Camp Robin Hood's 88th summer began in the spring when we broke ground on the "Bluff," our most recently renovated cabin in Girls' Camp. With its breathtaking view of the lake, the Bluff will provide a special home for many girls in summers to come. We also renovated and enhanced the Senior Waterfront promoting greater use on a regular basis. Robin Hood campers are happiest when they are on the lake. The more access we can create to swim and play in Lake Ossipee, the better! Our campers are also happy when they are on land; adding a new field and a second GaGa Pit made for an even more active summer (which most didn't think was possible).

A summer of great weather allowed for a wonderful number of accomplishments. A record number of climbers successfully climbed Mt. Washington; many trophies were won from Inter-Camp competitions; and several players brought home hardware from USTA Tennis Tournaments. A great junior camp victory was had with our friendly rivals at West End Camp – hopefully foreshadowing future victories in Under 15 Boys Basketball Games! Our campers' successes and victories are the result of the individual attention they are getting through our ever evolving daily schedule, with a highlight being our Intensives and individual training and instruction.

Robin Hood campers love being together. Beach Day brought good weather and the best waves ever. We love having the entire camp together and watching young and old campers and staff interact. The Court Jesters returned to Robin Hood this summer. And of course, Excursions and Green and White were fun and spirited.

Our Group Leaders and General Counselors are devoted to making sure our campers have special summers. Our Specialty Staff work at their departments tirelessly to ensure that every activity period is fun and exciting. Celebrating 25 years this summer was exemplary specialty staff member – Riflery Counselor Steve Rupp. Campers are in Riflery from first period in the morning until evening activity. They shoot at rest hour, they shoot during free time. Steve's commitment to his department and to Robin Hood is truly cherished by all. We are lucky to have Steve as part of our Realm family, and hope he is with us for another 25 summers.

This summer also marked another epic anniversary; Chuck Illig's 50th summer at Robin Hood. We often talk at camp about loyalty, integrity and character – Chuck embodies all of those traits. He was our counselor when we were campers, our Head Counselor when we were on staff, and now is our advisor and mentor. As much as we have learned from Chuck about camp, we have learned more from him about being a good person and unwavering friend. Parents always tell us what a special place Camp Robin Hood is for their children; what makes us unique and special is our culture. We are a camp based on good values, where being kind and a good friend are more important than winning a trophy. Chuck has established this culture and for that we are eternally grateful.

We hope to see you over the winter, but certainly look forward to seeing you at the gas pump on June 24th, 2016 for Robin Hood's 89th summer.

With warmest greetings from The Realm,

TINKERS/PAGERS/JUGGLERS

TPJs, TPJs...It's time to finish up playing magic, put down the Rubik's cubes, stop shooting hoops, turn off the TV, and sit back and relax as we travel back through the most amazing summer ever. The TPJ's were the best group in The Realm and everyone knew it. I am honored that I was able to watch you all grow up and I loved every minute of the summer. Here we go...

Remember the first day? There were so many new faces. Dylan has been here for a couple days so he gives tours to people as they arrive and we play nonstop tetherball, basketball, and soccer all day until the Cleveland and New York buses pull in. Finally, we are 16 strong. Freddy helps Warsh pull down the numbers in the dining hall as a tradition. We start off the summer right with our first EA being GaGa. But wait, you can get back in if you run laps? What's the password? Cal becomes the counselor killer and I'm pretty sure the game never ended with a clear winner. Then, we get our Saxon buddies. You all spoke so well and I'm so proud of all of you.

Remember when...you guys were ready for the jelly, everybody attacked Weiss in the dining hall, Ignacio forgot Chuck, Dylan had one pair of socks in his laundry bag, Freddy and Aidan dominated pajama jump, Eliot and Caleb played football for their turn, Jasper purposely got out when we play Newcomb against the Bards in the rain so he could run, Freddy learned how to waterski, Sam and Beckett win the 3 on 3 tournament sponsored by Pepsi (I just watched the highlights again), Aidan ate eight apples in one day, and we turned the lake yellow?

Remember when...We celebrated Bryce and Beckett's combined birthday? Pizza Barn, Cozy Corner, and two cakes in one day! Weiss gave lessons about the government? Beck is the wipeout king, Owen always has Niall's things, Jack falls out of the boat sailing with Dick, Ignacio balls out as John Wayne, Eliot goes crazy in the shower, and the mini World Cup? Finn displays great sportsmanship and great play but the white team comes out on top. We challenge the Squires to bombardment and after being 2 against 7, Sam and Dylan pull off the comeback for the ages, but the Squires end up winning the next two games.

Remember our adventures? Fourth of July is a blast, especially the carnival and then the beach party. We hike Green Mountain, Freddy makes fifteen pit stops, almost an unfortunately timed one during the group picture, we get to go up on the tower at the top, what a great view, Jack falls twenty times on the way down the mountain chasing Mikey and Weiss. Intercamps... Caleb, Sam, Jack, and Dylan dominate the basketball tournament after Bryce, Owen, Beckett, and Ignacio beat West End in every single sport.

The two weekers leave and we are so happy Jack and Sam decide to stick around. All boys camp general swim and Sam gets into the belly flop contest, representing the TPJs well. Remember Beach Day? SO MUCH CANDY AND SO MUCH FUN! We learn how to play DummyBall. Jasper has the floatie tube and Blake tries to bring the whole beach home with him. We wrap up a great day by finishing up James and the Giant Peach.

Remember when...the Tumblers challenged us to bombardment and we came out on top, we raced the Jesters at tennis, Weiss gave everyone nightmares as the Joker, we went to the Mainers game, Bryce got all seven of his balls taken away for not listening, Blake ripped a dodge ball in half, Freddy and Josh killed it in our dance, Caleb and Cal owned the canoe waterslides?

Remember when...Owen wasn't right, Aidan didn't want to ride horses, Beck and Blake were standing up during GaGa, Cal was being serious, Bryce was frowning, Jasper was lower than a polite boy, Tyler wasn't playing basketball, Caleb missed a free throw, Eliot's area wasn't clean, you all were not holding sticks...WE DON'T!!!

Finally, the moment we have all been waiting for, Teruaki arrives!!! We are back to ten strong. We challenge the Bows to GaGa and Blake almost makes the comeback five against one by running in circles. We stay at the outpost and play kill the carrier in the Far Far Field. No one got that hurt. Finally, we all fall asleep outside to a beautiful starry night. But wait, did Green and White break? Nah, it's just McDonalds!!!! PVD arrives; we obviously won the talent show dance with "Animals" even though we did not face paint. It was awesome to meet all of your parents and Hugo! Unfortunately we have to say goodbye to Eliot, Sam, and Caleb. However, as a last EA, we get to go TUBING!!!!!!!!

Down the stretch we come. The last three weeks, my favorite, are here! The Green and White Scavenger hunt comes down to less than one point, but the White Angels defeat the Green Goblins (barely.) We turn Beck's red face into white. I accidentally step on the baby mole, Teruaki and Bryce are devastated, but thankfully Niall is there to hold the service. We play kick the can and Steve is a legend.

Remember... Flash wins us a trip to cozy corner, Bryce and Blake get ice cream all over their hair, Bryce then gets banned from remember whens, Cal and Blake get ten feet of air while tubing, while Jasper never falls off. Tyler and Blake play intercamp kickball, but we fall just short, Beck gets nailed in the face by Weiss in our own kickball game and wipes out, Freddy kills it with the minion's voice.

Excursion!!! We start it off with a trip to Story Land! After a couple trips on Bamboo Chutes and the Roarosaurus, you guys are finally happy to be there. Mikey and Weiss "win" the duck playing the game. Tyler, Cal, Bryce and Jasper have the SPLASH battle! After a long day there, the rain comes down just as we are heading back to our campsite. We grab a quick dinner there then head out to see Minions! I'm not sure what was going on but it was awesome. We go to bed early because the next day we headed to Cranmore. After a couple hours on the high ropes, we take advantage of all the rides, especially the Mountain Coaster. Finally, after another long day, it is time to head back to camp and get excited for green and white.

As the excitement for Green and White builds, we kick it into high gear. We wait in anticipation to find out if it's going to break on Founder's Night! Chuck gets his jacket...

it's a Fake Break!!! We go to bed so amped up and are woken up early to drummers! We run down to the waterfront and the judges hop out of the speedboats. Congratulations to Cal and Jasper for being voted captains. All eight of you absolutely killed it and even though I was not able to attend every single event, I heard some awesome stories about how great your sportsmanship was and how much effort you all gave. After five intense days, the White Commodores come out on top! Thanks for a great war Green Empire.

Lazy day is here and we all get our donuts. Bryce, Cal, and Beck make the trip out to the Homerun Diamond to visit the captains. After a sleepy morning, the afternoon picks up and ends with a new game, Keymi ball! We finish off the day with the picture hunt. GL swap day! I had a lot of fun with the Jesters, but I missed you guys! Lainey enjoyed her afternoon with you! Our last EA is infection with the Squires.

Out of my ten summers, I can honestly say this was my favorite. Your love for camp inspired me and you are all such great kids. I can only hope that you all keep coming back for as long as you can so that you can get just as much out of camp as I have. I look forward to coming back every year to watch you guys grow up and enjoy this place. I love you all.

To my staff - You were all so awesome. You each loved camp and the kids in different ways, and together I think we made up the best staff in camp. My job was made so much easier because of you all and I cannot thank you enough for all you did. I hope you all end up coming back if you can.

Aidan Puri – Aidan, Aidan, Aidan. Wow, you have so much energy. There was never a time I saw you when you weren't doing something; whether it was reading, picking up bugs, or just being simply high energy, you were always keeping the group alive and busy. I really hope you come back next year for longer, because the group and the horses missed you a lot once you left.

Beck Milacci – Beck, you are awesome. It is very hard to come for a full summer your first year at such a young age, but you absolutely killed it. You had a large presence on camp, and you enjoyed almost every second. I really hope to see you back for years to come.

Beckett Sobel – Beckett, you had your ups and your downs this summer, but when you were at your ups, you were simply awesome. You're such a smart, athletic, caring kid who always looks out for other people. It was a pleasure to sleep in the area next to yours because you always kept it so clean. Unfortunately, you were only able to stay two weeks this summer, but hopefully next year you'll be able to stay for longer.

Blake Lipman – Blake, it must have been weird not to be the youngest boy in Boys' Camp anymore. You definitely matured since last year. I'm so glad that you were able to be more of a leader this year and it was evident that you were one of the leaders in the group. I can't wait to see you back next year.

Bryce Lippard – Bryce, I honestly cannot remember a time where you were not smiling. You were always so happy, and it rubbed off on everyone else. I remember asking you how long you were staying during the first week and you already told me you decided to extend for the full summer. You are a leader in the group and you will do big things.

Caleb Newman – Caleb, I could tell from the first day how much you enjoy camp. Everything you did was done with a purpose, and it was awesome to see that. You are a very good athlete and you might have the most consistent foul line jump shot of any eight year old I have ever seen. I know you would love green and white so much so next year you should be here for it.

Callum Rodin – Cal, you are awesome. You are not that good at keeping a straight face, but you made every activity so much entertaining and your laughs and good spirit really made everyone else so much happier. I'm glad you were here for the whole summer and I cannot wait to see you grow and mature at this place.

Dylan Karnstedt – Dylan, you got a couple days worth of a head start on your peers this summer and everybody absolutely loved you in pre camp. By the time the rest of the TPJs showed up, you had gained a pretty good understanding of camp and were willing to share that with everyone. Keep coming back because I know how much you loved it and it was awesome seeing it. Hopefully you'll be here for longer next year.

Eliot Lepinay – Eliot, I was told that you were a quiet, shy kid, but you had so much energy all day every day and you had a big presence within the group. I feel like you really came out of your shell this summer and I loved watching you be the outgoing, funny guy that you are. I really wish you could've stayed longer but maybe next year!

Fin O'Donnell – Fin, you entered The Realm with a big personality. After a couple days, you started to really enjoy yourself. You killed it at soccer and during our mini World Cup you had some of the best sportsmanship I've ever seen from a 9 year old. I wish you could've stayed for longer so you could've done the play date at West End but there's always next year!

Freddy Rosenthal – You are perfect for camp and camp is perfect for you. You have so much energy all the time and it is awesome to see that. You have such a bright future at this place as long as you continue to come back and listen to your counselors. I hope you continue to come back for as long as your brothers.

Ignacio Estevez – Ignacio, coming to a different country at such a young age is extremely difficult, but you made it look so easy. Right away, you made friends with people who live halfway across the world from you. Your English improved so much over the summer and your excitement and personality shined throughout the summer. I really hope to see you back next summer for more than two weeks, John Wayne!

Jack Zeid – Jack, you are incredibly curious person and you clearly put a lot of thought into every decision you make. You are very smart and I loved seeing you grow and become more and more outgoing and a larger part of the group as the summer went on. Keep gelling your hair and hopefully you'll be back next year for more than just a few weeks.

Jasper Karlson – Jasper, you are a really great kid. Sometimes, I forgot whether you were a counselor or a camper because you listened so well. I am so proud you were voted captain because you definitely deserved it. I'm extremely glad you came back this summer for the whole time and I hope that continues.

Owen Lenox – Owen, you're simply the man. You were always first on the benches and there was never a time where you didn't listen. You're such a kind, caring, helpful person and at some times it seemed like you were almost a counselor. I really wish you could've stayed for more than two weeks, because you would love green and white. Hopefully next year you'll be back for longer.

Sam Slesh – Sam, I am incredibly happy you decided to extend two more weeks and become a four-weeker. It was clear early on how much you enjoyed almost all of the activities. We had our ups and our downs, but I always knew that you meant well because you have a very good understanding of how things work. I hope you are back for the full summer next year!

Teruaki Nakajima – Teru, flying halfway around the world by yourself to come to a place where you know very little of the language is extremely courageous. That being said, your English improved so much over the few weeks you were here and it was so obvious that it did. I really think camp is the best place to learn English and be happy. It was amazing to see you do both.

Tyler Cromwell – Tyler, you came into The Realm at the perfect time. You got to taste the best two parts of camp – excursion and color war. You were not shy to be a loud part of the group, and we were all made better because of you. You killed it during Green and White because you're amazing athlete. I can only hope you come back next year.

SQUIRES

Squirrrrrreee Squuuuaaad!

Take a moment and put down your Magic cards and poker chips to reflect on the best summer ever! This, by far, has been my favorite summer ever and I can't wait to see you guys grow up and become exceptional young men that everyone knows you are.

Squires, we took The Realm by storm by establishing our group identity as those "cute fun kids with the flashy red hats." Everyone in camp knew that the Squire Squad would be a large presence this summer, despite our age and size. Remember our first evening activity of Spud on the Quad? Danny receiving the first paddy wagon of the summer, way too many ghost numbers, and Chaz's sick, off the back, catch. Remember Sobel's frequent Odell Beckham catches, the Niall dance, Wheeler hitting Lenox with a football straight to the dome? Remember Nate Dogg balling in basketball all summer long and making a statement in the Pepsi 3x3 tournament and the epic match of JC bingo you all loved? Remember our first tubing period and Goodman's and Theo's epic air lift? How about when Nate Dogg became "The Chosen One" and "balled out" with the Court Jesters?

After a great first, fast paced week, we took on the second week by storm and traveled to our rival camp, West End, and actually "swept the afternoon" and crushed them in Newcomb, Basketball, Softball, and Soccer and then celebrating with Cozy Corner. Remember when Fentress caught a fish with his bare hands...that was dead, all boy's camp camper hunt, and building sand villages at the waterfront? July 4th quickly rolled around, and everyone had a great time and pigged out on some great food. Remember when Chuck and I got married and Chase and Jackson got divorced at the marriage booth? DJ Wood emceed an epic beach party end an awesome day!

Not only did we have a blast when we were in camp, there was never a dull moment when we left camp. We killed in intercampus, especially the 10U Basketball Tournament, where we placed 3rd, after a huge win over Winaukee. The Squires also had an amazing hike up Red Hill where we saw unbelievable views of Lake Winnie of Squam. It seemed like everyone had a great time especially when I said no one could run down the mountain and everyone did! We made it down in 36 minutes. I think that's a record! After the quick trip down we went into an old country store and all bought some good ole fashioned sodas.

Remember playing dizzy kickball like a fraternity, or feeling the wrath from bombardment? Remember playing extreme pirates while sailing, my negotiating skills when we had instructional swimming, the Mainers game, our creative gaga games, intense gold rush games, our fun at gymnastics doing tricks and jumps on the trampoline, or water dodge ball?

I couldn't be more proud of you guys that we won every challenge that came our way. We crushed the TPJ's, Archers, and Shires in bombardment, and the Jesters in Gaga. I know you will be a force to be reckoned with as you guys grow up and get challenged more.

There was no doubt the Squire Squad knew how to compete, but it was awesome to be able to be serious and appreciate camp as a group, especially at our campfire. It was a great bonding session for all of us. There were also some laughs after Chase's boom stick actually worked and we put out the fire in an effective way. Remember when Lips and Pierce drove the golf cart, when I broke the bat hitting upper-decker trees, Connor tubing, Pierce slamming the ball on ground in the bunk and then coming straight up and hitting him in the face? Remember the tales of Mr. Dolphin, all Boys' Camp infection, the murder of Mr. Mole by Toby, Wheeler almost killing Ben, losing my sunglasses at the senior camp waterfront and then the Henschel rescue team coming in and saving the day, Pierce's Wopping, and our innovative game of archery lacrosse goal soccer?

