trip. Goldman makes an attempt on too large of a fish, Zipkin actually bites the head off of a fish! Saying goodbye to Zipkin the first time...sorry buddy.

Remember Day three... Taking forever to pack up the site, quick trip to Dunkin Donuts and coincidentally running into the Arrows. Remember candlepin bowling...JB and Nigro having trouble staying at the alley, all of you somehow winning a 5 pound chocolate bar, Potts forgetting his cell phone. And the Wal-Mart trip...good luck to your Friar GL on keeping that tradition alive.

Remember Elias' house...so much for that surprise, great food, Playmaker's episodes and X-box, and of course the Arrows. Meeting up with Zipkin, DC, and the rest of the Lancer staff. Singing on the bus, John stealing the show. All in all, a great excursion, despite Goldman's "above average" rating.

Remember the last couple days of camp... fun times with JT and Woody, lots of rain, Brit's religion in the spotlight, episodes of theBAR... "Fact or Fiction: Mango is...!" Awards night, congrats to all.

I'd like to take a moment now to thank the largest staff to storm The Realm in years. Arnot, Phil, Jelin, Flo, Ed, Kessler, Potts, Devon, Tyler, Heller, and Irish...it may have been tough all summer to survive in such a large group of staff but I could not have survived this summer without you, thank you. Arnot and Potts, you guys were not only my AGLs, but also my best friends. Thanks for being there for me always, as incredible counselors and great friends.

To the Lancers of 2004, you are all the reason camp is the greatest place in the world. I know this gets repetitive but it is so important to me...never take for granted your opportunity to be at camp, appreciate every moment you have here, and above all, keep coming back. Whether we were playing ultimate on the quad or just hanging out in the bunk, I have had an unbelievable time this summer and I will do everything I can to keep coming back...I thank you all for that. Keep in touch this winter and count down the days until we're all together in The Realm again, I know I will be...Margo

To the Friar staff - you have all been incredible with the kids and with each other. Taking care of these kids was a team effort and we worked together. Thank you all so much and for being my counselors and my friends. I will never forget our first bonding experience during our first staff meeting before the social.

To the Friars - you have so much heart and spirit for camp, I loved watching you grow this summer into The Realm's senior campers. You all had such a tough job as the biggest group in boys camp but you embraced the challenge and proved to the camp, the staff, and yourselves that you were capable of being a force. The group's diverse abilities made it possible for us to excel in all aspects of camp and created the environment for all of us to grow and develop into solid men. Friars, the hill is ready for you and I cannot wait to see you rise to your new status as Foresters. I enjoyed being your counselor everyday and I will miss all the time we spent together. Friars, we became one group that had one fabulous summer...

Let's Get it On!

FORESTERS

For the Foresters of 2004: I can never give you back last summer, but hopefully for a few moments I can refresh a few dusty memories. A relatively small group of thirteen Foresters has never had such a grand presence in camp. Moose, El Presidente, Z-Nice, Gollum, Triple F, Awkward, Awesome Night, Grossbart, Solie, Tiddy, Frumpy, The Great Distractor, and of course Daddy. You stormed The Realm on June 26 and quickly became the most celebrated group in camp.

Remember the thunderstorm? Moose cries and cowers in fear. The smoke detectors go off, more than once (thanks to Morgan). Remember Amanda from Evergreen, she's going in the s-bank. Brant goes out of business and the group hates him, once again. Double cheeseburgers for a fidy. Katz carries Katz out of the dining hall. Jaime and Jesse take on Grossman and Kais in 2-on-2 bball. Zandy shows up to West End to a warm welcome...cause we missed him of course. Suicides and line-ups, Blaustein and Bard get pelted. Jesse drops a bomb at the waterfront and Boys' Camp is evacuated as Woody throws kids out of the Friar bunk. Woody demands apologies and retribution. L.W. serves it up with a five that lasts two days. Basketball and Beattie's methods of distraction, intentional or otherwise. Jaime and Jesse get locked in the bathroom. Emery and Artoro eat Brody's sandwich, there are consequences to every action. The Wigwam kid who flipped on Zandy. Moose flips when Frumpy sponges him during a private moment. Audrey's suggestive message to Blaustein. The fourteen year old who looked more like twenty-five.

All those great nights at E.U.C.C... 'Steve and Merwin in a tree'. "Zoe-alerts" and "Zoe-moments". Convincing the Shires we were going to Quebec. And foch gets cancelled thanks to the Scribes. Sez vents while Max, Jaime, and Grossman lose it. Tossing the bee in the dining hall.

The summer would never have been complete without Brody's uncommon wisdom. His advice on who ought to be seen and not heard, his disdain for the early morning and the birds' chirping. Brody shuts down Kessler on his birthday, knocking him off his "high-horse", and informing him who really owns this camp. Brody's boasting on the way home from West End land him in a wager no mortal could triumph "Morgan!!! Thirty-five nuggets!" "He has such a big chip on his shoulder. I'm gonna rip it off and beat him with it."

How about beach day? Happy Birthday to Morgan's mom. The mullet count becomes a couples count...3 before we even get out of the van. "Don't drop the suntan lotion!" Emery nails D.C. in the face with a football, then Damien levels Forrester. Nicole's birthday song at the Splash. Artoro misses two out of two count-offs, and Morgan just gives up. Merwin steps on Brody's athlete feet-Merwin receives sand in retaliation. Good times in the van spraying people with fluids (Berschler, Ethan, Arnot, Natalia and Little Brody). The Damien-Stevenson-Duncan-Morgan-switch. Chinese firedrills to pass the time.

Remember Artoro taking a softball to the knee, Morgan in his palm, and Brody twice in a row. The mutant moths infesting the bunk, billions of insects coming from nowhere. "Eugene the Moth-Hunter". Duncan and Zandy trade styles for the social. Beattie relieves his frustration on Artoro's bed. Who could forget the Winaukee tennis tournament? Jaime and Jesse asking the other team how to keep score, and Moose's love-taps. Morgan finally hits trees, and only three kids are there to see it. L.W.'s flashlight incident. While we're on the subject, let's reminisce about all our good times down at waterski: Morgan hitting E.J. on the head with the rope, tubing and skiing for evening activities. Zandy wakeboards, screaming like a girl.

Do you maybe recall the antics of one Harry S. Barndt? Taz's death grip, his frank sweatshirt, his heckling during Danish Longball, and Morgan in the Wu-Chi death grip. Hit the Avalanche and you will be richly rewarded, from the top-brass on down. Max questions Taz about 'Nam and gets the group permanently banned from the range. Woody finally hits Wu-Chi and everyone bolts for the archery range. Got to love that Indian Acres social, where only Robin Hood danced. The debate on how many claps are in the cha-cha slide. Requesting Baha Men. Random sandwiching. Our bus driver, John. Duncan's football practices...Margo's expertise is questioned by Brody's experience. The Foresters get a piece of Fisher. Our bandanas. Yusogi – Zandy's bunny story; continuous chubbing. Trying to get in touch with the lost members of our group: "Not here, can't answer." The magazine on Clint's bed. Clint puts Zandy's bed in the rafters. Roberts does activities with the Foresters stirring great controversy. Zandy, Teddy and Jaime fake a fight in front of 200. Barbara Greenstein gives everyone haircuts on Parents Weekend. Geoff Frumkin brings back the blitz in football. Cheers for all the parents. Green and White breaks that Monday afternoon during bocce. Captains Jaime and Zandy, Co's Max and Jesse. Zandy requests a foul during football, "Can I get a language here?" We start the dance-off movement to "Hot Stuff". Chuck declares you "one of the great Forester groups of all time".

Remember when the Foresters weren't doing the Saxons job: moving bleachers, soda machines, dining hall breakdowns, laundry detail? Brody's clean language? Artoro wasn't at the far field? Grossman brushing his teeth? Du Hast wasn't on the iPod? Jesse wasn't having night terrors. Emery wasn't in bed? Cause I sure don't.

Remember...Canada? The bonding begins at 7:45 AM in the van. Max, Emery, Zandy, and Jesse go big time. That couple on the porch; we weren't even in Montreal a half hour and you guys got your first live show. The old dude playing hockey in the alley. Jet boating with Phil...or was it Bill? Duncan promises us that we won't get wet. "Are you feeling Groooovy? Funky? Super? Good, cause I'm running out of adjectives." The girls get negged downtown. Your mis-adventures with Miss Bianca. The waitress helps you guys along. Jaime lays one on Duncan in front of Corbin. Zandy's performance on the first night, "Don't touch my kicks, yo!" Jaime offends Zoe...again. Brody falls for Kim's friend. A change of opinion about the girls. Emery at 94%. The homeless dudes, "I will kick myself in the face for one dollar", and "Smile if you 'love yourself'." Everyone goes to the Chateau except for Frumkin. Morgan helps you guys out that night. The counselors are waiting in Mango's. Frumkin and Jaime's debate about the size of the rooms. Teddy and Jaime both go overboard. Frumkin likes his orange juice. The front desk (a.k.a. Solie) blows up your spot in the room. Zandy cuts a rug with 6 dances in less than two hours. Whitewater rafting on day three in the rain. The delicious lunches. Grossman, Solie, Blaustein, and Zandy all go overboard. The 'reject' room turns into the 'good' room. Zandy kisses the sky. Your new buddy Aaron. The goth hitting herself onstage. Isabella falls in love with you guys. The spontaneous visit to Kung Fu (514) 528-5000, in case you're interested. "Who names their team the 'Keep It Greens???' Singing Bohemian Rhapsody for Zandy in the van. Max and Zandy continue to resist each other. The owner of the Octo hates you guys. Solie tampers with the bottle and Jesse wants to drink it. "3 Amigos". Duncan decides to go dancing with the girls. Your visit to 'Three Minutes of Magic'. The 25 Hour store. Teddy getting questioned as we cross back into the U.S. Our friendly waiter Tan moves to Canada. And the grand finale: John Emery ingesting 14 chili peppers...for about five minutes.

Our last few precious days in camp were anything but dead-time. Hearing the Shires crying from the bottom of the quad. Last night was awesome...I mean crazy. Frumkin the awkward. The group handshakes: 'Let's blow it up', 'Playas' Club', 'Birdman', 'Nuts', and of course the less appropriate ones. "You have thousands of dead eggs in your hair." Brody tests positive. Zandy and Jesse take the golf cart for a spin. The true meaning of Matt Colver's song is revealed. Zandy gets nabbed by Dick in the soda room. Zandy wins the wake-boarding competition with the full moon. The Foresters of '04 cleaned up on awards night with more than half of you getting BIC's or M.I's. For our own group Grossman retained his title as the six-time Inspection champion. Jesse receives Most Improved. Solie for Service, Frumkin for Sportsmanship, Blaustein for Fellowship, and Tiddles gets M.C. And of course our own Mr. Goomyer also was recognized for outstanding Fellowship towards the entire camp. In my opinion you all should have awards, because you are all so incredible.

I want to take this opportunity to thank my incredible staff for helping me pull off this amazing summer. Eugene and Clint, thank you for spending so much of your free time with the group. You guys were incredible. Juan, you have a brilliant future ahead of you in this place. You are the greatest specialty staff I have ever seen and the affection you have for Robin Hood and these boys shows in everything you do. L-Dubs, it was amazing to have some old school flair on the hill with me this year. You bring back a flood of my old memories and feelings for this place I thought I'd lost. Brody, you are a true character. Your in-your-face humanity nearly drove me to tears with laughter every single day. The kids loved and respected you, and so do I. Duncan, you were even more money than I imagined during pre-camp. You are a counselor well beyond your years and I look forward to not only seeing you with a clipboard, but hopefully on stage in just a few years.

I wish that I were poetic enough to pay you boys a more worthy tribute on these two pages, but I don't know if anyone really could. My four summers on staff with you boys have truly become my most precious memories. This last summer has brought me full circle and completed a fifteen year journey for me that started in 1989. I was blessed enough to become your Group Leader. I want to thank you all for being the most unified, loyal, and hilarious group I could ever imagine. I will miss our time together deeply everyday for the rest of my life. You made my job effortless every single day. It's been a long journey through The Realm for all of you, but I am confident that the Saxons of 2005 will redefine what a great Saxon group should be. Just remember that even the worst day at camp is better than a great day at home.

BEAT THE TREE! BEAT THE TREE! BEAT THE TREE! Ahhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhh!!!!

This year was amazing. There were times to be proud of and then not so proud moments. The summer started off perfectly when Senter pulled a Babe Ruth and called his first ever tree shot. Who can forget the bravest chipmunk ever that ran all over our bunk and scared a couple of you out. Gaynor - did you strike Juan?

Sleeping was a challenge the night the mild hurricane hit The Realm. Senter better have thanked Howard for cuddling with him that night while the rest of us were on the porch. You guys were great with the staff as long as Uth didn't beat them up and break some bones. Klein will never forget his duty night with the Bards and their love letter to him. The first ever dodge ball game for 16 and under was CRAZY! The play day itself was nuts with Senter throwing our only touchdown pass due to Szabo's incredible catch and run.

Simon struck fear into the heart of our group during our team handball game. He is a beast. By the way how many times did I have to tell you guys: Stay out of the shire bunk, especially you Howard. Senter you look so much hotter once we shaved you. Remind me to thank Camp Huckin's for helping us find our way back to Robin Hood.

On July 4th you guys showed how much you liked to play dress-up. That same day we found the $10 pool table that Stein could not leave alone. I was also impressed when Jerry Springer entered The Realm. Hey, has anyone found Stein cause manhunt ended 2 hours ago. We did eventually find him because he came with us when we ran to R&L Subs. EAT A SUB! EAT A SUB! EAT A SUB! Let's hear it one more time for the hick nation.

Shane had a rough year cause he was always THAT GUY and he seemed to be the victim. If Adrienne is back next year we should have him use his high-pitched scream to wake up campers. Can someone tell me why Douglas has to always buy the most random things when we go out? What is with that skull? According to Woody, the 12 of us can equal 14 idiots. I don't get it. Douglas, I just have to say you made me proud at the IA social. You are Pimpismack. I think we broke every rule possible when it came to the go-carts. Oh yea, and Douglas the next time someone bigger, stronger, and crazier than you asks if you want to take it outside, your answer should be NOOOOOOO! Douglas what is the #@$*? No Boston cream from Mr. Mookie. Look ma, no hands. Szabo as the assistant stage manager. Will Shane ever handle his scandal? Senter, at least you won your bet with Wendy after your spaz on the bus. That reminds me: Bring back Zack! Saxons you represented in the play. The kitchen locks are no match for the Saxons when we are hungry. Freakaleek!!!!

