CONTINUITY: The dictionary describes it as a continuous or connected whole.

At Robin Hood, we describe continuity as the reason we are able to pass along our unique and unmatched culture from one generation to the next. Campers become aides, aides become counselors and counselors become Group Leaders and Color War Captains; along the way and sometimes unknowingly, they learn what The Realm is all about and then teach it to the next generation. It is only at Robin Hood that a junior camper could give a speech to the entire camp discussing the impact his former Group Leader had on him not knowing that the same Group Leader speaks in our video about the impact his former Group Leaders had on him (somewhere out there is the future junior camper who in ten years will give a speech about the impact the junior camper turned GL had on him)...and so it goes...our traditions and culture live on, bigger than any one of us.

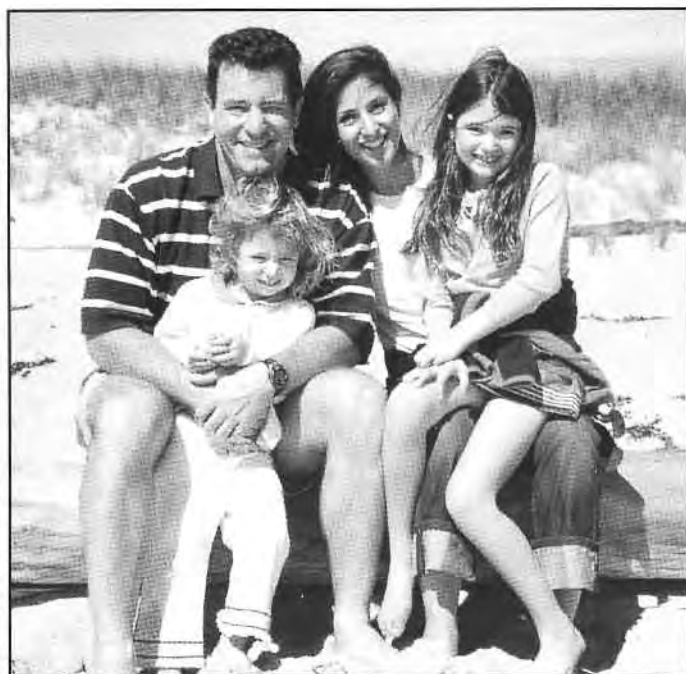

Our ability to be continuous is possible only because our administration and staff and campers return summer after summer until life (usually parents and internships) gets in the way. We thank the thirteen out of sixteen Group Leaders, with a combined 98 years at camp, who returned from Summer '04 and allowed this summer to kick into high gear as soon as the buses arrived. We salute and congratulate David "Freaky" Freedman and Peter Corbin who celebrated their 35th and 20th summers respectively in The Realm.

We dedicate the 2005 Yearbook to the axis around which our continuity turns: Chuck Illig and his 40 years in The Realm. His title is Head Counselor but to many of us it is also mentor and role-model. Chuck has essentially dedicated his life to Robin Hood with a passion for what The Realm represents: a warm, nurturing and safe community that campers can count on in a world where less and less seems certain. His life-long friendships, laughter, tears, support and love embody Robin Hood. It is Chuck, summer after summer, who ensures that our culture passes to the next generation.

Chuck, congratulations on 40 and looking forward to 50!

With Love and Appreciation,

I THOUGHT WE WAS HUNTIN'!

All right boys, put down those gameboys, grab a snack, spill it all over your shirts, and take that one more shot on the basketball hoop before benches. It's time to take a step back into the summer of 2005 and remember just how much fun we had as the youngest and wildest group to storm The Realm. Hamad, Max, Mikey, Merk, Jackie boy, Andrew, GARSON, Goody, Gotts, Jr., Micah, JG, Cody, Shermanator, Lil' G, Henry Taylor Pimp Pimp, Olivier, Zippy, Cullen, Pete and CJ. You 21 TPJs had an amazing summer that you'll never forget.

Remember the first day...Mikey and Jr. first to show up...Jr. the politest kid in camp until his parents left...Almost everyone arriving on the buses...mass headchecks, Meltzer as nurse...staff unpacking most of you while you all go play...Thanks boys!...Meltzer's rules in the meeting on the first night, clearly in one ear and out the other.

Remember your wildness...getting banned from waterfront...almost banned from photo...brawls with just about everyone...water fight with the Archers...jumping all over Missy and the Shires...getting tossed by the Foresters...wrestling with the Saxons...on the whole, terrorizing just about everyone.

Remember the challenges...asking every single night. Losing to the TJs in capture the flag and the Squires in bombardment, but beating the Scribes and not only beating the Bards in bombardment but also with your fists and shoes...made us proud. The heartbreaking loss against the Yeomen, but Henry nailing his brother three games in a row. Finishing strong with the spanking of the TJs and their staff. Nice work gentlemen!

Remember the Armageddon table...assigned seats right away after that...Squeak is 19 TA...the first campfire, getting your Saxon older brothers...Micah's record-setting bocce period...Fernando's arrival...Yoni's night in shining armor...Meltzer instantly becomes much much happier...the 20 question-a-day limit for Jack and Goody...Squeak and Meltzer's many trips to the laundry room...G's afro makes its first appearance...Yoni's sweet sixteen party...Red Rover for evening activity, which turned into one giant infirmary trip.

Remember the Outpost...canoeing over...Yoni's boat from hell...Andrew coming out to join us...I THOUGHT WE WAS HUNTIN'...No Lil' G, fajitas instead...Chuck, Woody, Chester and Bob joining for dinner...Woody's lecture on the perfect marshmallow...Butch Mathias...going to bed, but then the staff getting you up for fireworks...the awesome and never-ending show...Mikey's play-by-play of each blast...the staff chill by the fire while you all whisper in the tents.

Remember when Mikey and Noah had clothes on...when Jack and Goody weren't asking questions...when Hamad wasn't hanging onto a Saxon...when Max and JG had clean language...when Zipkin had a clean shirt on...when you weren't convinced Meltzer was dating Diane and Jackie...when Jack and Hamad weren't asking for gameboy...when you all weren't shooting hoops...when you weren't at the Infirmary...when Fernando wasn't giving wedgies...when Hamad wasn't pinching nipples...When Olivier's area was clean...when Yoni was in the bunk at rest hour...when everyone was on the benches on time...when Gotts had no mail...when JG wasn't hatching an evil plan...WE DON'T.

Remember the fourth of July...no one wanting to go to the carnival, and then never wanting to leave when we got there...the awesome waterslides, the obstacle course, the moonwalk, and the band...the tasty carnival food afterwards...most importantly, the return of Camp Idol that night...Brenner and Meltzer together again, this time teaming up with Yoni and Cox...Yoni bringing down the house with No Diggity but then blowing it on Family Business...The final Nelly performance, complete with Eagles jerseys and a money show all around...somehow the St. Lunatics are not crowned Camp Idol...FIXED?!?!?...the social after the show...PJ's loving it but getting kicked out...staff missing that memo and getting busted...OH WELL, WHAT A DAY!!

Remember beach day...sunscreen everywhere on everyone...the angry bus driver yelling at Chris before the bus even leaves...the triumphant return of the UL...Stecher, Brenner, and Meltzer being joined by AMargo and Yoni for the day...everyone buys too much candy and gum...Mikey's toy soldiers...everyone's waterguns...returning to camp to find Meltzer's bed on the roof...Chuck's payback for the sheets, the bumper stickers, and his very happy 87th birthday...touché.

Remember Hamad's various exploits...the midnight wake-ups...nipple and butt pinching...falling out of bed and running into the wall...the head in the box at woodshop...the monster wedgie from Fernando that ripped his underwear...the long awaited and much anticipated patty wagon...Remember Olivier's rise to prominence...always being last...the facial expressions...the talent show act that won over all of camp...Edward Hamburger Hands and OJ chugging...getting rolled in the garbage can...and most of all, getting tickled.

Remember the lead-up to Parents Weekend...Mikey's bed moving...at first crying and then asking if it could happen again...

Goody's issues with "my mother is"... remember mud sliding...best activity of the summer...great slides from Sherman, Noah, and Gotts, as well as all around...hosing down in the freezing water afterwards...Yoni's 48 hour break from being a counselor to read all of Harry Potter...finishing at 1:17 in the morning...the arrival of your parents...you all finally on good behavior...waterski, bombardment, tennis, arts and crafts, waterfront...great performances from Hamad, Max, Jack, Goody, Gotts, Jr., and JG...needless to say, a very entertaining visiting day...remember the departures...Max, Jack, Andrew, Goody, and Olivier...sorely missed...8 WEEKS NEXT YEAR.

Remember Green & White...the fake breaks and then finally the limos and parachutes...Meltzer almost missing his own break...Henry, Zipkin, and Meltzer Captains, Benhaim and Mikey Co's...Great Green Panthers vs. Mighty White All-Stars...great soccer, bombardment, and Danish games...the Henry and Sherman show in basketball and kickball...Meltzer cutting down the jersey, having White Team hate him...In the end, an All-Star victory but a great war all around...Meltzer's five day disappearance from the group...Jr. asking, "Are you our counselor again yet?"

Remember the departures...first Yoni, to tears all over camp...stole Meltzer's jersey on the way out...then Benhaim, Jr., Gotts...Fernando's tear-filled goodbye...Meltzer's depression when the van drove away...Shane and Szabo stepping in, cheerfully of course, to take over...Squeak the Geek as AGL, who would have thought...Sherman's unfortunate illness and departure...see you all next summer.

Remember excursion...leaving late as always...Lost River Gorge...staff love the caves, you love the candy in the snack bar...the Lemon Squeeze...Roger the tour guide...JG offended by the presentation: "Isn't dike a bad word"?...Whale's Tale next...Lil G's life jacket...the toilet bowl water slide provides endless entertainment...staff missing all the countoffs...oops...back to the campsite for a late dinner with Woody, DC, and the Trips Staff...Squeak the steak chef...Woody the bean expert and provider of yet another marshmallow lecture...early to bed early to rise...waking the staff with cheers...Mikey the ringleader...Attitash...again skipping the rides for food...Noah burning up the alpine slide...the movies for Dukes of Hazard...large Pepsis for everyone...Woody Manin's guest appearance at the movie theater...finally back to camp for Pizza Barn at the outdoor theater...a great finish to a great excursion for a great group!...

Remember the last few days...sign-up schedule lets Hamad have triple A&C...Meltzer joins wall-sitters...the last evening activities...the scavenger hunt...the AMAZING pajama jump...good work all around but Noah and Henry a notch above...Chuck busts us near the end...Meltzer tells him that the TPJ's are old school...you boys made me so proud...the campfire and the Big Show to finish up the summer...finally awards night...congrats to the winners...Most Improved - Lil G, Inspection - Benhaim, Sportsmanship - Jr., Service - Benhaim, Fellowship - Mikey with an HM to Hamad, Master Camper - Henry...regardless of who won the awards, I'm very proud of each and every one of you for your performance this summer.

To my staff: thank you for everything this summer. I have little doubt that we had the most difficult job in camp, and you were amazing for the entire summer. I can't thank you enough.

Pete: Thanks for helping out whenever I needed you. You were one of the most involved specialty counselors I've ever worked with, and the kids really enjoyed when you were around. Brad and Szabo: Thanks for stepping up and helping out when we needed it most. I'm sorry for putting you in the position you were in, but I appreciate what you did for me, and I look forward to seeing you develop as counselors in the coming years. Squeak: Your progress since the beginning of last summer is striking. The kids have come to like and respect you as a counselor, and you were money on excursion. I'm very proud of your improvement.

Yonstar: You were the one I knew I needed to have, and you were everything I knew you would be. Your natural talent at being a counselor is incredible, and it showed in the way the kids looked up to you. I know that you will make a great Group Leader whenever they call on you, and that you will continue to be the camp presence that you have become. Thank you for everything this summer.

Fernando: You are the best counselor that I have ever seen. The kids love you like they love no one else. I could never have done this without you. Thank you so much for being so amazing all the time. Please come back next summer to get the GL spot you deserve.

SX01: If this was my swansong at Robin Hood, I am at least comforted by the knowledge that we had so much fun together this summer. Thank you for the most amazing ten summers of my life. I will miss you all so much, but I know we will always keep in touch. Please come back to join me on stage. It will be very lonely without you there.

And finally, to the TPJ's of 2005: You were certainly one of the wildest groups I've ever seen in my ten years at Robin Hood, but it is that strong spirit that will one day make you great leaders of The Realm. I'm very proud of all of you for the improvement and the heart you showed all summer long. You taught me so much about patience, love, and myself. I only hope I also taught you some of the same. Most of all, I hope you have learned the importance of friendship this summer. Remember that it is with each other that you will develop the most meaningful and lasting relationships. Come back forever, because, I promise that no matter what, it is most certainly worth it. I love you all very much and I can't wait to watch your camp careers unfold.

Well guys here we are again – another summer gone by in a flash – it seems only yesterday that 20 unstoppable Squires rolled into The Realm and took Robin Hood by force! So Squires of '05, grab a can of "so'a" and sit back and relive with me now the incredible summer that was 2005!

It all started on that sunny afternoon in June when you guys stepped down from the bus, got out of the car and jumped off the van and became the greatest Squire group there ever was...Remember arriving, half returning campers, half new, 20 strong, first evening activity – Danish on the Quad – the first of many, loving every minute and knowing this was going to be an amazing summer! Remember when Jake put sunscreen in his hair...Chad put his feet in the trash can and Sam fell off the benches – but didn't everyone at some point? Remember the nudist colony also known as bunks 12 and 13...Brandon swinging naked from the rafters – but didn't everyone at some point...Tim throwing apples off the mountain...double 50s in inspection and lying to the whole camp and telling them we won our play day against West End – coinciding with Chris' first day off!

Remember when we went on the first mountain trip – climbing boulder loop – surely breaking some kind of record for our speedy ascent – perhaps the record for most amount of complaining? Remember eating lunch at the top of the mountain...Tim throwing apples off the top...getting lost on the way back down and eating some well earned Cosy Corner on the way home. Remember when we camped out at the outpost...eating 8 s'mores each and not going to sleep for hours...remember swimming in the lake...riding the boat and canoeing home at lightning speed.

Remember 4th of July...bounce-houses...the incredible Incredibles obstacle course...amazing food...slip-n-slides and hour-long lines for the popcorn. Remember when Steven asked if colleges gave scholarships for knitting...remember Sméagol...but most of the time dealing with Gollum...

Squires in the Talent Show – break dancing galore...remember Chris in Camp Idol – the Man In The Mirror – not getting past the first round but Irish and his honeys storming through to the final!

Remember when we went to the beach...piling on the bus...Chris getting yelled at by the bus driver – outside the red garage... "COOL...a wooden box!"...amazing weather...Tyler in the water all day... Dylan Taft buying the largest tube ever and spending all day to blow it up...using it for half an hour then sitting on it on the beach - $20 well spent!

Remember evening activities...Name That Tune/Dance off – Jake and Sez slow dancing...Sam's seizures and Ben's crazy break dancing - it was a tie with the TJs but we certainly had fun! Remember when we tried to watch a movie in the van then had to get out because it was wayyy too hot, and cramped, and no one could hear the movie – ok, ok it was a bad idea! But remember watching the movie in the bunk...with surround sound and loving Stand By Me. Remember when we went to the social dressed as nerds...Ben said "I love every sport – but I suck at every sport"...Brandon gargled soap...there was a chipmunk in the bunk and playing pitch with the boys.

Remember when we went for ice-cream and the Squires attracted three pieces of trash...everyone going crazy and Chris getting really mad! Remember Mikey flipping beds...making people cry and becoming 21TA. Remember going to the movies; Fantastic 4 and Charlie and The Chocolate Factory...getting yelled at by the movie lady...going ice skating – finding out 5 minutes before we left.

Remember Green and White...Jake and Dylan are captains with Taft and Sez as co's a great war is had by all with White winning, remember the Green & White Talent Show – Ryan, Dylan, Robby, BT, Sez, hey, who wasn't in the dance? Remember the intense competition...great sportsmanship but everyone is friends again by lazy day.

Remember Augustus Gloop...crazy for the mail...giving Chris a makeover in the storm...Jason beating Archers in tennis...Mikey's brains...Billy's arm stroking and Irish talking trash. Remember when Jason and Adam filled their kayaks with water – "Because it was comfortable"...Chris never going to kayak again...ever! Remember Trucker becoming a Squire counselor for a day...Squeak moving in...then moving out...Jarnold's first time using deodorant and his world famous ear massages. Remember "TREES!!!"... "I don't give a throw, toss, pitch, catch"...not showering for a week...winning Mrs. White Glove...first in line for ice-cream...bombardment challenge then candy canteen – "this is the best night ever!"

Remember excursion...thinking we were going to the old folks home...finding the Lost River...the Lemon Squeezer...on to Whale's Tale...remember changing on the bus...watching everyone riding the Eye of the Storm..."That's what it must be like to be flushed down a toilet!"...counselors turning up late for check-in and Chris and Adam almost flying off of the vertical slide.

Remember camping out...best excursion cookout ever...steak and Woody's incredible beans...cooking s'mores and staying up late into the night...Jon waking up in the middle of the night because he couldn't find his sleeping bag and the PJs 7:30a.m. cheer for reveille. Remember day two...Alpine Slides at Attitash and 2-hour long lines...the big storm...Dukes of Hazzard and the Squires falling in love with Jessica Simpson. Remember coming home and eating Pizza Barn at the Outdoor Theatre watching the sunset – perfect end to the best excursion ever.

Remember water balloon newcomb...Carson's peanut butter cup...the scavenger hunt...Schattman returns with a precious item on the list...staff wins in both camper and counselor hunt...JCSRPS...the pajama jump...Sez gets perfect tens for his belly flop...staff supplies late night snacks in place of the empty candy canteen...worst inspection scores ever...NOT SO MUCH...Billy gets his lifelong wish and becomes a general counselor..."Chopsuey" keeps the bunks awake at night...Pokemon fever.

Remember the last week, late reveille, Chris coming back in the middle of the social, bombarded by hugs and crying over the mess in the bunk. Remember awards night, the huge banquet, congrats to the winners, Dylan S., Jake, Ryan, Justin, Jason Robby, Clark and Jon as M.C., if I could have you know I would have given all you guys awards! So, there we have it, an absolutely incredible summer I think you will all agree.

To my staff - you were truly awesome; you made my summer so much easier. Martin and Irish - you guys worked hard at your specialty and spent time with the kids when you could, thank you. Billy - you were great, your dedication to your specialty and to the kids was astounding. I hope to see you back in The Realm next year. Mikey - your first year on staff was a success and I know you'll be a great counselor. Phil - I was so pleased you were on my staff this summer; I knew I could depend on you and the kids loved you "so much". Adam - I couldn't have done it without you this summer. You are an incredible counselor; you did whatever I asked of you and I know you will make an amazing GL – I can't wait to see you in that role.

To my friends - I hope you know who you are; you have made my Robin Hood experience truly life changing. I have found in you friendships I never thought I would have and I will miss you so much. Natasha - I couldn't have made the last few weeks of camp without you. You were there when I needed you and you make me laugh every single day; don't ever stop. Thank you.

To the Squires of 2005 - you guys are awesome. You made me laugh every day, you challenged my skills as a counselor and because of you I worked hard to be the best counselor I could have been. My number one aim of the summer was to give you guys the best time possible and I hope I succeeded. I love each and every one of you and I will miss you so much. Please keep in touch, not just with me but with each other. You guys are going to be the greatest group in camp. You have an amazing future ahead of you in The Realm and I can't wait to see you become the leaders of camp one day.

See you in 2006!

ARCHERS

Fellas, Fellas, put down your Nintendo DS's, drop your cap guns, and make sure you leave your areas as messy as possible, for now I need you all to sit back, relax, and travel back to the summer of 2005...

Remember the boys...Eric, Boesch, Bobo Breskin, Castleman, Conner, Durkin, Greenberg, Santiago, Jaffe, Hersey, Labes, Sam L., E-rock, Chunky, Mitchell, EJ, Q-tip, Inigo, Mullaney, Mikey P, Pepper, Porter, Angelo, Romoff, A Schu, M Schu, Birdman Segel, Sherman, Mad Dog, and Ollie. The first day getting off the buses to see Margo and Brenner running the show...stacked. Corey having trouble with his trunk lock, Labes using his as a blockade, everybody already stashing clothing under their beds. Remember the first evening activity, a little ultimate Frisbee, great defense by Jaffe, Joey Stein with 4 touchdowns, D Sol with impenetrable defense, Let the kids play! Waking up the next three mornings to ping pong before reveille.

Remember play tryouts, singing happy birthday...Q, Sherman, Mitchell, Chunky and Eric all getting parts, and big parts despite their original beliefs. Our first playday versus Kenwood, let's forget about softball, Q and Ollie dominating basketball, Segel leading a sweep in tennis, and then soccer...PK! PK! PK! Great saves by Pepper and goals by Santiago, Romoff, and Inigo and a victory for RH in overtime. Remember our skate date with the Bow/Quills...Castleman figuring out our destination, Segel learning the ways of the ice, the Canadians dominating all, Sherman and Rose. The outpost a.k.a. the Chen's backyard, axe spraying everywhere, racoons, chicken fajitas, and no paddle boat allowed, rugged camping at its best. Remember Angelo's incident with the duct tape, Chunky's occasional outbursts, Ollie's newspapers all over the bunk, and Labes' record amounts of mail.

Remember July 4th...early wake-up for Mad Dog's birthday donuts, the big carnival, the Schumann's and Arnold using the side of the moonwalk, A-nuts performs. Remember SHELAC! the big scavenger hunt, stealing Elizabeth Cole, livestrong bracelets and shaker tennis shirts gone missing. Playday number 2 versus Winaukee, great pitching from Labes, awesome soccer from Romoff, domination from Archers all day, and a huge overall victory over Winaukee. Remember Nintendo sessions on Pepper's and Leonard's beds, Breskin's stick collection, Remember the Sanford Mainers game, bothering Uncle Bob. And everybody else. Remember Eric and Matt's wrestling matches, hanging out on Brenner's bed, waking up Solomon, learning interesting facts from Stein, and campaigning to bring back Szabo. Jon Katz is our money saxon aide.

Remember Margo-Ball, Seth and Mad Dog are the commissioners, the Indians beat the Yankees maybe? Or the giants? Who knows. Remember the big court case, who put toothpaste on Angelo's pillow, Chunky, Sam Leonard, Mullaney and even Angelo are suspects...And the verdict is! Well we have our guesses...Remember Qadeer's 16 laps, "Qadeer's almost here!", E-Rock's stories, Alex, Matt and Eric area reconstruction, Conner's new bombardment ball, and Castleman's pen game. Margo's camp inspector visit, only speaks Spanish, Mitchell and Mullaney with their questions. Remember the swim club...MacPhail, Mikey P. and of course EJ. Camp Idol, Stein, Brenner, and Pete Edge all perform...in the end our very own Joey Stein is the Camp Idol! Remember the Talent Show...Chunky's interesting dance, Angelo and EJ pair up for the Austin Powers dance. Remember the bunk cleaning, Breskin's area, Ollie's area, Mikey cleaning out Margo's area, Cameron's SpongeBob sandals. Seth's bet with Szabo, 15 triple crowns, stupid Yankees, Mad Dog would disagree...