It was very sad to see our two and four weekers leave, but I know all of you will be back for longer next year. We gained some great kids and made the best of our last three weeks in The Realm. We kicked off the second session by going on a great excursion! Starting the trip at Whale's Tale with the trap door waterslide and the toilet bowl waterslide was amazing. A trip to our campsite for a rainy fajita dinner followed by the Minions movie, was a great way to avoid a stormy evening before the clouds parted and we camped out. Breakfast in the morning of breakfast burritos, cereal and APPLE PIE made for a great morning before heading to Cranmore. There was so much to do with various ropes courses and, the fan favorite, the Mountain Coaster. We also encountered a staff Chinese fire drill in traffic which was one of the highlights of the summer. Remember some of our favorite quotes "deck in a box", "I'm in love with the Danny", and "I don't wanna slip slip slip... slide!" After excursion we got into some intense blueberry picking thanks to Adam and eventually ending up enjoying some of the best blueberry muffins I have ever had. Then when the morning of August 4th rolled around, a drum line woke us up outside of our bunk and led us to the Quad and then to the waterfront where Green and White officially broke. We elected Chase and Toby as captains and Jack and Sobs as co-captains. They did a great job leading our group for five days. Remember the intense Gaga game and JT balling up in the G&W basketball game? It was an amazing color war that was very high-spirited with intense competition. The Green Empire fought hard but The White Commodores came out on top after a late Day 4 comeback. I hope you all enjoyed Green and White. It is my favorite five days of summer at Robin Hood.

Every single one of you has so much to offer to the group, and camp, and I believe have great futures ahead of yourselves. Know that I will always be here for you guys no matter what. We will always be the Squires of 2015 and we will always be best friends. Love you all!

SQUIRES

Adam Marx – You clearly made everyone know you by your generous giving of freshly picked blueberries this summer. It takes a lot of courage to come into a place you've never been before and leave that big of an impact on the whole camp. You live on the edge and that can be a positive and a negative, but always remember that people will like you as long as you continue to be yourself. You have a huge heart...share it with the world.

Austin Goodman – Your love for camp is unprecedented and you always have a smile on your face when I see you around The Realm. I hate to say it but your style is very lacking, who wears khaki pants in the middle of the summer? All jokes aside, you are a great kid and truly know how to have fun no matter what the activity is. Keep coming back because I feel that you have a lot to offer Robin Hood when the future comes around.

Ben Kreindler – Although you were quiet during the first couple of days, you really came out of your shell throughout the 4 week stay. You are very mature kid. You constantly helped clean the bunk, and were always very kind to other group mates. Hope to see you in The Realm next year.

Charlie Jones – Despite coming into a foreign environment, you made the most out of the time you had at camp. You were always there to make everyone laugh and you easily fit into a established group with ease. Hope to see you next summer Chaz!

Chase Brooke – I feel like me and you had the best summer ever this year. It was so cool to see you participate and give it your all in every activity especially when you delivered hard hits in team handball. You were also a great leader in Green and White when your peers elected you to be there captain for five days due to your leadership and experience. Keep coming back because camp is a place for you.

Christian Scott – After coming late, it seemed like you solidified all the relationships with your bunkmates that you did last year. I love that I can count on you to make new campers feel welcome when they come into The Realm. You are always helpful when cleaning around the bunk and you seem to be expanding your friendships to all ages as I always see you having a blast with older groups.

Eli Sobel – Sobs, you had an amazing time at camp this summer and truthfully, I always saw you with a smile on your face. You are probably one of the funniest kids I have ever met and you are clowning all the time and that's why I love you so much. You remind me a lot of myself and everyone can see your love for this special place.

Jack Fentress – First off the Rangers are better than the Islanders, period. You were a great addition to the group, and everyone was thrilled you stayed longer than scheduled. You were always there to crank out some cheesy knock-knock jokes in the bunk. I hope you will be able to make it back for Green and White next year.

Jack Kops – I am so glad you found your calling through so many activities at camp, especially gymnastics. Counselors can trust that you will do whatever we say with no questions asked and a huge grin on your face. I feel we are very similar in a lot of ways, especially the fact that we share a special connection with one of our parents, which is the greatest place on Earth, camp. Everybody loves you and respects you and I believe you have a promising camp career ahead of you at Robin Hood.

Jack Levine – J-ROC, it feels like you were made for our group. To come into a new environment and be able to fit in so well, and make friends so easily, is really a compliment to who you are. Keep being funny; keep Nate Wildman – Nate Dogg, you are truly one of the greatest athletes I've seen perform at your age. No matter what activity you play, new or experienced; you always seem to dominate in what you do. You also never complained about anything, no matter what the task was. You are one of the sweetest and silliest kids that I have ever met and I know you will have a long and great future in The Realm.

Pierce Terowsky – Purrrrree, you are clearly one of the goofiest and sweetest kids in the cabin and everyone looks up to you. Everyone can always count on you to bust out a funny joke or remark when the group is having a tough time or at a low point. You always seem to make any activity fun despite the group's feeling towards the activity. Much love and keep coming back.

Takeshi – Even though you came for only five days, it was awesome for you to get a little taste of Green and White. You clearly made the best out of your limited time here and killed it at every activity. I hope you come back next summer for longer because everybody loves to have you around and I feel like you can learn a lot more English.

Theo Drye – Ever since you stepped foot off the Westchester bus, you brought a ton of enthusiasm to the group. At activities you were always giving it your all. You always had a good balance of being serious and being funny. I enjoyed watching you feel Connor's wrath tubing. I hope you can stay the full session next year.

being you. I can't wait to see you at camp for longer next summer.

Joel Taylor – JT, you clearly had no problem coming into a new environment and making some best friends. I glad you came for the last session because you killed it during Green and White, especially basketball. You do have killer dance moves, but I think one day down the road I hope you will own up to my challenge of a dance off and see who the real champion is. I hope you keep coming back because you are such a sweet and funny kid and thrive at camp.

Max Lenox – You are truly one in a million and a camper that every staff member dreams of. You never hesitate to help out others before yourself. You also don't allow your age to be a barrier in making best friends with everyone in the group. You were a beast in the West End play day and we all were very sad to see such an amazing kid like you leave early, but I know Robin Hood is in your DNA.

Max Lippard – Lips, you were clearly loving every moment of the summer and made the most out of it by "never wasting a minute." You are also a very respectable young person who deeply cares about the well being of others before yourself. I am so thrilled you enjoyed Green and White and it really is true that everyone can love and participate in color war at Robin Hood.

Toby Bloch – You are clearly a leader of the group, and everyone knew it when you stepped up to the plate and were the Green team captain. No matter when someone is down, you are always the first person to help him up to have a great summer like I know you are having. No matter how many questions you ask, I will always be there for you whenever you need it.

Tyler Lipman – I am so glad as the summer rolled by you changed how you felt about certain activities because when you give it your all, everyone seems to have a better time. You are a very funny and sweet, sweet kid at heart and you always mean well. You are always looking out for your friends and making sure they are having an equal or better time at camp than you are and I greatly appreciate it.

ARCHERS

A-Team

It's time to stop playing the competitive magic games, finish up that last page of the 8th book you've all read today, and remember the summer of 2015.

The A-Team's Founding Fathers began with 17 young gentlemen that had finally made their way out of the legendary Junior Camp bunk. Remember when, just hours into the beginning of the summer, it absolutely down poured all over camp. That didn't stop us boys. We all broke in the new Gaga pit, soaking wet, and the summer was officially under way. After a killer dance party in the D-Hall for dinner, our first evening activity was a very intense game of Newcomb. Remember the Peas and Bowties? Obviously a Pickles original.

Remember our first challenge? On a rather rainy afternoon, the Archers took on the Yeomen to the crazy game that is Scalp. It wasn't our highest moment of the summer, boys, but we had fun. Remember when the Sprinkler arrived at The Realm? I know Matthew Humphrey does! Remember when Mason became totally convinced that the Apples in the Dining Hall were 2 dollars. Thank you Sobel. Remember when Barone told Wheeler "there ain't going to be any weak boys on mah tube?" Remember Fanny-Pack Itchio? Remember when Eli decided to tie the knot with his beloved wife, Brenda the Ping Pong Paddle? Shoutout to Nick Barone for his extreme skill in blind Gaga. Oh wait...

Remember Fitz's moves in the conga line? Remember our mountain trip? Went up day before fourth of July, Nathaniel chalks his sunscreen and the rest is history. Also Nathaniel, have you continued to swing webs across the streets of New York? From what I remember, and Fitz can attest to this, you were Spiderman on the tube. Did the Friars steal Graham's BAE???? Archers, you either take your shirt off, or stack...

Remember when Fitz threw in a hog at tubing? Infirm does, thanks for playing. Remember "As they say in Tokyo?" Remember the Junior Camp Talent Show? Graham and Dodge can somehow see into the future, Pickles and Mason show off their acting abilities. Remember when Baumoeel gave us the lovely gift of adding mad libs to our group meetings, and gave his daily word every time we did one? Remember when Wissam had a moment out in center field? OY. Remember the crazy weines trend started by Wasserman? Remember when the Archers became the official group of Release Sunglasses? Again, thanks Max.

Remember what is always one of the best days of summer, that being beach day? The birth of Jamel Dodge. Jamel, I've heard you are a large fan of roses...The weather was perfect, waves were high as always, and the soft serve ice cream on the boardwalk was so nice. Remember when we were boarding the bus to go back to camp and Wissam had a little problem with the security? Wissam, thanks for the gum – we really enjoyed it. Remember Graham's six-minute shower? Looks like we never got that E.A. We all came back to camp for a cookout, and then had the unprecedented round of all boys camp camper hunt. I hope as you all continue your camper careers, you'll actually learn to hide in spots that aren't easy to find. Remember when we went to the outpost and created the sunscreen drawings? Yikes...Ugh...cancel!

Remember our group dance? A few nae-nae/whips to begin, then the Humpdaddy takes over during No Hands, and we closed with one of the sickest dance moves I've ever seen in The Realm with Chandelier. Remember Pickles attempt to chalk normal Mad-Libs for Meow-Libs? RIP.

Remember when the 4-Weekers said thanks for playing, and excursion came around. Hahahahaha!!!! You all got dooooooped!!! But when we did actually did go on excursion, it was unreal. First stop Monkey Trunks in Weirs Beach, followed by lunch at the Lakeside Deli in Meredith, some ice cream at Kellerhaus, the whack form of bowling at Funspot, steak dinner at the campsite, drive-in movie and finally Whale's Tale.

We got back to camp; everyone knew Green and White would break at any moment. Break comes at 5:45 in the morning, next thing we know, the two captain titles belong to Andrew Schmidt and Amos Blumberg, co-captains Jake Baumoeel and Mercer Kruzner. Both teams fought very hard throughout the entire war, and in the end, white came out on top. I was very pleased with the sportsmanship that was displayed throughout the entire war, for both teams, which just gives me more hope that one day you guys will be the best group in camp.

All of this being said, this summer would have never been this magical had it not been for my fantastic staff...

Max – You have the ability to get the best out of every person's personality, which is a trait not everyone can boast about themselves. I knew that when I became a GL, I wanted you to be on my staff because I strongly believe that our personalities work well together. You are a really easy person to talk to, and a very funny one. Our relationship skyrocketed this summer, and I could not be happier. I hope to see you rocking the clip soon.

Sobs – Whenever I needed you to do something, you were on it. No questions asked. I don't think you understand how important that is for a GL. But you will. The amount of work that you put in for all 49 days was tremendous. You are not afraid to do the work no one else wants to do, and I really appreciate that. Your family is practically Robin Hood Royalty, so it's no surprise that you killed it. Thank You for what you did, and like with Max, I believe our relationship drastically changed for the better this summer.

Sean – SCOTLAND! Never have I met such a cool guy that is a pro with clay. This came as no surprise to me, but once I first met you, I knew you were going to be a hit in The Realm. You personality fits Robin Hood's culture in so many ways. I hope you agree with me when I say that you and I are good friends, because I value you as a great friend. Hope to see on staff once again. Have fun at McDonalds.

Khalil – You are such an easy person to be around. You are always calm, cool, and collected, and I feel very comfortable to have serious conversations with you. Even though your days were spent on the waterfront, you still were able to form great relationships with each and every one of our campers. Come back please!

Archers of 2015 – You will always be my first boys. I have come to know and love each and every one of you for who you are. As I stated throughout the summer, I see such a large potential within this group. Continue to be yourselves, and be the group you are. Most importantly, don't just keep coming back, but come back with a purpose. I hope to see y'all as Yeomen, walking off the bus in June of 2016. One Love, Meister.

Amos Blumberg – Relax mon. I hope as you're reading this you are 360 no scoping the crap out of someone on COD. You are one of the coolest people I know, and by far the coolest 11 year old I've ever met. I was very proud of the way you led the green team in color war, your leadership skills were on display throughout the entire war. Clearly people find you as a leader of this group, so continue to do you.

Andres Tello – Your time at The Realm this summer was limited, but you lived it up. Which gives me a sense of hope that you have started to realize camp is such a small portion of your life, and before you know it, it's gone. Keep believing that, and continue to just dominate in Ultimate Frisbee.

Andrew Schmidt – Your maturity is just through the roof. You always make the right decisions, you lead by example, and you are a great friend. Each and every day I admired everything you do, because you were always doing it right. Don't stop what you are doing, because it's working very well. Chill with the conditioner though...

Christian Ziebold – We got a headband here! You are one of the most likeable kids

I've ever met. I never saw you with a frown on your face, (I'm pretty sure you don't even know how to) you always did what was asked of you, and you have a good sense of clothing. Keep wearing the Vineyard Vines and Patagonia. I hope to see you signed up for seven weeks next year, because Robin Hood needs kids like you.

Eli Greenfield – You are one heck of a smart kid. The amount of stuff that you know as an eleven year old is just appalling. You are the perfect example as to why Robin Hood can bring out the best in any person. I hope that you know that already (which you probably do), but if you don't, please start to realize that because you are a vital member of the Saxons of 2020.

ARCHERS

Gonzalo de Ruz – Mi Hijo... I know for a fact that you would die for The Realm. You understand how little your time really is at camp. You make my job very easy, because you are always doing the right thing. I can tell from your body language that all you want is to be at camp and be with your group, you cherish every moment. That's an awesome trait to have at such a young age. You are orge 2.0. Have fun with your wif at home.

Graham Napack – I see a lot of very important traits in terms of being a leader that you already have. Your personality is a perfect match for camp. I can see each and every day just by your body language that there is a special place in your heart for camp. I hope you will use your love and the traits that you have to become a leader of this group.

Henry Flug – Hank the Tank, what can I say. I always loved to spend time and chat with you, whether it would be walking around camp or just chilling in the bunk. Your smile is infectious, and it results in others to smile as well. You were not just a good friend to all of your groupmates, but a friend the rest of the staff, and me, as well.

Jake Baumoel – Robin Hood has such a large meaning in your life, and I know that you take it very seriously. I have watched you grow since being your Saxon brother, and I know that you love this place more than anything else. You found your niche immediately, and I know big things are coming for you as your camper years go on.

James Fitzsimmons – You are built for this camp. Your personality, smile, and kindness light up the room. I hope your lip feels better. Keep coming back...you breathe Robin Hood.

Mason Kasimov – Never was there a moment the entire summer where I had to tell you to do something twice. Thank you for being who you are. It comes as no surprise to me that your mother was CRH's most distinguished lady, because clearly she taught you what's right and what's wrong. Robin Hood is meant for you, and you are meant for Robin Hood. Hail to the Victors.

Matthew Humphrey – The one, the only, the HumpDaddy. You are such a happy and positive kid, all the time. You can turn good situations into great ones and bad situations into good ones. I believe that you strongly live by the phrase, Don't Waste A Minute. You didn't stop going the entire summer, and you enjoyed every moment you had. I'm still trying to learn your dance, please help me next year.

Mercer Kruzner – Dude, you're so frat. Please don't change anything that you do. Camp needs more people like you. You fit into this group like you had been here before, and you instantly became a leader as well. These two things are incredibly hard to do, and you made it look easy. Maybe soccer isn't for you though...

Nathaniel Hill – You have a large love for camp, and I see it in your eyes every waking moment of the day. I think your love for camp might be higher than your love for books and horses!! Keep doing you, because you've found your niche at The Realm.

Nick Barone – Gosh darn, you are just adorable. Every word that comes out of your mouth makes me want to laugh. You breathe camp, and everyone knows it. 5 years as an Archer is a title only a select few have. You are in good company my friend, and I can't wait to see you in the summer of 2016.

Noah Grossman – The competitor in you is comparable to some names like Manning, Brady, Bryant, Jordan, etc. There is never a moment where you are not giving 110%, and that's the way it should be. You are a model as to how each camper should participate in every activity. Keep brining hot sauce, I need that good good during meals.

Oliver Snidow – You are the definition of a happy person. There are two things that are in your package. The first is a book that is glued to your eyes, and a smile on your face is the second. Both of these things are very important to be a happy person. Through reading, you gain knowledge, and knowledge tends to lead to success. The other is pretty self explanatory, but when people see you, you are the kind of person that lights up the room.

Sebastian "Pickles" Karlson – You continue to be a hit, all around camp. You want to know why? Because you have no fear of being who you truly are, and that's so awesome. That's what camp is meant for. You want to lose the idea that you're going to get made fun of, and that train has definitely left the station for you. Continue to take The Realm by storm, everyone loves who are and what you do for camp.

Wissam Ezzedine – WISSAM! WISSAM EZZEDINE! It did not take long for you to become a camp character. You went from the quiet and nervous child from Lebanon to the kid that everyone knows around camp. I'm so happy you found your comfort zone at camp, and I can't wait to see you next year.

YEOMEN

Remember when the first group of pledges arrived? Upsilon Mu was established on June 28th 2015. From then on we embodied the brotherhood and respect that comes with being a part of a fraternity. Oliver Grynberg was the first Yeomen to arrive in The Realm. Right off the bat, Oliver "OG" made his mark as a rookie camper by naming all the flags. We ended our first night with scalp and the memories continued from there.

Remember when Jacob became the Connect Four master? He played each and every game with his skills, and continually beat Mark and Abeer. Another rookie camper, Gavin Munnell (Greg Mundell), got up on a wakeboard for the first time then suffered his first bad wakeboard wipeout within a few seconds! Mark planned a great camper hunt, but didn't plan on running into a tree mid-hunt. Jake dawned the cape and cowl and became the Dark Knight. Cooper Strauss also learned his favorite word in Spanish, "comida."