Uth's apple pie.

Did we even have a fake break this year? I think someone paid off Mrs. Whiteglove for us to win inspection. Who cares though, we got the shirts! Solomon's little shimmy.

Here is a riddle, what do Gaynor and the pool table have in common? The girls should be punished for the Pony dance they started at this camp. It was the worst idea ever...Hey...ooooooo! Even though when we did it we looked... Gorgeous! Oh and Uth you need to not knock your bunkmates out cold anymore. Good thing Howard has a hard head. Joey needs to tell better stories.

Another future Saxon tradition was started which is known simply as V-B-H. Too bad during the games we got the volleyball stuck high in a tree but have no fear Douglas is here.

Got Lice anyone? We know Klein was safe cause Lice like clean heads and he never showers, dirty hippy. Excursion was a great time this year. Senter did not have good luck with the paintball guns or paintballs for that matter. I believe he was hit by a drive-by shooting. Gaynor, sorry about that cheap shot. Douglas, never play two counselors in paintball by yourself, you will just get pelted.

To all the Saxons, sorry about the forces of Nature movie, I thought it was 3D. Well guys before I end this I just have a couple of things to say to each of you:

Douglas, I am glad the old school beat downs helped your little cursing problem.

Max, how does it feel to be loved by all the little girls? I guess that comes with being Max Seacrest.

Stevenson, thank you for trying to help Senter pick up girls, but I think he needs some more tutoring.

Fisher, thank you for not taking all my money and for being such a great help even if we only had 1/3 of you to work with.

Stein, your ribbon dance was truly inspiring and I will treasure the memory always along with your famous face.

Soloman, I had to drag you out of bed a lot but when you were out I wished you were back in cause you always beat me in poker.

Gaynor, I am impressed it only took you 30 minutes to learn Chinese, and always remember, spitting is rude.

Szabo, who knew you had a thing for redheads? Thanks for being one of the cleanest in the bunk and congrats on being the only one to hold it down the whole summer.

Klein, CUT YOUR HAIR!!!! You may have been lazy at times but you did well this summer and thanks for teaching me the word fledgling.

Uth, as long as you didn't break curfew to partake in camper/staff stuff we are cool.

Howard, lets not mention how many times I got in trouble for your interactions with the Shires. Learn to be sneaky man.

Simon, you were awesome this year and thanks for helping me beat the kids... I mean correct them.

Andy, you were great and you helped improve Saxon and Scribe relations.

Shane, when you were not being that guy you were great. Just do me a favor, the next time you want to go to a club like that one in Boston, don't try and bring the whole group with you.

Senter, what can I say about you? If I had to hear about that SCL jersey one more time we were gonna wrestle.

Billy, stop disappearing.

Adrian, no more secrets, please especially when Soloman finds it behind the bunk. You were a lot of fun and you kept track of Douglas.

All and all this year was awesome and I thank each and every one of you for that. This is where I sign off.

SAXONS...YOU KNOW!!!!!!

TUMBLERS & JESTERS

Here comes the Jumbler riding on a pony, riding on a big fat pony... Tiff, Julia, Mel, Lauren, Katherine, Jessie, Caldogg, Rach, Howard, Jennie, Char, Isabel, Priscila, Emily, Ellie, Haley and Miranda, in the words of Hairspray... Stop, Don't, No, Please... Stop, stop reading your books and watching TV Don't, don't think about homework and school No, if you know what's best for you Please, Jumbler please, sit back and remember the most fantastic summer of your life.

Remember when: you all got dropped off by your parents or climbed off the bus to see a group of smiling faces welcoming you to The Realm, most of you being unpacked with cool areas before you arrived, doing lip-syncs the first night for evening activity, making sure Emily Rose was neat from day one, Isabel arriving late at night and quickly unpacking her and putting her to bed with the lights out, brown paper bag skits and the counselor constipation skit, being captured by the Quills and dressing in crazy outfits for no reason.

Remember when: Jessie wasn't talking in her sleep, when Jennie was cleaning, when Isabel wasn't first to bed, when Tiff wasn't singing/dancing around with a broom, when Haley wasn't cheering, when Emily Howard was quiet, when Mel wasn't wearing her khaki shorts, when Emily Rose went to waterfront without her goggles and when Ellie wasn't drawing... WE DON'T!

Remember when: Callan wasn't doing shake your booty, when Rachel wasn't wearing her skorts, when Priscila wasn't giving hugs and kisses, when Miranda wasn't dancing, when Katherine wasn't applying lip gloss, when Julia wasn't wearing her beige sweater, when Lauren Cole properly wore her shoes and when Charlotte didn't have her game face on... WE DON'T!

Remember when: we went on the mountain trip, Sammi and Jake getting lost and everyone following them, finally making it to the top and seeing the gorgeous view, going to pizza barn on the way back, Sammi, Stech and Lauren ordering too much food and ruining our chances of going out of camp ever again...when we canoed throughout the entire lake to the outpost, not being able to find dry wood for the fire and the friendly family next to us bringing us dry fire wood, finally making fajitas on the fire and roasting marshmallows for smores, sleeping in tents for the first time and everyone staying up so late laughing the whole night.

Remember when: we did the talent show dance to Barbie girl...you were all OUTSTANDING! When we went to Cozy Corner, played TV show theme song trivia and played the pony game with Big Woody while we all ate our ice cream, when we went to the outdoor theater before the four weekers left and named our favorite memory from the summer/something we learned/and something we wanted to tell the group...everyone talking about the amazing friendships they had made and how much we were all going to miss each other after the summer...

Remember when: Sammi and Stech drew on your faces and you all woke up with mustaches, beards and uni-brows, celebrating Rachel's, Haley's and Howard's birthdays while at camp! Listening to Hairspray 24/7, Tiff's aunt buying everyone sugar shoes/floaties during visiting day, Callan getting marker on Stecher's bed, Lauren completing her 16 laps, Rachel and Katherine getting a package almost everyday and Emily Rose getting close to 15 letters each day and making us all jealous! Everyone swinging on the swings during every rest period throughout the day!

Remember when: we all woke up early to get French braids on visiting day, when we played truth or dare late at night with Samantha on duty, made up dances and gossiped during flashlight time, when Ellie and Mel killed all the spiders and daddy long legs in the bunks, Ellie's gorgeous landscape drawings, when Lauren, Julia, Ellie, Katherine and Emily Rose were all in the play, when Jessie was a swimming superstar in the swim meet, when Jennie talked about Zach all the time, Priscila was always doing handstands and Jennie was always last to the benches, you all played house and baby on the quad during rest hour, the Evergreen cheer off during the playday, everyone made boxes in wood to hide all their candy and food, Charlotte and Jennie were our two Red Sox fans, Isabel learned English and taught us some Spanish, Callan introduced hot loops as the new fad for the summer, Jessie was laughing all the time, and remember when we were excited when Haley and Miranda came and we were all sad to say goodbye to Julia, Katherine, Callan and Jennie after visiting day.

Remember when: Green and White broke with the helicopter and we ran all over camp until it landed in the far far field, Howard and Mel were elected as captains and Tiffany and Charlotte were elected as co-captains (you girls all did such a great job!), Howard and Tiff wrote those amazing speeches, everyone participated in the Green and White talent show, Lauren singing, Howard, Rose and Haley singing Hairspray (obviously), Miranda dancing, and all of you in the skits, awesome job! We all relaxed on lazy day and my bed was moved to the other bunk, when we had to say goodbye to the 6 weekers and pack for excursion...

Remember when: we waited forever for the PJs to be ready to leave on excursion, we went mini golfing at Pirates Cove and ate lunch at McDonalds, we all got stuck on the alpine slide at Attitash, we had to take the chairlift up the mountain together, we all went on triple rafts down the waterslides, we went back to the campsite for fajitas and then went to see Spiderman really late at night, we sang Howard happy birthday in a whisper at midnight at the campsite, we slept in one big tent all together, we went to Dunkin Donuts for breakfast the next morning, when we talked about Saco, Maine the entire trip and then finally got to go to Saco, Maine to go on the rides at Funtown! Remember when everyone won stuffed animals and went on the Excalibur ride, ended excursion at Pizza Barn and then drove into camp and sang the alma mater because we were so happy to be back at our summer home once again!

To the Tumbler and Jester staff: You are all fantastic people and amazing friends! You are by far the best staff I have worked with at camp during my five years as staff. You all made these 17 girls have the summer of their lives, made them love camp as much as you all did, and had fun doing it...I really couldn't have asked for anything better!

Helman, going into this summer I would never have anticipated how much I would love you by the end. You are so fun, caring and patient and will make a fabulous group leader next year! I am excited to come home to Boston and hang out with you! I consider you a great friend and I know we will be in touch!

Ziman, I always thought of you as Cori's little sister but now you are my feisty, fun-loving friend who spiced up the summer from day one. You are truly an amazing counselor; the more responsibility you take the more you excel!

Stecher, You were one of my campers and now you are like my little sister. I care so much about you and I know you are going places girl. If only we could all be as good as counselors as you are! I miss our fairytale time!!!

Kim, While you had to work both as a general and at the waterfront you did a great job this summer! You never fail to crack me up and I best be seeing you here next year!

Hannah, Jennie and Paige, you all had to work hard all day at your various specialty areas and were always willing to spend your free time with the girls and they all loved you! I can't thank you enough for all your help, enthusiasm and support this summer! I hope you are all back next year because the camp would be losing great staff if you don't come back!

And finally to the Tumblers and Jesters of 2004...thank you all for making this summer so unbelievable. Having the opportunity to relive all the experiences of my camper days as you were all experiencing them was priceless. I am so jealous of all of you that you are only at the beginning of your camp career and I can't wait to see you all as you grow to senior campers, staff, counselor captains and judges! Always remember, we are the jumbler, oh what a group we are, we got spirit we got spunk dadada, we all cooperate, that's how we operate, we are the jumbler bunk!!

"Just call my name, I'll be there in a hurry, you don't have to worry... 'cause baby there ain't no mountain high enough, ain't no valley low enough, ain't no river wide enough, to keep me from getting to you BOWS!" First things first girls, put on a Robin Hood (don't worry Heather, I'll make the list)... 'cause we're headed back to camp to relive the best days of our lives... the summer of 2004!

Can any of you remember the first day of camp? Playing duck duck goose on the quad... YEAH FOR SHIRADES... Schorrry, what can you say about T-duty starting early? Extension cords? Lip-singing to Britney and some soft rock? Sara Friedman, "Do I need to straighten my hair for evening activity?" Paddling to the outpost for a good thirty minutes... some of us managed to turn around and around in circles while others escaped injury from tree branches... JIMBO, KIMBO and others... Our first love affair with a frog... How about "Morty, do you have your sweatshirt?" and her reply, "Yes, I left it on my bed."

Remember... Sunday meeting a day too soon... "BE QUIET CONSELORS! I KNOW IT'S THEM! I CAN HEAR EMILY SCHORR LAUGHING!"... Thanks to Becca and Sara who perfected the art of flipping buttermilk pancakes... "Do we have to climb a mountain? Can't we just go see a movie? How big is it? Will we be walking for a long time?" Our hike was bearable, but to some HIKING IS NOT ON THE FAVORITE LIST... Where's Zippi? Oh, she's already at the top! Will we ever find out what happened to the man in the telephone booth?

Remember... FAVORITE BOW EVENING ACTIVITY: BACKWARDS SCAVENGER HUNT... but, there was way too much of Wynnie's hair in her hand... next time how about taking just a strand instead of an enormous chunk... the giNORMOUS lap around the dining hall... wasn't the quad included? Hey, why wasn't Shrek in anyone's pile?

Remember... Sevens during meals? Massage competition... Bow/Saxon swap...

Katie Davis aka Max "Seacrest" Manin... the infamous broom game... Douglas aka Group Leader... CGIC (Cleanest Group In Camp)... worthy of every single 50! You girls were amazing at cleaning the bunk... You are only allowed to ask 20 questions...

Remember Ogunquit... "Hey girls, go splash hi-five guy and don't be afraid to get him SOAKED!" Don't mess with me, I've got an army... DIPPIN' DOTS... Katie, I think four should be your limit next time... overtipping at dinner... "Where are we going, are we going ice skating? Because I heard from a quill that we are"... I think we were all feeling sore the next day, except those who are pro skaters like Frizzle...

Remember... Camp Idol - Ain't no mountain high enough... Remember... Family Feud! On one side, the Friptionals and on the other, the Pudgy People... what a game... too bad it was a tie... How well do you know your group leader? Did I really learn how to dance at Bar and Bat Mitzvahs?

Remember... Schorrry's crazy meal games... Teeth... Tay-Tay and K-Dizzle's collision, oh but wait, you're alive right? Heather getting tons of stuffed animals... Marissa arriving and spending her first week living on the porch... The talent show dance, It's Raining Men! Halle and Andrea's birthdays... waking up and taking funny pictures... Scotty sabotaging the Camp Idol dance when Mich, Schorrry and Scotty were all supposed to... Camper/Staff newcomb games... SO intense! Julia's spikes over the net and the staff victory laps... the dreaded goodbye, but let's remember, it's not forever until we meet again... instead of tears we stuffed our faces until there was nothing left...

Remember, Emily Wynne's novel... straightening Andrea's hair... having a slumber party on one side of the bunk... the numerous Bow dance parties... Remember everyone's crazy nicknames... Becks, K-Dizzle, Frizzle, Morty, Dre', Heath, Tay-Tay, Shanaynay, Wynnie and Zippi... and of course the staff... Mish-Mosh, Misty, Schorrry, Scotty, and Huliana... Watching lots of movies... Finding Nemo, Shrek 2, Matilda, and Chasing Liberty...