The E-rock dance, Matty and Eric's fun magazine, Boeschstein's questions, Pepper's eye problems, Spanish lessons with Margo, Inigo, and Santiago, Greenberg's area expands a bit. Remember when Mitchell was wearing shoes, when Boesch wasn't talking about how much he loved camp, when Matt was listening to the staff, when Greenberg wasn't smiling, when Segel wasn't winning in ping pong, and when Conner's area was messy...we don't!!! Remember Parents' weekend...Dr. Molinary arrives, lunch boxes all over the porch, candy and food everywhere. The next day, saying goodbye...bunk rearrangement, and hello John Hersey. Remember the anticipation of Green and White, the great Archer fake break, Margo disappearing occasionally, and then finally Green & White!!! Great war everybody, everybody great war. Some highlights from the Archers: Alex's speech, White Team tendency to win, Margo's first year judge duties, and great sportsmanship all around. Remember Matt Schumann and his water balloon victims, number one rule: Brenner didn't tell you anything, and hello Jack Durkin. Remember the music in the bunk: Ben Folds track one and Kanye's Family Business.

Remember excursion...day one Portland Sea Dogs game, Pepper blowing up our spot, moving seats six times. Swimming pool at the campsite with Joey Stein and the French Canadians, and the hour long ride to ice cream that night. Hersey wrestling with Matty, "I said stay down!" S'mores after waiting for the Margo to light the fire. Day two, sketchy dirty Old Orchard beach fun times, Breskin building sand castles, others complaining, and finally the amusement park opens. Hersey and Pepper stay in the arcade, "we have free unlimited rides!", some Archers win "cool" prizes, that night cooking chicken Fajitas, tour through Kennebunkport, and the infamous Pitch and Putt. Durkin and Ollie superb, the rest of us, pretty bad, but fun for all. Day 3, hours to clean up and then some glazed donuts and we're off to Aquaboggan and the pink taco. No lines and free food, and getting friendly with the lifeguards. To cap off the excursion a little Wendy's and a movie with the Bow/Quills and Yeomen. A great excursion.

Remember back at camp for the final days, free sign up, sort of, the big karaoke contest, Hersey and Sherman impressing us all with their singing, Polisano the one man show with numb, and the whole group knowing family business. Congrats to the Yeah team for the victory and the big prize. Remember planning for Peter Edge duty night which never happened, Saxon cheer fight leads to disaster instead. The pseudo pajama jump turning into a little archer campfire, great speeches from all of you. Remember finishing up our founders day gift thanks to Mikey, and our plaque... not everybody loving their nicknames. Softball every single day, Durkin, Ollie, and Hersey hitting far, Joey finally hitting trees, Brenner maybe almost, post press? Margo going top shelf. Chunkeroo, I hope you can laugh at that one too now. Remember Saxon speeches, the big show 2, and Awards Night...and looking forward to the Yeomen of 2006...

To my staff: Peter, you had a smile always and that's a great quality. Szabo, Solomon, and Stein, you guys exceeded everyone's expectations and I am confident that camp is in good hands with your boys as the future group leaders in camp, keep coming back because it is definitely worth it. Brenner, JB, so much to say. You are a great person and this summer I considered you my co-GL. The campers loved you and would have done anything for you. This summer you were my best friend and half of my fun with these guys was because of you. Own that clipboard with pride next summer.

To the Archers of 2005: Guys it was an awesome summer and I value each and every friendship that I've made with you over the two months. The Archers of 2005 are an incredible group of close friends and I can't wait to see you all rock The Realm for many years to come. Please keep coming back so that you can experience everything that camp has to offer - each of you will one day hit trees, go mud sliding, attack random staff with water balloons, sneak out of the bunk at night, give Saxon speeches, and eventually be great counselors. Don't miss all that camp has to offer, enjoy it to the fullest, and appreciate every day you have here. The winter will be over before you know it, and camp is right around the corner...Get ready for another summer in The Realm!

To my Yeomen,

Greetings and good tidings from the Summer of 2005. As I sit here writing this, you are all enjoying your last few days in The Realm and I can only hope that my words will bring you back to the summer that was and make you all look forward to the summer that will be.

Remember Mack-Mexican; Nimbus, the Human Raincloud; Gino/Winaukee; Hadrian; Drewsy; Tri-Nips; Wario; SeKi; Gordo; Gurmstein McGurmpants; Harris; Hops; Kruse; Marlon; Roooob; Newmy; Petrone; Ugly Chipmunk; Small Potatoes; Mr. Responsible; Serer-ho; B-Sneids; Swain; Sez; DT; Woody; and EZ. We're just counting down the days until you're the Kings of Boys Camp.

Remember That first day? I assure you all that I won't give tough categories for "My Mother Is," but Gurms isn't worried: he can name the Julio-Claudian Dynasty. Remember "Don't Look Back in Anger" every morning on my stereo? Everyone is sick of it, but it's still Newmy's favorite song. Remember the love tetrahedron and the love square? "I don't know that much geometry!" Remember Rosecan's 26 25 24 socks? Small potatoes, Sam, small potatoes. Remember Cristal repeats after you when sleeptalking. The Sunday Night Report Card: Rikleen, Jelin, and Clint win with a B- (2.8), Potts and French Ben are at the bottom of the class with a C (2.22).

Remember Mt. Kearsarge North? Oh boy, how much fun. Remember the walk up in lovely weather, but the walk down in the thunderstorm? Swain and Sneider set the pace, 2.5 hours ahead of Boehm. I get a legislative update from Washington on the ascent. Remember the brown, tightly coiled gift that Sez left for future hikers at the top of the mountain? Dinner at Wendy's.

Remember NO BROKEN WRISTS? First Newmy's graceful landing coming around the net in King of the Court. Next Sheiny's legs zig, but his body zags and that's the end of capture the flag – forever. Then Hops dodges a little too well in bombardment and we're off to the Emergency Room again. The ER doc tells us we're winning in broken bones. That's right, we're #1! Remember Cozy Corner after Newmy's injury: Potts feeds him like an infant: "Make way for the choo-choo!"

Remember the staff thinks: "Phil, glad we called that guy." Rikleen's bulletproof pickup line "NATURE!" Kris says, "oh bother." Gurms and Taylor, keep trying, Sam. It'll happen. My special relationship with Gillian – or maybe Jackie – or maybe Meltzer. Remember "Tempted (by the Fruit of Another)". Francesco wants to know "Why!?" and insists "I'm a counselor." Family Feud with the girls, the category is "Places Counselors Go on Nights Off;" Rosecan gets the #1 response "ACE Hardware."

Remember when Woody was on time to benches? When French Ben came to an activity? We don't. Remember when Gordo smiled or Alec frowned? Remember when Swain wasn't spitting or Mack wore shorts to athletic events? We don't. Remember when Phil screamed or Sez whispered? Remember when Reuben didn't have a broom on his face? Remember when EZ wasn't with Qadeer? We don't. Remember when Sneider wasn't quietly watching, listening and learning? We don't. Remember the second round of the Beirut Tourney or the second half of Animal House? We don't!

Remember Parents Visiting Weekend. The 4 steps to introducing staff to parents. The 2 rules (don't get hurt and don't make us look bad). Remember Connor's paddleball. Potts's sculpting and hard-boiled eggs. Your mom goes to college C-O-L-L-E-G-E. Remember DT arrives and immediately has my Goldman connection. Gino arrives and goes straight to Birchmont where we win the 12& Under softball tournament. Remember the Extreme Pushup Challenge, "You can make it easy – if you lose!" Remember Shane and Rikleen switching places as first and second year aide depending on my mood. Kris's GL predictions.

Remember Reuben's relationship with the Shires. Alec wants to know if the girl I'm sitting with is my girlfriend, no! It's my sister! Remember DT is so good at sports that he's a counselor. Remember our playday against Winaukee. We tried really hard. Remember Blue and White Day. We tried really hard. Remember rafterball games in my bunk 24/7, but if you break the light, you have to lick it up. Counselor skits

Remember when Jamie gives Mack veto over the dining hall menu. Petrone's hidden Tae Kwan Do skills. Posen knows that it's Pants Down Time. Every time is Pants Down Time. Harris' birthday pizza party at the Outdoor Theater, the brass doesn't need a whole pizza. Remember the Harry Potter books that got passed around the bunks. Remember when it's time to get meds, my whole table gets up to go. Remember when Gino finished his 20 laps (we don't! but don't tell). Sez's cascade from the rafters. Marlon draped on counselors. Serero's golfclubs.

Remember Ogunquit Beach Day. We get our group's second cheer: "I scream...you scream...we all scream for sun screen!" Duty Group I is out in force...wha-BAM! We get back and my bed is on the roof. Thank you, Stringer for so delicately bringing it down. The staff decides on Option B and we go to the movies. Charlie and the Chocolate Factory is so strange. "I love grapes." "You smell like old people and soap." Beetle leads in a duet of Paradise by the Dashboard Light.

Remember ABC Night? Absolute insanity. Potts' explodes on the man's furniture. Jelin takes the game to the next level in the office. I need my Anger Management T-shirt.

Remember Green and White. Newmy and Cristal are captains, Sneider and Posen cos. Congratulations to the White All-Stars on your victory and all of you for a hard-fought and surprisingly even-matched war. I'm very sorry I couldn't watch you in action, but, as the song says "Meltzer loves Stecher." Next year, I'll watch you like a hawk.

Remember excursion. Remember when I got us lost? I do! Remember a stop where we didn't play videogames? We don't! First stop Joker's. Next, we move onto Water Country (the Aquarium). Beetle makes a little friend in line and the kids love the big smoking bowl. That night we cook fajitas with Jackie and Corbin before meeting Jelin, Rikleen, and Kobe for bowling. Jelin, Beetle and I make the Yeomen excursion bowling team, but Posen's score of 7 doesn't make the cut. We get back and Ranger Mike tells us we're in the wrong site...the midnight move to the new campground. Day 2: DT's rock. The Mall of New Hampshire – DDR in the Best Buy. Then onto Canobie Lake Park. That night, the Christa McAuliffe Planetarium (Mars). Mirac and Doobie, Polaris, arc to Arcturus, spike to Spica, and jump to Jupiter. the lecturer won't answer Eli's question. Day 3, Master Chef Potts with the eggs. Weir's Beach, Posen finds the glitch in the crane game, ends up with more stuffed animals than he can carry. Go-Karts, Wendy's, Dukes of Hazzard and we're back from a money trip.

To my staff:

Teddy and Emory, you guys were great. You deserve every ounce of praise and recognition you get.

French Ben and Clint, it was great working with you guys this year. You are both inspirations of work ethic. 1st Sgt. Eyal Kobi, you were a pleasure to live with. You could always be counted on to help out when we needed to exhaust the kids. The night you had the kids punch you in the stomach to tire them out was among the funniest things I've ever seen.

Brad: You have a long and successful future on staff ahead of you. There are two traits that good counselors need, willingness to work and a sense of humor, and you have them in spades. Keep pulling pranks on the brass, but make sure to keep them discreet.

Rikleen: The kids absolutely adore you. Don't sweat it if there are people who don't know how great you can be. That being said, zealously agree with my decisions.

Jelin: I had so much fun with you this year. Ditch trips next summer and knock one out of the park on general staff. I'll never forget our moment on ABC night. Hugs and kisses.

Eli: I'm so happy that I got to work with you this summer. Come back, be a group leader, and make me look bad with the job you do.

Potts: I may have introduced you as the campers' worst nightmare, but, without a doubt, you were my dream. From climbing trees to building our Founder's Day gift in an hour, I'm convinced you can do anything and everything.

Yeomen, it is amazing to see a group as unified as yours as young as you are. Keep coming back and this place will be amazing for you. But far more important than that, you guys will be amazing for this place. I love you guys.

I hate to close with bad news, but I have to tell you all this. The story about my relationship with Gillian, I made the whole thing up. Sorry to disappoint.

LANCERS

Lancers Lancers, count off...hey guys, I'm sure you are all busy with soccer, basketball, baseball, lacrosse, your psp, or your hockey clothing line, but let's take a minute to remember our time together back at The Realm. Remember ultimate frisbee the first night, introducing JD to the Arrows and then girls camp in less than 48 hours, remember Farva being graceful at gymnastics we do...I mean don't. The five-star club, Thibault being the first international member "please sir may I have some more?"...The Icy Hot club, OHHHHH that hurts. Remember Beaser sneezing while freezing?

Remember our morning routine? clean, Clean, CLEAN, pick up garbage, Zach needing his hair gel before every activity, Scheiny playing his psp, Alex Weiss asking how it was possible for people to be maids and janitors for a living. Remember when our toilets weren't clogged...we don't...remember when Slossberg became the plumber and could unclog anything and everything...we do...thank you Sloss.

Remember Monday Night Football...flag football? The blue team, the yellow team, the red team, and the white team. Remember the combine...the preseason game...and the first game. Slossberg making the most amazing catch with zeros on the clock to tie the game...Will Chen breaking ankles on every kick return...and the Italians making the transition from rugby to football.

Remember Mafia? Ross' detective skill got him killed every time...Big Woody joining in for a game...Farva being a master assassin...Remember Mikey Bourque's novels and how he lived them...Remember kick the can all over camp...Will figuring out how to use his boxers and a hooded sweatshirt to be unidentifiable...speaking of dress up...Remember the social? Dressing up like Pimps and Hoes, all the drag queens enjoying wearing women's clothing a little too much...remember Farva staying on his feet ever...we don't. Remember Pietro's secret water supply...Wolf always going to riflery...Giacomo and Tommaso doing calisthenics...Goodman and his great kayak skill...Giovani speaking any other language besides English...Going to the movies and ice skating with the Arrows...and Trent saying, "Hello my name is John!"

Remember inter-camp? SO PROUD! Blue and White Day showing how much heart you all had...the greatest soccer comeback of all time...the main offensive force coming from Trent and Feldman and our defensive wall of Cohen, Globus, and Wolf...remember me carrying Trent off the field for injuries, and remember Tommaso scoring the tying goal. Remember teaming up with the Friars to win the baseball game. Remember bball...Feldman making really clutch free throws and Haynes throwing it down. Remember 13 and under boys soccer...defeating everyone...Chhaya being a brick wall in the goal, Giacomo being a goon, Tommaso showing finesse, Feldman controlling the tempo, and Trent being the first to every ball. Remember beating Tecumseh in the Championship! Will scoring the first goal in 5 minutes and then dominating from then on...Remember a similar dominance in lacrosse against Camp Cody? Chhaya and Ross stepping up on attack to play with the 15 year olds and each scoring a goal. Remember the final West End game? Haynes scoring the first points and other Lancers starting in the biggest basketball game at Camp Robin Hood. Lancers...I truly believe with your heart, desire to win, and skill you could be the group that breaks the drought and beats West End at the House and at Home, if you put your mind to it you will become "Victorious the Champions of All."

Remember visiting day? Lots of parents...saying our good-byes...getting email addresses and screen names...Ross going to start his conglomerate corporation overseas...everyone being sad.

Remember the arrival of the second four weeks...lots more parents...Haynes moving upstairs...everyone unpacking...and then re-packing for our canoe trip. Remember all the questions about the trip? "Are we really going on this trip?" "Are we going to miss Green & White?" "Are we going to break Green & White?" "Did Green & White already break?"...Remember the Saco River? Canoeing at break neck speeds, Farva being the best at canoe in the group...the party animals who hated red sox fans? Remember our campsite? Uth finding a toad and Farva licking it, remember playing capture the flag...we do. Remember Sacre Bleu, Sus me beet, and Suck my beef. Remember Day 2 Max and Globus in the garbage canoe, setting the Saco on fire with our paddling and getting to the pick up site 2 hours early. Remember the rope swing...that was fun. Remember rolling back into camp for lunch. We didn't miss Green & White but everyone was on the edge of their seat....

And then it was dinner when all of a sudden there were 2 limos rolling into camp...Remember the planes and the skydiver...boys, its Green & White time. Remember when our voting was moved to the waterfront...Congratulations to Haynes and Beaser for Captain and Slossberg and Wolf as Co-Captains. Some of the highlights from Green & White...an amazing volleyball game, an intense track meet, Pete and Michael Nahill having amazing softball games, Belmont tugging harder than anyone, Derek hitting big three pointers, Arnot winning the 880, the greatest staff basketball game ever, the Whites' Elixir tug of war pump up and Green's breaking the benches pump up, and a great song night. Now some Low-lights... JD's shorts, Woody and Max coaching bball, staff softball, Arnot's shaved head, Carrot Top in the talent show as napoleon...Color War is a great tradition and I'm glad all of you got to experience it.

Remember lazy day...water balloon fights... saying goodbye to the six weekers...our areas trashed by the Saxon's the night before...climbing in the rafters...Ethan reading Harry Potter backwards...and Feldman meeting Lisa Mann. Remember the best evening activity Fear Factory...we don't...Remember gimp...Adam Fischer falling off the balcony.... gimp...initiating new members into the icy hot club...

gimp...the Pajama Jump...Globus having the coolest rubix cube jump...JD having the most painful jump...Belmont having the most old-school jump...and of course Farva having the best/funniest jump... Farva you would make an excellent super hero...ohh yeah, remember gimp?

Remember heading out on excursion and adding Juli and Ben Jelin to our group? First stop Aquaboggan...Slossberg overcoming his fear of the pink taco... Lancers getting kicked off the climbing structure...JD making hilarious jokes about weight and slides. Then excursion got crazy as we headed to the desert... First rule of the desert Respect the Desert, Second rule of the Desert Respect the Desert, Third rule of the Desert...umm excuse me what does it mean to respect the desert? Don't dig holes. Remember our nature walk, Rusty's Fight Club...and Vincent being the toughest one of all... remember waking up at 11:45 AM and heading to L.L. Bean...we wish we didn't. Remember Feldman climbing a boot, everyone trying on crazy clothes, and NOT touching their stupid fish pond. Remember heading over to the hunting and fishing store...sweet guns...everyone wanting to buy knives, Tyler explaining to us how the marines used sniper rifles. Remember day two, fishing, Ryan catching a lot of fish, Pete upchucking the bait, and Farva tearing the head off of a fish with his mouth... blood dripping off his chin...Juli about to vomit. Remember our walk around the bay, the Arcades, our lobster dinner, and our triumphant return to the Desert. Remember day three, Portland...the Yo-Yo squad... Haynes Yo-Yo rolling on dubs...the invisible ink...and Eddy joining us on excursion. Remember dinner with the Arrows, Max having some anger management issues and then Juli passing people on our way back into camp.

Remember some names we had for each other...Uncle Bacon, Lorenzo, Girl Scout, Carrot Top, The Ross Ness Monster, JD, Barbie, Globetrotter, Gregorio, D-Rock, Derrock, Derek Zoolander, Vigo, Black Feet, Napoleon, Branches, and the Woodman. Next summer your Friar jersey's are going to be hilarious - I cannot wait to see them.

Lancers - this summer has been incredible and even though all of you did not get the chance to meet each other, you all contributed to a great group effort that lasted from the first ultimate frisbee game to the last volleyball period. I hope each of you saw your staff as I did, a great group of guys who loved each other, loved camp, had a great time, and worked hard. As a staff we have a special bond, learned a lot together, and helped each other have a great time. Intensity, competition, fun, and friends, were the words that described everyday we had together at The Realm. Whether it was our L.L. Bean adventure or watching the sunset with you guys in the Outdoor Theater, there was always something exciting going down. We were a force that could not be stopped, only occasionally contained. To the new Lancers, you are all wonderful additions to The Realm, and to the returning Lancers, you instilled the camp spirit and tradition in this group. Each and every one of you will leave camp as more mature teens on your way to becoming great young men. Keep beasting your summers at camp, it's the most incredible place on Earth.

How does one sum up the greatest summer in the history of the world? As I sit here on my bed typing this article and listening to Jack do the truffle shuffle, I think back to all the amazing times we had. Whether we were hitting trees at the homerun diamond, getting kicked out of waterfront activities, or enjoying Bunk-o-rama, the Friars of 2005 did it like no other group before them. We were the best group in camp and here is why.

Remember the first day...Ben Kaiser is the first to arrive to play basketball on the Friar court...first evening activity is Ultimate Frisbee...Jack is Chunky McCheddar Cheese Nips...Leopold is Smiley...the rainstorm with BVD running and messing up the Lancer showers... Jake Schwartz gets a 30 person paddywagon at our first and last SPUD activity...poker nights were fun while they lasted...Woody makes an Adirondack chair...Cox stubs his toe on a brick...Chester's visits to listen to rap music...Zipkin and Woody run into Sr. waterfront to fetch volleyballs...Leopold worries because he forgot to bring a parachute for the helicopter...Alex's missing U2 iPod...3 on 3 basketball tournament evening activity followed by cheeseburger fight...Jack says, "Not only do I see what your doing, I can smell it!"

How about the basketball tournament we hosted and Schwartz asks the visiting coach for his phone number...violent team handball games with Woody taking everyone out...Brody drops his shoulder and lays out Jack, "It hurts inside."... Saad vs. Leo...Zipkin is a Crazy Canadian and Fahad is a Crazy Kuwaiti...Plater's And1 moves and black ups... Greenberg hits JT's hand with a bat as he tries to teach him how to swing...Leo hits trees on his first softball swing ever... Saad is a deep thinker...Sez kicks the soccer goal...Brody becomes Greenberg's football trainer...Jack's truffle shuffle...Cox and Ryan make a bed...bubba keg trend started by Brody...Borden arrives unexpectedly and Brody and Duncan set up his area in minutes...Louis arrives by sea plane... Goldman shows up in a pink shirt...Nigro's chink shirt...Jake Schwartz, Jake Schwartz, count off!...Brody and Cox beat Big Woody and DC for Cozy Corner...watching Arnold in Predator...Brody breaks Leopold's braces...Woody messes up Cox's alarm clock so that we all get up 2 hours early... Szabo, Goldman, Nigro, and Borden make pimp areas on the porch, too bad it smells like septic tank...Zipkin hits a dragonfly... 4th of July carnival and watching fireworks... Louis is good at everything...Kevin Laddon is going to the NFL...Cox attempts Camp Idol, cause the Friars ain't my boys, they're my family dog!...Andrew Dice Clay...Jack sticks crackers in his folds...injury filled softball for evening activity...group songs are Talking Heads – Naive Melody (This Must Be the Place) a.k.a. the Dolphin Song and Weezer – Best Friend...Nigro's best friend dance.