Remember when Ian Schwam hit the whip on his kneeboard? DC and Woody followed up with the whip at the staff talent show. Mark and Kaptzan's a cappella group became an overnight sensation, while Josh's dance took The Realm by storm. Josh also astounded the group with his half-court shot ability. We were also introduced to Strauss's baby seal that made him famous. The whip craze ended when the Yeomen whipped with West End at 13U Basketball and proceeded to have a lot of fun throughout the game.

Remember Andres's lucky Sugar Daddy? After losing two teeth in the same piece of candy, Andres earned himself first in line for Sunday Sundaes. Logan Alderman also made his appearance in The Realm and brought a whole new energy to the group.

Logan made sure we could all hear his mighty roar, which turned out to be a little cat squeak...but a ferocious one at that! With ferocious roars comes ferocious activities and paddle boarding was no exception. The combat was minimal, but the sinking tactics were very well planned. This is when the Yeomen staff began to worry we had a group masterminds. We were right.

Remember the summer of the Rubik's cube? The staff put their heads down in shame as each camper timed each other to finish the complex little colored cube. Jesse has been the reigning champion since Day 1. The first sad days came when we had to say goodbye to Logan and Andres after their time in Upsilon Mu. However, both kids left with a BANG! Logan helped plan one of the greatest capture the flag games ever played! Andres gave us one of our best memories when we challenged the Lancers to a heated game of Capture the Flag and came out victorious.

Remember when the Archer's couldn't refuse to accept failure? Challenge after challenge, we absolutely destroyed them from bombardment to scalp, but they continued to seek us out for more. Taking our game to West End we saw a true showcase of talent. Brooks had the ball-handling skills of an average NBA player and made a name for himself in Robin Hood's basketball community. OG had a different set of skills that he showcased when he awed the group on the water ski boat by actually talking to a girl! From then on Caleb took charge and became the Bachelor. Caleb was the only real connection between the Yeomen and the Quills because he became the Quills' close friend.

Remember when Abeer became the Robin Hood legend? The Scottish-Pakistani woodshop specialty counselor, whose campers respected and listened to his words of wisdom, became an overnight sensation. Another foreigner arrived in The Realm, but was not here for woodshop. Canadia-Man swooped in from the 3rd floor to become a camp savior. However, Jack Shanahan revealed himself to be the red and white crusader and his hero days ended.

Remember when Sam beat his own corn dog eating record? That 11th corn dog was probably not an enjoyable one. Beach Day arrived and the eating didn't stop. Strauss ate three lobster bisques and the ice cream man tried to steal money from us. The beach was very enjoyable, but Henry's feet never touched the water. When we came back, Brooks became the ping-pong king. Tanner thought he was the king of cornerbacks, so he decided to #splitmeldareyou. It didn't work out in his favor. Cooper Malley's attack on a sprinkler had the same result.

Remember when Upsilon Mu took to the dance floors? With DJ Schumann at the helm, we were an unstoppable dancing force...HEADS WILL ROLL! The dance did not turn out the way we wanted it, but we had fun. How lucky were us Yeomen? Every day Brooks and Santi led the group through every activity with their high spirits and love for all sports. I am so thankful that I had two campers who could spark such a strong fire during basketball, softball, or even arts and crafts. Santi also just casually got up on a wakeboard on his first try and resurrected the whip on the same wakeboard.

YEOMEN

Remember when Jacopo, our favorite Italian tennis player, always provided a challenge in every activity. He seemed to be the best at everything except flushing toilets. #NoFlush. Liam Seiler initiated Plan Beta during the epic game of kick the can. The all-out charge towards the can was so successful we needed to change the rules. With Mark guarding the can in the wide-open soccer field, the game seemed impossible, but Schwam didn't quit. In an all out sprint, moving in serpentine patterns, Ian slid into the can and claimed the double candy canteen with a smile on his face.

Remember Parent's Visiting Day? The tears flowed from Mark's eyes after Ian, Santi, Brooks, Jacopo, and OG left after PVD. It's a sad day to remember, but when we remember the awesome times they all gave us we can smile again and wipe the tears away. Tosin and Angelo needed no introduction and returned to camp and jumped into activities without skipping a beat. They were veterans and our pledge class was complete. The days leading up to color war moved by fast, but Ginsberg always lived by the words of Dick Roberts, "Don't waste a minute." Jacob and Mark saved the life of Jim the Chipmunk after his cruel entrapment, by a camper who shall remain nameless. Jake became the captain of the S.S.D.C. and made sure he had his captain's hat on at all times. With excursion coming up, Coopar came to camp. The mathematician astounded us with his ability to add and subtract, but he would only come to camp when Cooper was away.

Remember Excursion Day 1 (aka the beginning of Vomit Fest.) Within 20 minutes of the van ride, VF claimed its first victim. After an awesome kayaking trip, we headed to laser tag and arcade games at UberBlast. VF claimed its second and third victim after our drive-in "Minions" movie (Jacopo made a cameo as Gru in the movie). The next day we made our way to Attitash Mountain adventure and all of the entertaining rides kept VF at bay. Liam Seiler was praised after winning "Britney Spears" at the shooting range and she is in our bunk watching over us every night now.

Remember Mark's home cooking? Steak fried chicken and chicken fried steak with a side of potatoes could not have tasted better. The food didn't sit too well with some and VF reclaimed its 3rd victim and took its 4th. We didn't make many friends at the campsite that night and met a man who claimed we were in his “living room” but we all know that a plot of grass is no living room. We then headed to Pirate’s Cove for an epic game of mini-golf where Cooper Malley got the highest score, so he obviously won! The last day started with a barrage of donuts and a two-hour trip to the biggest water park ever. A quick stop at McDonald’s for a dip in the play-space completed the best excursion ever!

Remember when Green and White broke? We had all been so tired from excursion that waking up at 4am after hearing a drum line seemed impossible, but the excitement around color war totally rebuilt the group’s energy. The activities began and the memories flowed in. Shanahan had the game winning Danish hit. Tosin sparked a huge comeback and won bombardment. The softball game came down to the wire. White set a Tug ‘o’ War record. The USS Spencer lasted longer than it should have. Ten judges watched the Gaga madness. Jake and Sam’s acting career was one for the books and Henry Rodin astounded the group with his voice. Seriously though, Henry is unbelievably good at singing. In the end, the White Commodores triumphed over the Green Empire.

Summer 2015 was amazing and was stoked to be asked back as a GL. You all are an incredible group of young men and I can’t wait to see you lead The Realm in years to come. Thank you for making this summer so great.

Alex Ginsberg – “Here comes the sun” Remember when you became a phenomenal color war captain? From the start I thought you were going to be a very quiet and reserved child, how wrong I was. You made our staff laugh every day and became a leader of our group within a few weeks’ time. You are easily one of my most memorable campers.

Andres Urmeneta – Remember losing two teeth in one sugar daddy? You were only here for a short while, but we really missed you the rest of the summer. You were always going 100% in every activity, and you were an even better teammate. The way you welcomed our new campers helped make them feel at home. Your passion for all things Robin Hood makes you a strong leader in The Realm.

YEOMEN

Angelo Casabianca – Remember when you discovered the Underground club? ‘Gelo you came way to late and I really wish you had been here for longer. You and I had a lot in common and you brought new life to the group after a lot of kids left. You are a fantastic basketball player and just an all-around great athlete. You beat my Green Empire, which makes me very upset, but you are a great competitor so I cannot be sad I lost to one of the Robin Hood veterans. I hope you come earlier next year!

Brooks Galbraith – Remember your survival skills in hunger games? You are easily one of the best all-around athletes in the group. Your natural leadership abilities make you a great competitor, and an even better teammate. You will absolutely kill it in color war, and we cannot wait to see you back for even longer next summer!

Caleb Nadell – Remember day one green and white basketball game? You will always be the Yeoman bachelor. Before green and white I appreciated how open and understanding you were, but after I saw your competitive spirit I saw a whole new side of you. You have become such a well-rounded camper and I hope I’ve played a small role in that. Thank you for a great year.

Cooper Malley – Remember the man in the fan? I’m convinced you found a way into that fan. A true camp character, you provided endless jokes for the bunk and provided everyone with the most memories. Your competitive spark inspired everyone during all of our activities.

Cooper Strauss – Remember Candy the Lion? Your competitive nature matched with your curiosity makes you one of the most hysterical campers. Every day I had a new “Cooper Strauss” story to share with fellow staff members. You are also one of the bravest kids in our bunk, fearing no challenge set in your way. Thank you for a great year and providing me with an unlimited source of memories.

Gavin Munnell – Remember your alter ego “Greg Mundell”? You started off as a rookie camper but became a Robin Hood veteran. You and I basically went through the same year being that it was both of our first years here in The Realm. We have such a strong relationship because we share that experience. I cannot wait to see you return to Robin Hood.

Henry Roden – Remember our comic books? Your positivity is contagious, and your helpfulness is outstanding. You made my first summer as Group Leader here at Camp Robin Hood a lot easier, and for that I am thankful. From rapping at the talent show to singing your heart out during green and white talent night I have been in awe of your singing talent.

Ian Schwam – What up Ringworm?! That nickname was as infectious as your forehead. We truly appreciated your maturity and respect for your fellow campers this summer. You made sure every activity was a memorable one. The intensity you bring will be great for color war. Keep coming back.

Jack Shanahan – Remember Canada man? It only took a week for your personality to come to life and to show everyone how energetic and competitive you truly are. When I got the news you were staying for the entire session I was overjoyed because I knew how well you would rise in the Camp Robin Hood ranks. There is not one person on this camp that has a bad thing to say about you. You are fantastic, thank you for one incredible summer and I hope to see you next year!

Jacob Greenfield – Remember your video game design... I would buy it. You have the mind of a thirty two year old scholar trapped inside a twelve year old body. You are my go to fact checker and my favorite intellect in the whole group. I could always count on you to explain any part of camp to me, or anything scientific that I did not understand.

Jacopo Mazzi – Your impressive athleticism and open-mindedness helped you to improve your English and get better at many activities. Your willingness to keep your area and the bunk clean was appreciated. The role you played in the group this summer is unforgettable.

Jake Kreindler – Remember when we could wear each other's shoes and you became my son? You are without a doubt one of the most mature campers; you definitely made my job easier for that reason. You embody the Robin Hood spirit with your second to none archery skills, but you will never beat me.

Jesse Schumann – Remember your absurdly loud fake laughter? During pre-camp I was informed you were one of the best kids on camp and that you would never be a problem, without a doubt I will be telling your Group Leader of 2016 the same thing. Your afro is only the tip of the camp character you are. I am constantly reminded of your enthusiasm for life when I see the way you interact with everyone on camp. You have such a strong head on your shoulders, I see such great things for you. Thank you for an amazing summer.

Liam Seiler – Remember our conditioning sessions? I remember working with you for a little bit last year and was very excited to pick up where we left off. It was great being your Group Leader but it was even better being your coach. The possibilities for you in the Lacrosse community are endless because of your strive for perfection. Your hard work will pay off, Go Hawks!

Logan Alderman – Remember when you created the baby tiger noise? The energy you brought in your short time here left a lasting impression on everyone in the group. Throughout the summer, we continued to tell reminiscence about the legend that is Logan Alderman.

Oliver "OG" Grynberg – Remember when you made a name for yourself on your first day at camp by naming all the flags in the D-Hall, earning yourself the lasting nickname OG. You arrived at camp brand-new and left a seasoned veteran. Your respect for everyone in the group helped you find a home that we hope you keep coming back to for many more summers.

Sam Rosenthal – Remember your Quantum Physics theories? I was told from the start that I had the most intelligent kids on camp, and you are no exception. You exude such strong confidence in every activity that you partake in. Your leadership skills only benefited the White Commodores and was a reason for their victory. On a side note, you are one of the fastest swimmers I have ever seen!

Santiago Balbontin – Remember when you sat still? Nope. Your constant energy was, while at times a handful, a vital part of what makes you a real leader in this group. Your athleticism and intensity during all activities sparked the rest of the group, and it is perfect for color war. We hope you can be here for G&W in the future so you can truly put your leadership qualities to use.

Tanner Slesh – Remember when your mom beat you down in Ultimate Frisbee? Your love for camp is truly unmatched. The way you interact with everyone is a sight to see. The kindness and compassion you have for others is what makes me confident when I say that Robin Hood is truly your home. How lucky you are to have the relationship you do with your sister, never lose that. Thank you for being a guiding hand in my first year in The Realm.

Tosin Odunsi – Remember your groovy dance moves? I'm genuinely upset I did not get to know you as well as the other campers. You were an incredible color war co-captain. Your constant positivity aided you in the success in our green Yeoman. I hope The Realm sees you around a lot more next summer. Thank you for a fantastic couple of weeks.

YEOMEN we will not start count off until you are on the real benches. No! Not those ones! ARE YOU EVEN BROTHERS???!!!

LANCERS

BOYS...Stop playing basketball, Luke turn the music off, stop eating all of your...snack, put on shoes and socks, scratch that, socks and shoes, scratch that, socks and Roshe's, throw on the flowbands and jerseys, and get on the benches because it's time to unlock the swag and relive the best summer of our lives. We're back and better than ever. LET'S GO!...Antonio? Luis can you go grab him from the Friar bunk?

Remember...day one, Cleveland and Westchester buses roll in back to back, followed by the school bus straight from Collegiate delivering our favorite contingent of intellectuals. Soccer for the first evening activity, and Marc makes it clear that his skills have diminished over the year as he kicks the ball into his own face. Zach finds his place in the goal before we turn it into a little impromptu game of capture the flag.

Remember when Luis miraculously knew all the words to the goodnight song on his first try...or maybe not quite all of them. Zach and Joey speak at the boys' camp campfire showing everyone the Lancers are a force to be reckoned with. Remember soccer in the rain? Everyone goes hard and warm showers never felt better. Remember our Austin Powers tease? I too like to live dangerously. Remember when George had the double hat trick in soccer and celebrated by hitting the worm extra hard?

Remember Mi Brudda's stellar dance moves in the talent show, celebratin' on a speedboat, making toasts with the San Pellegrino, Rybo destroying people's sundae's but not before he is the recipient of a nutmeg clinic from Antonio along with just about anybody else who can kick a soccer ball? Remember Ultimate Frisbee with the lacrosse goals? We learn that Mailman has a knack for flipping the sailboats; Khalid and George go 8-mile with the nightly rap battles, while Ethan and Mailman shred on the slalom skis every day.

Remember going to Cozy for Peter's birthday, but no mocha chip! Remember Marc's gymnastics onto the bench during gold rush...he really nailed those splits. Remember the basketball game at IA? Luke shows 'em how to cook after he brings us within 20, Peter hits a buzzer beater, but we can't seem to figure out if we should defend ourselves or the other team.

Remember the canoe trip, forgetting there are traffic laws out on the water, Phil Schmidt and co. bring up the rear by a solid half hour and Dick surprises everybody with candy on the lake. The Lancers get the ticket to the West End game to bring the noise, and Zach (almost) scores. Remember the fourth of July fair? King of the Hill in the bouncy castle, George shows the corn dog who's boss, and Oliver shows us all just how hard he can hit the Whip. Remember when there were many ants in Luis' bunk, when Harry was the teacher, and when Max on the paddleboard had a little collision with the Hunter, but luckily everyone made it out unscathed?

Remember the first dunk contest, Francesco rocks the rim, Zach throws down the windmill over Luke, Aidan puts it through the legs, Mailman dunks himself, and Joey crushes the 360 before going Air Jordan on us from the free throw line. Remember when George forgot to tell us he was a professional sailor, Jack and Gabe found their new pet Hermie but Max sends him to rest in the bottom of the lake: "You killed my dead fish!" RIP Hermie: your time may have been short but you are not forgotten.

Remember when Gabe and Fernando got soaked on the boat, stargazing with a side of McDonald's, and making new friends from West End at the 13U basketball tournament? We may have lost on the scoreboard, but we won in the fun column. Remember

Robin Hood Gives Back, picking up trash and making Ossipee Lake Road the most beautiful road in New Hampshire? Playing mafia but “nobody gets out because Ree-bo is Ree-bo” (– Max). Remember when Phil got up his first time waterskiing, the Australian Ziploc baggie, midnight McDonald’s all the way from Spain, Julien learning the guitar in a matter of days, and sweeping the Friars in basketball?

Remember the mountain hike? We embark on a very “technical climb” but unfortunately thunder- or ISIS, we still aren’t sure- forces us to turn back early. We audible to the waterfall and Max almost takes a quick dip in the river but Jack saves the day. Get some McDonald’s and return to camp, winning the day as usual. Come back to EA at the waterfront aka the first annual RKO fest, Khalid hits a bicycle kick in the water, and a shower party in the lake after Gabe and Max tag team Francesco.

Remember when Ethan didn’t bring his lacrosse stick to benches, Charlie wasn’t smiling, Luis and Fernando hated sailing, George wouldn’t talk, Collegiate kids knew grammar, Jake hated getting mail, CJ didn’t made us run at basketball, we knew what Max was saying, Antonio came to benches on time, Mathis couldn’t play soccer, and Rybo had a tiny head?...WE DON’T!

Remember beach day...we show up to some colossal waves, Max finds his mug, Luis comes prepared in jeans and sweatpants, Ethan flips Charlie off the rope, George and Harry bury their ice cream not long before it resurrects itself, Lancers dominate bodysurfing, everyone gets some delicious boardwalk food before we embark on our quiet, calm bus ride back to camp with the Foresters. Everyone sleeps well after a long day in the sun.

Remember the next day Aidan is healthy again and we celebrate his (belated) birthday with pizza, a pajama jump where we confirm that Rybo is CM, and another trip to cozy. Everyone wants to try some Ethiopian food but unfortunately they don’t have any. Remember the fake Green and White, Jake almost takes a Frisbee to the dome, we have a little scare with some fake blood, Oliver has a fake wake-up, and George shows us his smooth lines. With three weeks up, we must say goodbye to Marc, Jack, and Mailman, but luckily Crystal and Mathis arrive to fill the void.