And then there were 5... Remember Green and White? Everyone anticipating the break... chasing the helicopter around camp... congratulations to the captains... Sara for the Great Green Predators, and Halle for the Mighty White Fire. You girls were all amazing during these five long competitive days. I'm so proud of you all.

And then there were 4... Remember... Grab Bag Extravaganza evening activity... some crazy dares... Morty volunteering to run around naked... "There are ghosts in here!" SPA-RINTING to the Mama's and Papa's... oops, the tree roots don't glow in the dark... sorry Halle... Zippi ate dirty socks, Emily Wynne style...

And then there were only 2... Remember excursion with the TJ's... Putt-putt, McDonalds, Attitash for alpine sliding and waterslides... chicken fajitas at the campsite for dinner and lots of cookies for dessert...Schorrty surprising us for dinner. Seeing a late movie...Spiderman 2...The van ride back to the campground, singing happy birthday to Emily Howard...Going to bed much later than usual...Everyone being excited to sleep in one tent together...waking up early and being pumped up for day 2...Dunkin' Donuts and Funtown! "Are we going to Lincoln? We want to learn!" Getting lots of food and candy at Funtown and playing lots of games to win big prizes...the long car ride to dinner...Pizza Barn! Practically the whole camp was there...Julia meeting us there for dinner...

Remember...the slumber party with the Tumblers and Jesters...the lice epidemic...way to be one of the only groups in camp NOT to get it! Evening activities...Trivia Extreme Elimination Challenge...The Lightning Round...going on a boat ride with Aquino...

Remember when...Emily Wynne wasn't getting rid of daddy long legs...Remember when Tay-Tay wasn't pointing her toes or gracefully putting on a gymnastics routine...Remember when Heather wasn't giving or getting hugs...Remember when Sara wasn't straightening her hair...Remember when Katie Davis wasn't laughing or smiling at almost anything...Remember when Halle wasn't shaving her legs, but that was probably because her razor was charging...Remember when Zippi fell fast asleep when the lights were off...Remember when Andrea didn't get her hair brushed and braided after she showered...Remember when Rebecca remembered to put in her contacts or take out her retainer...Remember when Maddie wasn't being called Morty...Remember when Emily Scott wasn't making everyone roll on the floor laughing...also, her German accent...Remember when everyone wasn't eating candy...Remember when Schorrty wasn't reorganizing her shelves or letting her area become a complete mess...Remember when Julia wasn't sleeping...Remember when Misty didn't bring 72 t-shirts to camp...Remember when Michelle told you the evening activity in advance...WE DON'T!

Bows of 2004...Becca, Katie, Sara, Maddie, Andrea, Heather, Taylor, Halle, Emily and Lauren, you girls are such an amazing group and it is already apparent that you each have such strong feelings for camp and each other. You girls are so lucky because you have so many years ahead of you at Robin Hood and so much to look forward to in the coming years. Please keep in touch with each other and keep coming back, every year gets better and better, and there's no better place to spend the summers, than at The Realm. Like I've said over and over again...I could not be happier with this past summer...although the time flew by, there were so many unforgettable memories. I can't wait to see ALL of you staying for eight weeks next summer.

To the staff...You guys were absolutely incredible and I couldn't have gotten any luckier coming in halfway through the summer and feeling so welcomed and fitting in perfectly. Thank you all for everything

Scotty...you are hilarious and the girls loved you. Whenever you were around, I usually ended up laughing so hard that I'd choke and then swallow my gum...but seriously, you worked so well with the girls and were so much fun to be with. Please come back next summer...and good luck with everything this year.

Schorrty...I can't even begin to tell you how amazing it was to be on staff with you this year. We had so much fun together, I only wish I could have gotten here earlier. I have no doubt that you'll be back for many summers to come. Please keep in touch and I'll be waiting for a visit from you this year.

Julia...I feel as though I've watched you grow up at camp, having always been close with your group. You were a great counselor and your love for camp was apparent to all, especially the girls. Hope you have a great year.

Mich...One week together was not enough...I hope you have a great year and we must keep in touch better...I love you so much and hope we can both be here for the entire summer next year.

Last note from Marissa: These past 10 summers have been absolutely amazing, it's hard to believe that this summer is already over. To my Scribes of 2000 and Michelle, you have no idea how thankful and appreciative I am of all of you. Starting out at camp as a Bow, I never imagined that one day my friends and I would be running girls camp. You girls are my best friends in the world, and all I can ask is to please stay in touch, and let's all do this again next summer. I love you all so much. Bows of 2004...you made my first year as group leader amazing, can't wait to see you all next summer.
Love, Marissa (Misty)

Last note from Michelle: To each and everyone of you who bring me back every year...to experience something indescribable...what can be said that would suffice what our relationship means, well how about 'I love you' and always will...In closing, I would like to remind you that if there had to be only one thing to remember about me, it would be what I say to almost ANYTHING...you better mentally write this one down 'cause it's a great one: Whatever happens, HAPPENS. XOXO – Michelle (MiSH-MoSH)

As the summer of 2004 has come to a close, I want you to always remember the times you girls shared together...playing knockout...swinging on the swings... hanging out in the bunk...planning to meet the boys in the Gazebo by the Waterfront...crying and laughing together...and most importantly, having the time of your lives together...

To the Quills of '04: You girls are amazing in every way. You are such a strong group of girls who have so many different strengths that make the Quills of '04 an important asset to Girls Camp. I could not have asked for a better group of girls to be with for my 13th and last summer at Camp Robin Hood. Please girls keep coming back because you are the future of Camp Robin Hood. Keep the traditions alive and use the immense amount of energy you all possess to make your days at Robin Hood memorable for a lifetime.

I love each and every one of you and cannot wait to return and see you all as Scribes leading Girls Camp in 2008! Keep in touch and know that I am always here for you!

To my staff: What can I say to the best staff! You were always there for me and I could not have asked for more. We had so much fun together and I will always remember our crazy staff meetings and fun times during meals and activities. I cannot thank you enough for the job you did.

Stacey - You were unbelievable this year,

Even though you were everywhere in Camp Robin Hood you still managed to be there for the girls and provide them with the love and care as well as the discipline they needed. Thank you for everything!

Erin and Char - You two were the best specialty staff ever. Erin, you were always there for the girls and your humor helped keep smiles on our faces and your Stewie impressions were stellar. Char you always knew how to remain calm in the worst of situations and help whenever needed. I am so happy that both of you will return to The Realm next year because you two are great people The Realm will always benefit from. Thanks so much!

Linds and Potts - Thank you!!! You girls were unbelievable first year aids. I have also known you since you were the devil child and the quiet one and oh how things change. You are both such awesome people who know how to have fun and love camp dearly. Please keep coming back because you two are both amazing counselors, and campers are lucky to have you on their staff. I can't wait to see you both as GLs!

Syd - You've impressed me so much this summer! I've known you since you were an annoying little 12-year-old and I have seen you mature into an amazing young woman! Thank you so much for your help this year. I could not have done it without you. Good luck next year and remember I am always a phone call away. Thanks again!

Well, while remembering this summer, I hope you all have smiles on your faces knowing that we had the best time ever! I miss you all so much. Thank you, Quills, again, for making my summer just what I needed as the final one! XOXOXO

Love Always,
Fallyn

Bards of '04, you girls know what you mean to me. This summer was my best yet in large part because of everything you girls did this summer. Your group is so close and devoted to each other and it shines through in everything you do. Never forget what you mean to each other, to me, and to camp. You girls continue to amaze me every single day, and that’s what makes everyone so special. Continue to grow and learn, embrace each other for who you are, and of course return every summer to Robin Hood, because it has become a part of you. I love you girls and will be waiting by your bunks to welcome you into The Realm as the Shires of '05.

To my staff- without you all, this summer would not have been complete. The bond we formed this summer is unparalleled to any other staff. I would give anything to have you all back with the same group next summer.

Sabrina, Becky and Karina... thank you for your effort with the group even with your demanding specialties. I hope you all learned a little of what The Realm has to offer everyone and that you enjoyed this summer as much as I did.

Imogen... I considered you to be a general counselor because you are nothing short of amazing. The kids love you and without you, the staff wouldn’t have been half as good. You worked so hard at dance, and even harder to have time with the girls. I appreciated your effort and everything you gave to the group. Please come back, camp is a better place with you here.

Bernstein... having you back was nothing short of amazing. You quickly established a close bond with the campers and were great to have around. You will be amazing next summer and I cannot wait to see you shine. Thank you for coming back and putting so much effort into everything you did.

Berschler... after about the first week of camp I stopped thinking of you as a first year aide and quickly as one of the most reliable staff members in The Realm. I cannot wait to see you in a higher leadership position next summer and for many summers after. You are unbelievable in everything you do. Don’t change, and don’t ever think about being on anyone else’s staff. I cannot wait to become even closer to you in the coming months and years.

Gillian... oh Gillian, where would this group be without you. You amaze me everyday and I couldn’t have asked for a better AGL. You meant everything to this group and the summer would not have gone nearly as smoothly without you. What you meant to the group though, doesn’t compare to what you meant to me as a friend. Thank you for everything, you were there to talk, gossip and always have fun. I love you.

To my Scribes and everyone else who made this summer what it was. I love you, thank you for always being there. I know we all have one more summer in us, so let’s finish together. I wouldn’t be who I am without you all. Thank you.

Bards of '04, this summer cannot be summed up in words, only in memories, pictures and friendships. Come back every summer for as long as you can, because you girls have so much to teach Robin Hood, and Robin Hood has so much to give back to you girls. Bards, you made my summer what it was and as I wrote in my speech, I cannot wait to welcome you up on stage because our bond and friendship is forever. Keep in touch, I am only a phone call or email away. I love you girls.

Love, Julia

We did it again together this year! Who would have thought that 4 years after Scribe year we would still be here for each other, running our own groups and all of Girls Camp! Let's do it again!! Diane, after all these years you are still here for us like you were Scribe year, you are so amazing and so much of the reason we come back every summer, you are truly part of our Scribe Group. I love you!!

I have decided to write from the heart and let Jamie edit my redundant and run-on sentences, here goes... Thank you so much for the most incredible summer of my life.

You have all found friendships this summer that people search for their whole lives. You have really grown into a group that all of Girls Camp will admire for years to come. Your love for camp and each other is so evident in everything you do. I have said it before and I will say it again, you are the next big thing! I have no doubt that you will all be back to lead Girls Camp together and eventually your own groups. Camp needs strong and dedicated people like yourselves; you are what this place is all about. Each and every one of you have a special place in my heart. I am in awe of how far you have come this summer and the bonds you have made with people and camp. You really know what this place is all about and YOU create the magic in the trees for me. I love you all and miss you tons. Take care of yourselves and each other. Last summer was AWESOME!!

Love, Nati

Elyse, I cannot tell you how much you have grown up this summer. I look at you and I see so much of myself. Do not stress out about school, because all of that will fall into place. You are such a smart, sweet, solid person. I hope that during the year you practice being loud and social!!! It has been so much fun being around you, and seeing you open up to the group has been great. I am confident that you will make an incredible counselor because you are so easy going and fun to be around. I love you so much it is ridiculous.

Tara, Zing, as Lisa would put it. You are truly an incredible person. I have never seen a girl at your age with such an independent and mature personality. I am so impressed with how you manage yourself and care for others. Your silly nature and random random random comments keep me laughing for hours. You have come such a long way in the past 8 weeks and I am so happy that you have found your place at camp. I cannot wait to visit you in London and to see you succeed as staff, because you are awesome and I really stalk you.

Katherine, you are an amazing person. Getting closer with you this year has been one of the best parts of my summer. I cannot begin to tell you how much I admire you. You are a natural leader, so much fun to be around, and you really bring our group together. You are so easy to talk to and I can't wait to hang out as staff for an entire 8 weeks. I love you so so so much.

Lisa, you need to promise me that you will never change. Your personality sets you apart from anyone I have ever met. Every year you grow up so much and I am so proud of the person you have turned out to be. I know that you will make a great staff member and I hope that you can teach your campers to be just like you, because you are awesome.

Lizzy, you should be so proud of yourself. Beyond being an incredible athlete, you are an unbelievable person. Your ability to make friends with almost anyone is truly something to be proud of. It's easy to see how you have such strong bonds with people in different age groups. I am sure that you are going to love being staff and that your campers will love you more than anything. You are amazing.

Leesa, you have been the most incredible person to work with. I cannot even begin to thank you for everything that you have done for me and the girls. You are an amazing counselor and it is easy to see why the girls are obsessed with you. But in reality I am so happy that we became good friends. I would do anything to have you on my staff again.

To my Scribes of 2000, including the honorary, thank you for being my support system. I couldn't have made it through this summer without you. I love you all so much and I am lucky to have such a solid group of friends.

Scribes of 2004, being your counselor for the past three years has been one of the best things that has ever happened to me. Hearing your Scribe speeches was probably the most rewarding hour of my life because I felt like I made a difference in your lives. What I am not sure if you guys realize is that you guys have impacted my life in a way that I am forever grateful. I have learned so much from you guys and I look up to all of you because you are truly an incredible group. I love you guys more than anything and I hope you know that I will always be there for you guys.

The Scribes of 2004 will always be remembered as the girls that had fun doing anything, the girls with the positive attitudes, and the girls with the most genuine friendships. Lisa, Elyse, Tara, Lizzy, Katherine - I know you guys love camp more than anything and you must always work at keeping your friendship strong, because as close as you guys are now, your love for camp and each other will multiply with time.

You guys will all be incredible staff and I cannot wait to see you make a difference in kids' lives. I love you all forever. Thank you for one of the greatest summers of my life. ~ Pannytush

ROOKIE CAMPERS

It was a strange thing that occurred on August 2nd 2004. Robin Hood welcomed new campers eager for a taste of the magic and the fun. Would two weeks be enough? So much to experience...so much to take in.

There were only 6, but they came from all corners. Rex Rappaport, from Westport CT joined the Yeomen group. The Archers welcomed Alejandro Marti from Mexico. The remaining 4 bunked up with the TPJ's. There was Alejandro's younger brother Fernando; Dylan and Cody Robinson from Virginia; and then there was Taylor 'TJ' Harper who could almost have walked here from his home in Melvin Village, NH!