Remember when Borden fell in the puddle after his hit in softball...Sunday dinner meat pitching in your face...Jack's ice-cream cheers, "We like ice-cream, yes we do. Vanilla, chocolate, and strawberry too!"...Ogunquit beach day...Leopold boots on the bus...lobster at Blue Water Inn...bus ride with the kitchen staff... Fahad runs into Jack during soccer and bounces off...Borden is first to hit trees... Cox's rash...going to The Pit for a campfire... Nigro's method for cleanup, "I just rub it in and take a shower"...Fri-Fri at the outdoor theatre is amazing, thank you boys for that, I will never forget it...Gaynor's area is an apartment...Trevor is SAL... Becker loses his money in poker...13 and under soccer wins home tournament... JB has a lazy eye...Szabo, Schwartz, and Goldman get mohawks and Nigro shaves his head...Cox has a cameo in Annie... Leopold raps 40oz for Fisher...Plater is Tyrone Biggums...Goldman's spaz attacks... "Hey, why are you talking about my sister?"... peeing in Leo's bubba keg...Brit, Herbst, and Ratko think putting salt and ice on their hands is a good idea...A-Nuts beasts Jack, Jack asks him to call him tomorrow... remember Parents Weekend...Mr. Schwartz is a comedian...counselors still bat first at softball...Cristal gets bags out of the loft... Brit shows up and the Styrofoam packing incident...playday at Kenwood with DC... Goldman scores a goal for the other team with his crotch...Jack coaches basketball... Woody takes players out...Plater sinks a full court shot at the end of the West End game...human bowling with Ratko and DCK...Brody and Cox tell campers to eat the cheese in the middle of the night... Friar band in the talent show...the movie Saw keeps Plater up all night...Schwartz is a gaga-goo-goo...chocolate milk wars... Beirut evening activity where Jack and Ryan almost beat Cox and Duncan...random bear sightings at the wall...Zipkin wins super knockout...Duncan is an alien...Jake Schwartz has his own language...Friars vs. Dylan Schattman...Borden crashes waterskiing at 50 mph...Friars jerseys, better late than never!

Remember when Hirst wasn't reading... Jack was wearing pants...Goldman was good at sports...JT was hooking up...Ratko wasn't being strange...Benhaim hustled... Becker wasn't complaining...Nigro's area was clean...Grossman wasn't lazy... WE DON'T!!!

Remember Green & White...Saxons and Scribes in limos and the parachuters... where are the judges?...counselor captains are Jenny Katz, Natalia Datorre, Jason Fisher, and Jon Meltzer...in the Friars captains are Ryan Cristal and Jake Szabo, co-captains are Jack Freifelder and Jake Borden...the White All-Stars vs. the Green Panthers...Green Friars nearly sweep, White Friars run away with soccer...Leopold lives and dies with every point...Benhaim at archery...Saxon milkshake dance...Cox hits Brody with wood for pump up...the All-Stars end up victorious.

Remember Excursion...we head out after Sunday buffet...playing Mikey wins to kill time on the bus...we arrive at Dartmouth to eat bag lunches...Schwartz hugs strangers and Jack gets his body rated...we hit up E-Tard's frat and Plater falls in love with their new puppy Rocky...ping pong in the basement...we challenge the basketball clinic team to a game and beat them 25-21... next stop Burlington, some kids buy Gators hats...at the first campsite we realize we don't have everything for our tent, Duncan and Brody save the day...Jack cooks steaks... Duncan doesn't like beans...the fire nazi... the "don't stop" guy...the next morning we go Alpine Sliding at Stowe...Ben & Jerry's with the Bards...Cabot Cheese and Vermont Teddy Bear Company...Brody buys a stupid hat...the angry glass blowers...at the second camp site we go swimming in the pool... Brody cuts his finger on a can of beans and needs 4 stitches...telling stories by the fire...the next day on to New York for Great Escape and Splashwater Kingdom... Cristal and DCK get forced onto roller coasters...Nigro holds a conversation on a roller coaster going 90 mph...staff enjoy country music show with cowgirl Emily... that night we sleep at Queechee...Dunkin Donuts for breakfast...Pirate's Cove mini golf...McDonald's play place where Nigro cried...outlet shopping...bus drive bys... the Wal-Mart tradition lives on...Bad News Bears or War of the Worlds at the movies... feast at Panda Garden before heading back to camp.

To my staff, Leo, you had great energy and ran a flawless Archery program. Ryan, you were a great guy and getting to know you has been awesome. Gaynor, you made a flawless transition into staff and you have great things in your future (if you stay humble!). Stevenson, I still can't believe I pulled off kidnapping you from the Archers. You're my boy and the kids love you, thank you for all the help. Sez, I didn't know you at all when the summer began, even though we have both been here a while. I'm proud to now call you a friend and thank you for all your hard work this summer. Matt, your second summer on my staff was somehow even better than the first. As I've said before, Jordan is my older brother and you are my younger brother. Keep in touch. Duncles, you turned out to be every bit as amazing as everyone always said you were. Drew and Rudy were right about you. You are one of the nicest guys I have ever met and I hope that our good times together are only just beginning.

To the Friars of 2005, I want to thank each and every one of you for making this the best summer of my life. As you guys came into camp I was intimidated by your presence and size. Little did I know then, but over the next 8 weeks you guys would change my life forever. Every one of you is now a brother to me. If this is in fact my last summer (and I pray that it isn't) I can at least walk away knowing I had the greatest time of my life with the greatest group of kids The Realm has ever seen. You made me so proud and I can't wait to hear from you over the years and find out where your lives take you. I love you.

Alright, no matter what I say in the next few paragraphs, I'd like to make one thing clear: No —.

Now that I've settled that issue, listen up you meatballs...It seems like only yesterday when 12 chill young dudes showed up to the Forester Bunk to begin the Summer of Fo' 5. Remember those first few days? They were amazing...setting up my computer on the basketball court while we watched Boondock Saints over some steak bombs, playing that first game of Ultimate on the soccer field, the X Factor running around like a monkey with an oversized head. Hey wait, there's a softball guy this year? And apparently he thinks A-Nuts' name is Mikey? This is too good. Let's mess with him for the rest of the summer. Our first and last period of Archery: E-Sneids running laps for being an anorexic steam-train, or something like that. Remember Ethan's Mohawk? Good luck with the ladies my man. Remember when Myles wasn't instigating the harassment of either a Chinese Restaurant or an innocent boat passing by the senior waterfront? I'm pretty sure that's all he did the first two weeks when he wasn't eating or sleeping. But who can blame him? He's from the school of the hard knocks after all. Gotta bust caps in as many people as possible at all times.

Remember when Myles called Big Woody to ask about Rookie Camp on the way to Winaukee? Remember playing volleyball four times a day and playing your hearts out for mad respect. That was good wholesome fun. Remember the Winaukee Tournament? Cheering on Jonas as he beasted the world with his racquet. Jonas have I ever told you how sexy you are when you play tennis? Or just in general? No — at all. Remember the kid break-dancing with a sweatshirt and jeans on in the 80 degree weather? Brad's upper decker? That glorious air hockey table where Brody and I slept through the lightning storm? Of all places, why are we stranded on the island? Big botch. Remember the injury boys: Sack and Christopher Lloyd himself. Good thing Jack was working with putty to strengthen his hand to ensure his speedy recovery. Ahhh-woooo werewolves of London! Warren Zivan fever sweeps through Fo' 5. Remember when Dicker wasn't either playing guitar, umping baseball or being our counselor. I don't. Thank you Dicker for coining the glorious nickname of Dr. Nuts. Boys, I saw the schedule, we're going ice-skating!

Remember Ethan's 10-layer P.B. & J. which Boberts devoured in one bite? He's a drummer ladies and gentleman, and he'll be here all summer. But sorry girls, he's hopelessly in love with an ash tray. Remember Dick's late-night terror spree? And then the candyman strikes again at the Wall. Dick calling Chad and Roger up at lunch just to say hello. Remember Peaches arriving and going straight to the loft. Brody: Alex, pull out! We've got parents. Peaches, I'm sure you're dad is a really nice guy, but I couldn't understand a word he was saying to me. I hope it wasn't important. Remember Jack leveling Shane in Ultimate? Remember when Bonzai Brad wasn't running people over in the end zone? Did he ever even touch the Frisbee? A-Nuts, do we have BALLS? No boys, you certainly don't, but be ready to go to the dining hall at 9 o'clock anyway. Dip! Remember shaving A-nuts' chest, spinning with Jamie, and Beatle's special delivery? Cleaning the bathrooms with toothbrushes. Sorry boys, I'll get you McDonalds. Sike! Remember paging people via walkie-talkies? A-Nuts to the Waterfront, Tyler Anno to the red garage, Beatle to the old riflery range with a toothbrush and half a sandwich, Leo to the pits of hell and the archery shack, Saxons to the dorms, Juan to the dining hall, Roger Hurd to the Waterfront.

Remember Indian chants on the way to West End? E-Sneids popping his jugular cheering on the team. What a beast of a fan. Jack, Jonas and Myles: you played like men in the House, I was so proud to call you my boys, regardless of the score. Especially you Jonas for sacking up when your boys needed you even though you aren't a basketball player by trade. That was even sexier than anything you can do with a tennis racquet. But stop smiling, cuz you're still an idiot.

Remember almost killing yourselves on the Indo Board? Shane took a particularly nasty spill. Look at that one nut dude! Thwap, thwap, thwap! Wasabi: Hey A-nuts, is that your girlfriend? Balls, balls! It's Beatle! A-nuts! Batman begins, Courtney not sitting with Berman. The many unsuccessful attempts at relationships in the early summer. Chad, go to bed! Chad, be quiet! Whitesack, whitesack! The jam session on the 4th of July, Brody on the moonwalk, jam sessions at BALLS, Dicker and Boberts tearing it up. That's so childish (Dicker to Nigro). Jack trying to catch

A-Nuts on candid camera. Myles: Hey Tyler, go do a handstand somewhere. Brody's goodbye speech. He's a talker ladies and gentlemen. Golf is not a sport, you're only competing against yourself. Dicker talking to himself in the mirror as Boberts walked in on him. Late-night beetle attacks (the bug, not the counselor). John trying to hit on girls on Beach Day wearing a speedo. Please dude, spare the world. Massa Jonas, and tying each other's shoes together on the soccer field. Da Da Da Duh (Slave Song). Remember tubing? Nigro accidentally gets on the board backwards. Remember the water balloon wars with the Saxons. Experimenting with Brody's leftover teddy bear, the incredible volleyball victory over Birchmont (14-4, 21-18), Quad fights with the P.J.'s, King of the Hill on the water trampoline. We love dick! We love nuts! Yes, yes we do. Jo-ey...Stein-in!

Remember the trip to Myles' grandparents' house, Etard almost blowing his face off, Brody feeling a little too welcome. Name one invention devised by a woman, I challenge you. Name one. Exactly. Oh, Brody. I will rip off your arm and beat you with the wet end of it. I would love to see some of the things Brody comes up with actually happen. Jokes, jokes, jokes, jokes! Razor burn! Oh god it's on fire! Brody and Beatle's verbal confrontation at lunch. You can't make me do anything! I'm the Brod, and I have spoken. Remember Brody leaving, the kids and the staff missed you all summer Brod.

Remember Lydia giving us a zero on inspection? Whitesack! Whitesack! Choco-Taco! Remember the cheers: Vladimir for captain, Colombo for Co. Hey Seamus, salt and pepper? Or does it echo in the cornfield? Ohhhh! Hey Vladimir, why the cold shoulder? Hey Colombo, overwhelmed by the croutons? When you fight, do not coddle, penguins are the first to waddle. Boys will be boys, girls will be catty.

Remember pizza after the west end game? So money. Hiding in Beatle's area? Sessions in Beatle's area? Remember eating together at Beach Day? Good times. Remember the 1st period volleyball games in anticipation of whitesack? Back to the bunk! Harry Potter mania, Trucker, Brad, Berman Myles and Forrester burning through the book. Can we please have a discussion about the book once everyone's done reading? Myles, the staff would like to thank you for your willingness to keep tradition alive at camp. Have I lost my touch?!? Remember the two golden rules, the deal with the Shires and A-nuts playing guitar. Remember when Rufus decided to post up right in the middle of our volleyball game with a couple of balls in his mouth? He's an idiot. Bare-ass Dicker! Tyler chasing a skunk through the brush. It's not a problem, he's not gonna spray us. Sure Tyler. Dehhhhh...

Remember the love palace and the B.B. Bunker. Or when we dominated the Saxons in volleyball. G and W was fantastic, especially the ultimate game. Congrats to Boberts, Jonas, Jacob and Peaches for being captains and co-captains. Remember Fo' 5 dominating songnight? So beast. Boberts, you are an amazing drummer, even when all you have is a trash can at your disposal. Remember the late night color count off during G and W? Hilarious. Brad breaking the bench after G and W.

Remember A-Nuts getting sick? Huge botch. Thanks Trucker for running the group smoothly in my absence. Boberts and Burstein: remember the best sick day ever. Oh yeah baby. Joey Stein's constant Subway runs. Trucker, shave that Mohawk, you look like a dinosaur. I've got lanyard on my arm and I'm pouring bug juice, and I'm rolling to the Saxon bunk so I can drop a deuce.

Remember Canada? Such an amazing excursion. Remember singing songs like Barbie Girl on the way up. No —. Remember snails on the morning on day one. D. Sol doesn't have money, A-nuts chats it up with his dad. Remember when we weren't getting lost or going down one-way streets the wrong way? We don't. Remember jet boating when we finally arrived with the extremely nice tour guide named Jason. He sure did love being in Montreal. Hi, we're the American Rockets dance team. Dehhhhh. The amazing dinner at Quebec, LaRonde, Beatle and A-nuts getting tossed about in the sportyack at rafting, freestyles on the city bus, the homeless guy with the banana, Jacob's tin explosion. Sketch squad! The girls at Hard Rock. You don't know Alex Mann?!? The incredible meal at the Italian Restaurant with the ballsy accordion player. That's amore! Asian Jon no pay bill!

Boys, I had such an incredible time with you this summer. You are a band of 22 brothers, and it makes me so proud to have played a part in strengthening the bonds between you. I think the last guitar sing-along by the waterfront made us realize just how special this group is. Each kid brings something different and indispensable to the table. Without each one of its parts in working order, there would not have been a Fo' 5. And as Saxon year approaches, I am sure that your brotherhood will just keep getting stronger. I can only pray that I am back at The Realm next year to see it. I love you boys, and Fo' 5 till I die.

SAXONS

Saxons of 2005, the time has finally come. I'll do my best with this article...keep in mind I have a hard act to follow with Damien's Saxon article from last summer to live up to (if you haven't read it yet, you really should – it's hilarious). It was an incredible finale to your camper careers and you're all ready to handle the responsibilities and privileges of being staff...but first, put down the carvings, put on some clothes and let's relive the summer of 2005.

Remember when...Jesse, Emery, Max, Jaime, and Grossman arrive to camp in style blasting "Bad Boys" – the limo would turn up later in the summer...Frumkin took a run through the quad the second night of camp, "Wait!"...Dustin from Wendy's...the guy from Wendy's who could morph into a wolverine...Pizza Barn with Big Woody... "Fisher, have you ever been in love?"... "How many red states we got here?"...everyone pitch in for sodas... Teddy pays for the video games...the waitress at Pizza Barn... "I'll shoot you if you go to Huckins"...the 4th of July... guarding the flag, minus Max...Peter Edge, "All's fair in love and war"...lacrosse game versus Cody...Frumkin and Jesse dominating...Katz laying people out... Coach Gaynor uses good judgement...4th of July Carnival...water balloons last five minutes...The Incredibles moonwalk... nearly killing each other and breaking the moonwalk...Camp Idol with Jon Seacrest... Katz trying to dance...Fisher's a harsh judge, especially to techie, "The day the music died was the day you decided to sing"...everyone voting for Maggie Cole and the ninja turtles...Punking the Foresters... Sandstorm dance during Talent Show... Duckham tries to turn off lights during toothpaste skit...waking up Hamad at night... "Michael Who?"...Grossman's laugh when he 'kisses the sky'.

1-2-3 Guts...Grossman teaches the Friars how to play...Katz's pink shorts...KY Jelly commercial with the nurse...Jaime and Max's handshake – Arrows hear... "You guys are gross"...Zandy & Jaime get kicked out of Brookstone for getting too comfortable on the bed...Angelo clears our table every meal... "Angelo for Captain!"... "Michael who?"...going through girls camp blasting "Candyshop"...the Saxon-PJ campfire... Jaime's favorite counselor is Bruce... cheering up Michael...Justin's outrageous comments...Climbing Mt. Washington...

the great view at the top...Zandy's slow pace...Freaky is a beast...Jaime's fall... chilli at the top...Solomon and Emery run down the mountain...Emery slides down on his stomach...Zandy asking, "Do you guys actually enjoy walking on rocks?"... Fisher defends his movie game crown... Remember...going to The House...Zandy's 3 point competition...circle jerk cheers... taking off our shirts to cheer...rushing the court to celebrate Nick Plater's full court shot...

Remember when...Fisher lost his sunglasses and made camp look for them on a scavenger hunt...they were on Teddy's bed...Remember going to see "Batman Begins"...visiting GNC first... "You can't get jacked off of anything here"...Remember going to the Arena football game... "Where are we going?" The airport? To pick up DC's car?... "Go Wolves!"...Hooters girls signing everyone's body...Jaime pumping up the players... "Lay him out!" "I'm tired!"...IP Cheers...getting yelled at by the local fans...Remember stealing the 'No Boys Allowed' sign from the Scribes... Duncan and Frumkin arm-wrestling at the meals...Max breaking the table...CIT Training sessions...Camp Leaders In Training.

Remember when...Chester wasn't clogging our toilets...we performed a cheer well... we weren't throwing napkins at people from the balcony...Frumkin, Teddy and Jesse's room was clean...the group wasn't naked...the group wasn't fond of trees at the ODT...Fisher wasn't using the office bathroom...WE DON'T!

Remember...beach day...our hilarious waiter John...going to Sammy's for the All-Star game...Jaime dancing with Joanna...Rock climbing...studio Z – scary mountain man doing martial arts...seeing rock climbing guys on visiting day... Frump and Zandy skip lunch...going out for dinner at Coyote Rose...Teddy and Zandy visit PG...Truth or Dare at the Waterfront...

Remember...climbing Katahdin... Katahdin, Katahdin count-off...more food than I've ever seen at Shaw's...Emery, "I can make a weird noise"...water slides on the river...Teddy's one pair of boxers... the mountain boy at the top...Fisher peeing off of knife's edge...scary stories... Cyclops?...the missing knife...amazing naps in the rain...rock-paper-scissors tourney...our "Don't Worry Chuck" T-shirts...non-Katahdin crew has their own countoff and own activities to pass the time...R&L with Randy...

Remember...our G&W Fake Break... "I see Aquino!"...the greatest Green & White of all time?!...Fish and Nati dominating for five days with the White All-Stars... Jenny and Meltzer struggling for five days with the Green Panthers...Breaking Green & White!...Where are the skydivers?!... exact same Saxon teams as last year...the intense ultimate game...milkshake dance...Real Men of Genius skit...RH in the real world skit...spelling bee... "Medieval"...Zandy has earpiece in... 1st ever G&W Fishbee competition...the football game...Solomon dislocates his shoulder with seconds remaining...Max asks, "Why's everyone crying?"...Congrats All-Stars...Fish will be eating steaks forever while bragging about his 8-1 record... Remember night 5...flipping beds...Peter Edge goes vertical and you owe him $32... Jenny in the dorms sitting on Jaime's shelves...Meltzer does zigzags on the quad... L-Dubz calls from the 50 show...Fish's grandfather visits and guesses everyone's role on the spot.

Remember...Boston excursion...toll booth workers will never be the same...one toll booth guy got into it...Fish the Magish... Zandy tripping in public and fighting with Jaime...meeting Zandy's friend Matt... Grossman's comment about Mrs. Bard... hanging out with Joel in the backyard... Is this really happening?... "We can't do a lot of things!"...Grossman's funnier than expected...ghetto nurses...getting solid naps at the IMAX...break dancers at Quincy Market... "What time is it? Showtime!"... "What's the big idea?" race...getting them to play hodgy podgy and the pony game... giving them fake clues, "Your body works better when it's next to a salon"...basically they hate us and it was amazing...Jaime and Zandy get surveyed and receive $5... Improv Boston...Number 1 sucks...Hard Rock for dinner...putting on a dance show for everyone...Shear Madness...grinding on the detective during intermission...he comes out in the RH shirt...group bonding on Night 3, going to McD's...Solomon breaks Brody's record and eats 36 nuggets...

And then the fun really began after excursion...Remember...our crazy sailing period...streaking through the quad while tours of camp are going on...cheers in the dining hall... "Hey Archers, we go to sleep later than you"... "Hey Archers, as Jennifer Lopez once said, Wait for Tonight"... "Hey Meltzer, I heard you hooked up with Stecher"...Jesse & Frump compete to be GL...Aaron Carter vs. Eiffel 65 page... Frumkin for the cup...Jesse thanking the kitchen staff because the magic is in the food...Remember...group trips to the ODT - a little weird...Jaime & Jesse streak to kitchen late at night, Jesse wipes out... kitchen raids...Fish's fortune cookie... Men...it has truly been my honor to have been your group leader not once, but twice. I now feel like much more than just your counsellor, but also your friend. You're a special group and each and every one of you brings something special to form the powerhouse group that you are. Zandy, you're almost as cool as your dad, and that's not bad. You're hilarious, spontaneous, quick and smart. You are hands down the best shooting instructor I've ever had. You're going to be great next year on staff...as basketball specialty! Your Saxon speech was one that I will always remember. Jaime, you've been a leader since you were an Archer writing reports on the group dynamic (loser!). People naturally follow your lead...and that's a good thing...most of the time. You have a bright future here at camp...Vote Blaustein for Success. Emery, people always think that you're the lazy one, but it couldn't be farther from the truth. Granted, you love to sleep, but once you're up, you're motivated. You were my MVP on Katahdin and an all-star all summer (except G&W when you were a Panther). Frumkin, you may secretly be the funniest kid in the group. I still can't believe that next year will be your tenth summer at camp!? I really hope you keep coming back...The Realm needs people like you...see you at the gymnastics tent. Jesse, even when you're innocent you find a way to look guilty! You're a great kid, an amazing athlete, and the toughest kid in the group. You took a beating during G&W and were always the first one to jump right back up. I can't wait to see you as staff...don't get kicked out! Max, ever since "Max Facts" we've known you're comedic abilities. Your timing is perfect when it comes to almost everything you do or say. There is no doubt that this group would not be the same without you and you're easy-going, comedic personality. Grossman, you truly are a Gross Man. Watching you eat is always a treat for everyone involved. I never knew how funny you were until this year's excursion. Congratulations on your career dominance of the group inspection award. Katz, you've truly come into your own here at camp. I can still remember you as a crazy little PJ with a bowl haircut. I can't wait to come back years from now and watch you lead your own Green and White team... hopefully you'll have better luck than your sister. Teddy, you're definitely the leader by example. You always seem to do the right thing at the right time. You're positive attitude is contagious and runs throughout the entire group. You help keep everyone motivated to play, compete, and enjoy camp to the fullest. Solomon, get a haircut! Remember when you were the cutest little kid in camp, little Stevie?! What the hell happened?! You may not be as cute, but you're definitely cooler. You were a great help to me and all of camp this summer... especially to the Bards! Michael, thanks for everything this summer. You were not in an easy spotting joining a group this tight with Juan and I who are already so close to them. You did a great job and are definitely a real character. Juan, I'm still thanking the Brass for putting you with us. You were an incredible counselor and a great friend to me and the ten Saxons. I hope you enjoyed it, because next year you'll be cleaning the PJ bunk! See you at the stables!