Remember jumping to the ceiling in gymnastics, Crystal makes his presence felt right away in Gladiator ball, Vince flips off the tower while Max flips in the kayak, Harry Klosowicz transforms into Harry Potter. Remember the Winaukee soccer tournament? Bringing home the ship in style with the OT goal, WE GOT A BANNER!! At the same time our football team stays home to start the day off 3-0 including a 46-0 win over a Cody team that we will call 13U. Unfortunately the run came to an end but it was a great day for Lancer athletics.

Remember sleep-talking, tubing for EA, going so fast we just can’t seem to keep our clothes on, that one cloud looks kind of like a... smiley face! Remember the double challenge with the Arrows, breaking on the drop, Gabe brings home the Gaga challenge on the same day he skips his first rock, Khalid leaves his mark on people, and Oliver is just too tired?

Remember Visiting Day? Lancers dominate the talent show, team Barber takes over in small-sided soccer and not much later team Schmidt/Klosowicz take over the paint in basketball. Dr. Al-Mutawa hooks it up with McDonald’s that night. There’s nothing better to cuddle up with than a soggy cheeseburger. We learn that Gabe’s Gaga skills run in the family, and Jake just can’t help but to get Carly out. We discover that Lancers can have a chill boating period, but can’t stay too chill when Ricky discovers the massive bug in his area.

LANCERS

Unfortunately with the end of visiting day we have to say goodbye to some members of the group, but we can't wait to see everybody next summer. Not long before Lee, Hunter, Michael, and Will arrive and we are ready to strap in for the rest of camp.

Remember moving into one bunk, making it to lazy Sunday, wrestling in gymnastics, Lee sniping my flip-flop, the first annual Spikeball tournament (congrats to Ricky and Mathis), Will hits trees in his 2nd at bat, Lee takes some time off the set of Dolphin Tale 3 to make a sick one handed catch, Hunter brings a Bow into the Lancer bunk, and Michael refuses to fall off the tube.

Time for excursion – no dupe this time! Off we are to OSG paintball where Luke almost loses his marbles, Max has a failed surrender attempt, George runs a 4.4 to bring the flag home to the pink tape team, David shows Ricky who's boss, and Dylan avenges Rybo after Aidan gives him a few to the face. After a long hot day on the field, Lee nearly takes a fatal shot to the head but is able to power through and it's on to dinner. After a delicious steak and chicken dinner courtesy of Executive Chef David Jones and master grillster Peter Labes, it's time for some mini golf.

Arrive at Captain's Cove, Lancers can't putt it in the hole when it counts, but luckily we still have fun in the hurricane simulator. Off to Water Country the next morning to dominate the lazy river, until the lazy river fights back with Charlie. Labes loses an "odds-are" and wears a lifejacket in the wave pool, why can't that old guy swim?

Now we are on to the thrift store to turn our swag on for the baseball game to follow. After catching up on the latest styles, we head to Nashua to see the Nashua Silver Knights and their captain, Mike Rowe, in action. Lancers steal the show in the on-field games while Lee isn't quite as successful in his endeavors off the field. Come back to some s'mores and get to bed before an early morning.

A 5:30am wake-up can only mean one thing...Deep. Sea. Fishing. We make it to the harbor just in the nick of time and find a familiar looking Dick on the dock to join us for the morning. Rybo and Crystal are the boat's first victims, but after a while everybody gets their sea legs...except for Rybo. After a slow start, it's off to the races and these fish take our bait like it's an egg crate. In typical fashion Zach goes in for the first bite followed by Lee, in two heroic acts of courage. After making a few stops and hitting a couple jackpots, we set sail back for shore. Despite returning 3 rods short, everybody was able to reel one in...except for Rybo and Hunter who tried to take a nap on the return journey but woke up because something seemed a little fishy. No excursion would be complete without a quick trip to Wal-Mart, where Khalid and Zach found their secret admirer. Finally back to camp to show the dining hall our new swag from the Salvation Army Summer 2015 collection.

After a couple days of the camp routine all groups are back and it's open season boys. We head into Founders Night ready for the break, but only come out with two 5-year shirts (shoutout to Peter and Dylan), a 10-year vest (shoutout to this guy), our beautiful loft ladder, and a good ole fashioned fake break from the brass. Everybody back to the bunk and the hype is too real. Go to sleep with shoes on, wake up to the sound of the beat of the drum (shoutout to the losing team). Green and White is upon us.

Congratulations to Ricky and Peter on being elected camper captains, and Luke and Zach were holding them down as co-captains respectively. It's Ollie and Lainey's Green Empire vs. Peter and Podl's White Commodores. The Lancers went hard for 5 long days including a 3-point Green victory in basketball highlighted by two miraculous 3s from Charlie "Chef Curry" Zinamon, spectacular performances from Ricky, Will, and George to secure a commanding White victory in soccer, and a walk off hit by Aidan Barber to give Green the edge in softball. Hunter found his true talents as a wide receiver taking over after some in-game coaching adjustments and Ricky was fortunately able to redeem his near comeback in tennis with a huge win in the cracker eat. In the Geography bee, George Eustice of Collegiate School proved inferior as Khalid Al-Mutawa of Bayan Bilingual School sent him home. Lee represented the Lancers in the talent show, and if there's one thing we learned from all of this it's that whether Green or White, inspection is not our strong suit (10 points...blue?). After a great war from everybody, the White Commodores prevail by a margin of 135 despite trailing for the first four days.

The summer of 2015 was the best summer of my life and I hope you all feel the same way. Getting to be your Group Leader for two of the past three years has truly been an honor and I am so grateful that you opened your arms and took me into your group. Each and every one of you brings something unique to the table and the group would not be the same without all 29 of you. Watching you grow up over the past few summers has been a privilege and I am so proud of the young men you have become. I know you will all do great things in the future. Whenever I think about camp one of my first thoughts will be of the Lancers of 2015 and Archers of 2013. You are all a part of me and I know that The Realm is in good hands as you guys begin to take over this place we call home.

Continue to be the respectful, humble, fun, goofy, youthful, and motivated young men that you all are and I know you will all do incredible things. Keep coming back, and I know we will all meet again. I love you all.

To my staff – This summer could not have been successful without all of you and the endless amount of work that you did. You made my job so much easier on a daily basis and for that I am eternally thankful. I have learned a lot from each of you, and I hope the feeling is mutual. I knew I could always count on any of you to step up and fill the gaps when necessary, but you all went above and beyond. I hope that you all return next summer, and for many to come, because you are all valuable additions to camp. Love you all.

Khalid Al-Mutawa – I still remember my Friar summer when a little freckle-faced 6 year-old came in and took The Realm by storm, and it has been amazing to watch you grow up over the past 8 years (lucky number 8?). You get this place, and it gets you. Your presence is felt wherever you are and your humor keeps everyone lighthearted. Keep crushing the EDM game. Love you.

Aidan Barber – Ever since your first day Archer summer, I knew you would make camp your home. You are always open to new experiences and I love watching you discover hidden talents. Your constant positivity is contagious and always keeps group morale up. Keep coming back. Love you

Hunter Belisle – I was so glad you came back this summer; you really found your place in the group. Whether it was you killing it in the Green and White swim meet or your prolific archery skills, you never cease to amaze me. Keep coming back so you can hit trees. Love you.

Zach Bohm – Remember that time you made the 15U basketball team? In all seriousness though, you are a straight baller in everything you do and you have such a unique bite to your personality. I was so happy your ears were fully functional this summer because 4 days of Zach Bohm was just a tease, Archer year. I can't wait to see you dominate in the House one day. Love you.

Peter Cohen – You have been the rock of this group since you set foot in The Realm Squire summer. I have loved watching you grow up over the past few years and I am so proud of the young man you've become. You know how to lead without being the loudest voice and that is a much-needed role in any group. Love you.

Francesco Colombo – Amico mio, you are so mature for your age and your constant level-headedness was an essential rock in our crazy group. Your skill in the woodshop consistently amazed me and I will make sure the blue shelf is waiting for you next summer. Keep taking risks, keep coming back. Love you.

William Crystal – I still cannot believe the absolute beast you have grown into. Since your first night dominating gladiator ball, it was clear Will Crystal was going to be a force to be reckoned with. Your level-headedness always kept the group going in the right direction, and you have become such a well-rounded young man. Love you.

Jacob Danegger – Whether it be about what we were for doing for evening activity or why the moon changes size every night, your inquisitive nature is something I hope you never lose. I have loved watching you come into your own and become a more confident young man who has solidified his place in the group. Love you.

LANCERS

Maximilien Escalera – Where to start... I have never met someone who can make people smile so easily and so frequently, even if you are speaking in your own language sometimes. I really enjoyed watching you come into your own this year but I am so happy that you haven't lost your playful spirit. I hope MeMe and TeTe are doing well. Love you.

George Eustice – Your intellectual nature and curiosity are far beyond your years. I loved our conversations about parallel universes and unification theories, but I was also consistently impressed with your prowess in other areas such as soccer. I can tell that you have definitely found your home at camp, and I can't wait to see you grow here. Never stop asking "why?" Love you.

Oliver Farley – If one thing is for certain, it's that you undoubtedly have the best whip in the group. It didn't take you long to jump right in and embrace camp, and I know you will be here for years to come. Keep up the fresh shoe game; I can't wait to see what you're rocking next summer. Love you.

Antonio Gallardo – Antoñito, ¿o debería decir Antonio el hombre? I am so happy you decided to take the short trip down the road this summer and make the switch to Robin Hood. Although I don't think I saw you on the benches all summer, it is just a testament to how loved you are by the rest of the Mafia. Keep coming back. Love you.

William Godbout – Ever since your second day at camp, when you hit trees on your second at bat of the summer, I knew Will Godbout was no joke. You are a total athlete, and I loved watching you excel in just about everything we did, all the while remaining modest with a great head on your shoulders. Despite arriving late you were able to jump right into the group and I hope to see you here for longer in the summers to come. Love you.

Joey Healey – Mr. All American, you very quickly understood what it meant to love camp and to be loved by camp. I will never forget watching you fly above the rim to hammer home a 360 on your first try in our dunk contest. There is not a doubt in my mind that you will be back at camp in future years, and I am excited to see what this place has in store for you. Love you.

Ethan Hobert – You are one of the most persistent people I know, in every facet of life. Your commitment to excellence is a unique. Whether it be waking up early to waterski or going to the tennis courts during countless rest hours, once you set your mind to something there is no option but to become the best, and this will benefit you greatly. Never give up on anything. Love you.

Marc Kanaan – There was a noticeable hole in the group when you left, and one that could not be filled by anyone other than the original Prince Kanaan. Your ability to find humor in anything makes for no dull moments and keeps everyone on his toes. I really enjoyed getting to know you better on our afternoon canoe trip, and even if you got worse at soccer I know you have a bright future ahead of you. Time here is precious, allow yourself to have as much of it as possible. Love you.

Lee Karlinsky – Your ability to naturally steal the spotlight is unmatched, which seems appropriate given your knack for acting. I loved watching you soar during green and white, particularly during the scene from Into the Woods, which you crushed. I know it can be tough coming for the last 3 weeks, but you have found your home in the group and I know this will only grow in years to come. Love you.

Harry Klosowicz – It can be tough coming into a group where you already know so many people (shout-out Collegiate crew) but you did a great job of branching out and embracing the beauty of making new friends at camp. Keep honing your basketball skills and you will be dropping buckets in the house one day. Love you.

Michael Lu – It didn't take you long to come out of your shell and become the goofy guy we all appreciate so much. I will never forget watching you launch yourself over the trampoline falling just short of the cheese mat, in what was the near miss of the summer. You are the most ferocious tuber I have ever seen. Love you.

Matthew Mailman – I never got a chance to thank you for the mysterious gift you left me on your last day, it really meant a lot. You will forever be commemorated with the ladder we made for Founder's Day ensuring that no shelves get broken in the process of retrieving bags from the loft. You are so unique, and watching you develop your waterski skills over the summer was a joy. Keep shredding. Love you.

Ricky Melasecca – The most emotional I got all summer was listening to you deliver the White Commodores' flag speech. Watching you grow up over the past few years has been a tremendous honor and I am so proud of the young man you've become. You know how to lead from the back, and never seek praise even when much is due. Keep doing you, because you are a much needed figure in the group. Love you.

Julien Robson – Since day one I was consistently impressed by your intellect and inquisitive nature, the pinnacle of which being your ability to learn how to play the guitar in just a matter of days. Whether on the soccer field or the basketball court you always play with great spirit and I am still disappointed that I never got to see your skills on the cricket field (Court? Pitch? Rink?). Hope you haven't gotten sick of the new OMAM album yet. Love you.

Phil Schmidt – You have been such a constant in this group for as long as I can remember. Your happy go lucky attitude and level-headedness always reel the group back in and it is a pleasure to see how much you have developed as an athlete over the past few years. I have never heard a negative thing about Phil Schmidt, and there is great reason for that. Love you.

Dylan Siegel – You are an absolute savage. I'm talking Shia Labeouf status. You have come into your own so much since Archer summer and your ability to find humor in everything (whether intentionally or unintentionally) will get you very far in life. You are open and accepting of everybody and always there when someone needs a friend. Never change, don't grow up too quickly, and keep making savage plays. Love you.

Luke Swirsky aka Tobachi – You have a maturity that has always impressed me. I enjoyed watching you continue to embrace camp this summer and really put an emphasis on branching out more than in past years, it made a huge difference within the group. You get it, which is a rare thing at your age so keep coming back and keep doing you. Your style and knowledge of music are unparalleled, and if I am ever in LA I'll hit you up for some Pellegrino. Stay fly. Love you.

Jack Ungar – I have never in my life met a more mature 13 year-old than you. You treat everybody you encounter with kindness and never seek to be the center of attention. Watching you not only practice and learn the guitar yourself, but also teach Julien to play in just a matter of days, was incredible. You have such a great outlook on life and I hope that is something you continue to share with the group. I was disappointed you were unable to stay longer, but I commend your appreciation for the importance of family. Love you.

Mathis Varin – I have to be honest, when I heard the rumors that we had a world-class soccer player who is a member of the youth national team that would be joining us, I was apprehensive; but boy did you live up to the hype. The way you play with such ease is beautiful to watch, but it didn't stop on the soccer pitch. You excelled in all areas of camp, and I hope to see you back here for years to come. Never lose your drive to be the best. Love you.

Charlie Zinamon – Knock knock...let's not see where that one goes. I don't think there was ever a moment where I saw you without a smile on your face, even when I knew you weren't happy about the group's activity. Your youthfulness is something I hope you never lose, even as you continue to grow up and develop into the killer athlete and absolute savage I know you will become. I will make sure to put in a good word with Coach Gries and I can't wait to see you tearing up Stewart field in years to come.

Gabe Zolot – You are a competitor, and an honorable one at that. I can always count on you to give it your all, and what you lack in size you make up for twice over with your heart out on the field. I know that you were unable to this summer but I really hope you decide to stay 7 weeks next summer because I know you would love Green and White. You never let anybody get easy points, I must once again mention my utmost respect for your ability to switch hit. Love you.

Alright boys, take a moment to put your phone away, turn the TV off, and reminisce about the greatest summer ever.

On the first day of camp when you all showed up there was a confused look on your faces when I was standing there with the GL clipboard. Being away from Robin Hood, for as long as I was, made returning a challenge in its own way. I would like to thank all you for accepting me with open arms back into this magical place. I truly enjoyed every moment of it. You're a hysterical group of guys who will do great in high school this year.

It's only natural to talk about the first night. Remember when Fuente's soap was splattered all over his bag? I guess it cleaned everything for you. We also played softball that night. Natro and Flug were wailing on the ball but couldn't quite hit trees. Who would've guessed that the first tree shot would be later in the summer from Goodman? Either way, it was a blast whenever we got to the Home Run Diamond.

We were met with some rainy day weather quickly this summer. But we sure found ways to make the best of it. Who could forget that sweet game of BINGO we played in the lodge. We used sunflower seeds and napkin pellets as markers because we wanted to play so bad. There were a lot of good laughs to distract us from the rain. We also got to watch Austin Powers, yeah babyyy...well at least the first hour. We still never got to finish that movie; you all better watch it at home because it's a classic! But it wasn't all lazy. We decided to suit up and play a hardcore game of flag football in the pouring rain. That was one of the most intense periods of the summer; you guys left it on the field for sure. And of course you all had some fun with the pre-snap play calls.

Remember when we brought our guard Terrence back to the bunk? He sat duty every single night to ensure the safety of our evenings. But he definitely couldn't do anything about some of the spiders around the bunk. Too bad the bug zapper wasn't good enough for that football player sized bug that was flying around our bunk one night. I think every single one of you got out of bed to come check it out and try to swat it down. We are living in the woods... there are going to be bugs!

Remember when we had an awesome rib cookout with the Bards at the ODT? It was so cool to be able to hang there and have a nice dinner. And we all got to see Billy be a goon and slip while running around the corner in front of everyone. It's okay, seemed like the food helped you recover. We had a lot of great meals at camp this summer. Between chicken patties, pasta, tacos, pizza and more we enjoyed the food. Thanks to the entire kitchen staff for preparing our meals and keeping us fed.

Remember Water Polo with the Lancers? I think that day could have been the coldest the lake was all summer. We still got in the water and killed it...for maybe five minutes. It turned into a spike ball beach party. You guys always made the best of tougher situations during activities and found ways to have fun.

Remember when we went on excursion? That was such a fun trip. We got to go to Portsmouth, the basketball hall of fame, Six Flags, white water rafting, and paintballing. To start, we had some car troubles on the first day and had to spend a little more time in Portsmouth than planned. It turned into us going into record stores and costume shops. We ended up with a horse head and an eagle head mask. Clearly, those are very important things to own, boys. We eventually made our way to the campsite and cooked a dinner for ourselves with chicken, steak, and potatoes. For camping, we ate pretty well. But so did the animals, I think our food started a full out animal war near our campsite. We saw skunks, raccoons, squirrels, and even a porcupine. The porcupine was pretty awesome. None of that stopped us from waking up early and heading to the Basketball Hall Of Fame. It was really cool getting to shoot hoops there and read about players and coaches throughout the history of the game. We all know you loved it, Meister. When we left it was straight to Six Flags. That place was a blast. With rides like Bizarro and Batman we all had fun. After that busy day we chilled out in a movie theatre to watch Ant Man together. The next day we hit the Deerfield River for some White Water Rafting with the Bards. Everyone got soaked and had a blast down the rapids. On the last day of our excursion we headed to OSG Paintball for an all out Friar showdown. It was a memorable trip to say the least.