So, what did they make of it all? After a few days of 'adjustment' all 6 were well established, enjoying a taste of all the activities as well as some special events such as a ski boat trip, a visit to Cozy Corner for ice cream and an evening with the Friars on a pontoon boat.

Each one of our rookies has their own 'remember whens':

REX:

Winning 'Truckerball'... swimming at the waterfront...meeting Alvaro, his first friend in the Yeomen group...Water Country, on excursion...

ALEJANDRO:

Going on excursion with the Archers...playing Capture the Flag...trying all the activities...friends – Gustavo, Marlon, Sez, Brad, Mack...counselors – Geoff, Jonah, Fisher...didn't want to come to camp, but changed his mind after an hour!

FERNANDO:

Playing tennis...bombardment...soda after lunch...soccer...water guns and balloons.

CODY:

Falling out of bed...the ski boat ride...being in the PJ dance off...playing at the waterfront...playing bombardment and Capture the Flag.

DYLAN:

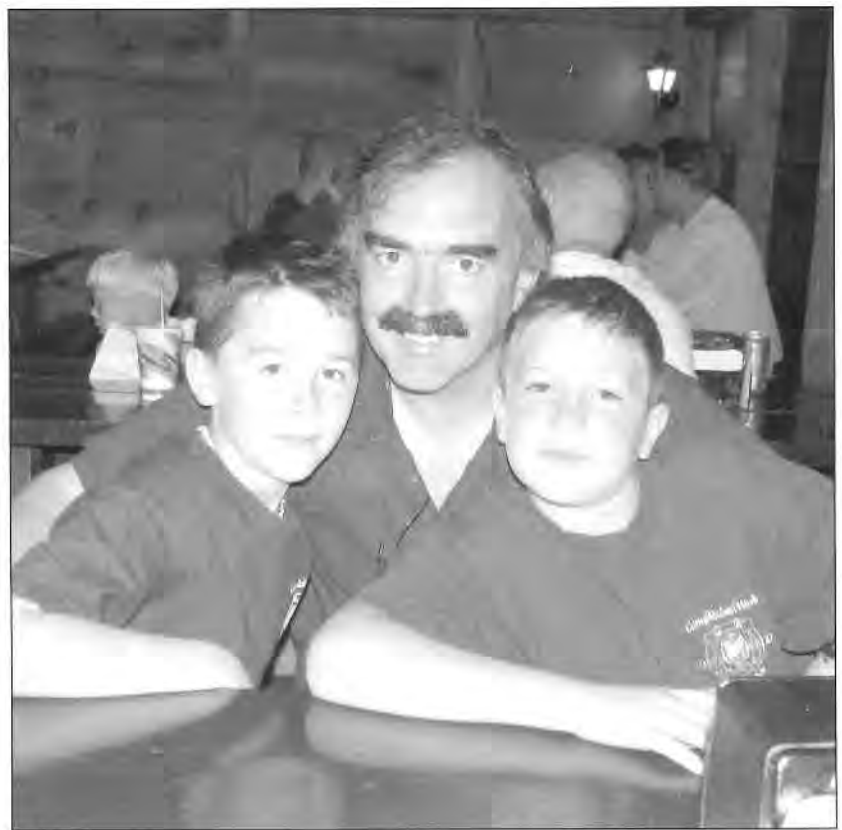

Waterskiing...friends – Adam Sez and TJ...listening to Goosebumps at bedtime...being in the Disney Show.

TAYLOR:

Trying all the activities...rifflery...waking up early to feed Lucky...friends – Brandon and Dylan...Short-tail the chipmunk...the social, the dance-off, Disney Show.

Will they be back next year?

The consensus is a resounding YES!!!

OGUNQUIT BEACH DAY

My return to Robin Hood this year after a ten year absence can best be described as reverse time travel. Camp is still the same lovely and unspoiled place that it was in 1994. It seemed like a time warp of some sort. It was great to reconnect with old friends, while making new friends this summer.

The crafts center was a beehive of activity all summer as well, and both sides were humming daily! It was great to see campers from different groups (regardless of age) tackle some of the very same projects.

In ceramics, we made everything in handbuilding from making clay cut-a-way rooms, masks, shoes, "ugly heads", to throwing pots on the wheel. At any time, one might enter ceramics and find campers of any age and gender (it didn't matter), making a pinchpot or throwing a pot on the wheel.

Rest hours weren't restful in ceramics! Everyone who came, stayed until lunch and then returned again after lunch. The only problem that we had was with the weather. The clay just would not dry, and we couldn't fire it as soon or as often as we would have liked to!

In crafts, my thoughts go to the campers from sooooo many different groups making alllllll of those dream catchers, awesome shutter paintings, robots (and the "secret" team that built them). The robots team assembled every week to work on their project. They all had special names too: Justin the Genius, Dynamic Dylan, Mark the Amazing (or was it awesome?), Clark the Clever, M&MMMM- was that you Mark?, Steven the superior or was it "swell?" Alex, Adam...they had titles like "awesome, amazing or marvelous" too, didn't they? It's already a blur!!

And how about all that glass etching we did! That caught on like wildfire. Everyone who came through the door wanted to get into it. At one point, when the demand was great and the supplies ran low, I called everywhere to find etching cream and finally found some in Somersworth (over an hour away). I made a flying trip down there one morning to get more!

Finally, my warmest memories are of the canvas painting at the beach. I am soooo proud of you girls (Quills: Daniele, Mika, Noga, Macia, Miss Orange and Jessi). Your paintings are masterpieces—every one of them! The fact that it was your first time painting on canvas makes it all the more amazing. You threw yourselves into it, worked through lunch (almost) that day, and then returned for many days afterward to finish them on the crafts porch. My hat is off to all of you. Well done ladies!

That's it for this season. Have a wonderful winter everyone!

CERAMICS

My first year at Robin Hood has been amazing! The effort I've seen the campers (and staff!) put into their ceramics projects has been inspiring, not to mention impressive.

We had a rocky start with our supplies arriving late but that didn't stop us in the ceramics department! Thank you to all the groups who came to the session. The TJ's (my girls!), TPJ's, Squires, Bows, Archers, Quills (the funniest group ever!), Yeomen, Arrows, Lancers, Bards and Shires (who put so much effort into their work. Michelle Lipkin, the time you put into your soup cup was completely worth it!).

My shelves have been lined with so many different pieces. From interesting masks (Keara, that includes yours!), animals and cut-a-way rooms, to coil pots (the Tremayne sisters - Jessie and Ellie, your pot and bowl were spectacular!), pinch pots (how I love them - seriously!), and pinch pot faces (TPJ's/ Squires - yours were truly frightening!).

We also had some "unique" creations pop up as well, ranging from a flute (beautifully done, Carlos, shame it didn't work!) to a game boy holder, and dungeon and dragon figurines. I drew the line at poker chips (yes Lancers, they were impractical to fire in the kiln - honest!).

I've had a brilliant time this summer and would like to thank my Tumblr/Jesters who made my time outside of the Ceramics Department happy, fun and definitely never never the same! The same goes to Lauren, Stetch, Jenie, Kim and Paige - the best staff ever and of course Julia Holczer - the best GL we could have hoped for.

Finally, I'd like to thank Joan, Peter, Jess and Karina for all the help they have provided over the many weeks - I couldn't have survived without you all! Also thank you to everyone at Robin Hood for making my summer so incredible.

It seems not long ago I was wondering if I would get back to Robin Hood again. Now here I am saying goodbye for the second time wishing it was the start of summer 2005.

As usual, woodshop starts the summer as an extension of the maintenance department - the priorities this year were new cubbies for the bunks and new benches for the dining hall with approximately 70 new campers this year. The addition of a senior waterfront area also required the production of an additional spinal injury board.

Once again, I had the pleasure of working with Bob Jones who always manages to take the pressure off, as did the addition of a new table saw.

The first week we had kids come in looking for projects they didn't have time to finish last summer and we were pleased to find most of them amongst the winter's pinecones.

I was lucky enough to be with my group from last year which were this year's Yeomen, and the boys felt the Yeomen Bunk needed some work so we put in new toilet doors, some slim-line shelving, and a new 19 brush tooth brush holder with a dust cover. A new monopoly/poker table was also in order. These became our legacy gifts for Founder's Day. There were some other outstanding Founder's Day gifts produced in the woodshop including a new welcome sign as you enter camp via the rifle range built by the Friars, and a picket fence 20 feet on either side of the boys junior camp bunk with each junior camp boy customizing his own picket. Another gift was a trophy case built by the Lancers which is almost finished.

The projects this year included many ock boxes, bedside tables, and some very unique projects like Alex Posen's giant pepsi can and Brandon Taylor's hockey game. Brittany Frye made a piggy bank and Estafanie made a necklace holder in the shape of a heart. Kris Boehm made an adjustable crutch. Several of the Lancers and Yeomen made shields to use in their water balloon wars. Ellie Tremayne made a fold-up seat for two to be bolted to a tree at home. Ivan Soto-Wright built an octagonal poker table with a cupboard underneath. Lets not forget Andrew Klien's triple beverage holder for the Saxon Bunk. There was Valentina's paper towel holder in the shape of a cow. Margherita made a miniature doll chair and Michelle Lipkin made a hockey game. Zoe Kessler's gesture to build some shelves in a cupboard for a new camper who had no room for a cubby deserves a mention. There is a lot of talent amongst the new campers with five of the eight awards for woodshop this year picked-up by first time campers, a great addition to our already talented camper list.

Green & White also saw some changes in the woodshop with the splitting of the junior and senior camp sessions and the hours to complete the projects reduced from 5 to 2. The Fri/For/Sax boat was replaced with an adirondack foot stool and the Lancer oar was replaced with a weaver's table. Not only were most jobs finished in the shortened time frame, the judges commented that the quality of work had improved from previous years.

Well that is about all from me this year. I would like to take this opportunity to thank Bob McKenna on behalf of Robin Hood for his ten years service and also for his assistance to me over last two summers.

One last thing before I go. I would like to congratulate Bob and Eunice Jones on their 50th wedding anniversary. I hope you both enjoyed your trip.

Tim Ross

Welcome to the Robin Hood Archery Range: its wide open-space, its woods, and its hamac make this place the best to improve your archery skills. No need for a lot of descriptions as these sentences will be enough:

- "Don't shoot when there is somebody near the targets"
- "Straight arm, guys"
- "Are you laughing at my French accent?"
- "It's my hamac"
- "This is Douglas' bow" ...and a lot of others.

I was very worried at the beginning of the summer when I realized I had to teach my skills in an unknown place to unknown children, and I think I will remember all my life my first class with the Bows (the girls, not what we use to shoot...). I didn't feel reassured, and couldn't find my words, and Bows GL Michelle immediately understood this. She helped me, and I realized why Robin Hood Camp is a family: Friendship, Fellowship, Sportsmanship. A lot of people spend their life without being aware of the existence of these three words. The Bows showed me in ten minutes.

The next classes were easier for me, and I am sure today that each kid that came to archery learned something they won't forget, and at the end of the summer, several could pretend to be the true Robin Hood as they really improved!

The 17th Annual Robin Hood Archery Tournament was a huge success: more than 4,000 arrows were shot from 9:00 am to 8:00 pm without a break, and in all kinds of weather conditions: pouring rain, smog, clouds and sun. The archers earned sixth place in each category for Robin Hood. In the 12 & Under shooters included: Rachel Dicker, Lindsay Rosenstein, Stephen Hopkins, Andrew Becker and Connor Fulbright (Best Team Shooter). In the 15 & Under shooters included: Myles Stavis, Haley Besser, Paul Grossman, Sam Dicker, O.G. and Allie Sneider (Best Team Shooter). Congratulations to everybody - you did your best with a big smile on your face. Thanks to Rachel, Douglas "Eagle-Eye" and Alex for their help during this very long day. And a big thanks to Peter for bringing us food on his bike.

Then came Parents Weekend...although Chuck told us during the staff meeting that parents couldn't use camp activities facilities, parents did want to shoot with their kids, and I couldn't refuse. So I was soon surrounded by 30 people, from the five-years-old-girl-that-wants-to-be-like-her-brother to the seventy-year-old-grand-father-that-wants-to-be-like-his-grand-daughter. In one word: funny! I hope I made parents understand why Robin Hood has a great Archery Program.

Green & White broke...the helicopter flew first above the Archery Range which maybe is why the battles were so close between the Green and White Teams. Several contests were won by only a few points. I remember all these kids asking Rachel and me, "Are you sure you know how to count the scores?" And we answered a resounding "Yes!!!"

This year, Mack Bennet, Julian Catalan Carpenter and Heather Lipkin earned the Progress and Achievement Award for the Junior Camp, and Estefanie Moreno and Sam Dicker for the Senior Camp. Hadrian Cordier and Andrea Knox earned the Effort and Skill Award for the Junior Camp, and Allie Sneider, Douglas Bidlack and Paul Grossman for the Senior Camp. Congratulations!

It's now time for me to thank one more time Douglas "Eagle Eye-I lost a ton of sodas-High tech bows," Rachel, Josh Morgan "Josh and Coke" and Andy McNeill.

To all the campers that came this summer to the Archery Range to shoot arrows - thank you!!! See you next year, and forgive my French accent...

Summer in the Robin Hood darkroom proved to be a very successful one, and while we might be lacking in the suntan department, there was certainly no shortage in enthusiasm and talent. We worked on a number projects this summer that ranged from the very basics in photography to all aspects of printing and developing. Some of these projects included Photograms, Pinhole Cameras (made from cardboard boxes), Contact Printing, Photographing Composition, Processing and Printing.

The Tumbler Jesters were really enthusiastic photographers from the word Go... Julia, Rachel, Callan, Charlotte, Pricilla, Tiffany, Jessie, Isabel, Emily R., Lauren and Ellie produced some beautiful group pictures at both the waterfront and at the stables, they also took some great pinhole camera landscape shots.

The TPJ's and Squires also did a great job this summer with some excellent photograms. Brandon took and printed some great action shots and Justin, Dylan, Brandon, Adam, Arthur, Connor and Oliver took some amazing portraits using the pinhole cameras - remember how hard it was keeping still for so long guys?