Well boys, this is it. I'm not going to get all sappy to end this article. You know how I feel about you as individuals and a group...and more importantly, you know how strongly you feel about each other. Your camper days may be over, but your group bond will never die. Enjoy being staff...you're all going to do great. Please, be smart and remember the real reasons why you return to The Realm each summer - for each other. I don't really know how to end this article...so, ahhh... Here's to Bruce!

TUMBLERS & JESTERS

FREEZE! No one is to move for the next five and by five I mean years, at least. I think I can trust that you will try because as you all are fully aware, if you do so much as twitch, you will be stuck with trash and wipe.

REMEMBER WHEN Jane Arnold was not hanging around the craft shack, Lauren Cole was sleeping in the tumbler cabin, Julia Cohen was not taking over all of the jobs for inspection in the morning, Chelsea Cohn did not have a single family member at camp, Jamie Levine wore socks with her sneakers, Claire Lewin would not answer to Laire-Cay, Daniela Madrazo could not make anyone laugh, Kibriyaa Morgan did not know how to shake it to Beyonce, Sam Pepper stopped going to gymnastics, Lainey Segel stopped doing her mad-libs, Mckenzi Cohen could not think of something to make at the Woodshop, Katherine Curran was not smiling, Rachel Gurman did not have anymore hot loops, Sara Labstain was first on benches, Carolyn Leopold could not name one famous celebrity, Lindsey Mansfield hated to break a sweat, Bizzy Margolin did not have a wandering imagination, Maddy McGinnis could only do one forward roll, Alexandra Myers wanted everyone to call her Alexia, Jordana Serero was not bothered about her Canadian accent—"Say Niiineteen," Rebecca Torralbo loved camp food, Emily Weiss never asked any questions....well I DON'T, because it NEVER happened (so that means that it is NOT true).

Now let's take the time to recall the memories we fondly remember from the FIRST FOUR WEEKS...arriving off the buses a little overwhelmed with excitement... THE PONY GAME...paper bag skits – learning one of your group leader's secret talents, which was scaring all of you by doing my ape walk...Lainey Segel: "How do you say nine in English?"...Who's Jessie?...Daniela arriving at camp in the dark...Camp Idol – I'm talking 'bout the MAN IN THE MIRROR...Secret Summer Sisters...Climbing Green Mountain and the threesome leading the way the ENTIRE time...meeting Harry at the top of the tower...ICE-CREAM at Cozy Corner...

DELICIOUS...Lindsey: the musical chairs champion...Callan reaching camp just in time for the Talent Show Dance...Kimbo you're on it...Special thanks to Kimbo who created and perfected it in only one afternoon...Bizzy singing...SHELAC... Scavenger Hunt...Daniela singing for the sun down at the waterfront...NEVER going to sail again...McGinnis and Kenzi joining the 15 & Under Soccer Team...Tumblers canoeing to the outpost...Putting 50% off stickers on your faces...Trying a pyramid and hurting each other in the process... SMORES...Bessie's intense trivia questions – who is the President of the United States... Jesters getting stranded in their canoes in the middle of the lake...I doubt any of you will be making it to any water sports next summer...Becca farting on one side of the cabin and running to the other laughing non-stop...BLUE & WHITE DAY being the first in Robin Hood history to dominate in a game of bombardment...Aerobics with Lindsey in your very special or should I say revealing outfits...Are you sure you're Schorr?...Watching the Sandlot with the boys—FOR-EV-ER FOR-EV-ER...Last one to get ANYWHERE and you will be the last to sign up...Challenging the PJs to a game of capture the flag and WINNING 2-1... Waterskiing is our most popular activity... BEACH DAY at Ogunquit Beach...Jumping into the freezing cold water like pros – how many times did you actually go in past your waist...Saying goodbye to Daniela before breakfast (one of the most difficult days of the summer)...Lainey spilling an entire can of yellow paint all over herself and missing her wood project completely...Will the Jesters ever canoe to the Outpost? Nope, but we did make our own pancake breakfast at the outdoor theatre...Tye-Dying...The Big Show (Annie)...Play rehearsal, again, "OH MY GOODNESS, OH MY GOODNESS"... Getting to perform for the town of Freedom and who could forget the cast party afterwards – PIZZA BARN...PARENTS VISITING WEEKEND...Unique Entertainment...Little sisters sleeping over...E-Ma's depressing departure and Bizzy trying to make her feel better by giving her a sunflower – too bad she found it on the ground...Food party on the basketball court, I hope none of you felt too sick afterwards...Slumber Party in the Tumbler cabin...Morning full of tears and too many goodbyes, but Olivia's parents dropped her off just in time...

And then sooner than expected came the LAST FOUR WEEKS...Lauren Helman became the newest addition to the TJ staff...Alexandra and Emily Weiss decided to stay...Emma flew across the Atlantic... We did some major rearranging – got rid of the bunk beds and I took over the empty area in the Jester cabin...All girls campfire and how well you know your group leader...yes, Jamie Levine I DO like cheese...Lainey coming back to camp because she felt camp sick...hanging posters all over the cabin, including our very own cozy corner in the Jester cabin... Talk of Green & White...Practicing Cracker Eating...Name that tune and an intense dance-off competition with the Squires...Sprinting to the Grandstand during breakfast...Standing behind the caution tape on the soccer field waiting for something to happen...THEN, out of nowhere a plane appeared and trained jumpers parachuted toward the ground while the Saxons and Scribes exploded out of the two limos...GREEN & WHITE with Jenny and Meltzer leading the great Green Panthers while Nati and Fisher led the mighty White All-Stars to juicy steaks... Lindsey, Callan, Carolyn and Julia became Group Leaders for five days making sure no one had any questions to ask any of the counselors...I could not be any happier with how you girls left G&W outside the bunk...Another slumber party but this time EVERYONE slept together in the Jester cabin...Six weekers saying their goodbyes to the few who waited for the Rookie campers to arrive...Loosing Emily Schorr.

Quickly it became the FINAL TWO WEEKS...five new Rookie campers joined our group to make our final number jump from seven to twelve...Hosting our very own Tetherball Tournament...Not waiting long for Excursion to begin...leaving straight after breakfast to jump on the bus with both the PJs and the Squires and heading to the Lost River Gorge...Eating lunch and meeting Roger our guide... Olivia thinking the caves were "too wimpy" until we got to the lemon squeeze where we had to crawl on our hands and knees... No one thinking any of the counselors would make it through the tight spaces, oh but we did...JG: "Hey, that's a bad word"...Sweating uncontrollably while trying to find bathing suits to change into on the bus...Going down as many waterslides as possible, relaxing in the lazy river or just enjoying the unlimited amount of food you could possibly buy... Next time make sure you make it to count-off at the right time...Arriving at White Lake Camp Ground and finding two special guests waiting to start grilling – D.C. and Big Woody...Squeak in charge of the steaks...SMORES...ATTITASH and starting the day off right by standing in line for the famous alpine slides...AMAZING... Eating scrumptious burgers and hot dogs for lunch that were so large most of you couldn't stomach a GInormous cookie AND a bag of potato chips...Unfortunately when the storm hit most of you had to take cover inside, but luckily the arcade games kept you busy for awhile...I'm glad everyone got the chance to see a movie while enjoying even more goodies from the concession stand...Of course once you thought it was over we brought PIZZA

BARN to the outdoor theatre while taking in the beauty of the sunset...

TO MY GIRLS: Loraina, Jules, Chels (C-Dogg), Kenzi, Katrina, Callan, Gurman, Jamers (Mr. Nice Guy), Laire-Cay, Sara, Carolyn, Olivia, Dairy Queen, Linds, KiKi, Bizzy, McGinnis, Alexia, E-Mama, Sammy, Jordana, Lainers, Becca, Emmy, Madison, Alden, Miki, Katie, and Jordyn it was a bit of a challenge to get your minds away from home, but we managed. I could not have been more proud of the things you were capable of accomplishing this summer, even if you were a bit unsure of how far you could push yourselves. I hope by the end you all learned to appreciate camp and what it has to offer.

Hey, like I always say: WHATEVER HAPPENS, HAPPENS!

BOW/QUILLS

A few times we've been round this track So now it's time to take a look back, On the summer of the Bills of '05... (x2) The BowQuills are bananas, B-A-N-A-N-A-S!

Well girls, the time has come, so turn off those iPods, put away US Weekly, Archie Comics, and all of your candy, please get some clothes on (maybe a thong?), STOP asking questions and get ready to relive the summer of 2005!

REMEMBER when Halle wasn't giggling, Sara wasn't flirting, Maddie wasn't putting her two cents in, when Andrea wasn't killing spiders, Melanie wasn't complaining, Jennie wasn't obsessing over Usher, when Kathryn, Abby, or Kat weren't crying, Isabella wasn't acting crazy, Arielle wasn't talking about boys, when Lizzy wasn't flirting or was dressed in the water, Colombe wasn't running around hyper, Emily Wynne wasn't working on her novel, when Tiffany wasn't looking in the mirror, Howard was fully dressed, Jessie wasn't talking passionately about politics, Chelsea wasn't smiling, Camilla wasn't looking stylish, Rebecca wasn't teaching us cheers, Gabe wasn't talking about music, Melanie wasn't cleaning or speaking too softly, Zipkin wasn't straightening hair, Emily Rose wasn't in the Infirmary, Abby wasn't sleep talking, Jessica Tan wasn't trying to be from Boston, Taylor wasn't wearing college apparel, Katie wasn't schooling people in basketball, Haley was clean, Ellie wasn't plunging toilets, Jessica Ten wasn't eating candy, Charlotte wasn't wearing her red sox hat, Carson wasn't crushing, Brenner wasn't cheering on James, Bernstein wasn't playing the "drums", Potts wasn't cleaning or looking hot, we weren't talking about Gill's breasts or bellybutton (or lack thereof), the Bow/Quills weren't dancing on the ping-pong tables, or weren't hanging out at the Infirmary...WE DON'T!!

REMEMBER the first day of camp: meeting all the new girls and coming together as the Bows and Quills, or should I say Gill's Bills? Going swimming for evening activity...cold shower experiences...dancing on the ping-pong table... "It's over! It never started!"...Rule 1: always consult with friends before trying on jeans...the lip syncs (Gill's excuse to wear her heart thong)...paper bag skits...backwards scavenger hunts on the quad (bring me Max Manin's hat!)...going out for ice-cream and singing old TV theme songs food and doing the slip n' slide...Camp Idol – Erin singing beautifully and Bernstein doing the "ninja" dance...relay races with the Yeomen and the sprinkler.

REMEMBER your staff's favorite activity: waterfront...Jennie finally jumping off the tower...the talent show act – a glitch in the music...singing Oh Canada...going rock-climbing...ice skating again with the Yeomen...Emily's 'bad tomato' shirt...Tiffany getting pushed off by the boom...annoying Lizzy with the bouncy ball...

with Woody and DC...opting for the shorter mountain trip...Lizzy's motion sickness and awful car mixes...Ben & Jerry's afterwards...Colombe and Emily's feebreeze and water fight...Melanie and Sara attempting to sail...the "routine"...Halle and Taylor's dance to Hollaback Girl...25 boy toy tips...ice skating (aka boy hunting) with the Archers... "You want to go home? Wahhhh! Peace"...remember Chelsea leaving for Africa, then returning...counselor skits and making up the Saxons...Gill's day off dance...Bow/Quill staff vocabulary: standard, eh, peace out – I can't deal with this, miserable, ok – I'll take it, beasting, you know what's huge for us besides Bernstein's breasts?, camp ruined my life, lame, holy crepe, no ship!

REMEMBER the Fourth of July – waking Jess up with Dunkin Donuts for her birthday that morning...the carnival...eating tons of Taylor, Rebecca and Katie as Twirly, Curly, and Faturly Swirly...make your GL/AGL laugh on the quad...we don't know them, they don't know us, we'll never see them again...Sara's talking monkey... "You're deaf! You need hearing aids! And a new prescription! Go to the Doctors"...when Halle "stole" Taylor's jocks...secret summer sisters...going to Ogunquit – smuggling in candy and everyone getting in the water this year...going for a general swim when we got back to camp...the great literary masterpiece: "Mystery at Hyde Park by Emily Wynne"... "flem and flam!"...sleeping together during the thunder storm...Andrea's birthday donuts.

REMEMBER our playday at Evergreen – making friends with the girls, hanging out in the rain, finally making it home...the Bows finally going to the outpost after having it be cancelled 2 times: tours of Tiffany's house, s'mores and fajitas – hardly roughing it...tie-dyeing like it was our job...Halle's birthday box and being woken up to McDonald's on her birthday, well, at least some of us...the social and our theme: the prom...Remember Lizzy's birthday: waking up to the pony outside the bunk...don't drop the rope relay...the best play Robin Hood has ever seen: Annie starring our very own Camilla, Tiffany and Chelsea – you girls were amazing and made us all so proud...Unique Entertainment coming and having all the siblings sleep over...how well do you know your GL: 1 word: flat...1 celebrity, Pamela Anderson...thanks girls!

REMEMBER Green & White – the break at the end of dinner...running to the soccer field and playing the pony game while waiting for what seemed like forever...congratulations to our captains Katie, Charlotte, Halle and Tiffany, you girls were great role models and made us all so proud! The Mighty White All Stars vs. the Great Green Panthers...Kat, Kathryn, Arielle, Isabella, Andrea dancing like crazy at song practice and bawling on night 5...Howard and Sara's dance, Chelsea's surprise song...remember lazy day donuts...spraying Big Woody during our car wash.

REMEMBER the last two weeks – saying goodbye to all the six-weekers, and welcoming Carson who would finally complete our group. Celebrating Haley's birthday with donuts before leaving for excursion...the Friars hitting the school bus with a softball on our way out of camp...having to go get it fixed before heading to Water Country...the wave pool is lame! Going to jokers and befriending Justin...getting free tokens and winning the water bottles...Gill's confrontation with the French Canadians in Walmart...setting up tents at the campsite and cooking fajitas and s'mores...Maddie sleep-talking...climbing the rocks and a bird pooping on Zipkin's shirt...going to Canobie Lake Park...the counselors' little café in Paris...getting soaking wet on the Boston Tea Party...attempting to candlepin bowl...“this looks like my crepe”...Going to Old Orchard Beach...water aerobics...“Willy Wonka, Willy Wonka”...Thank you Mary Catjacket for a great three days!

Finally, remember the last week of camp...themed waterfront periods: yacht party, luau...Howard's birthday pizza by the waterfront...sunset boat cruise...the Yeomen's obsession with Gill and Stecher...girl's campfire...ABC night & the aftermath...coming together and forming bonds that will last us a lifetime.

To the Bow/Quills of 2005, this summer I had the chance to watch two groups come together as one unit. You are amazing girls, both individually and as a whole, and I can only hope that as two separate groups, you will maintain the bonds you formed this summer and continue to look out for each other. I can't wait to watch you grow up at The Realm in summers to come.

To the hottest staff in camp...let's be serious, I could never have gotten through this summer without you all. There was never a moment when I felt alone or stressed because I always knew I had your unwavering support (and funny jokes). Tiffany, you made such an effort to help out when you weren't at soccer, and the girls loved having you there – thank you. Erin, I'm obsessed with you, and your willingness to do anything. Please come back; your comic relief is much needed by all of us. Lizzy, things have changed since the time I had you as my miserable little homesick sister! You were an invaluable part of my staff this summer and every single camper loved you. More importantly, I love harassing you and want you to know I will always be here for you – especially when you're on my staff again next summer. Potts, I can't even tell you how happy I am that we had the chance to get closer this summer. You have truly proved what a great counselor you are, and I know that you have so much to offer this place in the coming years. You're not awkward, I love you. Brenner, you were nothing short of amazing this year. Your enthusiasm and energy were not only an asset to our group, but to our staff as well. I'm so happy we bonded, your love for camp is evident and I can't wait to see you take on more responsibility. Bernstein, I'm honestly speechless (probably because I'm currently laughing with you). You are the sole person that has kept me sane all summer. I could not possibly have run this group without you, and considered you to be my co-GL most, if not all, of the time. I admire your love for camp, and see you as the epitome of a great counselor and role model. I value our friendship more than you realize.

Girls – I hope you enjoyed this little trip down Memory Lane, although in no way does it do proper justice to the amazing summer we had. Thank you so much for making my first year as a GL unforgettable – and know that I will always be here for you no matter what. Make good choices, and remember that a little extra padding never hurts!

Swimmers take your mark! That's right Arrows we have waterfront again! From the waterfront to the far far field, the Arrows took over The Realm. So sit back and recap the crazy summer of 2005!

Remember when...we played the vegetable game, Jello wrestling, paper dresses, American Gladiators on the quad, Coco only trying something once, liquidation and overstock sale, 7 minutes 7 days you idiot, shooting for a 50 on inspection, SHULTZ, Where is Keara? Maybe she is dead, let me see that tootsie roll, Sealy's says, "Goodbye cruel world!!!", that's a violation, keeping the mountain guides with their lame jokes and funny shorts, setting up the tents and eating steaks on paper towels, the random kids making fun of our fire wood, rapper guy, Nadia's Polaroid, Psychic Readings... Alison 15 Julia M. 16, stopping at the gas station to pee (Bailey looked amazing). Almost missing sailing and the moose watch. We had the best time and I am so proud of you guys for coming together as a group on the trip.

Ila, you are the most boy crazy girl! I loved watching you play volleyball almost as much as I loved watching you look for Saxons! Beaser, you are soooooo goofy and I love it! Watching you make up dances

Allie, I always believed that you had a place at Robin Hood. Try again next year because you are such a great girl. Mika, athletic and funny, I will miss your random questions and comments. You are such a sweetie. Bailey, you are full of laughs. I will always remember you as my lobster. I am happy to see how much you have grown from past years! Coco, you are a natural leader of the group. It is easy to understand why everyone looks up to you. You are artistic, smart and fun. I will miss you tons. Nadia, you are too cute. I love talking about The OC with you and just chilling. I always feel like I could have a real talk with you. I hope to see you back next year! Emily, I just want to give you the biggest hug, because you are sooo lovable. I am confident that you will make a great counselor someday because you take care of the group already! Chandler, you always make me laugh. I hope you liked your first year, I know I loved having you as my camper. Daniele, you are such a kind person. I loved watching you interact with the others because you always seem to bring smiles wherever you go. Big Mak, waking you up in the morning was hilarious. I miss telling you to do your summer reading. You are so great. Katie, your questions are always so random. You are the silliest person and I'll miss that a lot! Hilary, I am so proud of you for making it through the first half of camp. Less reading and more chatting next summer. Miss you tons! Vicky, I hope that you will always come back to camp. The group loved being around you and you fit in so well. Val, you are such a great girl. I am excited to see you go through the ranks at camp, because I think you are one of the coolest girls here. Julia M., so athletic! Watching you mountain climb made me realize how outgoing and adventurous you are. I hope you come back next summer. Stephanie M., I loved seeing you in Green & White.

cup, loving senior softball, asking Jeeves, Rachel D. and Haley memorizing movies, frogs, you have been sjdkjn the milkman, Ogunquit, Blue and White Day, Spinning, Daniele walking around in her basket shoes, Coco is going to Wimbledon, Hey J! What's up? See you June, prank calls, stealing cars.

Remember Green & White, Coco, Val, Katie, and Beaser leading the group. White All-Stars v. Green Panthers! Soccer collisions, everyone to the Infirmary, Basketball 8 to 3, cracker eating, skit night, and song night!!!! Remember Excursion, Funtown Splashtown, Bar Harbor, Rockclimbing, Sailing, Freeport, Portland, and the longest drive home ever!!! Pretending to be 11, the always made me laugh. Beitler, you grew up a lot this summer and I am so proud of you for always saying what you believe and standing up for yourself. The group is lucky to have such a great listener. Haley, I loved sleeping on your side. I learned more about theatre than I ever thought I would. I cannot wait to see you on the big screen! Lavi C., another boy crazy Italian! I miss you so much and I cannot wait to see you back next summer making new friends and volleyball points! Rachel, I loved getting to know you this summer. I hope that you learned a lot about yourself, and some day you will realize that you are talented in so many ways. Lu, you were amazing this summer! From the play to the bunk your presence simply made us better Arrows.

You transitioned really well and I hope that you will be a part of the Robin Hood family for a long time. Lavi O., I am so happy that you became such good friends with the whole group! I loved that I had to drag you to your bed every night, it showed how close you became with everyone. Keara, I never laugh harder than when I am with you. From milkshake to getting you to clean, it's always a great time when you are present. Gaia, I hope that you will come back next summer to make up for lost time. We all miss you a lot! Lavinia R., you are so sweet. Arts & crafts was definitely your sport! Didi, it campers. I am confident that you truly made a difference in their lives. Bessy, we had the most outrageous times together. I think you supported my crazy ideas the most and for that you are awesome. Shrimpers! Holly, we had the best time on excursion. I am so happy that we got to know each other and I am sure we will stay in touch! I have a theory and it involves your Portland purchase. Steph, my baby. I can't tell you what it means to me that we became good friends. You worked so hard and I, literally, could not have done the last two weeks without you! Sam, poodle, I love you so much and I was so great to get to know you this summer. I hope you will always come back! Nogs, you are a superstar. I think it is great that you became so outgoing. Having you for G & W was huge! Shannon, eh? A great athlete and friend. I miss you so much. Alison, you grew up a lot this summer. You have the potential to truly leave your mark at Robin Hood and I hope you will return for years to come. Lily, you are a great athlete and I wish you the best of luck. Claire, I loved having another Sheehan! You are so outgoing and mature, I hope you never change. Jessie, or shall I say Messy Jessie? I loved our talks. You are so silly and friendly and I hope you always return to The Realm. Leah, I am happy that you felt right at home. The girls loved you and so did the staff.

Speaking of the staff, I think I can sum up our relationship with one word...OBSESSED!!! I could not have asked for a better group of people. I can't think of a single time when we were not all laughing. Tuck, thanks for being the best Scribe aide! You are going to make an amazing counselor. Larissa, I am so happy that you joined the group. Melanie, thank you for all your hard work. The girls loved to ask you questions and your constant interest in them really made a difference. Ciara, I have never met a counselor who cared more about her can't wait to see you in a GL spot. You were amazing, Julia, I am really impressed with how well you did this summer. The girls adored you and you were amazing. Maite, I have so much respect for how you run a group. I know you will love being a GL and your staff is going to love you. Thanks for being the best AGL ever, we had a blast. All around just in love with all of you!