Green and White was a great end to the summer. With the anticipation of break you all had your theories of how and when the war would break. Once we were faked at Founder's Night you were convinced the next morning would be the day. A 5:50am wakeup call led you through camp to the waterfront. DC & Woody riding in on jet skis with their green and white hats, judges close behind on boats and the war was on. You guys played your hearts out in all of your sports. Remember the softball game when the white team rallied 9 runs together while there were two outs? Or how about the Ultimate Frisbee game when green was slinging it all over the field. Overall it was a good war and it's exciting to see you guys playing so hard for your teams. You displayed so much heart when you laced up and got on the field. Ultimately it was a White Commodore victory over the Green Empire to close the books on G&W 2015!

This summer in The Realm was a great one to say the least. Everything from Home Run Diamond periods, to excursion shenanigans, to color war, every moment of it was unbelievable. Dick says "Don't waste a minute" and I think we followed that like a code. Even our down time on camp was filled with laughter, jokes, and energy. People say that there's magic in the trees here. There's way more magic in all of you guys and that is the spirit that makes camp such a great place. Thank you all for the best summer ever and see you next year!

Alfonso – Remember the most epic game of ping-pong ever. I've never seen such a huge crowd for table tennis at Robin Hood. That being said, I still stand by my country, USA USA USA. Have a great year back in Spain, hopefully we see you again next year.

Benny – Who could forget that white-gold hair, or the varsity skills with a lax stick? Everyone was bummed that you couldn't be here for the first two weeks, but glad that you could stay the rest. I hope that you continue to come back as you are becoming a greater force in The Realm. Thanks Dennis.

Billiam – You are a camper that people look up to. Well-liked by all, you have a maturity that I respect and is seen by others throughout camp. Remember when we had a cookout with the Bards and you took a spill in front of everyone while rounding the corner, LOL. I love you man, can't wait to see you again next year.

Faisal – It was great having you this summer. You helped everyone immerse themselves into different cultures and taught people a new view on acceptance. You're a great kid and I look forward to seeing you again.

Flug – You have a way of drawing people towards you no matter what you do. What frat are you in again? We all missed you since the day you left. You make this group better. Enjoy your year back in the Rocky Mountains. I hope to see you next summer.

Fuente – Everyone in camp knows you, Nathan! You are a camp character and a great friend and brother. You are loyal to those you are close with. Have a great year and see you next year.

Gimbel – I can always count on you to see the best in any situation at camp. Your love for camp is clear and your respect for others is admirable. Remember when you were the star in that Shia Labeouf dance? You killed it man. Have a great year back in THE LAND. See you next year.

Goodman – Goodman, Goodman, oh where to begin. You had a summer full of shenanigans and we all love you for it. When you put your mind to something you are successful and I look forward to seeing you continue to grow in The Realm. Gonna miss you this year and can't wait to spend next summer with you.

J-Ro – What can I say; you're the man. You're a color war captain and a leader of this group. The dynamic would be completely different without you. Have a great school year back on the beach and see you next year.

Jules – Agghhhhhhhhhh! Thank you so much for always making our group laugh. It is a quality that not everyone has. You're a hilarious man; no one will ever forget when you doused yourself in gallons of water for every goal scored in soccer. Have a great year back at home.

Khalil – Like me, you took a few years off in The Realm but you returned and were welcomed with open arms. You are a great competitor and an extremely well-rounded individual who can do it all! The way you stepped up in Green and White to play piano for the alma mater was admirable and will be remembered. I already miss you and can't wait to see you back again next summer.

Meido – Wow! What a competitor. You came into camp and it was exactly what we needed for the end of the summer. You were a force to be reckoned with during Green & White. You're competitive with a great sense of sportsmanship. Have a great year at home and see you next summer.

Meister – You are a true camper and Robin Hood is in your blood. I admire your commitment to the things you love to do. Seeing you on the tennis courts regularly to improve your game was a great source of pride for me. You we're a great camper this summer and are a critical member of this group. I love you. See you again next summer, my man.

Moyo – Our group was so happy when you arrived at The Realm. Your energy and love for camp are an integral part of this group, especially during second session. Wish you could've made it for the beginning of camp, hope to see you back again next year.

Narayan – Even though you were a late arrival, it was as if you fit right into the Friar family. You are a very funny kid and made me laugh at least once a day. I'm going to miss our laughs and look forward to seeing you next summer!

Natro – Who could forget your all star tree shot on visiting day? We were waiting for that one all summer. You're an incredible athlete with a great love for camp. Your commitment to athletics, Robin Hood and your friends is so special and admired by those around you. Hopefully we see you for the full seven weeks next year.

Paxton – Though your summer was cut short due to injury, you made sure to make every second count while you were in The Realm. Your commitment to Robin Hood is clear and you love camp! Even with a boot on, you made the most of your time while you were in The Realm. I hope that you have a speedy recovery and get yourself on that cross-country squad. See you again next year in The Realm.

Russell – You are a fixture in The Realm with a love for camp that is enviable. Your personality is contagious and everyone loves you. I hope you stay longer next year. See you in 2016!

FRIARS

Sean – I remember when you first introduced yourself to me...as Jimmy Fallon. Your sense of humor was one of the qualities that made you stand out amongst your peers and you had everyone in stitches throughout your time at camp. You're a total goofball and I wish you could've been at camp longer. See you again next summer.

Snidow – I'm so glad that you could stay for excursion this summer and I know your friends were too. It probably showed you a new view on what Robin Hood is about. Maybe next year you'll even stay for color war and show off your soccer skills. Have a great year back in the mountains and rock on.

Tigran – Why you showed up for only a week, we will never know. You fit right in, which isn't easy to do in such a short period of time. I can guarantee you that it was one of the most memorable weeks for the Friars. Have a great time back in the city and hopefully we see you for longer next summer.

Tyler – You are a true athlete who gives it your all. Whether you're on or off the field, you are a team player and I love that about you. It's clear that you love camp and that camp loves you. I look forward to seeing you here again next summer.

To my staff – None of this could've happened without you. You are the guys who really create the magic in the trees.

Bloch – Oh where to begin. I met you during pre camp when we were living in the TPJ bunk together. It was great getting to know you this summer. I'm sorry that you had to leave early, but I wouldn't want you on anyone else's staff but my own. You really were a big help.

Abram – Your tennis skills wowed everyone, but that's just the start. You are one of the nicest guys that I've ever met and you really know how to work with kids. Whenever there was a problem I knew that I could turn to you for consistent and reliable help. Have a great time at school and hopefully I will see you again next summer.

Swain – You really worked above and beyond every expectation that I had for you. Although your title was a FYA, you were much more than that. These campers really earned your respect and trust this summer. You will make a great group leader one day. Have a great year back in THE LAND!

Matthew – I don't know what I would've done without you this summer. After being away from camp for seven years there was a lot that I forgot about. You retaught me everything that someone would need to know to run a group in The Realm. You will make an incredible GL one day. I really hope to see you again next summer. Have a great freshman year at Penn State...PLEDGE

FORESTERS

FORESTERS. HOOOTY HOOOOO.

Zubi please put down your Latin homework, it can wait. Benji put down the Aeneid and Pablo, go back home it's past your curfew. Lets take a step back and relive the best summer there ever was...2015.

Remember day 1. Foresters are here to stay. But where is everyone? We get word that Delta Fri has been put on probation, now how do we respond? 1 2 3, SHHH OMEGA FOR...Foresters embrace the underground mentality and sweep sweep sweep straight under the bunk. First EA is Ultimate and Dr. Arash joins the gang to teach some of his insane skills. It's back to the bunk for first round of showers and what's that smell? Where's it coming from? Earl is lurking but boy we can't find him. Shafe is especially heated and is unable to sleep due to the foul stank that is Earl. Earl is finally discovered and it seems that the coroner (Thanks Benji) suggests that he has been around for 24-36 hours. His friends enter the bunk looking for him constantly throughout the summer but he is nowhere to be found. The proper burial is never completed and the group watches as day by day, the body of Earl dissolves into oblivion. Looking back, he deserved a proper burial. There's always next year!

Remember Vince's fan? How long you spend at the Quad? All day, figures. Quidditch in the bunk. Ten Points to Hufflepuff! Or was it Slytherin? Taymour- you're definitely a Ravenclaw. Remember our first Homerun Diamond? Shafe right into the trees – did it ever happen again? Zubi is not amused. As the summer goes on, the Foresters dominate the now old Home Run board. Shafer, Griebel, Juan, Zubi, Matt, Lomedico, Benji, Big Game, Perl and Boffa all follow suit...Chang, Tim and Pablo not far behind. See what I did there? Remember Chuck's shout out to the Foresters after our intense EA of Softball. That's what this is all about, and I don't mean keeping score. Yes, hitting trees, but the fun that comes with constant competition.

Remember the Island behind the Island? American's vs German's vs. Swiss, vs. Spain vs. the neutral PG? PG what was your question? Sergi's pick up lines are not limited to the bounds of Robin Hood. What up Camp

Huckins? TNiff453, add me. Taymour's second time in the boat...Boot Boot Boot. I only pull the trigger at riflery, I never wear boots. But aren't they the same thing? Tim's first time with the Rocks. Why are we all wearing boots?! The trip to the marina, the GoPro picture. Hello Matt, nice to see you.

Remember pool, pool parties, pool-pool, pool parties-parties. RIP the pool. Who's on lifeguard duty right now? I hope you guys all put your sunscreen on! Tanning time! Remember Grant at daycare, Boffa's EDucation, Shafe's tattoo-ouchies, don't worry it's not real. Deep two, stretch four... Rick Harvey for President. Really? The President of the United States, in all of history? History is a long time, really? Really? Zubi's ankles, those are broken. FTB, FYW, Black Jack- 21! Winner Winner Lobster Dinner. YEEET YEEET. EEEEEYYY EYYYY.

Remember Star Wars on the Quad? Alderman is Jobba the Hut, Vinny is Luke Skywalker, or was it Annikan. Lorenzo – the force is strong with you, young one. Remember Steal the Bacon? Call 1 and 4! Tomas, yes you have to be with Andres. Let's all take a step back now and watch. Good luck Schneider. Remember calling every number and the ten-minute rounds that would ensue. A nice jump in the lake after to cool off and over to ODT for the Forester campfire. What an amazing night boys, each of you took the time and really got out what you wanted. Those are the times I'll remember most.

Remember when...Jared wasn't driving, Zach had a shirt on, Jaime was on time, Sergi wasn't hurt SOOO bad, Tim wasn't on the quad, Pablo wasn't reading HP, Vinny was ranting about politics, Joey couldn't ball, Griebel was bad at something, PG knew the answer, winning in "the house"...WE DON'T Remember Intercamp...The "House" game. What an atmosphere...the full court press. Shoot, Shapiro, Shoot. Joey drops a cool 26 and the Yob's play their hearts out. No hard feelings. Can't wait to see some of you boys back in that game next year. Remember the ferry to the Island? IP...WE WANT A BANNER! Dini, how did USTA go? Bagels!! JBob isn't back, Grant is devastated. That kid's got better things to do - he'll see Lorenzo at the Olympics. Soccer? Flag Football? Basketball? D. All of the Above. His hair is better too. Remember the basketball game against IA? Yeah they're good. Matt Longfield at the buzzer,... Backboard...IT'S GOOOOD! OT!! Shoot. Technical foul. Good night Robin Hood. Remember actually beating West End? Shapiro had a day off. The most successful 1-3 day ever. Winaukee 32 - Robin Hood 3. Ace's block at IA... AAAHHHH Remember the soccer game against Teoapdusyeaksi. Remember the Softball Tournament? How many teams are there gonna be, 25? Nope - 4. Side Winder! Switch-hit dinger, DINGERS, and Benji's HOF style to start the game on the mound. No trees here, boys. Should all the Birchmont kids just come to Robin Hood? Kenwood. Act Serious.

Remember that Alderman's a Steelers fan, PG's letter to the Yobs, Skye and the Shaker. No, not Shaker Heights, Sorry Podl. Whats for EA? Soccer...I love sports and the competition, getting better is my only mission...In the dining hall. 89 cents - 89 and preggers. Small and mighty and stinky. Benji's neck, then head, EA's with the TPJ's? Beck is Tim. Raking pine needles! Robin Hood Gives Zack...Zubi has a bad head on his shoulders, Pablo's an old man with arthritis, when's that hip getting replaced? Anteaters, She'll be coming around the mountain at the free-throw line, the birthday pitcher, mmmm, Perlick's playlist, Perlick's playlist, Perlick's playlist, 20 and 12, 52, Tim's strawberry goodness, thanks for playing.

Remember Beach Day? Whose van am I in? Where are all the restaurants? What time is check in? The water is finally bearable and the Yob's are in as a unit to join Ollie on neck duty, or was it waist duty? Chuck and Freddy dominate the Ocean as usual.

FORESTERS

Remember... Ollie and Booter McGavin in the tube, Boffa bakes in the water, Perlick loses a camper. 21 TA! Noobing, Andres goes insane at soccer, Niall blows up too, Shafer says bye-bye to Joey's shades, Rope snaps on the tube, Alderman is still flipping, Zubi's bat flip, 1-1-1-1 Zone defense – it actually works! Joey's game winner. Lorenzo is committed to camper hunt, sorry deer! Prison break, Freedom ain't free! Shapiro visits the Forester bunk.

Remember packing for Mt. Washington, got to get ready boys! Fully stocked. Rain Gear, Water, Shoes, Socks. President Harvey makes it up the mountain and the warm embrace at the peak. He does it for the people. Remember complaining about the way down and it quickly become the best three hours of the summer? The meadow, the pictures, the pants, the animal, so many memories. That really showed me that you boys can do anything you put your minds to, and anything you do together, you will have the best time of your life. Chang and Tomas take the quick trip down and have a nap at the bottom.

Remember our dance? ;) Andres... The twins- I'm sorry Ms. Jackson, we are for real... The outcasts with the Outkast medley. The wall and Zubi's the Mountain climber. You guys once again showed how hard you can work and how amazing you can be in front of camp. Had to clean it up a tad, but we showed your parents too. They were so excited to see you in your element, and I can't imagine what your Saxon dance is going to look like. Drop the Mic President Harvey. Thanks for catching it Vinny. Shout out to Perl and Tia for the choreography.

Foresters head strong into PVD. Wake up. Clean. Eat. Clean. Foresters stroll to HRD and Mr. Schneider, Poppa Shafe, and Sam Asner don't disappoint. Head over for a nice game of knockout at the lower court and then on to lunch. Ollie takes a visit to the barn and off we are into the afternoon. An intense game of soccer for the umpteenth time and the parents are really getting involved. Dr. Naif is vocal, and Shafe takes out his dad. The day ends where it all began, down by the Sr. Waterfront and the Yob's are out to dinner with the parents, or even better – out to ANT MAN. Antony saves the day yet again and Paul Rudd is a hero.

Foresters head out on excursion on lazy day, straight to the 617, the home of the Yobs' Big Game, Matty and Timmy. The trip starts with the usual two and a half hour trip to Dunkin. But Joey needed an iced coffee. Worth it... First stop, Faneuil Hall and Quincy Market for some authentic Boston grub. Chowda, Lobsta, Crab, and Indian food all around. Where's the bathroom? Alderman finds it, and leaves his wallet in the boys' room. It's all there. It's all there. You're welcome, Lizz! And now it's off to our beautiful hotel with an even more beautiful Chinese restaurant at the bottom, and our little pool at the top.

Remember Fire and Ice? How many times can you go up in one visit to a restaurant? Happy birthday Grant! The waiter's are not the biggest fans; Grant gets dragged into the circle, headlock and all. Trip to Sugar Heaven – Candy's expensive in Sugar Heaven... Hello locals, are these what all Boston people are like? Thank god Big Game was playing bigger games.

The next morning we wake up and off we are to meet the biggest Hero there ever was, John Fitzgerald Kennedy. Campaign banners, T-Shirts, and American pride leave the Yobs ready to take on Boston. Next we are off to Skyzone with the Shires! Pablo throws a perfect game in Dodgeball against the Shire staff, Thanks for playing! Matt and Grant have to take a break after their Dodgeball escapades. While the basketball hoop looks dunk-able no one really seems to succeed. Ace and Chang are close but no cigar. Remember those socks? Those were awesome. Orange is Lomedico's favorite color.

Surprise... We're going to Fenway! The Yobs finally meet up and here we go into America's past time's most sacred home. Was that Marilyn Manson? Dick joins the boys, and we see a never-ending game in Fenway. Boffa sees an old friend in the park. After the game the Yob's get on the field and take a selfie with the Hero, Steve the cop. Zubi grabs the dirt as a Yankee fan.

The last day of excursion starts with an early wake up and a nice visit to the Duck tour with our amazing tour guide Professor Quackenstein. Off to the movies... Pixels! Or was it Minions? Give me your best left hook... Yad... Harvard Yad. Boffa tours us all around – class of 2022. The classic visit to City that with your Mom. That was a really cool moment for everyone and something that I'll always remember. Keep being yourself and I know I'll see you here for years to come.

Faisal Al-Mutawa – Robin Hood is in your blood. I was sad about your late arrival, but as expected once you arrived you hit the ground running. You are voted as a captain of this group, year in and year out, for a reason. Everyone values your opinion, everyone looks to you as a leader and everyone knows what a good friend you are. I am excited for your school change this upcoming year. Living in the states full time will be great for you and will make the transition into Saxon year even more flawless.