The Bows were another great bunch to work with and seemed to have a really good eye when it came to composition, a special mention going to the chair and wood pile shot from Andrea Knox.

The Archers did a great job with the pinhole camera also this year and a huge congratulations to both Sheldon and Mack. To Sheldon, not only for taking great shots, but for working so hard on developing your own negatives, achieving such great printing results, and for your boat shot taken with the pinhole camera. To Mack - not only for your shots and prints that were great, but you also found your way around that darkroom unassisted as well as anyone else this summer. Great job guys!!!

The Quills continued to do a great job right up until the last days this summer - you girls had so much enthusiasm. Julia, Rachel B., Rachel D., Coco, Keara and Megan did a great job printing in the darkroom and definitely had some fun taking their shots - Girls remember the shot of Coco kissing the flag pole?

And the gorgeous Arrows - here were some more comedian photographers with Jill's potty shots!!!! Valentina, Marilyn, Alison, Mary Kate, Ali S., Rach and Biz also printed some great group shots.

Jordan and Daniel of the Lancers created some more amazing pinhole camera shots using leading lines, and Nigro did some nice printing also - particularly his shot of Chuck and Lucky.

Missy, Gaby, Sarah, Shawn, Shauna, Ilyse and Constance from the Bards did a lot of printing this summer and came up with a great collection of prints that showed their love for camp. They printed some really interesting shots of places and things around camp that meant a lot to them, for example, camp signs, the waterfront and the rendezvous.

To the Friars, well what can I say? I really didn't see you guys that often, but your paparazzi photo session was very entertaining!!!!

And lastly, to the oldest group that came to photo this year, the Shires - Dana, Annie, Zoe and Erin. You girls were great. You took so much in this summer and produced some great work.

To all who competed in the Green and White photography competition - excellent work guys. You put in some long hours and it showed in the very high quality this year.

Congratulations go to all the photography award winners this summer which include: Mack Bennett, Andrea Knox and Dana Bershler for "Effort and Skill," and Sheldon Jacobson, Fernando Marti, Callan Goldman, Annie Crane and Jessie Tremayne for "Progress and Achievement."

I'd like to thank everyone who came to Photo this year and helped to make it such a great summer for me. I hope you guys had as much fun as I did and learned a little something along the way. A huge special THANKS going to Lauren Helmen for helping out and to Kate Whistler for helping during Green & White.

Thanks, Jess

What a fantastic summer it has been here at The Realm! The girls have all been busy working away in the dance studio and it has been a pleasure to teach them. We've had some amazing performances.

Right back at the beginning of the summer we were thrown in at the deep end with the announcement that we had only two weeks to prepare for the Talent Show! But all the girls rose to the challenge and worked hard to create some great dances. The TJ's performed a brilliant dance to 'Barbie Girl' – great job! The Bows performed a hilarious dance to 'Its Raining Men,' with special guest performers the Bow staff and the Saxons – that was so much fun to work on. The Quills choreographed a great hip-hop dance to Britney and performed it beautifully. The Arrows put together such a strong dance to 'Yeah' by Usher, and their performance was breathtaking! The Bards did a Michael Jackson medley and worked so hard on their group sections as well as the whole group parts to pull off an awesome performance – so proud of you girls!

We then spent the next few weeks working on specific dance skills in class - jumps and kicks, traveling steps and choreography. All groups were very creative in coming up with routines to a variety of songs from Aretha Franklin's 'Respect' to Beyoncé's 'Baby Boy.'

Just when we thought we could relax, Green & White hit! All those involved in the Talent Show on both teams spent every spare minute rehearsing their routines. The White Junior Dance was a very creative and funny dance to 'Hey Juliet' performed by Maddie Josel, Halle Shane, Brandon Sneider and Michael Szewczyk, and the Green Junior Dance was a sweet dance to 'Lollipop' performed by Danielle Jacobson, Allison Schwartz, Sara Friedman, Lauren Cole and Miranda Gastelum.

There was stiff competition between the senior camp dances. The White Team: Bia Madrazo, Dayna Geldwert, Dana Berschler, Zoe Kessler and Emily Rempell, choreographed an amazing dance to Black Eyed Peas 'Lets get it Started' and all members of the team showed amazing technique and performance quality. The Green Team: Anna Wiggin, Carolyn Siegel, Biz Wiggin and Rachel Schorr worked day and night to create a medley to 'Saturday Night Fever' and with their sparkly costumes and funky moves they gave the White Team a run for their money! As both dances were of an amazing standard, and both really deserved to win, I think the judges were right to split the points! Special mention must go to Lauren Brenner for co-choreographing Green with me and to Sydney Wickey for working so hard on the costumes – thank you!

In the final weeks of camp, we were entertained at meal times by groups challenging each other to Dance-Offs: the Shires and Forrester's, the Bards and Friars, the TJ's and TPJ's, and the male and female staff. All dances were great – so much fun and the Forester's deserve a special mention for their great dances to the Full Monty Soundtrack – they were hilarious!!! And now I've reached the end of my first summer at The Realm, and there are a few people I need to thank for helping to make the Dance Department run so smoothly. To everyone who helped with choreography for Talent Shows campers and staff, and to Paige for helping me out in classes and running them in my absence – I really appreciate your help this summer. And finally to my girls for showing so much enthusiasm and making my first summer in The Realm unforgettable.

SUMMER AT THE REALM

AN ENTERTAINMENT IN THREE ACTS

ACT ONE

A number of accomplished performers took part in the annual Talent Show. Camper and Staff alike performed, played, sang and danced their way through a varied display of acts.

The Tumblers and Jesters, Bows, Quills, Arrows and Bards all delighted us with a variety of dances, while Haley Besser did a song and part of the ballet from Oklahoma! Liv Firstenberg also sang as did Joey Stein. Skits were performed by the Archers, Saxons and Scribes, while the Friars Ben Roberts, Max Greenstein and Alex Mann provided band entertainment.

Staff members also contributed with songs, dances and a dazzling display of Devil Sticks.

INTERMISSION

American Idol came to The Realm! A number of staff members performed songs in our own version of the TV Show. An audience of campers voted for their favorite artist after some enlightening comments from a panel of judges (including our own Simon Cowell!)

ACT TWO

That great Broadway Musical 'Damn Yankees' was produced for two performances. The entire camp saw the second show and gave a rousing ovation to the talented cast of performers.

ACT TWO

A tribute to the music of Disney was staged on the penultimate night of camp. Aaron Woodstein, Lauren Cole, Pricila Pedre, Emily Rose, Miranda Gastelum, Haley Sheehan, Maddie Josel, Dylon Robinson and Taylor Harpor joined a number of the staff in songs from 18 of the most beloved Disney Movies.

Appropriately, the finale was the catchy 'Oo De Lally' song from 'Robin Hood' and the entire audience was invited to join in bringing the 2004 season to a rousing finish.

CANOEING

EUGENE CASEY

This was my first summer at Camp Robin Hood and I enjoyed every moment down at the waterfront and on the lake.

We started the summer revising strokes and turns. As the summer progressed, we did small trips to swan point, around the island and down the channel past the chalet.

Then there were the trips to the Marina with the Yeomen and Foresters to get candy and soda.

Hey Bows - remember capsizing the canoe and discovering that you could talk to each other under the canoe (in the bubbles)?

And, who can forget the Lancers' 18-mile overnight trip down the Saco River in Maine? This was a great highlight of the summer, not only for me but for the whole Lancer bunk. We endured a 10-mile trip the first day with relentless mosquitoes. What followed was a perfect day that allowed us to dry out over the last 8 miles.

Thanks for all the great memories. I hope to see you all again soon.

GOLF

MAX MANIN

The year in Golf at Robin Hood was an excellent one. The typical groups included the Bows, Quills, Arrows, Bards, Friars, Yeoman and Foresters. The Bows showed great chipping and short game from Best in Girls Junior Camp, Taylor McGinnis as well as Girls Junior Camp Most Improved, Maddie Josel. The Quills showed great skill from Rachel Beitler and good effort from Alison Schwartz as well as Lily Stavis. The Arrows brought a lot of energy and improvement from Amanda Tuck and Jill Kozloff. The Bards showed their skills with great work from Dana Geldwert, Katie O'Reilly, and of course Girls Best in Camp, Anna Wiggin. As for the Friars, Ryan Shane, Sam Jonas, Chad and David Burstein were very good in their heated closest to the pin contest. The Yeoman brought great talent to the far far field with golfers like Aaron Haynes, Chhaya Ausaar-Sahu, Shiny and of course the Best in Camp winner William Chen. Last but not least the Foresters displayed talent to the likes of Best in Camp winner Teddy Newmyer, Jaime Blaustein, King Solomon and Zandy Bard. There were two tournaments that I attended with the fifteen and under team, one of which was at The Waukawaan Golf Course which was held by Winaukee. Teddy Newmyer shot the best score for Robin Hood with a fifty-three and as a whole, Robin Hood got third place...out of four teams, however the effort was there. On a more serious note the thirteen and under team went to The Richwood Golf Course which was held again, by Winaukee. William Chen shot an amazing round and placed fourth place out of all of twenty-five kids in the tournament. All in all I'd say that the year was a huge success. Thanks for coming and have a good year.

This summer has been an amazing one at Lacrosse. This was my first summer at Camp Robin Hood and hopefully not my last. From the PJs, Squires to the Friars and Shires, lacrosse was always exciting in The Realm.

Throughout the summer, each group displayed enthusiasm and skill. Starting with the Junior Camp Boys – they showed extreme improvement over the summer. Their catching and throwing skills were great and they are all potential Best in Camp Lacrosse winners! They just need to continue to practice, practice, practice.

During the Junior Camp Boys periods, even on the hottest days, we all found a way to have a great time at lacrosse while learning. During the option period, a few Junior Campers were always around – in particular, Steven Gallagher. Showing consistent participation and skill, Steven received most improved for the boys this summer. Another star was Jake Rosen – he showed amazing ability and enthusiasm, which earned him Best in Junior Boys Camp.

To the Archers – so many of you and so much lacrosse for you this summer! What a great year for you guys. I am very proud of you and the progress you made in lacrosse this summer. By the end of camp, you all looked like pros – throwing and catching was a synch.

To my Lancer boys – great job this year at lacrosse. It was good to see you guys interested in what I was a part of. You all had great improvement, especially Elias and Mario – good job! Unfortunately, there wasn't as much Lancer lacrosse as I would have liked, but it was great when you were there.

Friars – a little tough to teach you guys since you all have great form and skills. Full-group base-ketball (lacrosse style) was still satisfying for us.

During the option period, we typically saw Avery Hunt and several others at Lacrosse. Avery's dedication and skill level earned him the Best in Camp Lacrosse Award, which he shared with my Saxon Aide, Brandon Gaynor.

The Bards and Shires always refusing to play without Stetcher there, still managed to have a good time without period-long catches. Although reluctant, you all kept lacrosse exciting and fun the entire summer.

Without the help of Emily Stetcher, Brandon Gaynor and all the general staff who came to lacrosse, I don't know what I would have done. Emily – girls lacrosse is very different than boys, and your knowledge truly enhanced our Lacrosse Program. Also a special thanks to all the campers – keep on playing! It's been a great summer and hopefully we will see each other in the years to come.

BASKETBALL

This summer was another fun and interesting summer for basketball in The Realm. This year's basketball program was headed by Damien Speranza. Working with me to make the program a success were Stevenson Porta-Bell and Matt Brody. Both men were a great help to me and I thank you.

Intensive this year for both boys and girls went very, very well. There was a lot of intensity as well as some surprises. Boys like Jon Katz and Zack Frumkin showed amazing progress and an eagerness to learn. On the girls side, Samantha Kadis and Molly Hurlehy did whatever we asked of them and more. They both showed that they were very coachable and have a lot of potential. I would also like to thank Emily Scott and Tammy Klein for their help running intensive week.

Running periods and working with the kids is great but what really makes basketball fun are the intercamp tournaments. The boys 11 and under worked very hard in every game they played. They never quit no matter what the score or the situation. The boys 13 and under was a talented young team. Lead by Andrew Cristal and Jake Swartz, this team was one to be reckoned with. They won a bunch of their games. Lastly, for the boys 15 and under team which was lead by none other then Zandy Bard. Who can forget his right-on-time arrival to the house game, or his 52 points at the Indian Acres tournament? Also stepping up this year were Jack Freedman and rookie sensation Jonathan "Chin" Hearne. We may not have won any tournaments but we beat Birchmont twice no matter how dirty they played, and next year we will do it to them again.

As far as the Girls Team went, our 11 and under girls may not have been the most talented team out on the floor but no one could match their spirit. They had great hearts and always had fun. Our girls 13 and under not only knew how to have fun but won while doing it. Little Lindsay Rosenstein was amazing but it helped her to have a great supporting team. Girls like Sara Friedman and Katie Davis really made a difference. Our oldest girls which are the 15 and under team were once again amazing for the 3rd year in a row. We won the Robin Hood Tournament and we beat Birchmont during Blue & White. Lizzy Kidder was the heart of the team but she had an easy job leading when you have girls like Annie Crane, Dana Berschler and Izzy Satori to follow. They played great as a team and were among the most coachable players I have ever coached.

To all of you who came to basketball and worked hard, I am glad I could be your coach. Nothing makes me happier than to see a camper practicing a drill I taught them on their own time just to get better. You all did whatever I asked, and even if there was a bit of complaining, it was done and done well. You all worked hard for me and did your best and I cannot ask for anything more. I had a lot of fun coaching and just running periods and I have you to thank for it. Keep working hard and never settle for less than your best.

Lastly, whenever you start to doubt yourself and your ability just remember what the bench says:

*No questions in life,

last memory has to be dedicated to the Shires leaving the lesson once they discovered they had lice - hilarious!