To the people that bring me back every year...I am so lucky to have such a solid group of friends. Thank you all for your constant encouragement and loyalty, I am a better person for knowing all of you. I love you all very much.

Arrows, I cannot even begin to tell you what it has meant to me to be your GL. My advice to all of you is to keep coming back, because every year camp gets better and better. Your group has the potential to be something great. One day, you will all wake up and realize that you have the most wonderful friends with memories that will hold true forever. I feel lucky to have found Robin Hood, and you all should too.

All my love to the crazy girls in cabin nine and ten.

BIG BOOTY, BIG BOOTY, BIG BOOTY, OOOHHHH YEAH, BIIIG BOOTY...BARD REMIX: BIG WOODY BIG WOODY BIG WOODY, OOOHHHH YEAH, BIIIGG WOODY...

The summer of 2005 was unforgettable as the Bards "SHOCKED" The Realm with their enthusiasm, spunk and love for each other. Now girls, lock yourselves in your rooms, grab some tots, put on your i-pods and ignore the real world for a little while as I remind you of just a few memories from the best summer EVER. YES!!!

Remember when... the Bard staff waited with no campers; that is until the New York bus arrived... Rachel's giant nemo... in Siberia—"The Place To Be"... the first evening activity at the Outdoor Theater—guess the note card... Terry, Stef and Brit went to the bathroom in the Shire bunk for the first time... Jenny's bruise from patty-wagon...

Remember... the never ending mountain... Allison and Brit showing too much to Maine... L-O-V-E to Freaky, when woodland animals come around... learning Jenny's sorority song and changing the words to Bards... singing patriotic songs... Lili and Lindsay peeing on their shorts... searching for the crashed plane... Bia and Allison chickening out... finding the pilot seat and Ginny and Alicia sitting in it... once again working together and bonding...

Remember... the 4th of July... the marriage booth... Rachel and Chester... Linds and Brit with Reuben, Vicki with Robby, Allison and Brit with Kris Boehm... Camp Idol... Emily and Katherine representing the Bards... all going to the Outdoor Theater at night and watching the fireworks... dance party in the bunk for Caro and Vicki's anniversary...

Remember... begging for a backwards scavenger hunt... Lili and Jill race to naked... everyone taking off their clothes... lip sync with the Shires... all girls camp make your GL and AGL laugh... the treasure hunt in the rain that lead to the Barbie piñata in the bunk... almost breaking the rafters... Linds diving in for the candy... being challenged by the PJs and getting into a brawl... watching dodge ball—"L for love," "you're adopted, your parents don't love you..." ice cream, Mr. and Mrs. Smith and Charlie and the Chocolate Factory and ice skating with the boys... Lili's "rain dance" and stories about Leo and Aaron during "How Well Do You Know Your Staff"...

Remember... Rainy day dress up with the Tumbler Jesters... rocking the assurance... the Newlywed game... Bizz and Lili and Brit and Marilyn winning... Family Feud... the windy canoe trip... hitch-hiking in the water... Sydney and Kathmo never making it... Beach Day... Hodgie Podgie with the Saxons... friendship mood rings... Brit, Vicki and Amanda's ridiculously priced meal... no one doing anything for SSS...

Remember... Amanda's surgery on Kathmo's towel... Rachel unclogged the toilet in her underwear and rainboots... Stecher's infirmary count off... Brit and Meredith being best friends... Sam Steitz WASSUP... writing Brigette letters... the hook-up hat... Caro, Terry and Jill's songs from when they were six—"I know someone who gets on my nerves..." Ali winning Hodgie Podgie with the Saxons... the shorts the little boy threw and everyone wore them... the tire-some threesome... Jill sneezed—"I just peed a little..." The staff waking you up with Wendy's—Lindsay getting dressed for basketball—"you have got to be kidding me Jenny Katz"... always playing kent and 10's and 2's... Rachel proposing to Chester with a poster... obsessed with Martin from tennis... we the PJ, Squire, Archer, Yeomen, challenge the Foresters to a game of bombardment...

Remember... the Napoleon Dynamite dance... "Fisher we are inflating the balloons..." Annie looking the dance up online... the staff with their signs... Vote for Pedro shirts... Amanda as Val... throwing tots into the audience... the social after the last Camp Idol... country club casual attire... everyone getting their groove on...

Remember... Green and White... crying when Jenny got captain, when she made her speech... basically whenever Jenny opened her mouth... Congrats Lindsay and Rachel as captains, Amanda and Bizz as co... the amazing talent show dances... putting Jenny's bed in the lake at the Outdoor Theater... you guys were amazing throughout it all and I cannot thank you enough for all your support...

Remember... picking group leaders for the day... BBT aka summer reading... pretending the Outdoor Theater is a bathroom... Wickey cookies...sinking canoes...doing a backwards scavenger hunt during the day...watching The Notebook and everyone crying...the awkward social...watching Dazed and Confused with the Friars – not quite sure what it was about...

Remember... Excursion... “don’t get hurt or in trouble...” “voluntarily” leaving the waterslides... Vicki falling off the alpine slide and Nurse Jimmy... Brit holding eight people up... free refills on soda... giving a show on the gondola ride... Allie falling at bowling... the guy asking where we were from... Sydney: “they are little girls from the little girl church...” Jill’s begging to go to KFC... Allison’s birthday at the McDonalds playplace... the guy saying his hat was alive... Shopping in Burlington... discovering the mall or not... “Jen and Berry’s” factory... making bears-Smanda and Jallie... Cabot Cheese “eat up, this is dinner...” Vicki falling into the fire... swimming at the campsite... the 5 star campsite... Justine and Allie’s stick on watches... Lindsay dropped Bizz during rock climbing... the instructor’s harness... Amanda swinging... Logan the baby... Emily and Sydney discovering the south park songs... “Swiss Colony Beef Log Baby”... I  hate eggnog... seriously... making up an interpretive dance... Amanda and Brit not camping out... mommy Jenny at the supermarket... the kiss fm radio guy... taking a picture of the Matt Brody look alike ...the brother bear song...the dance to the Lion King... Stecher getting a flat tire – Jenny and Stecher’s adventure... the scary movie on Amanda’s birthday... Lauren laughing during the movie...the crazy woman...the horrible campsite the last night – taking shifts... playing pranks on DC – Jill’s ink pen and the whoopie cushion...

Remember when... Ali didn’t seem dead in the morning, Chloe wasn’t counting down to Harry Potter, Marilyn wasn’t helping Stecher with her French, Stine was frowning, Ginny wasn’t making everyone feel welcome, Jill wasn’t flirting, Bia and Rachel weren’t with their sisters, Steph’s area was messy, Sartori yelled, Fisher wasn’t with the Bards, Syd and Stecher weren’t drinking Diet Coke, Jenny wasn’t our mommy, Kathmo had small knockers, the Bards were quiet and well-behaved or when they weren’t the best group in camp... WE DON’T

My Bards: “If you’re out on the road, feeling lonely and so alone, all you have to do it is call my name and I’ll be there on the next train...” I know I always refer to “my group” as my Scribes of 2000 but over the years you have become my group as well. I have had so many opportunities over the past four summers, and especially this summer, to express to you how much you mean to me, so I won’t go on for too long or get too cheesy. You girls have the makings of a group that will lead this camp over the next two summers and go on to be staff together for years to come. I have honestly felt like a part of your group and it is really hard for me to know that you have so much more in the future that I will not be a part of. I am comforted, however, with the knowledge that you are ready for the challenge and will only become stronger and closer as the years go on. You have become more united with each passing summer and I know it will only continue; learn to lean on each other, trust each other and love each other because camp friends are unlike any you meet elsewhere. Don’t rush these next two summers and please value the time you have together. While I would give anything to be in your position, I am even more excited for you all to have the opportunity to experience your upcoming summers as a group. I only hope I have given to you a fraction of what you all have given me. I am always here for you girls. You have all touched my life and I will never forget you. I love you all.

My Staff: You guys have been great this summer. Leo, Annie, Kate and Callie...you were all very busy but came with the group whenever you could. It was great that you got along so well and I hope you had a great time. Michelle and Molly...you could not have been better Scribe Aids. I never went looking for you, you were always asking what you could do. I know I told you every day but you did above and beyond what is expected of Scribes and three times what I did my Scribe summer. The girls adored you and I can’t wait to see you girls as staff. Katherine...I have never seen a first year aid transition so quickly and smoothly. You loved being a counselor and it showed daily. Em...it wasn’t always easy – there was a lot of flicking involved – but it was so special for me to have you on my staff. I told you at the beginning of the summer; I will always be the Scribe whose room you cleaned and who told you your life sucked and I am here for you whenever you need me (don’t be scared to call me at college!). Thank you for everything...I couldn’t have gotten through this summer without you. Sydney...the girls loved you this summer. You can always make them laugh and they felt so close to you.

All my friends: I had a chance to say something to each of you this summer and I can only reiterate that there are no words to describe what you have all done for me. These past ten summers have shaped me and changed me while providing me with a constant to come back to.

Most of all I need to thank Robin Hood for this experience. I will miss you but I take a part of you with me always.

"Because maybe, you're gonna be the one who saves me, and after all, you're my wonderwall." Girls, this song represents an entire summer of memories, every friendship formed and every bond strengthened. This past summer you girls became a part of something people only dream about. There are very few people in this world who are able to say they have 26 sisters. So Courtney, Rebecca, Zab, Liv, Missy, Margherita, Dayna, Marleigh, Gaby, Jedla, Kristina, Kadis, Labes, Sarah, Claudia, Hannah, O.G., Caitlin, Shawn, Shauna, Katie, Ilyse, Lauren, E, Jordan, Anna and Katherine, put down those iPods, keep procrastinating on all that work and relive the wonderful memories made during the summer of 2005.

Remember when...we were at our smallest...18 girls on the first day of camp...you girls found out Alex Mann was the Forester Group Leader...paper bag skits and O.G. making a repeat of the previous summer...Shauna taking Liv's towel...Liv is a nudist...the Jan Vidra song...Sarah's HEYYY how are ya...Lauren's foreshadowing...all our camp little sisters...the fashion show...Lauren and Labes getting sundaes first...Dayna's conchita story...Old Navy Volleyball contests...our obsession with Reuben..."Oh, okay, alright, sure"...Balls...Bobs...Bang...Melvin stuck on the swing...Smelly Melly...Hide and Seek at Balls...sailing with Joe and Michael...our trips out of camp...ice skating, the movies, ice cream...our mountain trip...the 10 crazy girls that went on the overnight...harassing Charles...amazing times at the outdoor theatre...shi-whores...making walls against the TPJ's...Margherita getting back on Molly time and time again (amazing!)...butter on ceiling...Harry Potter obsession.

Remember 4th of July...the water slides...the wedding booth...or what turned out to be the cake fight...the rest of our group slowly showing up throughout the first two weeks...the meeting with DC and Jamie...always losing challenges (we had more fun)...duck duck goose with the Foresters...Malibu and Moomba trip...Is Rome in Italy?...Who won the Civil War?...beach day...finally shaving (Sarah)...being crazy whenever Futter was on duty...intense philosophical talks...Joey Stein won Camp Idol...the true winners however were Lisa, Lindsey and Carly...Dayna, Claudia, Anna and Shawn popping pimples...Shauna ate Liv's picture...Kadis is a SBW...Rebecca's nickname (BRAT)...softball tourney...Zab being crazy...Dayna saying 7 in her sleep...Sarah, Kristina and Missy doing the make-up for Annie...Gaby and Caitlin's obsession with Smallville...inappropriate quad behavior...'you ain't my daddy' - JG...Tumblers always in our cabin...Lauren hanging from the basketball hoop...telephone and tea party underwater...good touch...bad touch...Katherine's rifle skills...Emily's bad accident...Hazanass...O.G. swinging from the trees.

Remember when...Caitlin wasn't smiling...Anna wasn't popping pimples...Claudia wasn't sleeping...Liv had clothes on...Missy wasn't being crazy...Rebecca wasn't being harassed by Shauna...O.G. wasn't drawing...The Tumblers weren't in our cabin...Lindsey wasn't awkward...Marleigh was on time to benches...Ilyse wasn't an all-star swimmer...Gaby wasn't neat...Courtney slept in her own bed...E wasn't enthusiastic...the Shires weren't playing mafia...WE DON'T!

Remember...the Shire quotes...'I'm a real girl' - Lauren...'if I didn't know Lauren I'd think she was Bristish' - Hannah...'my every time...our great volleyball games...basketball periods with Juan, playing knock out forever, 3 on 2, 2 on 1...having the quad every single day...playing badminton for 10 minutes...bocce just wasn't the same without Gillian...all our competitions...not going on the softball tournament until Juan went...the soccer tournament...Blue and White Day...steal the cup!

Remember...Hannah and Missy washing boats...O.G. sending us pictures...airplanes over camp...herbivore and veggie farts...snap cup...the night of tears and bonding...stealing bathing suits at the waterfront...the die fight...'I never knew my father'...Grandmother Willow...God bless the broken horn...the water skiers booming and tubing...the missterhood of the traveling bro's name is Michael but we all call him Owen'...'Kidder are you stressed about something that starts with a C and ends with an A?' No, it's not Charles'...'oh look, it's raining, let's go put our hands in an electrical socket' - Shauna...'I mean basically, I'm not going to lie, this is awkward, k bye'

Remember...Coven unpacking Lauren's laundry...O.G. drew on her Mom's Uterus...our obsession with Rent and Moulin Rouge...watching Tyler doing back flips off the dock...boat rides...Mel and Juan and Pete...grocery shopping...Day and Sarah's pint of ice-cream and their poem...Kadis challenging Ilyse to ice-cream...no food in the cabin...Talent Show dance...the Big Show...Marleigh sleeping with her eyes open...great job O.G.!...Emily's bad accident...We love you Ms. Hannigan...Parents Weekend and having to say goodbye to O.G. and Margherita...the group was not the same without you both! Remember...all those great activity periods...sending too many kids to water ski pants...international dance-off...Charlie's Angels and James Bond water fight...hanging stuffed animals around the cabin and in the loft...Peaches and Shauna's special relationship...scary Ben the riding guy...Missy, Shawn and Hannah being stalked by Bizzy...Outdoor Theatre pizza party...Dayna and Kadis always playing game boy...Sarah and Labes' synchronized swimming...Anna and Shauna's double bed...and of course...GREEN & WHITE!

The limos pulling up outside the dining hall, the sky divers, the Saxons and Scribes, the staff captains being announced...Kadis and Marleigh leading the White All-Stars and Jedla and Liv in charge of the Green Panthers...everyone fought hard and had fun...the Talent Show dances...Liv and Sarah singing...White winning the war...more importantly though...Doug Lipsky and Aaron Adler...Green's ice-cream fight on Night 5...Ilyse and Shauna in a canoe...Missy, Shawn and Emily Rempell doing the Jr. Camp dance.

Remember coming back together as a group once again...wonderwall tradition...H-ERBY and L-OTIS our pet rocks...attempting to skip rocks...Zabbling...what color are our t-shirts?...Squeak and Carly...Shaniqua the teenaged witch...Kadis falling out of the van...Liv falling in the outdoor theatre water...fat feet and big foot...Missy's stick garden...Dayna saying 7 in her sleep...playing volleyball constantly...Santa Claus...Shauna falling through the screen...Shires can't go anywhere alone...Em and Linden's airplane/rocket ship/superman...crashing the fri/bard social...saying goodbye to Kristina, Rebecca and Claudia...we wished you could have joined us in CANADA!

Remember...CANADA...22 girls getting ready to shock another country...relying on Zab's French skills...day one...rocking the vans and blasting techno...the old people pointing and laughing...taking pictures of sketchy locals and short shorts...eating a ridiculous amount of food at Mike's...“go shoot some arrows”...“go put on some tights”...the hot dancers Pierre and Jaq...Moulin Rouge street and the dinosaurs...Anna and Jed's hats...Shauna and Missy's cow on the roof...Caitlin talking to the locals in Spanish (not French)...Ilyse thinking everything was in Chinese...looking into other people's windows...Old City Quebec...the man massaging the women on the street...bank lady yelling at Katie...sketchy locals everywhere...senior campers back of the line...the people dressed up as pirates...Liv, Shauna, Hannah, Jed, Zab, Katie and Court watching the 'show' out the window...van 1 mooning van 2...listening to At the Beginning on repeat...day two...off to Montreal...Jason our hot jet boating guide...Hey Jason...Come home with us!...Dayna screaming in French curse words on the rides at La Ronde...singing camp songs on the boat...C's up...our sketchy hotel room...the shopping...white water rafting...the wooden roller coaster hurting everyone's boobs...hufflepuff raft with Mary...Kadis murdering Kidder's arm because she was so scared...Jackie smiling at the camera every time...

Hufflepuff raft getting stuck before the first rapid...Phillips boobie joke...blasting 'hollaback girl' before rafting...getting lost, constantly...Kidder is 16 yrs old...stopping at the Reitman's for amazing food on the way home...meeting Nestor...looking through Gillian's room...back to the States and Conway...watching Dukes of Hazard with the boys...Missy doing all those awful things on excursion...oh wait...that wasn't us!

And so we headed back to camp to make the most of our last few days at camp. Remember...the Scribe speeches...playing volleyball...water skiing...having Jackie eat all her meals with us...celebrating Sarah, Jordan's and Missy's birthdays...Group Leaders for the day...the Big Show...Awards Night...congratulations to everyone who won...and finally the tearful goodbye.

“We were strangers starting out on a journey, never dreaming what we'd have to go through, now here we are and I'm suddenly standing at the beginning with you.” Although your last summer as a true camper is behind you, your camp journey is truly just beginning. The best part of every summer is the time you spend with each other. So here and now make a pact to each other that you will never leave each other behind. You girls are here for each other good or bad and that is what makes your group so strong.

To my staff - this summer would not have been nearly as successful without all your support and help along the way. Whether it was our daily gossip sessions, waking the girls up, or discussing our next night out, we always managed to have fun. I cannot thank you all enough for the effort and passion you put into your job here at Robin Hood. Specialty staff: any free moment you all had was spent with the girls, and it is appreciated more than words can describe. Each one of you was able to establish a relationship with each girl and that is very difficult to do considering the amount of effort and work that goes into your other jobs around camp. To my general staff - although some of us may be awkward, like to sleep, and love to gossip, we worked so well together. Thank you for all that you did and will do for the Shires of 2005.

Scribes of 2000 and Gillian: each year our love for each other grows deeper. Our inability to live without each other enables us to come back to camp each summer. Although each summer we tell each other we have one more summer in us, I understand that that might not be true anymore. As we get ready to start our own separate lives, the friendships we have formed give me the strength and confidence to know that I will make it no matter what. Thank you for being there no questions asked. I love you all.

Shires of 2005 -

*'And all the roads we have to walk along are winding,
And all the lights that lead us there are blinding
There are many things that I would like to say to you
I don't know how'*

Although you sang this song during every goodbye, I never truly understood the lyrics until I attempted to write my goodbye to you. You girls have given more to me than I could ever put into words. As you continue to climb the camper ranks I become more and more amazed at your devotion, love, faith, and compassion. In my ten summers at The Realm I have yet to see a stronger, more unified group enter their Scribe summer. Whatever happens in the coming summer know that no matter what, I will always have your back. The wake up call you girls gave me two weeks into the summer showed me that we will never give up on each other, and the faith we have in each other will live on forever. The love I have for you is unconditional for we have formed a bond that will never break.

"People all around you gotta (Come get it), Everyone together sing it loud (Come get it), Jump all around, come on (Come get it), What... (Come get it), Say it again (Come get it)!!"
 Aaron Carter = LIFE! First of all, let's all take a second to admire the lovely picture that graces the corner of this page. I think it encompasses this summer very well; tranquil and serious. HA!

Well Scribes, it is about that time again, reunions are over, the email chain is full of scandalous stories from home, you have probably started packing for camp again, and the next time we see each other will be at Pre-Camp 2006. Weird huh?? Is this reality?! Ok, ok, lets not get too crazy... get offline, hang up the phone, turn on Now 5 and come get it!!

Remember when you all arrived the first day and Kenzie surprised us...the NY bus finally pulling up...Frumkin chasing Carolyn across the quad...Mackenzie finally goes 2..."My life would be a dramety"... OC recap..."little bit, little bit"...listening to NOW 4 and 5 all the time...West End Game, the van...Aaron Carter...losing to the PJ's and then getting made fun of for the rest of the summer...TJ lipsync...being blindfolded for Dana's birthday...Dinner and cake at the Waterfront with the Saxons...Camp Idol, Futter you captivated our hearts as a Ninja Turtle...Futter and Bernstein, you know...Hey Laudes...seeing Sarah Sez, her friends at cozy and her house...the lost kayak...T or D...going to dinner with Big Woody at Song Bird, then singing Happy Birthday to Meltzer at Whittier...Go-Karting...going to Yankee Smokehouse with DC and Wendy, then Cozy...CIT sessions and evaluations...Positive, General and Specific Reinforcement, Prompting and Modeling, Situations (you are set for pre-camp next summer)...Car and Kenz with the TJ's, Hannah and Em with the Bow/Quills, Lauren with the Arrows, Michele and Molly with the Bards, Annie with the Shires and Soccer, Zoe at Arts and Crafts, Dana at Tennis with Chester...Annie and Woody rapping "Rapper's Delight"...Emery and Teddy on the roof...War with the Saxons over the "No Boys Allowed" sign...Tournaments, Going to Cody and Huckins to do the books and play, Tennis, Softball, Nati driving boys camp to the Winaukee Swim Meet...DC showing off our bunk to people..."Kristina", "David??"...Lauren, Dana and Carolyn with the icy hot...KP yelling at you all...going to use their bathroom ALL the time...Allie decided not to come...Molly never got her bear...delivering laundry...picking up trash...with your groups EVERY afternoon...breaking down the dining hall...typical Scribe duties, you were all amazing!!!

Remember when you brave souls conquered Mt. Washington, good job Molly, Dana, Car, Em, Lauren, and Annie... Katahdin, we missed you Dana, Emily, Carolyn, and Annie. We had our own fun,

Katahdin count-off, Subway, Four Square, Curves...Social-Mean Girls...Pizza with the Lancers at the ODT...Talent Show, the Scribe song...Tooth brushing skit..."hide and seek" at the Far Far Field, tent, waterfront, ODT...Lauren's one piece pajama...Hannah getting to know Max and Jesse...organizing and running 4th of July...YEAH BABY!!...breaking the moon bounce...Ogunquit...Blue Water Inn, Scribe Tradition, Joe remembering Nati, CHEESECAKE, familiar faces, being the only ones to shower, Fisher was white trash, our driver with the Cat Jacket...Picture Day with the bears and sunglasses, GL's with the crowns...learning about Alejandra's problem...Kenzie and Michele always matching opposites...frisbee with Reuben...chasing him across the quad in the golf cart...Parent's Visiting Day...Lauren never made it back to camp...Nati getting the Madonna autograph, thanks Zoe...Awkward In-Law lunch with the Rempells and Greensteins...playing bungee cord all the time...Zoe convincing Carolyn she had never flown before, even though they flew together...6 people pig pile...Jaime needing to find his friend's Tomagochi...Lauren and Carolyn's helmets...taking pics with the sign for Zoila's birthday...