Benji Asner – I really think that you, more than anyone, have gone through a true transformation since I had you last as a Yeomen camper. You've come into your own in so many respects, most notably with your humor. Ask any kid or counselor and I think the consensus would be that Benji Asner is the funniest kid in camp. The humor is not dry either, it's complex and deep and a real skill that you cannot only use here, but in the real world as well. I hope you really focus in school this year because you have every opportunity in the world to go to a tremendous school if you put your mind in, and the time in.

Vince Barone – VINNY B! Drop the Mic, or get the mic dropped on you. You were amazing this summer and one of the campers I've seen grow the most over the past three years. Not only have you matured as a person, but your love and appreciation for camp has matured as well. I love seeing every interaction you have with your brother, Nick, and I know it is so special to both of your parents that the two of you share this place together, a place your Dad is still so fond of. I look forward to seeing you in Cleveland and hopefully watching Hawken tumble over the Lancers of Gilmour. See you behind the three-point line.

Will Boffa – I think it goes without saying that you are one of the wittiest and most intelligent fifteen year olds that I have ever met. In a group full of smart kids who make incredibly hilarious and dumb decisions, you stand out in both respects. You are so confident in yourself and every decision you make that your personality is almost contagious. Watching you swing a baseball bat is one of the most entertaining parts of every day of mine and I hope I can continue to see that in the future. See you at Harvard or at Stanford.

Sports and a trip over to Blue Man Group for the show of a lifetime. How cool were those bouncy balls? Rave. The lights blow up the spot and Ace runs into a friend, or two... Schneider's bag switch, Zubi's first purchase and some late night sushi ends the night. A quick pit stop at Water Country ends the excursion. The Lancers are here...PETER'S HERE! Geronimo...Great people watching all around and we are ready to head back to The Realm.

Remember returning to camp ready for the war to break. A few days of mulling time, a Griebel return, a Grant return and here comes the war. Leaving Founders Day disappointed, the YOB chair on the stage and we're all ready for an early wake up. Here comes the drum line and here comes the war.

Ollie and Lainey's Green Empire pitted against Peter and Podl's White Commodores. Congratulations to Chang and Faisal, and Ace and Shafer on being elected captains and co's respectively. You guys led an incredible Forester war. Highlights include a walk off victory by Lomedico in Danish for the Green and an unbelievable Forester basketball game that resumed with Griebel taking over for the White. What an amazing game! One in which you not only impressed each other, but also impressed judges as well. You guys showed your true heart out there and not only led one another, but the whole camp, in an amazing war.

The war ends with White on top, but let's be real – we all like burgers and dogs better anyway. The last few days roll around and the Yob's are tighter than ever. Visits up top, and to the top are all included, thanks McNulty. Soccer, Hunting, and more Robin Hood Huntin' to conclude the best summer there ever was.

Aaron Alderman – You came into this summer with such an amazing mindset and it carried you through the best summer of your life. Not all of us come into Robin Hood with no weight on our shoulders, and you shrugged off some trouble and made this place exactly what it can be, an escape for all and the haven of all of our dreams. I loved climbing Washington with you and I loved how special it was that you were able to do

Alex Chang – Chaaaseeee. Or Chang. Or Chaaase. You were amazing this summer and you were one of the few who hasn't changed a bit since you were Yeomen and there's zero problem with that. You continue to lead by example and that's an amazing quality. Your election as captain was so deserved and I hope that in the future, people and other kids will look to you to see what you're doing because almost all of the time it is exactly what you should be doing. I know that you will keep coming back and I can't wait to see you continue maturing into an amazing and confident young man. See you in Kentucky.

Lorenzo Colombo – I think we are both so happy with your decision to return to The Realm this summer. While you were hesitant, you really found your place in this group this year. Nationals, World Championships, Olympics aside, I hope you find a way to continue coming back to this place. The beauty of Robin Hood is its ability to be used as an escape. I think you've found such a passion in rowing and I hope you find that same passion in this place, because this group has that passion for you. See you in Rio 2016.

Nicolas Dini – You were amazing this summer. You were one of the few in this group I didn't have as a Yeomen so I really didn't know what to expect. What I got was a constant goof who was loved by everyone. I wish you could've stayed the rest of the summer but hopefully that's in your future. I'll look for you in the App Store. Keep on coding. See you at MIT.

Jack Griebel – I've never seen someone come into Robin Hood the way you have, especially as a Forester. You are here for all the right reasons and you went way beyond your core at Collegiate to fit in here. You are one of the kids in the group that has used camp as an escape and it's evident that it's been so effective for you. Your passion and energy for each day is unmatched. Your decision to come back was great for everyone and I loved to see you compete during green and white despite not being on the green team. I look forward to seeing you next summer. See you on the court.

Patrick Harvey – Throughout the last 4 years you are one of the kids I've seen mature most. As a Yeomen you weren't all-in on camp, you were constantly thinking about home and this summer you were just fully immersed in Robin Hood and it paid off so much. You were loved by all and, when you push yourself, you can do anything. Washington was the best example of that and when you reached the top and the whole group ran, tired themselves, to hug you- that was one of my favorite moments ever as a counselor. You were determined and you did it, and the best is yet to come. See you just in front of the three point line.

Joey Licht – You're a superstar, Kid. 26? Daaaaannnnngggg. I loved the way you came into this summer and your mentality, like it was your last, was contagious. You did everything right and you worked hard to be great at everything you do. I saw you shine outside of your comfort zone that is the basketball court and I saw you put your all in everything you did. I really want you to focus on school this year because it is something that's really important. There is no doubt that you are a bright kid with all the potential in the world and I can't wait to see you put it all together. Hopefully, one day soon, I'll be reffing your staff Green and White game.

Jack Lomedico – Your arrival to camp was a huge pick me up for everyone in the group, especially the counselors. Your passion and love for everything you do is contagious and really brought this group to a whole new level. You are so grateful for every day you have at this place and, a lot of times, you don't see that maturity in a fifteen year old. It's truly a testament to the way you were raised and you value the little things that happen each and every day at camp. That spirit and positive vibe will help you far beyond the bounds of The Realm and I know that you will be successful in anything you do. See you at the NFL Draft. With this first pick, the Green team selects...

Matt Longfield – Ever since I was your Yeomen counselor, I have always thought that you remind me a lot of myself; an over-confident camp athlete and a friend to almost all. I have seen you mature a ton over the last three years and I love the young man that you've become. You're one of my favorite people to watch compete, whether it be in an activity, intercamp, or Green and White. What a shot against IA, hope that technical was worth it.

Timothy Longfield – Like your brother, I love watching you compete and you are the perfect balance of nice and cool. Congrats on Girls' Camp fellowship, that's huge for you. But really, you are a friend to everyone at Robin Hood and everyone at Robin Hood is a friend to you. I hope that you and Matt are able to come back to camp next summer, any amount of time will do – obviously, the longer the better.

Pablo Melasecca – When I got our roster for the summer and I saw you were arriving late I was really devastated. I know the genuine love you have for this place exists in your blood. The work you did, not only for yourself but for camp, was universally appreciated. I know that you will be one of the last few standing in the group and you will continue to come back to this place for as long as you can. Work hard in school this year, it will pay off. Keep on leading and keep on loving.

Taymour Nakib – You came in after a few years off at Robin Hood and you didn't skip a beat. Coming late into a summer especially during excursion is never easy for anyone, and wasn't easy for me as a camper, but you executed it so flawlessly. You're willingness to do just about anything, whether it be a dance or an activity, constantly lifts the groups spirit. Your different background brings a unique and welcoming feel to the group. You're my favorite hugger in camp and I can't wait to hug you when I see you next summer.

PG Pello – First, let me say your letter to the group before your departure was awesome and it was something the whole group valued. One moment I thought that was especially awesome was during the sailing camper hunt period. You are so comfortable on the boats and it was so clear how seriously you take and how much you enjoy being a leader. No questions, no answers. I can't wait to see how much more confident you are with your English after a year at boarding school. See you in the wake.

Sergi Romy – Benches after lunch are at 2:20... Despite some of your complaining and your tardiness, when you got into an activity and you committed yourself you were always a star. Your activity and passion influenced the entire group's participation. BUT MY LEG HURTS SOOOO BAD. I remember the first day, watching you at team handball as you dominated the game with ease. Unclear whether or not this was because of skill or the other campers fear of your sweat drenching their shirts, but nonetheless- you're such a competitor, and Green and White's in your future will do wonders.

Jaime Mateo – What a return to The Realm after a few years off! You were the first one to get here and that first night we spent together, before everyone else got here, was an amazing one and one valued the entire summer. I loved how you decided to stay after Parents Visiting Day, when most of the Mafia departed, and I think you really stepped out of your shell. I think your passion for soccer, and the group's passion for the game really clicked well this summer, especially during the Green and White match. I know you'll be back next summer and I can't wait for you to spend time showing your little hermanos what this place is all about.

Juan Sainz – Is that you, or is that Pepe? We're all confused. I think you had an amazing summer. You've been here enough where you know what you want and I liked your decision to come for the last three weeks. It shows that you're not just here for the Spanish kids, but you're here for the times that matter. Some real camp, but moreover some amazing times like Green and White and excursion. You hit the ground running and you never looked back. What a tree shot!! I loved seeing that and your excitement when it happened. Keep doing what your doing, and keep loving this place. See you at El Capital. Viva Barca.

Andres Sanchez de Movellan – Hearing what you had to say at the campfire really resonated with me, and will continue to. Any place, even a place as welcoming and comforting as camp, changes during time away, and even for me, I was nervous returning to a place that has been such a constant. But like you said, since day 1 it was just like being back home. Watching the maturation of you and your brother has been a pleasure- and I can't wait to see what the future has in store for you. See you at el capital, and you can button as many buttons as you want. :)

Tomas Sanchez de Movellan – YO SERE EL PRESIDENTE DE LOS ESTADOS UNIDOS. Undoubtedly, day-to-day, whether it was at 7am or 11pm you were always making me laugh. Your positive energy was contagious, whether on the dance floor, the team handball field, or in the bunk, you have a personality that leads you to constantly being around people. I love watching you and your brother duke it out on the field, and it was nice we finally had a guy that wasn't afraid to take on Shafe. See you in the White House.

Joshua Schneider – How are the Hawken renovations coming? It's amazing to see the understanding of camp you have in just three short years. I think you really found your niche this summer and the bonds that you have, especially with the backroom boys, are unbreakable. You're so "all in" on camp, and I love to see people who, at a young age, are so committed to this place. I know that I can count on you during any activity to go hard and step up to the plate, even if it is going against Tomas or Andres in Steal the Bacon. That makes it so much easier on me as a counselor. I know you'll be back for years to come.

Josh Shafer – Shafe Daddy. It actually scares me that you are going to be able to do all of these 15 and under intercamps next year. I'm sure you won't go to as many, but still, it scares me. You are the biggest baby I've every met, in the best way possible. Your size is the furthest thing from a reflection of your personality. I love the man you've become. First and foremost you are vocal, and you let that voice be heard throughout The Realm. You're presence in this group is unmatched and like others in this group, I just love watching you compete when you give it your all.

Austin Terowsky – Chaaaaaaaseeeee. Or Ace. Or Chaassseee. Yet another amazing summer. You make every day easier not only for me, but for the whole staff and the rest of the group. You go about each day and compete like it's your last here, and the value in that is not measurable. It's crazy to me that you're a year younger age wise because you are so mature. I love watching you on the court or on the field because there is another zone, that we only rarely see when you block a shot, or score a goal, and I love when you get to that point. Your true passion, not only for competition but also for camp, really shows.

Skye van Merkensteijn – I'm so happy that you returned for your second summer in The Realm, and I'm sure you feel the same way. Your immersion into this already tight knit group happened so quickly. While a part of that may have been your Collegiate background, your friends from back home never hindered you from stepping out and becoming close with others. Already you are hosting camp kids at your house over the year. That is a testament to not only you but also your family's hospitality, part of the reason you were so quick to fit in at this camp. Have a great year and work hard in school. It may suck now but it's worth it. You've been given every opportunity and you really have to take full advantage of that. See you on the deck. Infinity!

Grant Wasserman – As much as we all joke with you, we love you. And you love us so yeah, it works. You're a kid with many different passions, whether it is starting your own business, sports, or camp, you juggle them incredibly and find a way to incorporate your distinct passions in every element you find yourself in. Injuries suck, and watching your friends go hard at an activity while you're on the sidelines is even tougher. You handled it like a champ, knowing your limits but also doing your best to compete whenever you could. Keep coming back Grant, there will always be a place for you here. Go Hawks. See you at the BlueSky factory. See the vision.

Andres Zubillaga – Zubi, Zubi, Zubi. I see a lot of you, every single day. Too much in fact? I think maybe. I really truly believe that you, and you alone, love this place just as much as about anyone I have every seen. That love and passion is contagious and I know that you cannot wait for little Enrique to experience this place with you one day. You go hard in activities, you're a friend to everyone in the bunk, and you are everything I look for in a camper. You remind me a lot of myself and I love having any conversation with you, whether it be an intellectual one, one about sports, or anywhere in between. Keep coming back, you make this place better, and this place makes you better.

Perlick – It was amazing be on staff with you. We've gotten closer than we ever have and you had an amazing summer. These kids love you more than anyone and they realized, when you were gone, what an integral part of each and every day you were.

Zeller – You're so good at your job and the kids valued every second they got to spend with you. You did everything you were told and more. I can't wait to see what you're going to do in this place in the future.

Jared – Although you weren't here that much, you were amazing in every chance you had to be with the kids. It was so great to have you live in a bunk and the kids thought of you as their summer father. Your personality is contagious and I love how it rubbed off on the kids.

Yobs – I love you all individually and as a group. Like I said in my captain speech, you guys remind me so much of my group and that's my favorite thing about waking up every day. You make me feel like I'm fifteen again and you made this summer the best I've had, and one I will always remember. I can't wait to watch you boy's lead this camp like you already have been. I hope you all return to be on staff because you're all such profound individuals and you would rub off so well on the future of this camp. Keep being yourselves, and never change.

Crew – You are camp. I love all of you. Keep coming back and make this place the place we all love and dream about.

I'll miss you.

SAXONS

What up Saxons! That was a quick summer. Time flies when your having fun and boy did we have fun! Now put down your phone, get off Facebook and enjoy reminiscing over the best summer in Realm history.

Remember when you guys found out I was your GL, surprised much? Remember when you guys brought rock-coning back? The old cone did need updating, I'm sorry. Remember Mount Washington – what a climb that was? I'm so proud you all did it. Remember Warsh and Katie's date on Mount Washington? Remember going down Washington? That was one scary trip. Remember when the Scribes thought they could beat us at basketball? Remember Warsh saw the bear? Chuck shutting down the 4th of July attack? The 4th of July on the Quad? Can you remember the booth names? Remember Adam's lobster roll. I still never understood the fascination with it but lobster from McDonald's, what can go wrong? Giving back and cleaning under the D-Hall, it never looked better! Warsh's secret...which didn't stay a secret? Remember Katahdin? That was one badass trip. Remember Betsy loving life? "It doesn't even compare." Thanks Betsy! Antonio and Alejandro, aka the mountain goats running up Katahdin. Remember 3-2-1...And Antonio's BACK SEAT driving? Remember my front seat driving? Nailed it! The late night bunk visit from Woody and DC, that was HUGE for us. What about Gonzalos' goodnight talks and theory on Gods? Who could forget Captain my Captain and Airborne Vertes. Lucca, Vertes and Gonzalos' silent rave in the bunk and D-hall. The crab invasion of 2015...it looked like a hurricane had torn through the bunk. Commit! In the barn, feeding the bear, the night you had triple doubles, camp is a hard place to be.

Remember Gonzalos' clean shave? Remember when we rolled up to the gas station, logs on logs and the skinny-jean-wearing unicorn? The PVD Ultimate Frisbee game? The STACK!! Remember the Ultimate Frisbee tournament in Boston. Remember the waterfront plan for Sean? Gonzalos' Guatemalan heritage? Dwayne hitting his first rock cone! Remember when we took 2nd place at Indian Acres? That was huge for us. Surfing in Cape Cod was awesome. Gonzalos' interesting friends in P-Town? The magical shops Warsh visited in P-Town? GO BACK TO P-TOWN!!!! Remember the Girls' Camp paintjob? Nothing was safe...

Remember the Q-tip war of 2015? The sneaky ear lick all summer long? Warsh facing the cake in the D-hall? Jayden's golf career ending before it could start. RICK!!!!!! Remember the EAs out on the lake with Jayden? Warsh's injury was a big blow for Green and White. Remember to ice that ankle. Having Jayden annoy Warsh with a toad was always fun. Adam, Enrique, Schloss, Vertes, Gimbel and Big J all hitting trees was a great way to finish off your time at camp as Saxons of 2015.

Alejandro – “The mountain Goat”
You're a natural athlete. From running up Mt. Washington and Katahdin to Ultimate Frisbee and soccer, you fit into the Saxon group right away. You were always open to trying new things and embracing everything at camp. I hope you enjoyed the summer as much as I did.

Antonio – “Tony Hawk,” the other mountain goat. I'll always remember when you and Alejandro ran up Washington and weren't even out of breath!! It can be hard to join a group but your enthusiasm and great sense of humor made you an integral member of the Saxons 2015.

Gimbel – You're so chill. You're happy to go with the flow and never cause any problems. You always had a “nothing fazes me” attitude, which is a character trait many take years to develop. You have a very mature head on your shoulders and I can't wait to see you come back to camp and do great things.

Jonas – You are by far one of the funniest campers I've ever met. You had me in pieces this summer with some cracking one-liners. The whole summer, I never heard you complain or be negative. You were just happy to be with the group. You understand the bond of a Saxon group. You get camp and did a great job aiding this summer. Keep coming back to camp.

SAXONS

Eric – What a player, on and off the field. You embody everything great about camp. Fun easy going and a natural leader who isn't afraid of going hard. You put 100% into everything and that's the best way to be in life. Keep coming back and I can't wait to see you as staff captain one day.