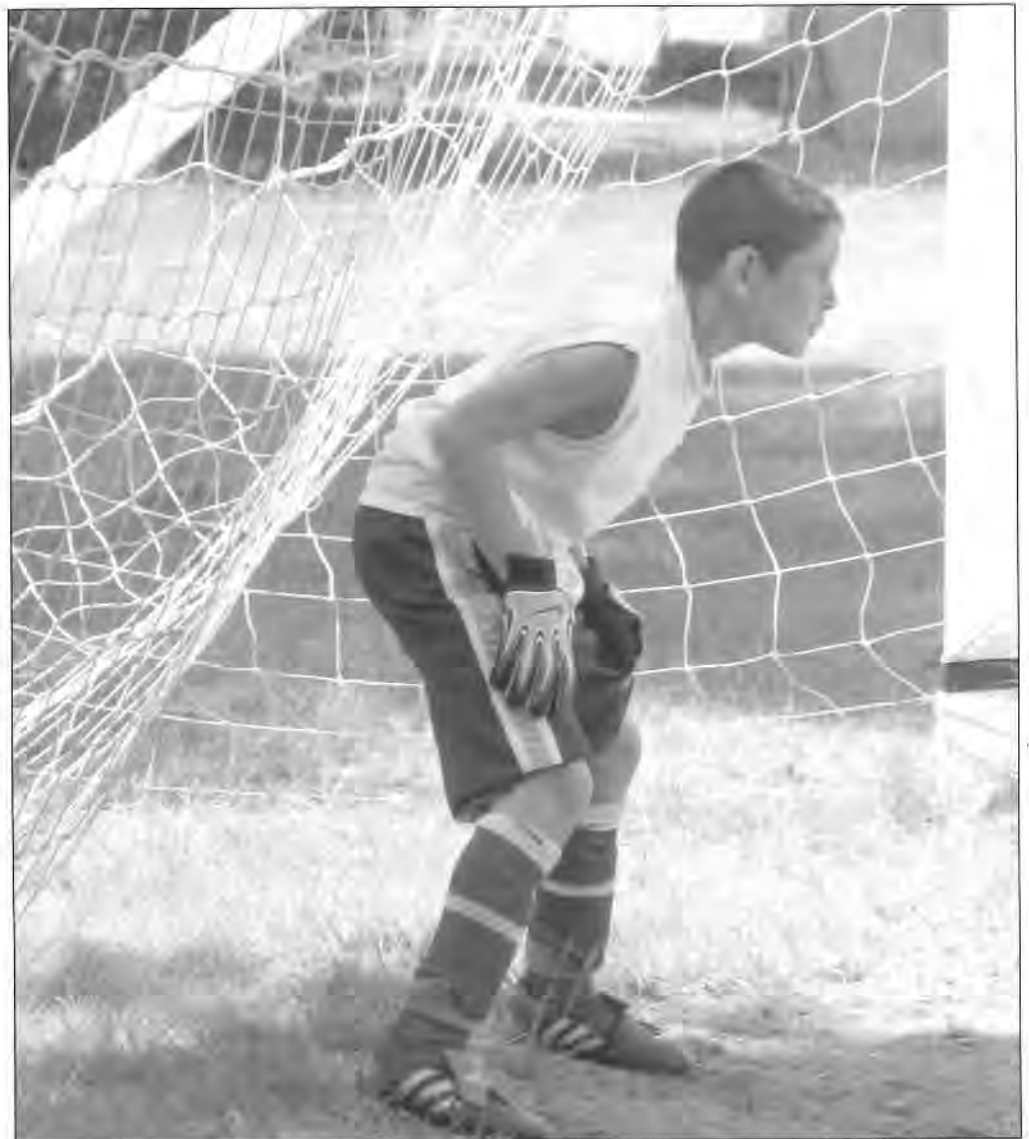

Intercomp started early for the boys on the 29th of June. Despite lady luck never lying by our side there were some memorable performances by the lads. Highlights for the boys were: Ryan Cristal's 20-yard screamer in the U 15 tournament at Indian Acres; the penalty shoot-out for the Lancers play-day vs. Winaukee - Rob Hirst's wonder saves and Ethan Sneider's calm finish; Arturo and Grossman's performances at Tecumseh - Dan scored a great goal; Arthur Cohen's amazing goal vs. Tecumseh - we lost 9-1!; Bradley Hearne's never-say-die attitude; Marios hat trick against Winaukee; Roger Hird's warm-ups as captain; James DiLorenzo's tough tackling; JP being snapped and then getting straight back up; Jake Szabo's improved performances and finally, Jacob Cohen - a rock in defense, a great captain and a quality player. He stood out at both U15 tournaments and wins BIC Senior Camp. Wise words - for boys to be successful at Intercomp tournaments they need to show more desire for soccer or you will be in Barney Rubble (trouble).

Girls Intercomp on the other hand was a different story "jackanory." The talent and skill shown in Girls Camp was unbelievable and the future looks very bright indeed. We cruised to two victories at U11 and U15 but arguably the 13 & Under team could have been the best of the lot. The U11 girls had home field advantage on the 9th of July in dramatic weather conditions. Play was stopped due to thunder and lightning which was very, very frightening. The team was built on a firm base of Noga in the goal, our impassable rocks of Katie, Lauren and Jenny who were superb. Taylor McGinnis in her 1st yr was awesome in midfield as she covered every blade of grass. With the support of Maddie and Valerie, the team was solid. They constantly FUN IN THE SUN Robin Hood Soccer has come a long way in the last 8 weeks, with many ups, downs, dribbles and turns! Helped by the International ban on head catch and world cup we were able to introduce many more new fun games and drills.

The first week started with an intensive training session before many had even unpacked their bags. These ran very smoothly and demonstrated to us that there was a lot of ability hidden in the trees. Soccer as a group activity has certainly come on at RH. This has been greatly helped by the revolutionary "Clinics," which has made our jobs a lot easier, and the kids have benefited accordingly - everyone's a winner. We have had some absolutely crackin' clinics especially with Girls Camp - the highlight being a blinding session during Parents Weekend with the Bards. Other great memories include the Tumbler/Jesters game of Steal the Bacon where we have never seen a parent try as hard as Mr. Goldman did against his 10-year-old daughter! There was also their very last session of the summer that ended in a chaotic full-field game with the counselors going flat out! And what about the Bows and Quills who each turned up with at least three siblings! This led to the largest lesson in Robin Hood history! Then there was the Arrows over/under game played through the storm! And how could we forget the Yeoman game of Crab Football - remember the song: "Northern Ireland, sausage eggs potato bread"! Our supplied our strikers Jessie and Rachel, who did not need to be asked twice to find the net. We won the cup and the Hood's first piece of silverware was secure, hurrah!

The U15 girls were an absolute class apart from any of their competitors. Early highlights were a superb performance by the Bards in a play day at Birchmont where the opposition 15 & Under eased to a comfortable win in the Blue & White game. Our day at Robindal was a bit more complicated. It started off with calamity: directions were simple, or so we thought, however the lead driver (Irish) managed to miss a turn by 8 miles and we were rather late. Irish was decaled by the girls as being 'THE worst driver ever!' which has yet to be disproved. Apparently, the roads are not as straight in the U.S. as they are in Ireland!

After being given an ear bashing by the man in charge, we started the game like we were still asleep but managed a 1-1 draw against a strong Merriwood. We had time to relax before we played the host's White Team. Our class shone through and we won by a cricket score. Dana scored a stunning hat trick and Anna scored also. After a great lunch and a long break in which we practiced some ingenious set pieces just out in the UK, the semi-final vs. the host's Blue Team was a one-sided affair. Anna got another two goals and Molly stepped up as we knew she could and got two scores as well. The final matched us against Merriwood whose star striker who was lovingly named 'the beast.' We proved that the first game was just a blip and eased to a 3-0 win. There was a galaxy of stars on display: Kidder was a rock in the goal as she saved all sorts of shots, including a penalty; Ally Sneider, Annie Crane, E, Allison Howard, Liza Rosenfield were all outstanding in defense. Our centre midfield pairing of Sara Lindenauer and Anna Wiggin were stars throughout the year. With Dana on the right, we had a constant threat throughout as she always gave 100% and played a team game. Up front, Jordan and Molly were fantastic. The rest of the squad were immense and extremely patient. Ally Castleman, Audrey Lee both gave their all. Hannah showed great improvement as did Mishy and Issa. The results could not have been the same without them. However, they will remember the day two very young girls arrived on the scene: Taylor and Rachel were brilliant. Rachel was a major threat up front and was unlucky not to score. Taylor came on and played beyond her years. The highlight of the day was when she took the ball from someone twice her size and left her face in the mud!

This squad was unbelievable but imagine what it could have been if Amanda Tuck had arrived earlier and Katie O'Reilly was able to play more. Katie's constant displays of great skill and finishing earned her the Senior Camp Award along with Dana. With Lindsay Rosenstein, Ally Sartori and Liz Wiggin from the Arrows to come in next year, the team will only get better.

Overall, the summer has been the best the three Andys on the staff have ever had! We would just like to thank Marla, Fernando and Arnot for always being there to help out. Thank you also to our Saxon Aides - Brad Shane, Jason Uth and Matt Szabo. I know you were often the butt of our jokes but honestly boys, your attitudes were great and you made an enormous contribution to the fun we had this summer! We can't wait to work with you next year. I hope you all enjoyed yourselves at our 'awesome' sessions! No-one was unlucky in the slightest! We will hopefully see you again next year, keep up the good work, and stay lucky!

It was a rainy summer for both baseball and softball this year. It seemed as if it rained each tournament. And at Camp Robin Hood, there are no such things as game delays or make up games. We just play through it, literally. Which symbolizes what our camp is all about. We stuck together under bad conditions, and we succeeded as we always do.

In baseball this summer, our Robin Hood boys were amazing. Although our record wasn't a winning record, our boys were victorious in other ways. There's a saying that reads, "In order for one to know how to win, one must also know how to lose." It is this lesson that our boys learned throughout the summer. It is this lesson that most people do not learn and do not want to learn. Our boys learned the importance of being a team and how to play as one. They learned how to show good sportsmanship, not only to the other team, but also to their teammates. And most importantly they learned how to have fun.

There were some great baseball memories at The Realm starting with Zach Frumkin's face-first slide into second base. Also, Jesse Greenstein's dive put out at home plate to get us out of the inning. It was awesome!!!! Award winners this season included B.I.C. winners for Junior Camp, Andrew Cristal and Micheal Szewczyk. B.I.C. winner for Senior Camp was Andrew Klein. Most improved for Junior Camp included Merlon Mejors and for Senior Camp, Jesse Greenstein.

In softball this summer, the ladies of The Realm were victorious. They destroyed the competition. The girls won virtually every play day they played this summer. Our ladies smiled throughout each game and won each game with class. They showed great sportsmanship on and off the field. I'm so proud of the softball ladies of The Realm, not because of their victories, but because the Robin Hood spirit flows through their veins. Our ladies placed first in the Robindel Tournament, placed second in the Robin Hood Tournament, and placed second in the Evergreen Tournament.

Award winners this season included B.I.C. winner for Junior Camp, Katie Davis, and for Senior Camp, Lizzy Kidder. Most improved for Junior Camp winner was awarded to Lauren Zipkin, and for Senior Camp, Dana Berschler.

The softball ladies of The Realm shared great memories. I will never forget Dana's glove a.k.a "Baby," which I had to hold the entire Evergreen game. Who can forget the "Gigglers" Shauna O'Neil and Lauren Rosenstein - thank you for the laughs. Molly Herlihy, you're as strong as a rock for taking one for the team. Exchanging shirts with the Jewish Camp was out of control. And last but not least, the camp thanks you for bringing home the "Pony Game." I love you girls, thank you for the laughs and memories.

Special thanks to Micheal Stetcher and his crew for umping the games and tournaments. Plus, I want to give a very special thanks to Scott Heller and Tyler Butts for all their hard work. And last but not least, thank you Camp Robin Hood for allowing me to be part of The Realm.

Germany in The Realm...and Ohio, too! Two very different members of the Camp Robin Hood staff unite to create a unique Gymnastics program for the campers of 2004. A big thanks to the general staff for motivating the kids and daring to participate yourselves, it really made a big difference.

Even though the springboard was one of the favorites, we also challenged the campers to try the balance beam, vault (or horse, Sabrina...) and floor work. Our motto: Try everything at least once. And they did. Cartwheels, handstands, somersaults and backward rolls on the "cheese mat" were only a few things.

A couple weeks into camp we added a new member to our team - Ben Potts. Thanks, Ben, for covering classes and helping out with the very spirited ones in Boys Camp. What a bunch! The flips were higher and the jumps over the vault looked more daring than anything we ever imagined we'd see. Even though we only had two groups from Boys Camp, there were so many more interested in gymnastics. Sorry we couldn't make the 5:45 am lesson in the tent, Zandy.

More than anything else, we were impressed by the kids' determination to succeed. Jack and Big Mac tried so many times to jump over the vault - and by the end of their class, did! During Parents Weekend, some of the parents really got into the spirit. Wow, was Bailey's mom really flexible!

The rest of the camp session flew by like a breeze. Halle and Priscila showed us their skills on the floor. They truly loved gymnastics from the first to the last lesson. That's what this is all about. For those of you who loved doing flips, cartwheeling across the beam, doing straddles over the vault and tumbling on the floor, keep coming back. We hope you had a great time. See you next summer!

VOLLEYBALL

RACHEL COOPER

This year, Robin Hood campers brought excitement and enthusiasm to both the sand and the grass courts in The Realm.