Remember when we broke Green and White...pulling up and seeing the limo's, getting the shirts, kids chasing the cars to the grandstand, letting the balloons go, the sky divers being on time, Jamie in the limo with us...Fisher and Nati Captains of the White All-Stars (What a great name), Meltzer and Jenny Captains of the Green Panthers (ehh!)...285...congrats to Captains Mackenzie and Molly, and Co's Carolyn and Emily, it was a good war, best one I've ever been a part of...

Two days later we were off to Boston... Remember the Shark IMAX...Lauren stealing the 3D glasses and wearing them everywhere...space bathroom...crying baby...going to Molly's for dinner with the Saxons...the RH cakes...singing the Camp Alma Mater to her 'rents...Frumkin belly flops...meeting Oreo...hot tub shifts... Juan's history...going to the top of the Prudential, kinda...Zandy and Jaime fighting and tripping...Zoe breaking into the room...our amazing hotel...Dawson's Creek...Dance 360 with the mid-west twitch...Space Jam...Red Sox game... DC, Jackie, Woody and Peter meeting us there...Grand Slam...Zoe getting nailed with the beach ball..."Don't laugh at me!"...Green Apple Mint Gum...Improv Boston, you guys were so much funnier... #3...Dana and Dana...Futter's awkward moments...Jaime and Zandy dancing during the break...Katz participating in the skit...Lauren's wardrobe malfunction...unnatural selection...Nati hitting on toll booth workers...Harvard Square...Fire and Ice...meeting Nati's friends...Jasmine Sola and Urban in 2 hours...saw Mark Crane in Cambridge...Annie's house...the balance board...Lauren wipes out...Merwin's text messages...Characters for dinner... Amanda and Jake...taking the T...Hard Rock for Kenzie's B-day...boys dancing on stage...Mohawk waitress...camp cookies...Shear Madness...the Saxons going to the club before...dance party during intermission...Nati and Jaime on the platform...the guy wearing the Robin Hood tie-dye shirt...Michele's house... watching Sleepover...breakfast while watching Cinderella Story...Easy Mac and late night pasta...left over Halloween candy...going home and cleaning the van...Subway and McDonalds for dinner with Tash and Agin.

Finally we returned to camp and enjoyed our last week. Remember Jesse and Zac doing their pages over the loud speaker... Jesse knowing every word to Aaron Carter... Scribe speeches...Island Swim...themed waterfront periods...Nati's Bat Mitzvah, thank you all so much for being there for my special day...Annie leaving too soon... Futter leaving with Eli...staff pranking the Brass...sleeping in the cottage...Parent Trap and Indian Summer...your Scribe speeches were incredible, good job ladies... being in the Little Big Show, Summer Lovin' (or not)...the Social afterwards... Awards Night, you all deserved something special, congrats to all...ABC night in the lot and Charades.

Futter: My whole staff. I could not have done it without you, literally. From pre-camp to Green and White to Excursion you were there with me all the way. I know that you will be an incredible GL next summer and I hope to be here to see you lead a new group. I am so happy that everyone got to experience the huge camp personality we all knew you were. No words can express my gratitude. I love you.

To the people who keep me coming back: this summer we created the most hilarious, scandalous and meaningful memories. Thank you for your unconditional love and support. By the time we get this yearbook, we are all probably making those very tough last minute decisions whether to return or not. I know that we will be losing people to internships, jobs and other opportunities and it is tough to imagine camp without them. But as long as the rest of you keep coming back, the spirit and traditions that are so unique to Robin Hood will live on.

To the Scribes of 2005: You entered The Realm 10 campers, nervous and uncertain of what last summer would bring. You left 10 incredible staff members that will help keep this place alive for years to come. It has been an honor and a privilege to know you and lead you in your Scribe year. I hope one day I will be able to invite all 10 of you on stage with me. Come back for as long as you can, live it up every summer and keep on truckin'!

Boys, girls and BEADS was the name of the Arts and Crafts games this summer! We started with beads of every shape, size and color, and alas... hundreds of bracelets, necklaces, anklets and earrings were created. I hope that all of you are enjoying your beautiful pieces. It became a status symbol amongst the counselors to be given a beaded piece made by a camper, and they were worn with pride. Let's get fired up, and we did...with the copper enameling kiln that is! Although beads were the main attraction, we were very busy with copper pieces of all kinds that were transformed into beautiful, wearable art. The campers loved the entire process from cleaning the copper to the final firing. It is magical to see a piece turn out just the way it was intended. Everyone was so inventive that copper pieces on beaded necklaces became all the rage for the fashionable amongst us. Of course, tried and true camp crafts are still going strong here at Robin Hood. Lanyard (gimp) was as popular as ever, except that now it comes in glow in the dark, sparkled, neon and metallic colors. We had pieces ranging from box and barrel to elaborate, multi-string creations that were amazing. Campers could also be seen adorned in hemp jewelry. Elaborate stitches were quickly learned, and with the addition of colorful beads, a camp jewelry trend was stronger than ever. It was tough to get the Saxons into Arts and Crafts, but we managed to do it with Tye Dye! Everyone one in camp got a new white shirt and bottles of brightly colored dye, and set about making fabulous creations that would make our "hippie" forefathers and mothers proud. We cannot forget about our many other wonderful projects that kept us happy and busy. We loved our dreamcatchers, rainsticks, drawing and box painting. Indeed, Arts and Crafts was a very busy place this summer, and Holly and Annie made it happen each and every day. They were always there to expertly guide a camper through a project, help with materials and cleanup, and lend a hand in whatever way possible. Their humor, creativity and kindness made Arts and Crafts the place to be! It was truly a pleasure to work with them. Finally, thank you campers for; your patience when teaching each other or waiting in line to finish a piece of jewelry, forgiveness when we dropped your bracelet and all of the beads fell off or your copper enamel burned; your understanding when we ran out of certain supplies (temporarily, of course), your compliments, conversation, congeniality and most of all, thank you for making Camp Robin Hood Arts and Crafts a wonderful place to spend the summer.

This was my second year in the Ceramics Department and what a summer it was! Thanks to all who came and made some of the best clay pieces I have ever seen. From all the wonderful pots that were thrown on the wheel (Zoë that includes your best ever Green & White project. Turns out being a perfectionist really paid off!) to the host of strange and unique creatures that were made: Dylan Taft - your dinosaur-like thing was amazing; Chelsea Grain - your pig was extraordinary (shame its backside blew up in the kiln); and, Rebecca Curran - your glittery swan was one of the prettiest things ever.

The year started off with Jessica and I working together but unfortunately due to illness Jess had to leave after only a few weeks. A big thank you goes to her for all her help during the time that she was with us. We missed you when you left Jessie! We had major explosions after every kiln firing so a lot of your very hard work was lost but as it happens, I wasn't lying when I said watch out for those air bubbles! Most of the groups throughout camp came to Ceramics at one time or another this summer. With the boys we had the TPJ's (Mikey Brockmann, how many clay hotdogs did you make?!), the Squires, the Archers (Adam Breskin - like last year I saw your face quite a bit), the Yeomen (Michael Szewezuk - I loved your clay faces, it's a real shame none of them survived), and a special thank you goes to David Woodstein from the Friars for all of his instructions!

On the girls' side we had the TJ's (my group) who were regulars (girls it was great to see you, especially as I didn't get to see you much during the day), the Bow/Quills (Ellie Tremayne - I always liked your coil pots and all your other wonderful things!), the Arrows (Claire Sheehan and Keara O'Neil - you were my daily entertainment and Coco - I loved all of your strange and wonderful creations, including that person without its head or arms!), the Bards (Rachel Schorr - nice Green & White mug; "Wake up and smell the trees!"), the Shires who came a couple of times and the Scribes (Zoe - thanks for all the help and Carolyn Seigel - in your own words, you were a good "all rounder!"). A special mention goes to the Cohn sisters - Chelsea, Melanie and Chloe, who all made (or at least tried very hard to) something on the wheel. Melanie - one of the nicest decorated bowls this summer!

I really enjoyed myself this summer. Thank you to Carolyn who was the best boss a person could ask for, Jane for being the best helper ever and Holly and Annie who helped make this year's Arts & Crafts/Ceramics staff the best ever!

Hey everybody, Liam here. This was my first year at The Realm and three very short months ago I was in Ireland nervously boarding a plane not knowing what to expect. I had nothing to worry about because from the start, I was made to feel welcome and since then, my summer progressed into one of the best of my life.

I ran the Woodshop alongside Uncle Bob and we had a lot of fun throughout the summer working on projects, and saw a lot of very good projects made.

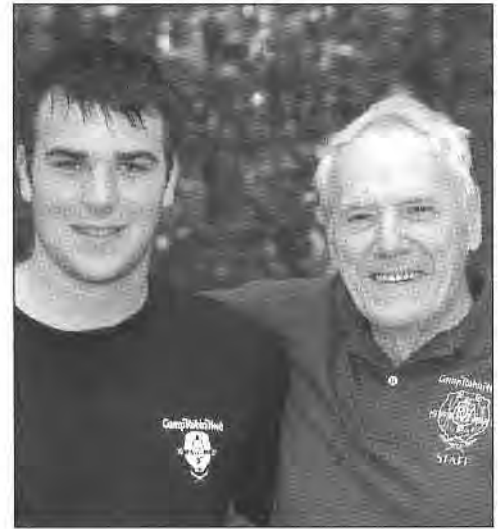

All summer the Woodshop was a hive of activity with kids constantly coming and going whether it was to work on a project or to just sit on the porch and chill out and talk to Uncle Bob and I. We had a number of kids who were regulars at the Woodshop and it was always good to see their faces.

Bob and I had a lot of fun working with the different groups. Working with the Tinkers, Pagets and Jugglers was a blast. We had Little G who made just about every project he could, Noah "I want a sword" Garson, and Henry "HT" Taylor. And, who can forget Hamad Al-Matawa who produced without a doubt the funniest moment of the summer when he successfully finished his project which was a box, and he then proceeded to get it stuck on his head and it would not budge! In the end we had to unscrew the box while it was on his head. I don't think anyone who witnessed this will forget it in a hurry.

The Squires were also regulars in the woodshop, especially Dylan "Where's my Go-Kart" Taft. From the Archers we had E.J. who was a regular, as was Peter Labes, and we had Mike "I can't pitch" Poliano working on the Founders Day gift along with Sam spilling paint everywhere. The Yeoman were also regulars in the Woodshop completing numerous projects, in particular Brandon Sneider. Then there was my own group the Lancers who I always looked forward to coming to the Woodshop as it gave me the chance to spend some time with them. Regulars included Mike "Geetar" Goodman, Jeremy "Uncle Bacon" Slossberg, Greg Cohen, Daniel Sheinman and of course who can forget Ross "Statistics have shown" Lerner.

The Woodshop was also very popular with girls camp but I think that was more to do with the fact that they all had a crush on Uncle Bob. We had the Tumblers/Jesters and Bows/Quills visit regularly as did the Bards, but I think a special mention has to go to this year's Arrows - I had great fun with you guys, especially Leah "What's my name?...can I be the best man?" Weiss, Katie "I can be smart when I want to be...Can I hammer stuff" Kruse and of course Alison "Banned from Woodshop" Schwartz.

I hope everyone who came to the Woodshop will go on and use the skills they learned in the Woodshop and come back again next year to improve their woodworking skills and have some more good times. I'd also like to make a special mention to the one man who makes the Woodshop what it is. I would like to thank Bob Jones aka Uncle Bob for all his help, but more importantly I would like to thank him for his friendship. I'm going to miss just sitting and talking to him on the porch.

I'd like to finish by thanking everyone for a great summer and thanks for all the great memories. I hope to see you all next year!

This year the Photography Department at Camp Robin Hood had a great season.

In the Junior Camp we made photogram puzzles and postcards, experimented with pin hole cameras, and of course took lots of pictures. In the Senior Camp we also made photo grams and used many rolls of film by taking pictures all around camp. Both groups enjoyed photo scavenger hunts where campers had to take a group picture by or with the object on the list. Everyone enjoyed running around camp trying to check off everything on their lists in order to be the first team finished for the ever exciting prize of Candy Canteen.

Things got exciting during Green & White when both teams had darkroom hours in order to compete in the five different categories of the competition: portrait, landscape, novelty, action, and group. While both teams did a wonderful job and had a great time, the White Team came out of the competition with more photography points than the Green Team. This was due in large part to the hard work of the award winner of the Best in Senior Boys Camp for Photography: David Woodstein. The White Team also benefited with the winner of Most Improved Camper in Photography for Senior Boys Camp: John Soloman. The Most Improved Camper in Photography for Junior Boys Camp went to Justin Zipkin, while the Best in Junior Boys Camp for Photography went to Hamad Al-Mutawa. In the Girls Senior Camp the Most Improved Award went to both Marissa Friedman and Emily Labes for their work with hand coloring black and white photographs. The Best in Senior Girls Camp in Photography was awarded to Ariel Hanna for all of her hard work for the Green Team during the Green & White competition and for her consistent positive attitude throughout the summer in photography. For the Junior Girl's Camp the Best in Camp Award went to Haley Sheehan and the Junior Camp Most Improved Award went Ellie Tremayne - both put in many hours of hard work in photography during both Green & White and throughout the entire summer. As a whole, it was a wonderful summer in photography where we all learned new skills and techniques and had a great time in the process.

SUMMER AT THE REALM

So, here we are again, another packed season at the Sherwood Forest Playhouse has closed. Looking back, we are happy to report that the annual Talent Show produced the usual crop of varied acts ranging from song and dance, comedy, lipsync and a highly unique balancing act by Reuben Moreland. We are always surprised at the amount of people who bring their various abilities to the stage and this year was no exception.

At the same time auditions were held for this year's big production: the hit Broadway show 'ANNIE'. It had been fourteen years since this musical was last staged at Robin Hood and the interest level was incredible. After lengthy tryouts, an all star cast was ready to start the rigorous rehearsals. Three and a half weeks later the company was ready to face the public! Following an amazing opening night for the town of Freedom, the entire camp witnessed a great evening in the theatre. Everyone on stage and behind the scenes worked extremely hard to present one of our most memorable shows.

For the last show of the summer we took a trip to the movies. With a variety of songs, dances and excerpts from a number of films old and new, it was a rousing finale to another great season.

This was my first summer here at The Realm and it was one of the best experiences of my life. I did not know what to expect when I came to camp this summer, but as soon as I was half way through my first class with the Tumblers/Jesters, I knew I loved it. Each group had its own goals when they came in. For instance, the Tumblers/Jesters loved freeze dance and making up their own dances, while the Archers loved to work on the "sprinkler and running man" while also making up their own moves. The Shires always had intense dance-off's where each team thought of extremely unique dances, and the Arrows were always willing to learn a new dance.

When it came time for the Talent Show, it seemed like everyone was dancing. One of my favorite memories of the summer was teaching the Bards their Napoleon Dynamite dance. We spent hours working on the "crouching tiger, hidden emu" and the "Belgian Shuffle." The dance was complete with "Vote for Pedro" T-shirts and tater-tots for the crowd. It was amazing to see the final performance on stage. The Shires and OG were amazing in their performance of Janet Jackson's "If" and even had a repeat performance for their parents on Parents Weekend. All the dances in the Talent Show were great and I took great pleasure in critiquing and seeing them all before the show.

Parents Weekend was another great memory when the Bow/Quills got to salsa and swing with their parents. The campers' creativity during Green & White brought out some of the best dance at camp when competing teams presented their best dancers in an impressive competition. No one will forget the Saxons' interpretation of "Milkshake", complete with milk being poured all over them. My advanced dance class that I held was amazing and I will never forget the fun that Bia, Rachel, Estefanie, Lou, Haley and I had. You guys all worked really hard! It's been an amazing summer of dance that I will never forget. Thank you to all the campers and staff!

This was our first summer at Robin Hood, and we had absolutely no idea what to expect from the kids when we arrived to Archery. What we found out very quickly is that each group is very different and each had its own preference for what they wanted to gain from Archery.

One of the groups we really enjoyed were the Arrows whose mission was to scare us away from the archery shed and demand we listen to their music and play hoggie podgy! However, when they did shoot they shot well. On the other hand, the PJ's wanted to shoot everything – from targets to balloons to water bottles. The Foresters were, in our opinion, the funniest group in camp as they constantly kept us laughing in between their fine shooting. The Tumblers at first relied on us to pull the strings back, but soon they were shooting all by themselves. And, in their spare time, they decided to give Leo H.'s hair a makeover with three wonderful pony tails – an unusual torture one would think would be banned in the states.

One of the highlights of the summer was the annual Robin Hood Invitational Archery Tournament where - on what most would agree was the worst weather day of the summer – we had several camps from within the New Hampshire area participate in an all-day competition. Apart from the weather, the day went really well and after scoring over 2000 arrows, the Camp Robin Hood 15 & Under Team came in third and the 12 & Under Team blew the other teams away and came in first. The campers' excitement over this great news made our summer.

Green & White was another high-point; the competition was so close in many of the age groups that the lead switched between the teams often and some of the kids who we didn't expect to shoot, came up strong and really held their nerve. We saw some amazing targets by Robert Hirst in the Friars, Sam Dicker in the Foresters, Noah Garson in the PJ's, and Adam Breskin in the Archers. All these boys' targets won the matches for their respective teams!

Thanks everyone for a great summer filled with strong shooting and even stronger laughing. We had a blast and look forward to seeing you all next year!

My first summer at Robin Hood was fantastic; I was in the best area of camp, down at the waterfront. Since the first lesson, I was asked if we could do capsizing but we started by practicing strokes, turning, and even harder - going straight! We worked on our teamwork and communication as everyone at one point got frustrated with their canoe and it not doing what was expected or desired of it. I think everyone's skills improved a lot this summer. After a couple of weeks, trips to the island and back became a regular activity! Capsizing also became a permanent fixture in every lesson as it allowed for a welcome relief from the sun.

Double canoe periods allowed a few groups time to head to the marina for candy, ice-cream or soda, and then a leisurely paddle back. It's worth mentioning at this point that the Bards, who because of wind, took an hour and a half to get to the marina (a journey that should take about 20 minutes). This mammoth journey involved lost counselors, an unplanned capsize and several attempts to get rides from passing boats. Everyone got there in the end and recharged batteries by cleaning out the ice-cream inventory at the marina before a far more rapid return journey.

Only slightly more rapid moving (though at points, only a little faster) was the Lancer trip on the Saco River. Despite constant questioning about how much longer it would be from the boys, and my even more frequent requests for them to 'KEEP PADDLING', we in fact made really good time, cutting an 8hr paddle down to 6hrs.

Trips to the outpost were always fun with the short, peaceful paddle, followed by a swim in the lake as the sun went down.

My first year at Robin Hood was great and I thank the waterfront and sailing boys and Jackie for all their help and fun this summer by the water. See you all next year!

MAX MANIN

If I were to describe this year's Golf Program in one word and one word only I would say: really, really awesome. From the Tumblers/Jesters all the way to the Saxons, each group showed great discipline and work ethic, and I was proud to say I taught you all. Tumblers/Jesters - where to begin: besides playing the Pony Game and Wheel Barrow races, Maddy McGinnis, Kibriyaa Morgan and Jamie Levine showed great golf skills when they played. Congratulations to Maddy for receiving Best in Junior Camp honors. Archers - you were all very enthusiastic about golf and it made running the period a lot easier. Peter Labes, Sam Sherman and Qadeer Morgan along with my Lancers boys - you all did exceptionally well and proved this in the 13 & Under Tournament this year. William Chen, Greg Cohen and Trent Elsbree won us the tournament and secured my job next year as Golf Specialty...thank you. Friars - our chipping contests were a blast, and you took the Robin Hood Golf Program by storm. If there was one senior camp girls group that showed they knew how to golf it was the Shires. Claudia Llanza, Dayna Geldwert, Samantha Kadis and Courtney Barone all did unbelievably well.

If there was one ultimate shining moment in the Camp Robin Hood Golf Program this year, it truly was the 13 & Under Winaukee Golf Tournament we won. Not only did Will Chen win the individual score, but as a team we also managed to win the tournament on a playoff hole won by Trent Elsbree.

Stevie. Stevie, Stevie, Stevie. I could not have been more proud of a Saxon aid. You helped me in more ways than you will ever know. Whether we were teaching golf or just talkin', waking up in the morning and knowing that you were there was reason to wake up alone.

As the great Tiger Woods once said, "Nice work Camp Robin Hood, you are all very good at golf."

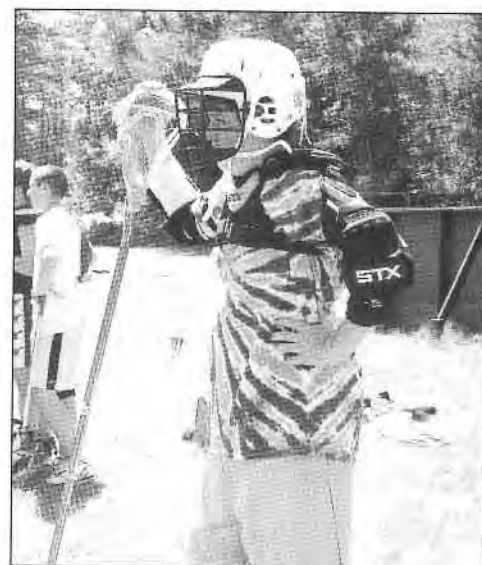

The 2005 lacrosse season was quite a success. This being my 6th summer at Robin Hood, I have had the honor of continuing the Lacrosse Program through its developing stages. This summer I have seen improvement in all groups in boys camp and girls camp. We had sessions from beginning skills, to full-contact games/ scrimmages. The campers were extremely enthusiastic and wanted to learn more about the sport. They were always asking about the skills, rules, and game in general.

I would like to give a special thanks to a few people that made this season the success it was: Max Manin, Lindsey Golden and Futter. I would also like to congratulate Jesse Greenstein and Max Greenstein on a great season and on receiving the most honorable

Best in Camp Award. These two fine young men led our team to a huge victory against Camp Cody, along with Zack Frunpkin and John Emery. The girls also had a great season. Everyone from the Jesters to the Scribes worked hard and showed much improvement. I give an honorable mention to a few great players in senior camp: Chhaya-Karrim Ausar-Sahu, Matthew Feldman, Ryan Cristal, Elias Kahan, Michael Szewczyk and John Solomon. In junior camp, I congratulate the whole Archer Group but most of all the winners of Best in Junior Camp, Eric Arnold and Sam Sherman.