Lucca – You were such a great Saxon it was a shame to see you leave after excursion. You value the friendship and "alliances" in the group like family. The group wouldn't be the same without you. But seriously, your hair's fine, stop messing with it 1000 times before an activity.

Gonzalo – Where do I begin? You are one of the biggest personalities on camp. Your love for the group is inspiring. You put your heart soul and passion into everything you do. To say I wasn't envious of your friendship with your Saxons would be a lie. You have made friends for life in this group and I know you'll go on to big things. Not all heroes wear capes.

Schreibman – You're funny and questionable at times but that's all apart of your charm. You are always making people laugh and picking up others around you. Got to love your dance moves, you and Tia killed it with the Saxon dance. You were an awesome color war captain and made Saxon color war intense. You were made for camp, I hope you keep coming back and entertaining everyone at Robin Hood for many more years.

Big J – You came to the group late but made up for lost time immediately. Your obsession with fitness and nutrition is impressive. Even though it makes me feel like I need to go for a run every day. You did a fantastic job aiding for the TPs this summer. Good luck with the rugby and hopefully I'll come watch you play some day.

Enrique – I always knew I could come to you if I needed help with anything. You always get the job done. You bring a great energy to the group. You're great at more or less every sport and never hold back when playing them. Not just sports I loved the beanie you made this summer. Is there anything you're not good at?

Vertes – The one-man frat house. You remind me a lot of myself at your age. Chasing girls, playing sports and mixing things up a bit. If you weren't laughing at me this summer you were laughing with me, which made my job a lot easier. Your passion for group and camp is uplifting. People look to you as a leader because you have a rare ability to make the most out of every situation. Robin Hood needs people like you.

Zach-ar Zach-ary Warsh – I can't imagine my summer without you Warsh. I hope you enjoyed it as much as I did. You can single handily make my day with one well-timed "Whattttt." Your love for camp (and mail) is unmatched. I was so proud and impressed when you made it up Mt. Washington. It was a hard hike and even I struggled with it. Remember, you can do anything when you put your mind to it.

Steven – You started off strong with the group the first night when we went "tubing". After that, I knew you'd fit in well. You have a laid back chill way about you. This was great in the group to balance out the craziness. I saw such incredible hard work and determination during your first color war, which was fantastic to watch. You were such a great addition to the group and your athleticism was icing on top of the cake. It would be great to see you come back next year.

Alex – If I ever lost you I knew where you'd be, the difficult thing would be choosing which basketball court you were on. Upper, lower, JC? You have a great talent in basketball, stick with it. You'd never have thought this was your first summer at Robin Hood. You are a natural at camp.

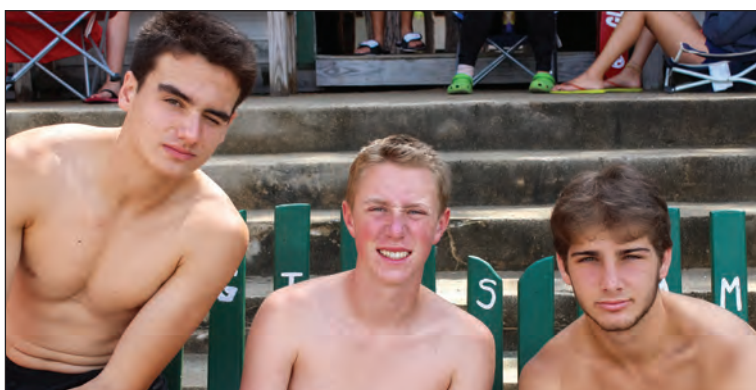

Jayden – You really are a pirate. You were fantastic with the Saxons and I don't think the summer would have been the same without you.

Schloss – Having you on staff this year really made my life a lot easier. If I ever had any questions, you were always there and if I didn't have any questions you were in the bunk. I hope you enjoyed the summer as much as I have.

Dwayne – Thinking of a summer without you would be miserable. You brought out the best in the group and when times got hard made the Saxons closer. I just wish I took more Kodiak memories with you.

Saxons 2015 – This summer has been one of the most enjoyable of my life. You guys welcomed me into your group without hesitation and, because of this, made my transition to a GL so much easier. You weren't the most athletic group on camp, but you didn't let that bother you one bit. You were happy to just be in each other's company and enjoy each other rather than get distracted with activities. The friendships you make at camp will stay with you forever. Never forget that. You all know how much fun I've had with you this summer and it was a privilege to be your Saxon GL

TUMBLERS

Remember when... Marina didn't have on a devious smile, Michele was up at revelry, Sassy wasn't doing something absurd, Linley's area was a mess, Linsul was yelling, SamSol wasn't singing, Ivy wasn't kicking butt in all sports, Ava wasn't making silent-but-deadly's, Aliyah didn't have her hair braided for waterfront, Sabrina wasn't doing a "hey, dude" impersonation, and Julia Small didn't ask for piggy back rides? Remember when Noa wasn't collecting crunchy pinecones, Addie wasn't putting on her purple keens, Lucy didn't wear her blue and pink Under Armor? Remember when Tara spent time on the bottom bunk, Aviva wasn't a gourmet chef, Ali was sitting still, Iris wasn't hugging someone, Alex wasn't being adventurous, Eliza's area was tidy, or when Sienna wasn't having a staring contest?...WE DON'T!!!!!!

Ahhh, what an amazing Summer 2015! Tumbies, my babybugs...sit back, bundle up and get ready to relive the most amazing summer of our lives.

We kicked off our time here with introductions at the waterfront – never forget Sassy’s capturing of a live fish! Once Woody let us dip our feet into Lake Ossipee for the very first time, we continued on with a game of broken telephone, and finally a game of red rover in front of the office. That first day ended with skittles, chocolate kisses, and the Tumbie guidelines, only for us to wander into our beautiful, new, and wonderfully crowded cabin for a good night’s sleep. Remember when you all woke up at 5 o’clock the next morning? YOUR STAFF DOES! But we love you all, so it’s OK.

As many “good morning, Chuck’s” passed by, the beginning of summer seemed to blend into four weeks of nothing but fun. After we swam our 16 laps (or 14 – I’m still confused with the dock distance this summer,) camp felt like it had truly begun. Remember Noa and Michele singing, “I believe I can fly” while tubing? Absolutely ridiculous. Or how about when Marina could stay on the tube and I couldn’t? Remember canoeing to the marina, loving to go paddle-boarding, our trip to camp’s very own water park with DJ Wood, or me holding each of you up in the lake and yelling SUPERMAN!!!! (PS – thanks for always doing the same for me afterward!) Remember Linley’s graceful dives, the morning scavenger hunt to the waterfront for Dunkin and pajama jumping? How about our evening activity of not-so-greasy honeydew? One, two, three...MELON! I’d like to take a moment to remember when that same melon was later found in Sassy’s sheets!

Remember the incredible 4th of July carnival and dance-off on the sand...when a baseball fell into Michele’s nachos at the Mainer’s game, or our awesome trip to Wolfeboro, NH for the fairy house festival? You girls worked so hard on those houses – Bailey’s Bubble for ice cream was most definitely deserved! How about beach day?! I think we all had our fill of dip ‘n dots, chicken fingers, and other goodies from the boardwalk that day. Although it was on the chilly side, I’m so glad that ALL of us made it into the water, even if it was just for a little while!

Tumblers... nothing but fun!

TUMBLERS

Never forget doing funny Mad Libs on Addie's bed, constant New York coffee impersonations, THE DRAMA (!), or our artichoke code-word and hand gesture when spotting Mr. Pickle – congrats Alex and Noa! Remember tradition time with Chuck and Dick, doing the “whip and nae nae” countless times, awesome periods of power hour, collecting pinecones and placing them in piles on my bed each day (thank you)... Remember when the police stopped us on the boats for over-capacity (thank you Woody), when Dear Future Husband was sung and we did our Shake it Off dance, and when we had a boat ride to the sand bar and played Newcomb with Huckins. And ALWAYS remember closing up the four week mark with Snapple Caps and s'mores at the outpost...people will come and go, but we are ALL the Tumblers of 2015!

After the greatest couple of days during excursion, Green and White broke awesomely with a drum line (WHO WERE THE PEOPLE FROM STORYLAND MIGHT I ADD)! You all showed such incredible intensity and sportsmanship throughout the war and we all couldn't be more proud of you girls.

And now...something for each of you!

Addie Russo – Miss Russo you are truly a memorable young one. Stay sweet, free-spirited and enthusiastic forever (and never stop wearing your purple Keens because they define you). You've certainly left your mark on your fellow campers and staff! PS –

I'd fake sing/dance in a music video with you any day, especially if it's in a canoe at the ODT.

Alex Benson – You're a camp girl at heart and an incredible person to have around. You are fearless, enthusiastic, and fun...and although you like to stay in your bed a good ten minutes after revelry goes off, you're always ready to make any day a great one!

Ali Long – You are always a burst of energy and it has been awesome having you in the Tumblers this summer! I've loved watching you grow, Ali, and I hope you know how special we all think you are!

Aliyah Kasimov – You were the first Tumbler I met this summer, and I remember feeling so nervous that very first day when you stared at your bunk bed for a good fifteen seconds, only to squeal with joy and climb on up to test it out afterward. You are positive and inclusive always, and I can't wait to watch you grow up here girly!

Ava Charney – You are a known name and face around camp and that is due to your approachable, kind, hysterical and mature personality. I could see your love for camp grow and grow in everything you did this summer, and I can't wait to see you here in years to come! PS- you saying “foreal?!” at the infirmary...I'll be laughing forever.

Aviva Porres – I've never met such an independent young girl in my entire life. It was wonderful being your counselor girly and I am beyond excited to see you back here! I hope you and Michele can experience

Robin Hood together next summer!

Eliza Bloom – To the girl with the singing voice of a twenty-five year old...you are always inclusive, energetic and friendly, and your love for camp is already so easy to see. You know what it means to be at Robin Hood! Always remain true to yourself – you have many years ahead of you here girly!

Iris Razo – I am so proud of you! You submerged yourself into the Tumblers so well even though you entered The Realm with three weeks to spare. Thank you for constant smiles and hugs! I can't wait to see you back here!

Ivy Sobel – Girly you made me so proud this summer. Once the rain calmed down and the sun came out, I feel like you dominated in every sport we played – whether it was on the field or in the lake! The Tumblers of 2015 will forever use your A, B, C rule when playing gaga! Keep coming back, Sobes, Robin Hood is in your blood and bones.

Julia Baumoel – My sassy, sassy girl... You fill the Tumbler cabin with color and spunk always and it's been awesome watching you grow this summer. In your singing, dancing, cheers, and while playing sports, you always give everything your all. You've got Robin Hood in you girly, keep coming back! PS – thanks for letting me eat off your plate every meal.

Lauren Insul – Although it took me some time to earn the privilege of seeing your wild side, I feel as if I've gotten to know you so well this summer. You are sweet, goofy, curious and fun, and I can only hope to see you here for many years to come!

Linley Grosman – I can see how much Robin Hood allows you to be yourself in a way you maybe didn't know existed until this summer. Let this place be your home. It needs you as much as you need it. I will forever think of you whenever the horns come on over the camp loudspeakers – dum dum da da dum...

Lucy Lenox – You are the epitome of an angel. I couldn't have asked for a more kind, thoughtful, animated and mature girl to be my camper. Next summer you must stay LONGER because two weeks in The Realm is simply not enough for someone like you. It was a privilege to be your counselor girly and I hope you come back for years to come!

Marina Cicero – My dear, your sass most definitely livened up the Tumbler bunk this summer! I'm so happy you extended from two weeks to four – you are constantly energetic, smiling, and willing to have a good time. Every group needs a girl like you around!

Michele Kanaan – I am beyond happy you came to Robin Hood. You are curious, humble, enthusiastic, and kind. I think you have so much to offer camp, just as it has so much in store for you. It's super rare to find a girl as young as you that knows herself so well – I hope you know how amazing you are!

TUMBLERS

Noa Goldman – Noey I don't have a doubt in my mind that you will be here for many, many years. You are a good friend, camper, and person. I believe that with your spirit, competitive nature, enthusiasm, and sensitivity, you will keep Robin Hood the way it should be.

Sabrina Hobert – Every time I turn to you and see your big, bright, genuine smile, it reminds me how important this place is. You give your all in everything you do and it has been a pleasure watching you transform here! I can't wait to see what else Robin Hood has in store for you in the many years you have ahead of you!

Samantha Solomon – Throughout the summer I've seen how observant, caring, hard-working and fun you are, and it was an absolute privilege to be your counselor! PS- you were totally the first one to learn the lyrics to Mountain Monkey. Never forget them, you rock!

Sammi Stratman – Sassy my girl...how amazing it was having you in the Tumblers this summer! I knew from the first night when you came up to me at the waterfront with a live fish in your hands that we were going to have some memorable weeks ahead of us. Please always stay funky, free-spirited, kind and...of course...sassy!

Sienna Coen – Whether we're having a staring contest (or you're just staring at me and I'm trying to understand what's going on), running to activities, dancing on the benches, or you're showing me the cut on your tongue in utter silence, you always manage to have gigantic sweet smile on your face. I hope you never lose your crazy side because it's the most unique and captivating thing about you!

Tara Odunsi – With your kind heart, observant eyes and constant willingness to try new things, camp is the perfect place for you. You were a great addition to the Tumblers second session. All I ask is that you stay longer next time!

Staff – To my perfect team...I don't know how I could've gotten through this summer without all of you. Thank you for enduring my periodic breakdowns, keeping my impulsive ideas in check, listening to the same song every night just so that our kids would learn the lyrics, and for always reminding me to wear my sunglasses. I am forever grateful. I love you. PS – k-i-n-pay.

I can't yet fully explain to you girls how much Robin Hood will change you, and how important it is that you all keep coming back. I can only hope that in years from now you'll look back to the yearbook article from your first (or second) time at camp and remember the incredible summer you spent here with me and your staff. I hope that whenever you read this you smile and realize how far you've come, whether it be this coming fall or ten years from now. You all belong here, and all I will ever ask of you is that you believe it. Love The Realm and The Realm will love you, because we are running free – just like mountain monkeys should be! And always remember...no one wants to be a smushed bug!

Oh how I wish you could press rewind, all the time...

Love always,
Ladybug

JESTERS

VAMOS A LA PLAYA...JESTAH FIESTA! Alright Jesters, put away your iPods, shut off your TVs, get off your phones, stop playing spit, get somewhere comfy, and get ready to relive the memories from the best summer of your lives.

Remember when Cate wasn't killing it at every sport? When Hunger wasn't being kind? When Grace wasn't totally goofy? When Morgan wore a T-shirt that wasn't down to her shins? When Aja hated stories? When Lia hated pink? When Isabel complained a ton? When Lily Drye was a bad dancer? When Lily Collier was loud and obnoxious? When Julia Katz thought reading was stupid? When Quincy hated amphibians? When Alessandra frowned? When Devin didn't want to go to gymnastics? When Ginsberg had a clean area? When Hilary hated camp? When Mia wasn't doing random aerials? When Adriana wasn't positive? When Goldman hated soccer? When Ella wasn't sassy? When Elizabeth was mean? When Sydney wasn't singing or when Ava wasn't asking for candy? When Alana didn't want to know what the EA was? When Natalia didn't want to hug people? BECAUSE WE DON'T!

Remember the excitement on the first day of camp...greeting the two buses at the same time...Everyone getting to know each other so quickly? Remember when Grace amazed us with her pets and her banana-farming heritage? When Aja farted on command during the backwards scavenger hunt? When Hunger and Grace did Jester TV? Remember when Alessandra joined us? When Morgan rocked the lacrosse intensive and showed the boys how it's done? Remember when Lia climbed on every person ever and when Cate beat Mel at knockout? Remember when Isabel danced up a storm in the Gaga pit? Remember when we climbed Green Mountain and saw the gorgeous view at the top of the tower? Thank goodness for Morgan's iPod and the world's coolest fanny pack for making that hike a little more fun!

Remember when Cate and Aja discovered a love for horses? Remember when Morgan and Quincy had the same sheets? Remember when Hunger had the world's softest comforter? Remember when Hunger ate grass? Remember when Lia rocked the lake on water skis? Remember when we told stories every night? Remember the moist towelettes? Remember when Ava finally got to camp and then we had the Fourth of July carnival the next day? Remember the ice cream truck and the fried dough? Remember when we added Jester Theater? Remember when Isabel's entire wardrobe was from one store? Remember the Court Jesters game, and Hilary getting a prize and Cate playing like a pro? Remember when Quincy walked into the bathroom in the middle of the night? Remember when Alessandra killed it at waterski? Remember when Hunger wowed us with her self-taught gymnastics skills? Remember pajama jumping and s'mores? Remember when Devin joined our group and shared her tongue tattoos with everyone? Remember when Zach Zeller took Olivia Goldman and Ava wakeboarding on some mornings, and they both improved so much? Remember our weekly dance moves? Remember when we had to say goodbye to the two weekers and everyone slept on the porch together?

Remember learning our Jester dance? Remember when Quincy begged Becca to look for frogs in the middle of the night? Remember everyone's futures? Quincy was a frog-ologist, Ginsberg got amnesia, Goldman was a freshwater lake dolphin, Hilary married Shaq, Lily Drye made it to Broadway, Ava wake-boarded on corn, Lily Collier played tennis in college, and Sydney chose the man who let her follow her dreams. Remember when Lily Collier played cards with Mia all morning? Remember when the counselors had irrational fears? Remember canoeing to the marina and Quincy falling out of the canoe? Remember Midnight McDonald's? Remember when Ginsberg refused to take off Becca's Superman boxers? Remember Hilary laughing and crying at the same time? Remember when we had high school clique theme day? Remember when Julia lent her books to everyone? Remember when Goldman was freaking out about her book about a class trip? Remember when we played sleeping Lions? Remember when Ella was an incredible dancer? Remember when Devin had the nicest bed? Remember when Vicky Lightman was obsessed with Lily Drye? Remember when we had a million candy parties? Remember when we had a Girls' Camp pajama jump in the morning?