Whether it was the surprising skill the Tumbler/Jesters showed in learning the basic passes, intense Newcomb games (and Senior Campers begging to play Newcomb even after they'd been assured that they are, in fact, too old for Newcomb and need to practice for Color War, and Volleyball is more fun anyway...), interesting and inventive ways of breaking up teams for Friar games (where do they come up with these ideas? But the teams managed to be even), or amazing digs to save spikes made from counselors who might have forgotten to "let the kids play," it has been a fantastic summer. We started out the summer making sure every camper, no matter what age, had the basic bump and set passes down. We practiced with bumping circles, shuttles, special rules in games and partner passing. The campers showed no problems whatsoever in getting these skills down, so it was easy to move on to serving, and then on to full periods of just playing. While the younger campers played mostly Newcomb (in such varieties as super-Newcomb, name-Newcomb, volleyball-Newcomb, and sit-around-and-talk-and-then-catch-the-ball-Newcomb), all of these groups, especially the Tumbler/Jesters(!!!) gave volleyball games a chance almost every class, and sharpened their skills. While the senior campers often WANTED to play Newcomb, they were enthusiastic and fun on the court as they polished their already molded skills and added passes before the final hitting of the ball over the net. The Foresters found themselves with mostly overhand servers, but after working on the skill, every senior group had a consistent underhand serve; it took a little more work to learn how to receive it (what's the name of that hardware store?). Green and White brought a new level of intensity to the court. We found ourselves with hits never-before-seen from the least aggressive players, controlled passing, and accurate score keeping (no more A Lot serving A Little!). These skills newly discovered stayed on the court even when the intensity did not post-Color War. Before Color War, the Arrows showed amazing skill on the court during a play day at Forest Acres. Who knew all it took was some real competition to bring it all out? As was best stated in the movie "Dirty Dancing," "I've had the time of my life, and I owe it all to you." Thank you Friars for being crazy, fun and always ready to play. Thanks Bows for trying everything at least once, and thanks T/J's for keeping on trying even when Newcomb would be easier. Arrows, thanks for letting me stumble my way through coaching my first nine on nine volleyball game (am I going in yet? Yes, oh wait, no; next serve, I promise). Quills, I'm glad you found my attempt to sing the sun back into shining amusing. Everyone else who came to Volleyball: you guys are great, keep passing, keep serving and the courts will be waiting for you next summer (with nets that will either be way too high or way too low). Thanks for making my first summer at Robin Hood a memorable one.

HORSEBACK RIDING

As you sit and read these pages, reminiscing over summer days of 2004, we will all be in different places, in the midst of our winter home lives. But however far apart we may be, we will all be sharing fond memories of 2004 at The Realm. How can we forget?! So let me begin by reintroducing you to the familiar friendly faces of The Sherwood Forest Stables:

Firstly SPECTRUM...the veteran of the yard and forever a favorite; BUDDY...the toothless one but still oh so handsome; SMEDLEY...what else can we say, the perfect gentleman; SLIM...‘Fidgety Slim Jim’; LANCE...Mr. neurotic, but what a looker; PETER PAN...quite the little jumper; BANDIT the playful little monkey whom we all still love; GIDGET...always the midget; MOLLY...the baby of the yard; SHAGGY, slow and often grumpy, but so very reliable; HONEY...the scaredy-cat but still so sweet; and finally the late arrival, HERCULES with the fancy tail... what a lifesaver. And then, of course, we have the wonderful riding crew who assisted me this summer at the barn: KAREN, BECKY, SARA, KAIT, JAMES, KAIS and KATHERINE. What a team!

And so the summer of 2004 began, with never a quiet moment at the stables. Within a few days we had met all our

Robin Hood riders, you had all met your steeds, picked your favorites, bonds were made...and the rest of the summer days were as busy and as fun as the first. We saw first-time riders climbing aboard their equine with more excitement and confidence than fear; many of you were familiar with the basics and after a few brush-up lessons were moving on to greater (and faster) aspects of horsemanship; others were perfecting skills and eager to learn new ones. Horse riding, as I’m sure you have all discovered, is a sport of endless learning that brings many rewards. From walking to cantering; flatwork to jumping; (and lest we forget all the barn chores); you all excelled our expectations in whichever aspect you demonstrated. You should be very proud!

As for ‘Remember When’s...there are so many! REMEMBER WHEN: Sara caught a cricket; the Tumblers said Honey had three knees; Alex M. took her first jump; James rode Gidget and couldn’t stop laughing; Honey changed color; Lance was soooo happy when Alexia arrived; Eric A., Kait and Bandit took a triple tumble together (you make a great stunt team guys!); Brandon woke Shaggy up; Jill found Hercules’s ‘extra energy’ spot; Daniele and Peter Pan flew over the jumps; Micha braved a bigger horse and made a great friend in Smedley; Buddy lost a tooth; Michael S. recruited the Archers as stable hands (a fine job too guys); Buddy left a ‘gift’ for the soccer guys (it makes the grass grow greener guys!); Emily L. got Shaggy to jump (well done Emily); Lance lunged (we don’t); Steven G. stopped laughing (we don’t); Dylan managed to post perfectly on the bounciest horse in the yard (Slim); Jacob and Ethan demonstrated the ‘gaits’ to first-timer Jonathan (nice job all three of you); Lauren and Katherine insisted on the smallest ponies and fell in love with Buddy (the largest!); Robert cantered for the first time with Peter Pan (nicely done Robert).

Remember...‘Oh look a Squirrel’; Audrey’s incredible patience and success with Molly; The Robindel Riding Team’s fake break; Slim’s 4 kisses every day from Eric L; ‘Hawk? Hock?’; the flour and water race at Robindel (beautiful ladies); Gidgets barrel racing with Shawn; OJ and Peter Pan; Honey’s antics; Molly’s love for the corner fence; Keara and Buddy (what a team); Allie R. and Smedley’s perfect leg yielding; Andrea’s love for the biggest horses; Caitlin’s first time on a horse...what a natural; Priscila and Gidget; the Yeomen’s routines with Kais; Margherita and Molly’s partnership; the Quill photo-shoot; Halle and Slim making a perfect match; Marleigh jumping Smedley; Aubrey and Shaggy, alias ‘The Beast’ (we know Spectrum is still your favorite); Trail riding and ‘sticks’; Red light, Green light...(and let us not forget the cheaters in that game... yes you all know who you are! Ha ha)... and how can we forget the huge water fights of the summer...we’ll get you all back next year guys!

Time now to leave you to your own memories of 2004 at the Sherwood Forest Stables...I know there are many more that you each cherish. And as you do so, think of our equine friends who taught us so much. We owe them a lot for their hard work, loyalty and friendship. There is no other sport quite like equitation, simply because of ‘the horse’. Your relationship with your mount is paramount and fundamental. This summer you all had your favorite four legged friend, one you bonded with and created that 'unique partnership' with. Thus you have all discovered the joy of horsemanship and how it can be enjoyed at many levels – We thank you all for your dedication and enthusiasm and for leaving with us many unforgettable memories of 2004 and endless rewarding moments – An additional 'Thank you' to Michael S. for his extra assistance with the barn chores (and for recruiting his friends to help out too)... and to Alexia and Audrey who spent so many additional hours at the barn helping us out that I don't know how we could have managed without them. Ladies, it was more than a pleasure and we hope that your love and commitment to horses long continues. You are both fine equestrians and your assistance was invaluable – To my staff...What can I say?...“Thank you, thank you, thank you.” Horses are hard work, but you all pitched in and gave it your all, and we had a lot of fun along the way. I hope you all enjoyed 'the ride' and have taken home as many fond memories as the rest of us. Take care of yourselves (and your equine friends) this winter and keep in touch.

I wish everyone well and look forward to seeing you all back at The Realm next summer. Can't wait!

Take care and have fun - Diane

2004 was a very busy year for Robin Hood hikers and paddlers. On any given day one or two (and sometimes 3!) troops of RHers could be found traipsing the foothills of the White Mountains, paddling the clear rivers, and even tackling the big ones in the Presidential range. Here are a few of the highlights:

The mighty PJs were the first group to head out on a hiking trip, circling the scenic Boulder Loop Trail in near record time, while the Bows, brave souls that they are, paddled over to the Danforth Bay Campground to become our first overnights this season. Their next day's hike was modified due to the rain, though there were some fine views to be had from the rocky top of Blackcap Mountain.

The Archers and the Squires were the next to canoe to the outpost with the Squires following up their overnight with a Boulder Loop hike the next day. Meanwhile the Lancers launched themselves and their myriad canoes into the clear running waters of the Saco River for an overnight canoe trip into Maine. So it rained a little bit, but that didn't dampen their spirits – just all of their clothes!

There was another busy week as the Tumblers hiked nearby Green Mountain Tuesday morning, and the PJs repeated the action that afternoon before heading over to the outpost. That same day was the Saxon/Scribe Mt. Washington summit bid, which was successful, with beautiful, above the clouds views on the descent.

The Yeomen took on the tough job of conquering Kearsarge the next day and then slid happily into the outpost for a great meal of fajitas and S'mores. The Tumbler/Jesters also made a foray to the outpost that week, enjoying the quiet 1.5 mile paddle, fantastic fajitas and, of course, s'mores!

The Quills were unfortunately shut out three times this summer as the heaviest rains coincided with their scheduled trips – Did Fallon plan it that way? Talk about rain – ask the Lancers about their soggy sojourn down the Saco River where they camped out on a barren sandbar. The Bows' big hikes were also shortened due to inclement weather as were the Archers, who did get to see Sabbaday Falls on a downright drenching day.

One of the summer's highlight hikes occurred on Mt. Chocorua as the intrepid Arrows egged on by honorary trips person extraordinaire, Jenny Katz happily skipped their way to the rocky summit. A small but enthusiastic crew of Lancers and Friars hiked a different loop to that same summit the next day.

The Saxons and Scribes who elected to visit Baxter State Park – home to the imposing Mt. Katahdin – left on a Sunday morning for the six hour drive. Monday's summit bid was turned back by poor conditions both on the mountain and in Solomon's stomach, but the boys did rally the next morning and scored a Robin Hood first by climbing up and across the infamous Knife Edge to reach the summit in the dense fog that had rolled in on our ascent. (Of course the fog cleared 5 minutes after leaving the summit, but no one wanted to return!)

The girls, meanwhile, having boycotted the 'big one' had a delightful hike with Jenny Trips up nearby S Traveler Mountain, a scenic peak overlooking Sandy Stream Pond, our nearby moose headquarters.

The Shires closed out the hiking season on a gorgeous day by choosing to climb up and then across the fabulous Franconia Ridge, one of the 'must-do' hikes of New England. It was a tired but self-satisfied crew that pulled into Subway and into camp later that evening.

A few 'Remember whens'...Remember when the Arrows cheered their way up Mt. Chocorua...Are you a burner or a roaster (marshmallows)?...Shiney battled his way up Mt. Kearsarge, but just happened to be 'sick' when the next hiking opportunity arose...when Lauren Cole and Mikey Brockman, our youngest campers both refused help when hiking the steep sections...Freaky removed his shirt in the van and all of a sudden all of the Saxons did the same...the friendly deer near the campground in Baxter State Park...all of the Saxon 'runners' who raced the van back to the campsite...The speedy Foresters Steve B., Steve S., and Teddy N., who raced up Mt. Madison while patiently waiting for our Polish kitchen escorts... Who really was first up Mt. Washington this year?...Waiting for Janine and never having to wait for Tara!...when we paddled over to the outpost campground...the wet sand everywhere during the Lancer canoe trip...Thunder on the Knife Edge...and so much more.

I'd like to offer my profound thanks to a wonderfully supportive core trip staff of Jenny 'Trips' Martin, Andy 'Aundy' Brumby, Rob 'I'll trade my pbj for a meat' Armstrong, and Jake 'he's with the Friars!' Schwartz. Also special thanks go out to James Barnes, Abbi Smart, Leesa Bench and Eugene Casey for all of their efforts in making this such an active and eventful summer of exploration. See you all next year!

Freaky

It turned out to be a fabulous summer at the Robin Hood waterfront on the shores of Broad Bay.

Tumblers, Jesters, Bows, Quills, PJs, Squires, Archers and Yeomen all worked on their American Red Cross swimming skills – everything from bobbing in shallow water, floating and treading water to mastering the competitive strokes (Freestyle, Backstroke and Breaststroke), some swimmers even gave Butterfly a try!

Senior Campers enjoyed relay races and games including sharks & minnows, dog got the bone, water polo and water bombardment. Special thanks to all of the GLs and other staff for making this a great summer – you're all my favorite new staff!

Many campers completed their 16 laps and were able to swim in the deep area, jump off the tower, use the water trampoline, swim to the island, as well as water-ski, kayak, canoe and sail.

This successful summer wouldn't have been possible without the help of the fantastic Waterfront Staff. To the Boys: Brad, Ed, Clint and Bram – I never would have survived the long summer without your daily help – you made the waterfront lots of fun. To the Girls: Stacey, Maggie and when we needed her, Kim – thanks for always being there to help when I was in a pinch. Looking forward to seeing everyone again for the Summer of 2005!

WATERSKIING

MIKE AQUINO

Goldman and Katie Davis all made booming look effortless. Also, Sam Sherman, Ryan Globus, Priscilla Pedre, Emily Rose and Jennie Kaplan all made a smooth transition into skiing on the rope.

This year we saw an immense increase in slalom skiing. Emily Labes, Sarah Lindenauer, Jake Schwartz, Nick Plater and Ben Roberts all learned how to cut through the water on one ski while Andrew Senter again honed his intense slalom skills.

Even more so than slalom skiing, wakeboarding emerged as the most popular water-ski discipline. The entire Forester group got their feet into bindings, with Jesse Greenstein even beginning to learn wake-to-wake one eighties.

Another extremely successful season of water-skiing has yet again transpired at The Realm. This year's soggy weather slowed no skier down, with everyone showing immense progress in their abilities. Furthermore, with the aid of Andy "Old School" Woodstein, it would have been almost impossible for anyone to fail.

Learning the fundamentals of skiing is no small task. However, Brandon Taylor, Justin Zipkin, Eric Arnold, Matt and Alex Schumann, Miranda Gastelum, Callan

Girls Camp also had their fair share of high flyers with Samantha Kadis and Amanda Tuck leading the way into the air.

Remember the first rope toss of the year- twenty five points - Morgan...the Old-School New School competition, New School wins in a landslide victory... the Bow wave count...

Remember when Senter was attentive... when Woody's boat wasn't full of water, when the Scribes went tubing - We don't again...

Thank you to everyone who came down to water-ski this summer. It has truly been one to remember and I hope to see you all soon.

The summer of '04 saw some great sailing at The Realm. The sailing program was well attended by everyone and we had a lot of fun.

The Tumbler/Jesters enjoyed many great lessons on the hunter and a few on the Sunfish later on in the season.

The Quills/Arrows/Bards used their musical talent to entertain the waterfront from the 'Here Comes' song to the 'Shake Your Booty' classic.