Thank you all for a great summer, keep up the good work and I will see you guys next summer.

On the basketball court, we might not get the call we want, we might not make the winning shot and though we may fall, the important thing is we get back up and try again. The same applies off the court as in life. Sometimes you have no choice but to "play" the cards you're dealt. This very lesson took me years to understand, but it only took one summer for our campers. Trying is not half the battle, it IS the battle. These kids never stopped trying; they won without ever having to step onto the court. They truly bled Green and White.

15 & Under Boys: It was a rough summer for the boys of The Realm. It was their first year without the great, Zandy Bard, and they had to learn the true meaning of the word "Team". With the help of returning players such as Zach Frumkin, Jack Friedman, Sam Jonas and Myles Stavis, the boys were on their way in learning yet another life lesson. Although our boys weren't very victorious in games, there were victories in other ways. They were able to finally work as a team and rely on one another. The returning players also did a great job in showing the "rookies" what the game is all about. We had a young team that consisted of two Lancers, Aaron Haynes and Matt Feldman, and a bunch of Frairs such as Justin Bennet, Jack Freifelder, Ryan Cristal, Alex Benhaim, Nick Plater, and Jake Schwartz. I'm so proud of you guys – now, we are a TEAM. We will beat West End...

15 & Under Girls: The girls this summer were the true role-models of The Realm. With the help of returning Scribes, Mackenzie Davis, Dana Berschler and Emily Rempell, they destroyed the competition. They led by example with an amazing record of 11-1 and won two out of three tournaments. Along with being victorious, the girls showed a lot of sportsmanship. Anna Wiggin and Ilyse Rikleen were amazing with cheering up their team. Marleigh Higgins, Sarah Lindenauer, Hannah Magid and Lauren Rosenstein were great off the bench as a closing unit to each win.

Girls – you really made me enjoy myself this summer with your laughter, and I'm lucky to have been your coach. Thank you so much...

In closing, I leave you with a quote from Bobby Knight: "The most important single ingredient to success in athletics or in life is discipline." My definition of the word is as follows:

1. Do what has to be done;
2. When it has to be done;
3. As well as it can be done;
4. Do it that way all the time.

INTERCAMP ATHLETICS - SOCCER

Once again soccer has been absolutely outstanding this summer. I hope you have all enjoyed it as much as I have! Now sit back and take a few minutes to relive all of the highlights:

The first week of scheduling threw the intensives upon us before people even got off the bus! Some excellent drills were in place and no one will ever forget the evening boys vs. girls match. Certainly not Beetle who treated it like it was his last ever match and in the process decapitated half of my boy's team!! Despite this, there was evidently a lot of talent on display; it was particularly pleasing to see newcomers such as Mikey Bourke and Shannon Rommoff play so well.

The first four weeks were extremely busy with a number of tournaments and clinics taking place. A revolution from last year, Tiffany and I found the clinics to be extremely enjoyable to coach. Many new drills were introduced, enhanced by the brand spanking new equipment, such as the exquisite pugg goals. Every session ran smoothly and I thank every group for their full efforts. The funniest memory of the clinics had to be Parents Weekend when the Bow/Quills outdid themselves from last year, and as a result, the largest ever amount of people were present on our soccer fields. I didn't even dare to count - not just the parents and siblings taking part, but the large gallery that was watching! The Bards also had an entertaining game in which the parents showed the kids what competition is all about!

The tournaments began early with Boys 11 & Under setting out for Tecumseh. The boys proved to be outstanding. I would like to thank DC for his recruitment efforts as for the first time in years, boys soccer was buzzing! The team of Santiago, Inigo, Cameron, Mikey P, Austin, Jacob, Seth, Qadeer, Eric, Brandon and Oliver set the tournament on fire. After competing with Tecumseh and Birchmont, we qualified for the semi-finals against Belknap. Unfortunately, after throwing everything we had at them, they somehow escaped with a one-all draw. We did go on to take third place over Winauke! The 12 & Under play day against Winauke also deserves a quick mention - yes, another penalty shoot-out and another victory - Austin Pepper was the hero again! Well done boys; the foundation for next year is definitely in place.

The Boys 13 & Under Team was clearly taking notes from their younger campers as they went a step further and brought home the first boys silverware for a very long time! At first, having two tournaments in 3 days seemed a tall order, but it turned out to work in our favor as this magnificent team became tightly knit. We also had that famous Blue & White Game on the Saturday before which I must say was one of the most exciting games I have ever witnessed: 4-2 down with two minutes left, Matt and Tomasso finished superbly. You boys dug so deep to come back and snatch a draw - sensational!

In the first game at Winauke, it felt like everything was working against us. It turned out to be a semi-final game which we lost 3-1 to Birchmont. However, looking back it seemed that this brought the boys together as they made sure they won the tournament that mattered. With such a large squad it seems unfair to single anyone out but with Chaya in goals and Cohen, Globus and Daniel in front of him, nothing got through. Going forward we had Chen, Giacomo, Tomasso, Trent, Matt and Saad who destroyed everyone in front of them as we scored an abundance of goals. Tecumseh was blown away in our first game with Matt and Saad grabbing the goals. The same punishment was given to Indian Acres. Our semi-final opponents Wigwam proved much sterner and it took a golden goal winner from Matt to book our place in the final. I don't think there has ever been such an exciting match here! We romped to victory in the final against IA with Trent, Saad, Chen and Tomasso scoring. A great day for boys soccer and I was so proud of everyone.

The 15 & Under Boys Team did not have as much success as the other teams; however, this was not due to lack of effort as the boys ran their hearts out at Tecumseh. The teams from Winauke and Tecumseh just proved too strong; I would love to know what they feed these seven foot monsters with stubble that turn out for these teams! Well done to Cristal, Elias, Solomon, Sneider, Shane, Hirst, Hurd and Louis for a good summer. Some excellent play took place at the tournaments, Blue & White Day and also at the intensives. I have known most of you for three years now and you all have a lot of great soccer left in you. With those that can still play U 15 next year combined with this year's 13's, the team will be frightening!

The girls tournaments kicked off with the 11 & Under and 13 & Under playing on the same day. Unfortunately this meant that the 11's lost some players who were good enough for the 13's. However, they still played really well and had some great matches with Evergreen and Birchmont. Irregardless, everyone lost out to a very strong Robindel Team. Particularly outstanding were Lindsay, Maddie M. and Mckenzi - they even got a run out for the 15 & Under Team at one point! We should have an even stronger team next year and we will definitely win this tournament on our home turf! There is a lot of skill in girls junior camp as was evident in some great Tumbler, Jester and Bow sessions.

It was great to have some 13 & Under Girls Tournaments this year. Our team was exceptional. With Noga in goal, Katie D., Lindsay and Jennie in defense, Amanda, Taylor, Jessica and Valerie controlling the midfield, and an exciting front three of Jessie, Rachel and Shannon. We destroyed Robindel, Walt Whitman and Camp Judea with almost everyone getting a goal! However, we lost out to our old adversaries Evergreen in the final. With one to nothing, we actually equalised in the last minute but the eighty-year-old referee decided to blow the whistle as we shot. Tough luck on the girls who had fought so hard in the blizzard conditions all day. Thankfully we got to put this behind us with another U13 tournament at Forest Acres. Well done to girls such as Maddie Josel, Camilla, Biz, Charlotte and Haley who came in and did a fantastic job to help bring home the first girls trophy of the summer. Camp Walden was no match for us in the final with Rachel and Biz among the scorers. Even though Forest Acres did not have a trophy for us, victory was still sweet!

The 15 & Under Girls Team can be described as the greatest side to never win a trophy since the Brazilians of the 1980's! With a squad of about thirty-five we set off for Robindel on a warm sunny morning. The nucleus of last year's successful side was with us in E, Alison, Anna, Dayna, Sarah, Katie and Rachel. The strength in depth was frightening with new additions such as Alicia Werner, Amanda Tuck, Marleigh and Lindsay Rosenstein to the 15's, and with some of the younger kids coming along like Taylor, Shannon, Katie D, Maddie, McKenzie and Jennie.

Against a good Robindel side, we came out on top with Katie scoring the winning goal. The defense was excellent with Marleigh, E and Alison standing out. If anything did get through, Noga was there to stop it. A special mention to her as she did goals for every tournament and was exceptional, often without having much to do and she did not complain once. Our midfields distribution was superb as Anna, Dayna, Amanda and Alicia were never afraid to put their foot on the ball and pick someone out. This was added to by our options up front which caused me a selection headache. With Sarah and Katie we had two of the best and most experienced players in camp, then we had the lightning quick younger pairing of Rachel and Shannon to come off the bench and provide more than enough back up; Shannon even scored a hat trick in our final game. Our second game was our toughest as we faced Evergreen. The bad luck we had was unbelievable - with 99% of possession and about twenty shots we could not score. Katie, Sarah, Shannon, Amanda, Dayna and Anna all came really close. Of course, the one lucky Evergreen shot trickled in and they won one nil. Nevertheless, we still had one final game to pick ourselves up for and we buried Walt Whitman with Shannon getting all the goals. It was great to see our school of excellence stars like Katie and McKenzie come on and hold their own against much bigger and stronger girls. These results meant that we finished as runners-up which was a shame as we had been head and shoulders above everyone else. A special mention also to those girls who will be too old next year, Katie, E, Marleigh, Anna, Dayna and Sarah who have been superb every time they have pulled on a Robin Hood jersey over the years. You all have so much to offer the sport and I wish you all the best.

I would be very surprised if the talent has ever been this good in every age group. As a result, choosing the award winners was one of the most difficult jobs I ever had. Many of them have been split as it was so hard to choose between you all!

In each category I tended to go with the older campers. Senior camp was particularly difficult with so many good players such as Alison Howard, Taylor McGinnis, Roger Hurd, Ethan Sneider, John Solomon, Gregory Cohen, Ryan Globus and Trent. You will be in contention next year.

Well done to all the winners, but Robin Hood soccer is not about the individual - it is about the team so congratulations to everyone that played for me this summer. You are all winners in my eyes!

Finally, I would like to thank Tiffany and Annie Crane for all their help this summer. Thanks go to all the referees like Arnot, Jelin, Sam and Brad - I really appreciated your efforts!

Hope to see you all next summer. Good luck and keep playing football (soccer!)

Robin Hood may not have won every softball and baseball game, but we won our share over the summer and we sure had fun trying!

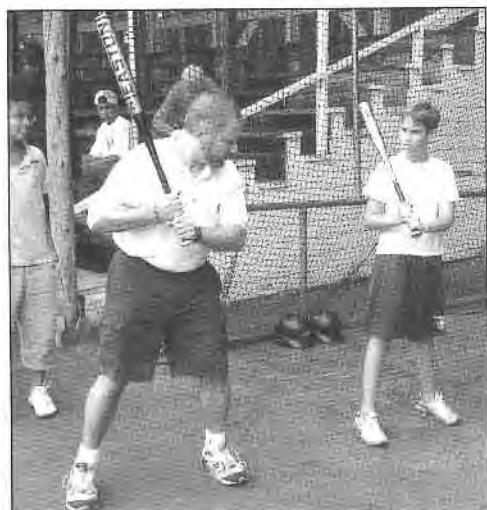

Everyone who played and practiced, from the youngest girls fielding ground balls to the oldest guys swinging for the trees on the Homerun Field, "fun" was the key and cannot be emphasized enough. That's why "have fun" was my mantra in my first year as coach, and I want to thank everyone for listening to that mandatory instruction.

this summer. Biz Wiggin was in a class of her own as she dominated the sport of fast-pitch softball. She simply blew away the opposition and was a delight to watch take over the game while on the mound. We also had a couple of prodigious baseball pitchers who threw so hard and accurately that they earned the opportunities to pitch for teams in the older groups. Tim Gruber was a ten-year-old Squire whom I actually brought along to pitch with the 15 & Under Team in one of the tournaments. Even though he never had a chance to throw in

I would be remiss if I didn't also mention a few counselors and campers who get the good-guy awards for their assistance over the summer. The Girls Softball Team had the benefit of the instruction of role models Sam Kadis, Lizzie Kidder, and especially Lizzie's sister, Julia Kidder, the captain of the Harvard Softball Team. Thanks so much for your help and leadership. In addition to pitching and playing shortstop, Sam Dicker helped make sure that the fields were always in playing condition and also strutted his stuff in blue as an umpire in the tournaments. JT (Justin Taft) was invaluable as a catcher, but he was also most generous in allowing everyone to use the special catcher's equipment he brought to camp. The camp had all the right equipment, but everyone wanted to use JT's. Finally, I must give special thanks to David Woodstein, without whom we never would have had all of those great fly balls zooming out of the pitching machine.

All of the great campers and counselors made it easy for me to follow my own rule. I had fun. Thanks again to all of you. I'm looking forward to another great summer next year. See you then.

We practiced pickoffs and rundowns, fielded groundballs and ran drills on cutoff throws and fly balls, and, of course, everybody enjoyed getting their cuts in during batting practice. I was amazed so many campers had the opportunity to practice and play and improve their softball and baseball skills and knowledge.

While everyone really made the summer memorable, I have to give special mention to a few deserving campers. The Realm produced a handful of pitching prodigies the 15 & Under Game, he deserved the honor of making the team based on the outstanding skills and baseball knowledge he demonstrated in all of the other games he played. And Tim might have pitched were it not for 13-year-old Jake Borden pitching lights out for the 15 & Under Team. Jake is a tremendous all-around talent who was simply unhittable as a pitcher. And Archer Peter Labes surprised everyone but me (I'd coached him back home in Shaker Hts., Ohio) when he proved to be a strikeout artist as a pitcher as well as a tough catcher.

When I first got the job of gymnastics coach at Robin Hood I was overjoyed, I could not believe I was going to be spending a whole summer doing the one thing I love most and being able to share it with like-minded people.

With our gymnastics dome relatively ready to take what we had to throw at it, the various groups began to learn the basic skills such as handstands and cartwheels. Once perfected, we moved on to try a hand at more advanced skills such as back-handsprings. A few weeks into it and to my great joy, various groups such as the Squires, Yeomen and Bow/Quills had started to grasp the skill well and showed the rest of camp during the Green & White Talent Show.

Half-way through camp, Robin Hood was invited to participate in a gymnastics meet at Robindel Camp for Girls. With only a week to prepare, a determined and enthusiastic group of gymnasts literally lived in the tent and slaved over their routines until competition day. Full of nerves but ready to bring those ribbons home, we donned our hard work on the floor, vault and bar. At the end of the meet, Taylor McGinnis and Sam Pepper were called up to the stands to receive 1st place on floor for their age groups. Next up was Katie Kruse for her amazing vault - even with an injured knee (it was a war paint mementos). She still managed to scoop 2nd place for vault from under our opponent's feet. Lastly, another 2nd place to Taylor McGinnis for her spectacular bar routine. All in all, a very enjoyable and proud day, and I'd like to give a big thank you to the whole team who participated for their exceptional effort and patience.

As the summer comes to a close, I'd like to remind my gymnasts of the moments they found so hilarious: Alex Rikleen, Michael Stecher and Ben Jelin competing against one another on vault, showing the group exactly just how its 'really done' while sustaining mild injuries! Michael Szewczyk and Sara Friedman who were constantly caught hanging from the walls, giving a different meaning to the word primate!

A big thank you to all those who sweated it out and participated in the intensive gymnastics lessons. I'm flattered at how popular it was. Cheers for a great summer and I can't wait to see how you've all improved next year!

INTERCAMP TEAMS

INTERCAMP TEAMS

INTERCAMP TEAMS

The tennis season started with a bang at Camp Robin Hood.

We had over 70 campers signed-up to play on the tennis ladder, which was match-play organized by our tennis staff. Over 50 matches were arranged and everybody was a winner. The games were intense, competitive and gave our campers a great opportunity to put their skills to test.

The intercamp tennis program was a tremendous success. Both Sam Jonas and Rebecca Curran won major tennis tournaments. Also a special mention to Aaron Segel, Dana Berschler and Camilla Johansson for their outstanding skills demonstrated throughout the summer.

Green & White brought numerous exciting matches to the courts between campers and counselors alike. Congratulations to the White Team for an overall victory.

The Tennis Staff thanks all the campers who participated in the tennis program. We hope everyone had a great summer and we look forward to seeing you all again next summer!

SAILING

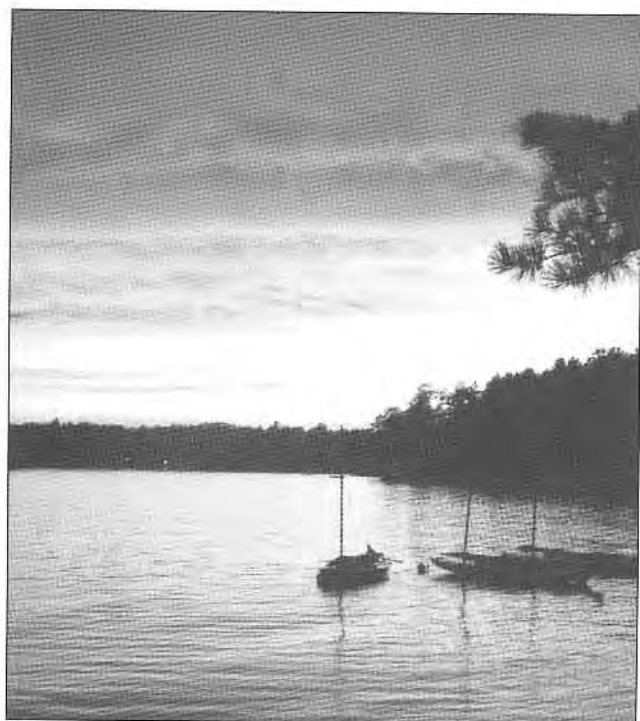

JOE SNOWDON & MICHAEL HAWKINS

Sailing this year at Robin Hood has been intuitive and enjoyable. Many groups and individuals had a lot of fun and learned a lot during the summer. Some campers want to sail at home now that they have learned the sport!

The sailing program emphasised proper techniques and more controlled sailing when there is wind. Some fun no-wind sessions included capsizing drills, swimming and onshore teaching with simulations.

Some of the more interesting incidents of the summer included capsize and "man-over-boards." One such instant was when David Woodstein got knocked clean out the boat by the boom. Another fun memory was when the Tumblers and Jesters screamed every time the boat moved, let alone tipped. Racing in the Friars and Lancers groups was very intense as a couple of them vied for supremacy on the water with much boat to boat contact. Many discussions on the rules resulted from these collisions.

Overall, the summer sailing at Robin Hood was a great success; campers learned a lot, and truly seemed to enjoy themselves on the water. Campers left sailing with a solid foundation and I wish them great sailing adventures in the future – both in and out of The Realm.

HORSEBACK RIDING

The winter was very kind to The Sherwood Forest Stables. From under the snowdrift emerged a brand new wing to the barn! We were all extremely happy, especially the horses. With so much more room, Gidget almost got lost - she didn't know what to do with herself!

And so the summer of 2005 began with a grand facelift to the barn: a new roof overhead & ample room for our steeds. The first horses to arrive back were: SPECTRUM, forever the favorite; GIDGET, our little midget; SMEDLEY, the handsome one; PETER PAN, always the showoff; LANCE, 'Sir' Lancelot the jumpy one; and MOLLY, sweet sweet Molly, even if she did get scared sometimes. New to the Realm were: COSMO, the cute, reliable, little black comet who just loves her cuddles; ELLIE, dear trustworthy Miss Ellie; WHISKEY, so cute, cuddly & so 'BIG'; MAX, the baby of the yard & quite the character; SHADY, 'Slim Shady' with the oddest habit; and last but not least, DAKOTA, the fastest walker...EVER! Of course the Barn Crew is not complete without the outstanding equestrian staff that joined me this summer: JESS, CALLY, KATHRYN, BEN & LARISSA. An experienced & hard working crew who knew how to have a lot of fun!

Day one was the start to a busy and fun-filled summer. It didn't take long for every rider to meet their equine friends, make a few 'test runs' and pick their favorite mount. Not too surprisingly Spectrum was always top of the list; too bad she doesn't seat all 81 of you. Every day we watched each of you progress from one level to the next and accomplish new things. Many of you were first timers, eager to get going and become pro's - you quickly familiarized yourselves with the basics and moved on to perfecting skills and learning new ones; and those of you who were already very comfortable up there in the saddle challenged yourselves with more technical horsemanship and bigger fences. Above all, everyone shared a passion for the sport and it was a pleasure to see the bonds you made with each of our RH horses. The one thing that makes riding stand out from every other activity is 'the horse' and the relationship we make with him. Riding is about a 'partnership' and I can assure you we saw many a 'partnership' formed this summer.

A horse's day is exceptionally habitual. While our days at camp are fairly scheduled too, they were peppered with many fun memories!

REMEMBER WHEN: Sam R. & Steven G. had a water-fight; Alex. P. wore different size boots; Emily L. tore her pants; Gidget kept opening her door...& then Cosmo & Whiskey copied her; The Arrows & the thunderstorm...Peter Pan being terrified & Daniele sitting sound; Caitlin & Ellie went from one level to the next to the next; Noah G. began canter work; Stephen G. sat so quietly, calmly & perfectly on Gidget, whatever her antics; Chelsea G. fell in love with Cosmo; Alicia went from complete beginner to trotting off lead in one day; Raffi's water-fight & the red truck; Bareback riding; Cosmo & Dylan S. playing follow-my-leader (what a bond); Juan mucked a stall (just "Juan more time"); Eric A. won all the gymkhana games; Brandon S. rode Cosmo & she became 'The Comet'; Jessie & Emily R. worked on some new exercises & performed some pretty cool moves; Margherita took a very graceful collected canter on Spectrum on her last day (Well done Margherita - I am soooo proud); Eric L. missed Slim but found a new friend in Spectrum; When Whiskey & Hilary performed an extended trot (...Who'd have thought a draft horse could perform so gracefully); Mikey B. decided Max was the perfect match.

REMEMBER WHEN: Lauren wanted to ride a horse other than Smedley - We don't!; Shawn, Ilyse & Emily didn't make us laugh - We don't! (Never a dull moment with you three!); Mack B. ever argued about the horse he rode - We don't! (Variety is what makes one a better rider, right Mack?!); Lance got ridden - We don't!

REMEMBER: What a pleasure the Arrows always were to teach; Daniel T. performing a clear round on Smedley; Gabe & Cosmo progressing in leaps in bounds; Shawn, Ilyse & Emily practicing their flatwork demonstrations (yeah, what happened to that ladies???); Dylan T's. attachment to Gidget; Arielle & her boots; Daniele & Keara looking so 'beautiful' on their horses (yes ladies we got it ?); How entertaining the TPJ/SQUIRES always kept us; swimming on the horses; Chloe maintaining a check on Dakota's pace & beautifully taking the fences; Gymkhana games with the Archer's...again, & again, & again (Do you guys ever get tired of games?); Shady's peculiar habits; Sam A's great expressions; Colombe & Molly clearing every fence three times around; all the fun we had with the Bow/Quills; The 'Princess Pony' Club; OG's jump on the last day; Caroline's wit & her hilarious comments; Jill's dilemma... Smedley V Ellie; Mitchell & Nathan's calm demeanor which every horse appreciated; Jason S. & Smedley...two naturals; Chelsea C's obsession with small ponies & her great bond with Gidget; Margherita's constant partnership with Molly, through

'rain & shine'; Terry contently bounding around the ring with Peter Pan; The Tumbler/Jesters' progressing from one level to the next & all the fun they had along the way; The Robindel Horse Show when we brought home an assortment of ribbons, including firsts for Keara, Andrea & Chloe (well done to all of you – remember it's the participation that counts. 1st or 6th... you are all winners in our eyes!)

The memories are endless and we have many more to share. They involve each of you, including those we did not have room to mention. But alas, our space is limited and so we will have to reminisce again next summer, and create more! I can't wait.

Thank you all for a fun & memorable summer. You accomplished so much and made us proud. We look forward to starting off next summer where we left off. Let us not forget our equine friends who helped us accomplish as much as we did. Remember that even on their bad days, they are still teaching us something new. Horses are unpredictable animals & we learn to adapt to their change in character, their strengths & weaknesses.

Also, a huge thanks to all of you who spent extra time at the barn helping us out; our RH horses truly are loved & we hope that your devotion & commitment to horsemanship long continues. SAM ROSENSTEIN, DYLAN TAFT & DYLAN SCHATTMAN: you gentlemen were fantastic. Gidget, Spectrum & Cosmo were most certainly the best groomed horses in the yard and we look forward to seeing you back at the barn next year. MARGHERITA & LAUREN: you two ladies are true equestrians. You not only have a natural gift for riding and are always eager to improve, but you also have an immense understanding for the horse – you are terrific in every way and you did us proud! SHAWN & EMILY: you gave up so many hours to assist us: horse care, barn chores, leading, you name it. You also offered sound & caring guidance to our younger riders. A true gift. We look forward to seeing even more of you at the barn next summer as CIT's. HILARY: what can we say! You were always willing to assist with any task; you showed a true sense for horsemanship & your company was a real pleasure. We thank you for all your help & are delighted that you share our passion for horses - long may it continue,

To my STAFF...No words can express my thanks to you. You were AMAZING! You worked hard without complaint; you were committed; you were dedicated; you completely exceeded my expectations. Together we were an outstanding team and we had a lot of fun along the way. We were all strangers when we came to camp, we left as the best of friends. So, JESS, KATHRYN, CALLY, LARISSA & BEN - THANK YOU! I know our friendships will remain always. Be sure to stay in touch this winter... & I'll see you all next summer.

A final word of thanks to our 9th week crew who 'made it happen'. Cally, Ben & Larissa...thanks for staying & finishing it up. Stacey, Jenny & Irish...thanks for stepping out of your usual roles & stepping it up at the barn. Collectively we got it all done & we had a fun five days. Thank you.

I'll see you all back at The Realm next summer! Always a pleasure – Take care & have fun, Diane "Rain, rain go away," and it eventually did leaving us with some beautiful days for hiking and paddling the White Mountain region, but not before wrecking havoc with our early expeditions. Outposts and mountain trips abound in the first few weeks of camp, and this summer was no exception.

The outpost site changed this summer (thank you Dr. and Mrs. Chen!) but the fun remained the same. Junior camp, half a group at a time, paddled across Broad Bay into the Chen's hidden corner where they learned how to set up tents, start a fire, and general food preparation skills. The S'more abilities must be innate as the burners' marshmallows were burnt with glee while the toasters relished in the rewards of their patience – a liquidy, golden-brown ultra-sweet delight. Stories of both scary and local events highlighted the evenings.

Though there was some rescheduling, all of junior camp from the youngest Tumbler/Jesters and Tinker/Pagers/Jugglers to the 'experienced' Archers and Bow/Quills accomplished this canoe camping caper.

Meanwhile, the hills were alive with the sounds of 'Hooders': Green Mountain and Boulder Loop, perennial favorites of the TJ and TPJs, rugged Mt. Chocorua, domain of the Arrows, scenic Mt. Kearsarge, host to the Yeomen and Bards. Sister Mounts Potash and Hedgehog with their Archer, Squire, Bow/Quill trekkers, and many more.

Optional hikes were enjoyed by many of the senior camp trampers. Select Foresters scaled and traversed the famous Franconia Ridge. A few hardy Lancer and Friars clambered up difficult Mt. Whiteface. While those Saxons and Scribes interested in the ultimate hiking sojourn, Mt. Katahdin, had to first prove their intent and fortitude on mighty Mt. Washington, the highest (6,228') peak in the northeast.

Special overnight opportunities were enjoyed by the Lancers who paddled for 2 days, camping on the sandy (very sandy!) shores of the Saco River as it meanders through western Maine, and 10 hardy Shires who took advantage of the chance to backpack through marsh and swamp only to find Sawyer Pond quite an idyllic destination.

This year's Baxter State Park excursion, tackled by 5 Saxons and 4 Scribes, was a delight as the threatening weather held long enough for us to summit Mt. Katahdin and at least see the nasty drop-offs of the Knife Edge Trail before we actually picked our way carefully across it in the fog.

Remember When's:

When the Yeomen 'crushed' the ascent of Kearsarge, the Saxons had rain up and rain down Mt. Washington but still maintained their cheerful nature. (OK, most of them – "You guys really like walking downhill on wet rocks!?! Yes, Zandy.")...Jon, Ryan, and Mikey of the Lancers and Robert and Justin of the Friars took on the serious rock cliffs of Whiteface...when the Bards sang their way up and down Kearsarge...Alicia, Terry, Jinny and Leo joined Freaky to successfully bushwhack to the cockpit of an airplane that had crashed near the summit in '74...when the 14, no 12, no 11 intrepid Arrows battled the steep slopes of Mt. Chocorua's Brook Trail, taking reading breaks along the way...When brave staffers Brenner and Szabo alarmed the resting Archers with shrieks of terror at the spiders in their tent...The riddles while hiking. It was a lighthouse, Annie and Dana...All the bugs on the Shire overnight hike...the fantastic swimming both in the lake in the evening and in the river in the rain on the hike back out...Eating wood sorrel and wild blueberries on the hikes...The Professor and the nurse on the Franconia Ridge Trail...The philosophical debates...Remember all the memories on the Baxter trip (See the Saxon article for a fuller account)...the river slide...skipping stones...Teddy's boxers...nachos...serious naps...name discussions...moose and bear sightings...Emery's weird noise...the missing knife and the Cyclops...the movie game...the death hike on days 3...

There are so many more that you will have to recreate and reminisce upon with your friends, hopefully around a pleasant campfire on a wild mountainside many years in the future.

Many many thanks to the Queen of Trips – Jenny Trips, er, Martin, as well as to the rest of the hardworking trip staff: Jake and Bessie Schwarz and Ben Jelin for a job well done. I'd also like to thank all of those 'other' staff who helped make the summer such a hiking/paddling success such as Kate 'canoe' Smith, Jason 'Mt. Man' Fisher...

See you on the trails - Freaky

Deb and Freaky

Just keep swimming, just keep swimming...Nemo couldn't have said it better...

The summer of '05 was like no other at the Camp Robin Hood waterfront on the shores of Broad Bay. Starting with our younger campers: the Tumbler/Jesters, Bow/Quills, PJs, Squires, Archers and Yeomen all completed American Red Cross Swim Levels during the first month of camp. We had campers working on everything from Level I – Introduction to Water Skills through Level V – Stroke Refinement. Senior campers worked on competitive skills like diving, endurance swimming and flip turns, and enjoyed water polo and relay races. Many many campers completed their 16 laps and were able to swim in the deep area, jump off the tower, use the water trampoline, swim to the island, as well as water-ski, kayak, canoe and sail.

A special thanks to all the Group Leaders and the Leadership crew – you were great! Shires of '05 (Trips, Katharine and Kidder too), thanks for welcoming me with open arms on your trip to Canada, I had a fabulous time getting to know all of you – I'd be happy to go on your Scribe excursion in '06 (that's if I'm not your GL)...

This successful summer wouldn't have been possible without the help of the fantastic Waterfront Staff. To the Boys from last summer – Clint, Ed and Simon – I am so glad you decided to come back to The Realm – I never would have survived without you. To the new boys – Ryan – you were a great help and a great swim teacher, and Nigro – you have definitely grown up since you were last at camp; I hope you will continue to come back for many more summers. Looking forward to seeing everyone again for the summer of 2006!

I could not have predicted that I would be teaching waterskiing this summer. Fortunately, it turned out to be a truly great experience. We were blessed with beautiful weather and most of the other boats on the lake seemed to stay out of our way more than usual. There were a bunch of new skiers this summer as well as a strong contingency of experienced veterans. Campers at all levels developed their skills as they became regulars at our activity.

Slalom skiing always poses a challenge, but several campers were able to master the art. Bards Amanda Tuck and Lindsey Rosenstein became quite comfortable on one ski and I have high hopes for them over the next two years. Ali Castleman showed such determination and was successful at slalom skiing. Emily Labes and Sarah Lindenauer continued to improve over the summer and were two of the best skiers in camp this year. Lauren Rosenstein fought so hard this summer and eventually became a solid slalom skier. Dylan Schattman came in as a fantastic wakeboarder, but was brave enough to attempt slalom skiing, and was great at that too. David Woodstein was consistent at dropping a ski and will surely be getting up on one ski next summer. Nick Plater and Jake Schwartz honed their one-ski skills, but soon made the switch to wakeboarding (I personally hope to see them back on a ski next summer though).

Other wakeboarding masters included William and Andrew Chen who showed off their home-lake advantage. Their cousin Trent Elsbree also flew high on the wakeboard. Hannah Magid brought her Lake Sunapee skills to the shores of Ossipee and proved to be a great all-round skier and wakeboarder. Another Shire, Samantha Kadis was an excellent wakeboarder and has great potential. If I was lucky, the Saxons rolled on down to the lake to dazzle and scare me with their gravity-defying attempts, especially Jesse Greenstein and John Emery.

The Tumbler/Jesters decided to modify knee boarding to form their own creation "belly boarding." The Shires as well devised their own activity – booming. If it ever becomes a recognized sport Missy Friedman will surely be BIC. The Shires were always at waterskiing and definitely stole more boat rides than any other group. They also managed to get me in more trouble than any other group, but it was a blast.

I would like to quickly thank the Foresters who made every effort to make my life at waterskiing easier. Occasionally Peaches, Ethan Berman, Brad Jacobsohn and Roberts would grace me with their presence, but only on special occasions.

A very special thank you to my resident boat-washers Hannah Magid and Missy Friedman. The Moomba and Malibu thank you guys for keeping their interiors and exteriors spick and span all summer. Also, thanks to my pro spotters who not only watched the kids (well, not Brody), but kept me updated with all of the latest camp gossip.

To Tyler and Melanie – thanks so much for sticking around the whole summer. We were all new to the Department, but I think we handled everything well. We built up to visiting day, did a fantastic job and never looked back. Thanks so much for seven weeks of very hard work.

To everyone – waterskiing was a blast, but I hope to see you all next summer as a Group Leader.

The summer of 2005 developed into another amazing season for riflery at Barndt's Bunker. By the end of the season, 40,000 rounds had been fired, over 2,000 targets scored for awards, and over 150 shooters came to the range this season. About 150 campers earned awards for their shooting, from Pro-Marksman through Expert. All campers both young and old gained new skills and improved on old skills while having fun and being safe.

In the annual Riflery Tournament we had strong teams of well-balanced shooters, and ended up taking first in most of the categories. Over all high shooter for The Realm was Alex Wolf with a 189 out of 200. The next Tournament was during Green & White. In those five days, each group competed in many sports including riflery where they shot around 150 ten bullseye targets. Ryan C. achieved the highest score this time with a 179/200.

In closing, we would like to thank everyone for making this summer a great one. It's you who made this year's Riflery Program so fun and so successful and above all else, safe. Thank you!

GREEN & WHITE SONGS - GREEN

I Just Can't Wait to Be King

This has been the greatest war
We have all been there
Started with the parachutes
Soaring through the air

The judges missed the main event
Left knocking at the door
They logged on and lived it through
The Wood-Chuck Report

The white limos were uninspiring
As you have just heard us sing

We were excited
Pumped and lively
Hurdiss as captain
Not bloody likely

Woody rides the golf cart all day
What did the chart really say?

BOYS: Fish it's time for you and Katz to have a heart to heart
GIRLS: We all know that she's in charge and has been from the start
STAFF: Judges where you're heading, be sure to count us out
On the quad, in the realm is where we'll hang about

Nati and DC are awfully tight
Jamie best get ready to fight

Jenny goes crazy
Fisher says something
Meltzer loves Stecher
Nati says nothing
All war!

This song is getting wildly out of wing
As you have just heard us sing! (x2)

Baba O'Riley

Out here in the fields
We fought for what's real
We built this lead and now we're winning

White put up a fight
Green proved our might
The Panthers' wrath was unforgiving

Nati don't cry
Fish dry your eyes
Your jokes can't save you this time
Jenny fought with pride
With Meltzer at her side
All Stars are tired
They can't go on much longer

Lazy Day is near
Green victory is clear
Let's start up the cheer because It's all over

BOYS: It's all over
GIRLS: It's all over
STAFF: It's all over
ALL: It's all over
THE GREEN WON IT!

It's My Life

Panthers will leave White broken-hearted
Now's the time to finish what we started
This is a team that will make the Realm proud
Judges hear our voice
When we shout it out loud

CHORUS

It's our war
And it's now or never
Glory that will live forever
Panthers will keep running up the score
White it's time to hit the highway
We're going strong
We'll win it to-day
Panthers will keep running up the score
It's our war

This is for the team
That stood it's ground
For Meltzer and Jenny
We never backed down
Tomorrow we'll be lazy
And eat our steaks
Have fun at the Grandstand
We'll be at the lake

CHORUS

All-Stars tried to hide
But we hunted them down
Green team, again,
Let's sing it out loud

CHORUS

Boys of Summer

We were ready to fight
Green refused to lose
We could feel it in the air
We watched the White team bruise
Empty hearts, empty souls
White team is out cold

We're Rick and Molly's team
White should know what they're in for

CHORUS

Green is winning, White is in our dust
We have our hair combed back
And our sunglasses on
We have a feeling, this is our color war
But after tonight, we will be sure

There never was a moment when
We trailed behind the White
Even when they drove us crazy
We fought, fought with might
And we can't understand
What happened to the White
Judges listen now, as we win this fight

CHORUS

Out on the fields we've seen
Basketball, Softball and Tug-of-War
The little voices in our heads
Said don't look back
We know which team would win it
Green used force
We now stand here united
We wish you all good luck but ...

CHORUS

Solsbury Hill

Waiting for two months each year
In a world that's harsh and real
Always wishing we were here
Each long day so hard to deal
We keep in touch as best we can Recalling camper days gone by Thinking of our summer plan
Dreaming of that sunset sky

June arrives with that sensation
No longer just imagination
Our hearts going boom boom boom
Hey, we say, can't believe we're fine'ly coming home

First day back so much to say
Life the way that it should be Another mem'ry every day
In the place that sets us free
Gathered here from coast to coast
Forging bonds that never break
With those who we cherish most
It's a feeling you can't fake

Who would conceive of this connection?
The life we lead here is perfection
Our hearts going boom boom boom
Hey, we say, can't believe we fine'ly found our home

Sitting 'round the campfire light
Staring at the starry sky
Shedding tears on the last night
Dread the moment of goodbye
Knowing that we will return
Picks us up when we are low
All year long we dream and yearn
We'll always have a place to go

Return to our imagination
We can still feel that sensation
Our hearts going boom boom boom
Hey, we say, count the days 'til we can come back home

Kingdom Come (Alma Mater)

The winter sky, is gray as stone,
I miss the stars, of my true home.
When I go back, my heart will sing.
I wouldn't change a single thing.

And the seasons keep on turning.
Many summers blend into one.
I don't know which way I'm goin'.
But I know how far I've come.

The summer breeze, the sweetest sound.
Comes through the trees, and circles round.
I see your face, and you see mine.
For you I've waited all this time.

At Robin Hood, my seeds are sown
It's in my blood, and in my bones.
And I will wait, however long.
If you'll be there, to take me home.

Caress Me Down

Mucho gusto, we are the white team
We're the best looking guapos that The Realm has ever seen.
And if you wanna defeat the green
Just - take a tip from the Big Fish.

Green's upset 'cuz we got what they need,
A pretty little captain that we call Nati.
And if you're feeling weak in the knees
It will be over in a minute if ya

On the morning of Day One we began this trip
With our will and our skill we came highly-equipped.
And then we made the green slip, slip, slip.
They didn't know we had the G.I. Joe - Kung Fu Grip

Uhhh, you can't stop us now
Uhhh, Green is going down.
Uhhh, we're the best team around.
Uhhh, All-Stars hold it down.

When we beat the green it comes so naturally.
Blazin' through The Realm like a P.L.M.P.
On our victory lap, lookin' so breezy.
Hit the breaks, get our steaks, fo-sheeze.

Donde estan los Gastelums
They've been comin' to camp since they got out the womb.
When they comin' back, I don't know when Doesn't matter they can see us on ESPN.

Cuz we're the All-Stars and we're all so nice.
So fresh and so clean you can check us for lice.
We're the mighty white team and we flow so sick.
Breakin' green ankles since the jelly bean pick.

Uhhh, you can't stop us now
Uhhh, Green is going down.
Uhhh, we're the best team around.
Uhhh, All-Stars hold it down.

Uhhh, you can't stop us now
Uhhh, Green is going down.
Uhhh, we're the best team around.
Uhhh, All-Stars hold it down.

Superstition/Higher Ground

This war is getting vicious,
But writing's on the wall,
No team can hang with us.
Green's about to fall.

When we saw our captains,
Knew we'd have a blast.
White would make it happen,
Green would never last.

Chorus: We're a fierce white team and by now
all you Green should know better,
The White is here to stay.

Our little school of fishes,
Swept you in the lake.
And our Miami heat wave,
Makes Green sweat and shake.

Chorus: We're a fierce white team and by now
all you Green should know better,
The White is here to stay.

(Musical Transition to Higher Ground)

Judges, keep on judgin'
Green team, keep on trudgin'
The score, just ain't budgin'
Cuz we're gonna win the war,

Jamie, keep on spinnin',
While the white team, keeps on winnin'
Jenny is beginnin',
To pluck her eyebrows out.

Chorus: Chuck and Kidder representin' the goys
And Meltzer's makin toys for all the good girls and boys
Green team's schvitzin' and they're losin their poise
But we're just glistenin'
On our way to win the war.

Pascal, keep on waxin'
Big Woody, keep on relaxin'
Fisher, control those Saxons
While we blow the Green away.

Figgy, keep on believin'
That Marissa, is five foot even
Brandon, keep on recedin,
Till we win this color war.

Accidentally in Love

So I said what's the problem, Nati?
She said I don't know but maybe I'm in love
In love with the Mighty White All Stars
Never met a team so tough

Super cool and so good lookin'
When times are tough they just keep cookin'—
I'm in love
In love with the Mighty White All Stars
Strutting their stuff like this...

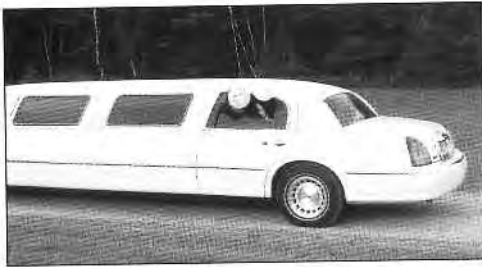

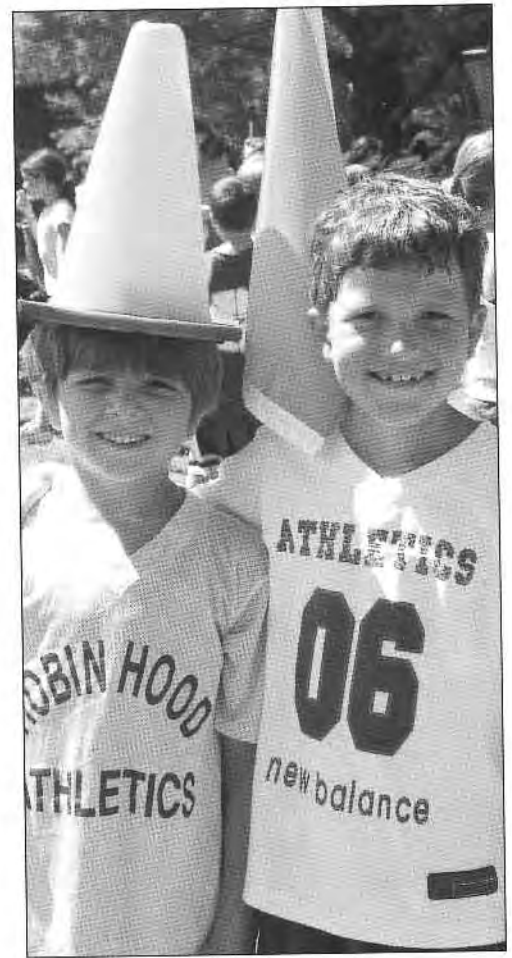

Come on Come on — Jump a little higher
Come on Come on — Fight down to the wire
Come on Come on — She's got the desire
And Loooooove — Nati's in love

So I said why you smilin' Fisher?
He said I don't know but maybe this is love
A love for an All Star white team
Beasting on the Green (pause)

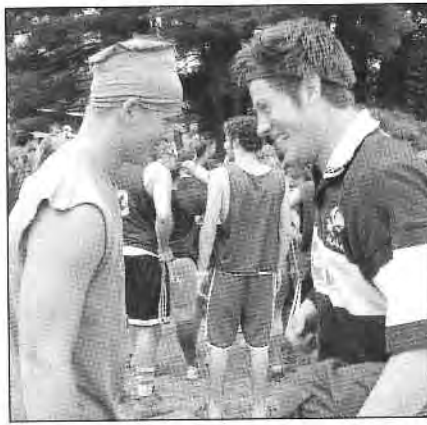

White's soaring high — like his Airness
Green's good but in all fairness we're the team
The team with the All Star line up
From the squires on up
Where can I sign up?

Come on Come on — Jump a little Higher
Come on Come on — Fight down to the wire
Come on Come on — He's got the desire
And Loooooove — Fisher's in love

Come on Come on — Jump a little Higher
Come on Come on — Fight down to the wire
Come on Come on — We've got the desire
And Loooooove — White Team's in love