The Bards spent many hours sailing - sometimes up to two hours a day, as it is such a big group. By the end of the season, they could capsize with ease.

A big thanks to all the campers who attended sailing over the summer of 2004, you all did a fantastic job and I hope to see you next year.

Summer of 2004 was a fine year for teaching new boys and girls rifle shooting skills combined with a few older shooters with old pre-learned abilities. Finishing the summer where 20,000 rounds had been fired with 4,000 targets being submitted for scoring, 46 boys earned 99 awards and 18 girls earned 31 awards from pro-marksmen through expert, developing 130 levels of awards.

Starting with Boys Camp:

6 new Rookie Campers came as often as possible to learn a new shooting skill where 4 earned 8 different levels of awards. The most improved shooters were Dylan Robinson earning PM, followed by Alejandro Marti and Rex Rappaport both earning PM and MM. The top new learner was Taylor Harper, earning PM, MM and MM 1st in (Prone).

14 TPJs also came out as often as possible to learn new shooting skills where 4 earned 7 different levels of awards. The most improved shooters were Michael Brockmann and Jason Schreiber earning PM and being followed by Dylan Schattman who earned PM and MM. The top shooter was Adam Szewczyk who finished by earning MM 1st, SS and Bar 1 (in Prone). Adam also shot the highest on the 10 and under rifle team with a score of 165 out of 200 (not bad for a wee-munchkin). Adam Szewczyk also received for his (Prone) skills Boys Junior Camp/Best in Camp Award.

12 Squires improved on old-pre-learned skills and abilities, where 6 earned 13 different levels of awards. The most improved individuals were Matthew Schuman earning PM, Oliver Weil earning PM and MM, and Adam Breskin earning MM 1st. Arthur Cohen and Edward Molinary both earned PM, MM and MM 1st. The high shooter of the group was Clark Jacobson earning from Bar 1 (Prone) through Bar 3 (sitting) and for (position) shooting, was also awarded Boys Junior Camp/Best in Camp Award.

20 Archers had many that wished to excel in rifle shooting skills with 7 individuals earning 18 different levels of awards. Mack Bennett and Reuben Moreland earned PM. Michael Szewczyk and Aaron Woodstein both earned MM, followed by Hadrien Cordier who earned MM 1st, SS and Bar 1 in (Prone). Then to finish the two top shooters of the group and newer shooters - Brandon Sneider earned PM through SS (Prone). He was also awarded the Boys Junior Camp/Most Improved. James DiLorenzo earned MM (Prone) through Bar 4 (sitting) and also received Boys Junior Camp/Most Improved Award.

16 Yeomen had 6 individuals earning 12 different levels of awards. Starting with the newest shooters - Trent Elsbree earning PM and Gregory Cohen and Daniel Scheiman both earning MM. The finalist of the beginners was Chhaya-Karrim who earned PM through SS (Prone).

Older shooters Ryan Globus earned Bar 3 (sitting), and Alex Wolf shot the highest on the 14 and under rifle team for 1st place with a 188 out of 200. Plus, by earning Bar 5 (kneeling) through Bar 8 (standing), Alex also was awarded Boys Senior Camp/Most Improved Award.

25 Lancers had 10 new and older shooters who came out to shoot and earned 25 different levels of awards. Justin Bennett earned PM, followed by Mario Levinsohn and Justin Taft who earned PM and MM. Jacob Borden earned MM 1st and Zack Goldman earned SS. The next four individuals equally performed outstanding learning and shooting developments: Robert Hirst and Charles Nathanson both earned PM through SS in (Prone), Andrew Becker earned PM through Bar 1 in (Prone), and Paul Grossman earned his Bar 9 in (standing) and also shot the highest on the 16 and under rifle (B Team) with a 184 out of 200. The newest shooter of the group was Patrick Kundravi who started learning new basics in shooting and (from Prone) earned PM through Bar 4 (sitting); he was awarded the Boys Senior Camp/Most Improved Award.

29 Friars had 4 older boys that came out to shoot, and one new shooter - Ethan Berman - learned new shooting skills and earned 5 Levels of awards. Ivan Soto-Wright earned MM and MM 1st followed by Roger Gesswein finishing with SS (in Prone). The highest level reached was by Jacob Vance being Bar 4 (sitting).

12 Saxons had few that shot: Andrew Senter finished his SS in (Prone) and Billy Gough achieved the highest skill level, his expert rating in standing. Billy also received the Boys Senior Camp/Best in Camp Award.

Continuing with Girls Camp:

8 Tumblers all enjoyed learning to shoot this summer. A most outstanding young lady of the Tumblers was Charlotte Levine who shot for the first time and earned PM through SS (in Prone), plus she was the highest shooter on the 10 and under girls rifle team shooting a score of 135 out of 200. Charlotte received Girls Junior Camp/Best in Camp Award.

9 Jesters also enjoyed shooting a lot. Two new shooters - Emily Rose and Ellie Tremayne - both earned PM. Then through hard work and a lot of shooting, Tiffany Chen and Emily Howard both earned PM and MM. Both these girls were also on the 10 and under girls rifle team. Emily Howard shot a 107 and Tiffany Chen an 85 during the rifle tournament. Plus, both Tiffany Chen and Emily Howard received the Girls Junior Camp/Most Improved.

10 Bows enjoyed shooting with 3 earning 4 different levels of awards. Sara Friedman and Lauren Zipkin both earned PM. Then during ninth week, Andrea Knox was able to shoot her PM and MM levels.

17 Quills had many that came out to shoot for fun with 3 earning 3 levels of awards. Rachel Beitler and Keara O'Neil both earned PM and Michaela Fooksa earned MM in (Prone). The high shooter of the group was Ariel Hanna with a 46 out of 50.

23 Arrows enjoyed shooting with 4 that earned 5 different levels of awards. Virginia Hornblower earned PM and Allison Castleman earned MM and MM 1st. Estefanie Moreno earned MM 1st finishing, and Lindsay Rosenstein earned Bar 2 (sitting). The high shooter of the group was Aubrey King with a 170 out of 200 giving her 1st for 14 and under Robin Hood/B Team.

32 Bards produced 3 individuals that received 9 levels of awards. Samantha Kadis earned SS in (Prone) and Marleigh Higgins earned Bar 2 through Bar 4 (sitting). Marleigh had a high score of 95 in (Prone), 47 in (sitting) plus she shot a 178 in 16 and under and 171 in 14 and under during the Prone Tournament. Marleigh Higgins also received Girls Senior Camp/Most Improved. The finest shooting for the girls was done by Katherine Wolf who earned her awards from Bar 5 (kneeling) through Bar 9 (standing) and with only 4 targets left to receive expert. Her average of scores were great this year with a 96 in (Prone), 46 in (kneeling), 42 in (standing) and a 192 out of 200. This 192 gave her 1st place on the 16 and under rifle team during Robin Hood's rifle tournament. Katherine Wolf also received Girls Senior Camp/Best in Camp Award.

To all the Munchkins of Robin Hood! My many thanks to Peter Rodriguez and all of the other staff and older campers for their fine help in teaching younger boys and girls new shooting skills this last summer. A lot of fine enthusiasm and patience was developed while everyone was learning to be safe and good shooters at the Sherwood Forest Rifle Range.

Jungle Love

We started things down by the water
We have had done this before
DC announced the four captains
But left the staff wanting some more
The Green Team will always remember
The white team will never forget it
We put out the fire in the pouring rain
Everything's better when wet

CHORUS

Predators devoured our pray
Our score's rising higher
Predators-we put out the flame
Extinguished the fire

Kidder and Margo together
Vic'try in 2004
White time, too bad you've been beasted
Turn around now there is the door
Holczer, just back to be captain
Aquino, where to begin?
Better stand up now, introduce yourself
No one's quite sure of your name

CHORUS

Tomorrow the hatchets are buried
Until then we're still in a war
Thanks for the good competition
The Predators wanted it more Reserve all your seats at the Grandstand
'Cause that is what you have in store
if you want to know what the steaks are like
Read it in the WoodChuck report

CHORUS

Green Predator Shutout (Tenth Avenue Freeze Out)

Circling the Realm, the predators are on the move
We got Kidder, no one's fitter,
And the Boss with an attitude
Everybody clench you talons, let's go
'Cause we're about to deal white the final blow
With a...
Green Predator Shutout (2x)

We ripped this war wide open
And sealed the white team's defeat
And judges, if you're hungry
We got lots of extra white meat
We've been doin' it for five days
Haven't you heard the play-by-play
Of our...
Green Predator Shutout

And we won the war
(M.S.) We won the war
And we won the war
(E.S.) We won the war
White it's time to go home
Now we put the flames out
And the fire isn't even a flicker
When we were overmatched, we had heart
And that's the kicker
Now Margo you've got nothing to fear
The E-Street Band's thumping in your ear
With a...

Alma Mater-Under the Bridge

Sometimes I feel like it's always the winter
Sometimes I feel like I want to be here
The place that I come to
The place that I dream of Deep in December
I feel so alone

I pull in the driveway
See my companions
I walk through the fields and
Some things never change
The beautiful sunsets
The hours spent talking
Back in the Realm
I'm never alone

What I wouldn't give to feel
Like this every day
Take me to the place I love
Take me all the way
What I wouldn't give to feel
Like this every day
Take me to the place I love
Take me all the way

It's hard to believe that
My summer is ending
It's hard to believe
That I'm going home
At least I've found friendships
To last for a lifetime
Holding each other
Together we cry

I don't ever want to feel
Like I do that day
Take me to the place I love
Take me all the way
I don't ever want to feel
Like I do that day
Take me to the place I love
Take me all the way

FS-Don't let this be the last
Time we're standing here
FS-Don't let this be the last
I cannot get enough
FS-Don't let this be the last
I say this every year
FS-Don't let this be the last
Just give me one more year

Throwback- Ants Marching

Green wakes up in the morning
Pick our bean
Bite to eat and we're rolling
Never doubted a thing
The war breaks the fight begins
Go Green

Jablow winks at Bronson
They look at the Green and they're thinking
"This is such a stacked team"
The Green Team; The Green Machine
Rolls on

CHORUS

We're the Great Green
On the fields and in the lake
We'll defeat the white
And celebrate tonight

Now it's finally song night
Judges have seen the heart of the Green Team
And our work will soon pay off
Green is smoking, oh White are you joking?

CHORUS 2x

Beat It

Like 1948, '65 and '74
There's a fire in the Realm and it's heating up the war
We're tearing up the fields and we're running up the score
We're heated
So heated

All those big awards won't help Kidder out now
Margo's drinking weight gain to break 100 pounds
The Predators are prey and we're hunting down
We're heated
We're not messing around

CHORUS

We're heated
So heated
Green's about to be defeated
It's finally night five
It's the end of the fight
You've got to be jealous if you're not on the White
We're heated
So heated

Holczer's got the Green and White flowing through her veins
Aquino is our captain never touched a hat or cane
We're closing on the Green like a runaway train
we're heated
And we're feeding the flame

CHORUS 2x

SO HEATED!

Let's go Crazy
Picked our teams
Down by the dock
Took a look around
Knew victory was a lock
Better watch out
When our temperatures rise
You can fight but you can't see the light when the smoke's all in your eyes

CHORUS

Are we gonna let the Predators hunt us down?
Oh no! Let's go!

White's on fire
Blazing strong
Hitting trees like the Macabees
Our flame lasts ever long

Looks at our captains
Holcz and Aqua
No sweat guess why?
They know we're gonna rock ya
Kidders testy
Mango's a nerd
In the dining hall our mighty call
FIGHT WHITE FIGHT
Was all they heard

CHORUS 2x

Runaround

Once upon a rainy morning there was something runnin' through my head
Mem'ries of our trusted captains, the pump up and of what they said
They said a fire would sweep the realm this war and I can't believe my eyes
The lakes ablaze the fields in a haze and the inferno will not subside
The inferno will not subside

From the squires up to the staff
Tumblers to the scribes and back
You can't deny we're stacked you're nervous
Like Chuck's truck they're out of service
Can't you see Jaime, DC
White team we have Green team beat

CHORUS

Oh white team!
We've been runnin' circles around the green
They're looking sick they bit they're lip
Judges you know, what we mean
Oh white team!
We've been runnin' circles around the green
They're looking sick they bit they're lip
They knew it since we picked the bean

In regatta fire was hotter, green team never had a shot
And in the water it was slaughter cuz' we gave it everything that we got White's roaring through the realm, so don't stand in our path
Our teams on fire, our score is higher
Dick why don't you do the math, oh Dick why don't you do the math?

Now I like burger and I like franks
But eat them at the end of the war, no thanks
Save them for the green they can have their fill
I'll take a steak hot and fresh from the grill
Alright! Song night! Let's go white!
Hold on tight while we ignite!

CHORUS 2x

Alma-Mater Save the Best for Last

Walking in snow we dream its June
The quad lit by brilliant stars and moon
And we can't wait for life to start
Back in the place that holds our heart

There are times when all we do is wish
For waterfront and snack
So many days I've waited, prayed and planned
For the time when I'd be back

CHORUS

Now we are standing here with you
All of our dreams are coming true
And although they make quickly
Deep in our hearts these memories last

GIRLS-Back in our carefree Jester days
Remember canteen and softball plays
BOYS-Saxon year stepping off the bus
We knew that camp completed us

How can we thank Andy for giving us
Our childhood wonderland
And for John who kept tradition strong
We saw the dream expand

CHORUS

Now with DC the magic in the trees
Will last a lifetime more
And through the haze of smiles and tears
We see our love defy the years
And although they make quickly pass
Deep in our hearts these memories last

Throwback-Man In Motion

Here we stand, white team united as one Singing loud, moving straight ahead we've won it all

You know the white team has proven our strength
You see the pride in our eyes
Shine through here tonight

We've played the game, green team you've put up a fight
You've worked real hard, but white's victory is tonight
You know the white team has proven our strength
You see the pride in our eyes
Shine through here tonight

CHORUS

Watch the white's desire
As we beat the great green team
The white team's score is soaring higher and higher
We're a team that's fought real hard we have the power
C'mon let's sing real loud it's white teams hour

Judges it's us
Who will come out on top
Our time is now
We're coming alive