Remember making our own Jester shirts? Remember when camp ran out of water so we had to take desperate measures? Remember when we challenged the Squires to Gaga? Remember when Julia got her necklace stuck in her tooth? Remember when Julia was a little Lucy...? Remember when we did our dance for the talent show? Remember PVD...the cookies, playing haroogan, the Collier's and the Adelman's killing it at doubles queen of the court? Remember saying goodbye to the four weekers but saying hello to Natalia, Alana, Adriana, and Elizabeth?

Remember when Ava peed in a bucket? Remember when Sydney and Hilary went tubing with Zach Zeller? Remember when Natalia jumped off the tower for the first time ever? Remember when Alana wowed us on her first day with her gymnastics skills? Remember when Mia brought Bob Bob the ball to the world? Remember when Ginsberg was convinced that there was a Peter Schloss on camp? Newsflash, there's not. Remember when Alana, Elizabeth, Natalia, and Adriana begged to play colors at waterfront? Remember Elizabeth's bunny hop? Remember when we were going to go tubing and booming, but the lightning told us otherwise? Remember your awesome counselor impersonations that we did instead? Remember when Ella taught her sanitize cheer and Goldman taught our High School Musical cheer? Remember our High School Musical jump? Remember watching Nanny McPhee in the lodge? Remember leaving for excursion...Remember Ella going on her first waterslide at Whale's Tale?

Remember Ginsberg's safety lessons and the deadly earth spiders? Remember when it rained during our fajita night and then we went to Minions? Remember Cranmore Adventure Park and when Hilary fell off the platform and that boy kept trying to come down the ladder and step on her head? Thank goodness for the golden tweezer for saving her!

Remember coming home and being so excited for Green and White? Remember being convinced that it would break on Founder's Night? Remember when it broke the next morning with drummers and jet skis and boats? Remember picking captains? Sydney captain and Ginsberg co for the Green Empire, and Hilary captain and Mia co for the White Commodores. Remember when you all played some incredible games and performed so well in the talent show? Remember when you all had amazing sportsmanship and made all your counselors extremely proud? Remember when suddenly Green and White was over and we were together again? Remember everyone sleeping in each other's beds on Night Five? Remember everyone being so sad about Adriana leaving and sharing contact information? Remember having a treasure hunt ending with M&M pizza and a lovely jog on the far far field? Remember getting Lily Drye's letter to all the Jesters? Remember embracing every last minute of camp and being so excited for summer 2016 to start? I know I do!

JESTERS

Adriana Campbell – It's honestly so hard for me to believe that this is your first summer. You are an absolutely lovely girl, and you wowed everyone with your super happy mood and incredible athleticism. You mesh with the group like you've been coming here for years, and camp has definitely embraced you as much as you've embraced camp. Please, please, please keep coming back. You are awesome.

Aja Parker – You are one sweet kid. Your kindness makes everyone feel so special and want to be around you. I love that you put everything you have into every activity. You are such a smiley girl and I hope that you stay that way forever. Thank you for letting me tell you stories every night! You're really, really awesome.

Alana Zitomer – I'm so glad that you decided on camp. You are, without a doubt, extremely kind, and that is important in any group. I love that you are always eager for what's ahead (no, I can't tell you what EA is yet) and always having the most fun you can with anything we are doing. I'm sorry that my stuff sometimes gets into your area, but I really hope that that doesn't keep you from coming back next summer!

Alessandra Mazzi – After a rough first day or two, you suddenly became this smiley and giggly girl. It was awesome! It was so easy to see your positivity in everything, and you made your love for activities and for the girls so clear. I love that you embraced everything, especially waterski. You are one kind and loving kid, and I hope to see you back here next summer.

Ava Swidler – Saying that you give your all in every activity is an understatement. You have unwavering confidence in yourself, and this inspires the other girls to strive to have the same. I love how excited you get about the activities you love. It's awesome how funky and outgoing you are. You are so happy and eager to share with the group, and that is so admirable. Keep on coming back. Camp needs you.

Cate Shanahan – I know that getting used to being at camp was not an easy or immediate process for you. Despite that, you meshed so well with the group and had everyone loving you very quickly. You have a huge heart and an incredible way of getting along with everyone, and I can't wait to see you put these skills to work as you play and compete in the summers to come. You are really just the sweetest person and an awesome camper.

Devin Grabel – Hiiii saaaailors! The maturity you so often displayed seemed to be coming from a girl much older than you. You were such a force of sunshiny positivity, and you were just so fun to be with in every activity. I love that I could count on you to never complain and to motivate other girls to do the same. You are simply so wonderful.

Elizabeth Kreindler – My gosh, you are campy. You look forward to every activity with unmatched excitement, and I love the eagerness with which you take in camp's traditions. It is just so clear that you belong here. You are so giggly and fun to joke around with (How serious are you? 100%!), and some fun joking around with you has made my day more than once. Please keep coming back forever!

Ella Jaffe – You are so wonderfully enthusiastic. Watching you give your all in every activity and dance to some sick jams makes me so happy because I can feel how happy you are. You really are so loved by every girl in the group, and I can't say I blame them. Your ability to hold a real and mature conversation makes you such an incredible friend. You were a model of sportsmanship during green and white, and I can't wait to see you next summer.

Grace Coen – I'm not sure that Robin Hood has ever seen anyone quite as fun-loving and adventurous as you. It was wonderful to watch you embrace each activity and greet every Jester with unwavering enthusiasm. Never stop telling people about your many pets and about everything else that makes you you. It's impossible to not love your super sunny attitude. Thank you for making each day brighter.

Hilary Adelman – I don't know if there's anyone out there who loves camp more than you do. Watching you get close to the entire group this summer was truly incredible. Remember to take things one day at a time, because that is the best way to enjoy every single day. You have such a positive leadership role in the group, and I love that. You're amazing, and I can't wait for you to own camp one day and have your own fifty-year bash.

Hunger – You are so impressively mature. You clicked with the group right away because it is literally impossible not to like you. Not only are you incredibly kind and thoughtful, but also you are so genuinely respectful and inclusive. Please, please, please, keep coming back. Camp loves you and your family so much, and I know that you truly belong here.

JESTERS

Isabel Maida – After your first few days at camp, you were literally dancing all the time. I love your spunk and energy, and I appreciate the eagerness with which you grasp every day and activity. It was rare that I'd catch you without a smile, and this brings so much positivity to the group. You are one incredible camper. Coding camp is super cool and all, but please keep coming back to Robin Hood!

Julia Katz – Thanks for letting me read your books and for talking about Harry Potter with me! You have so much energy and are so positive, which is truly wonderful. I love that you found a real balance between playtime and reading time. Towards the end of the first session, you truly became your real self, and that was incredible. You're such a good kid, and I see a great camper career in your future.

Lia Johnson – On the first day of camp, you strutted into bunk seven with so much confidence. I saw that same confidence when you started conversations with other campers or volunteered to do something in front of a crowd. I love that you're never afraid to speak your mind, and I can't wait to see the beautiful camp friendships that your confidence helps to form in your coming summers at Robin Hood. Keep coming back!

Lily Collier – You are a star. Thank you so much for laughing at my bad jokes and for always listening and behaving well. Watching you work your way into the group and into camp was such a pleasure. It's so impressive to see such a wonderful athlete with such incredible sportsmanship. I hope to see you back at camp next year, and I hope you'll dance with me in the dining hall next summer!

Lily Dryev – I'll Drye my best to explain how great of a kid you are! You fit right in with the group and really embraced everything about camp. You're such a go-with-the-flow kid, and that made everything so much fun. Your letter you sent us after you left really showed your incredible heart and your true love for camp. Keep coming back!

Mia Bloom – You are a model of politeness, helpfulness, and kindness. It was so nice to have a camper to always count on to be mature and respectful. You have so much fun with every activity, and you look so cool doing it that you inspire others to do the same. Your love of camp is so clear, especially with all your awesome campy apparel (I love that #CRH tank!), and I can't wait to watch your amazing camper career in the summers to come.

Morgan Butler – Camp already loves you so much. Everyone immediately fell in love with your cheery smile and sassy hand motions, and we only loved you more as you came out of your shell. Keep being sweet, keep being fun, don't be afraid to tell people when your toes are hurting on a hike, and keep coming back, because there is most definitely a place here for you.

Natalia Scott – You are quite selfless. You are always asking other people if they are ok or if they need anything, and that is not only sweet but admirable. You are always happy and smiling even if you don't get your way, and I love that about you. You are a beautiful girl inside and out, and I never want you to forget that. Please keep coming back forever and ever, because you bring so much to the group. You are incredible.

Olivia Ginsberg – I love that you only ever complain when I ask you to put on sneakers. You are always smiling and getting others to do the same. You're so campy, and watching you be inclusive and just love everything and everyone here at camp is such a joy. You pick everyone up when they're down, including me, and I am so thankful for this. I'm so glad that I finally got to be your counselor after getting to know you back in 2013. You rock.

Olivia Goldman – You are a wonderful athlete and competitor, but an even better friend, cousin, and sister. You care so deeply about the relationships you have with the people you love, and this is so admirable. You have such a drive to improve yourself, which was easy to see with your morning wakeboard sessions. You are such a spunky kid and you're awesome to spend time with. See you next summer!

Q – Yes, I will go look for frogs and toads for you tonight, I promise! You are one wild ball of energy, and I love the amazing positive energy that you bring to the group. You are a true leader and I loved those moments when you'd use this to raise up the group and brighten the days of the other girls. Even though this energy of yours didn't seem to go away at bedtime, I loved every second of it. See you next summer.

Sydney Rodin – It's hard to believe that you're the age you say you are, because you have the maturity and perspective of someone twenty years older. You so often lead by example, and I can always count on you to do the right thing. You are truly brave, which is clear when you call out your friends and make them want to do the right thing as well. Keep giving your all at every activity and greeting each day with a smile.

Izzy, Lucy, Erin, Tina, and Lynsey – You guys could not have been more amazing this summer. I am so lucky to have been gifted with such a competent, capable, and caring staff. Not only were you all incredible to work with, but also I loved getting to know each of you and experiencing awesome friendships. If you are not back next summer, I expect to be hearing from you! Thank you all so much for everything that you did for me, for the girls, and for camp this summer.

Jesters of 2015, Scribes of 2021 – You are such a remarkable group of girls. It's amazing how, even though it's so early in your camper careers, you are already working out everyone's place in the group. When I found out before camp that I was going to be a group leader, I was so happy that I cried. When I was told that I would be getting you guys, I definitely teared up again. You have all been just as incredible as I thought you would be. I know it seems like there is a long and indefinite stretch of camper days ahead of you, but remember that one day you too will be where I am now. Don't waste any of your time at camp, and just keep embracing each other and everything that camp has to offer. Thank you so much for letting me be a part of your group and for making every day a joy to wake up to. Spending time with you guys was simply wonderful, and I can't wait to watch you all grow up in the coming summers. Love you all and see you soon!

BOWS

Haaaaay pretty young things!

I hope that your school year is going well but you are ready to take a minute, put down your forbidden screens, and reminisce on the best summer of your lives- Ready, set, BOW!!!

Remember when you all arrived to camp? Reuniting with friends from last summer and welcoming Indi and Lorenza into the group? Remember the first evening activity?

Running all the way from the waterfront to the outpost and having s'mores? Props to Dunia for spelling rendezvous correctly on her first try.

You guys did not waste a minute getting involved in activities! You all successfully passed the 16 laps on our first trip down to the waterfront. We learned right off the bat that Carly and Dunia would be the Bow gymnastics professionals, Izzy would be a great rider, and Indi would be a string bracelet master.

Remember when Jillian thought there was fluff on taco night? Nope, sorry, that's sour cream. Remember learning the uterus chicken song? 1 little 2 little 3 little uterus.

Remember starting a "Free Brady" chant in the dining hall? Remember Bow staff original evening activities? Remember when Julia picked up a dead fish? Remember Robin Hood gives back and swimming the most laps out of all of the junior camp groups? Remember when you guys failed at make your GL laugh? Remember when Lorenza got way too into playing family feud? Then getting candy canteen and watching the sunset? Remember the fourth of July? Remember all your 6-way marriages? Remember when Bella joined us? Remember unclogging toilets in rain jackets, goggles and rain boots?

Remember eating all of your desserts in one bite? Remember playing Gaga against the Foresters and losing after 8 jail breaks? Remember when Izzy dressed up as Elvis, side burns included, and danced with Charlotte for the talent show? Remember Lily's beautiful rendition of A Thousand Years? Remember doing the whip and nae nae with your feet on the tube? Remember making up your commercials with the Quills?

Remember when Rosie joined us the day we were climbing Mount Major? Remember scaling the steep rocks at the top? Although many of you may have fallen, I was so proud of you girls for completing it in trip staff's record time! We beat the Archers, even though "it wasn't a race." Remember our photo shoot in front the beautiful view?

Remember going to Forest Acres for a play date? Remember integrating teams? Go Forest Hood and Robin Acres! Remember getting a tour of their camp? Remember jumping in their river? And you guys thought our lake was cold!

Remember Beach Day? Remember how high the waves were? Remember when you guys each got 10 pounds of candy each? Remember when you all bought Ogunquit fanny packs to ride with the female staff trend? Remember the Mainers game? Remember when Lainey and Gimbel went tubing together? Remember when Carly back flipped off of the two-seater tube? Remember all your crazy ideas for your Scrxon Fake Break? Flying chickens and #9 may or may not be included. Remember mastering Green and White style Newcomb? Remember sailing to the island? Remember Charlotte's birthday? Spa day and candy party in the bunk and then watching Mall Cop and eating Pizza Barn in the lodge. Remember our sunset photo shoot on the beach? Remember our legendary Founder's Day gift? Remember singing the Princess Pat and making rickabamboos? Remember waking up early, getting blindfolded, and going pajama jumping before breakfast? Remember when Dunia lost her pants? Then we all ate Dunkin Doughnuts on the beach and met Monty's family!

Remember our awesome excursion? Thanks Stacey! Remember the crazy rides at Whale's Tales? Remember our delicious steak and chicken dinner? Remember when Lainey and Izzy chugged the steak juice? Remember our "choc-tatoe" invention? How has nobody else thought to put chocolate in baked potatoes?! Remember Inside Out? Remember s'mores for breakfast? Remember how helpful Trevor and James were at Monkey Trunks? We don't! Remember the ice cream bar and buying stuffed animals and candy? Remember mini golfing (kind of)? Remember when Kiki fell asleep fell asleep in the sand? Remember how loud Julianna was in the morning? Remember swimming and swinging at the campground?

BOWS

Remember Green and White? You elected Laurel and Izzy as captains, Julia and Daisy as cos. You guys had such intense activities, from Gaga to Bombardment. Remember Lainey's armpit hair? Free the female armpit hair! It's a movement! While the White Commodores came out on top, the Green Empire had awesome songs. Remember moving Lainey's bed to the homerun diamond? Remember reuniting on Lazy Day and making hilarious paper bag skits? Interesting use of batteries...

I hope you all had as amazing of a summer as I did and I hope, and expect, to see you all next summer!

Ally – If anyone knows how to crack the group up, it's you. You make light of every situation and have such a creative mind. You get engaged in every sport, mainly soccer, and even in dance! You are always smiling and having fun and are such a great camper!

Andrea – I am so happy that you joined our group this summer! You didn't miss a beat when you came for the second half. You fit right in and made so many new friends! I really hope to see you back next summer!

Camille – I was so happy when you finally came the second week of this summer. As soon as you arrived you added energy and kindness to the group. You were eager to join everybody in all activities from dancing in the talent show to playing basketball. You reached out to so many people and always had different ideas on how to have fun. A piece of the group was definitely missing before you came and I am so happy you joined us for the rest of the summer. See you around Needham!

Carly G – You are the most mature 11 year old I have ever met. When talking to you I often forgot that you were my camper and talked to you as a friend. You have such a good head on your shoulders and know what you're doing. You understand the true meaning of things and love camp so much.

Carly S – My future olympian! From gymnastics to soccer to dance you get so involved in every activity that you participate in. You have so many great friends in the group and always seem to be having so much fun. I love how much you love camp and hope that you pass it along to your younger brother! See you next summer!

Carys – You have a great talent of being able to make everyone laugh. From dragging you out of bed in the morning to putting your hair in high buns you were always making me smile. You were so much fun to have as a camper and we missed you and your fuzzy cupcake pajamas so much the second session!

Casey – You are such a goof! You always come up with funny ideas for the group to do and you keep everybody smiling. Whenever somebody needs cheering up you always go out of your way to make them feel included. You love camp and all that it stands for which is awesome to see as a counselor!

Charlotte – You radiate positivity and inclusiveness. No matter what the activity is I know that you will be excited about it and give it your all. You branch out within the group and make sure that everybody is happy and having fun. You are also great at performing and killed it on stage during the green and white skit! You have so much to offer to both camp and this group and I can't wait to see you next summer!

Daisy – I am so happy that I got to be your counselor again. You are so fun and mature that you really don't seem like a bow. You understand complex situations and know when it is and isn't okay to say certain things. You are friendly to everyone and love including people. You are a great dancer, athlete and friend and you are growing up into such an awesome person.

Dunia – Everything you did, you did 100%. I don't think I have ever seen such a passionate 11 year old. From sports, to horseback riding you were so engaged in every activity. One day you will make a great green and white competitor! Your love for camp is so evident- I am so happy you brought your cousins. See you in the 617!

Grace – The expression "happy camper" was made after you. Whatever activity we had you were always so excited to join in. You are so inclusive to everybody and a great addition to the group. See you next summer for seven weeks!

Indi – People didn't believe me when I told them it was your first summer. It took you about 10 seconds to fit perfectly into this group. It was amazing watching you learn all of the camp traditions and teach them to new campers throughout the summer. I was so happy you stayed all four weeks- it would not have been the same without you. Hope Australia and your pet kangaroos are treating you well and I cannot wait to see you on your winter break!

Izzy Chong – You were such a great addition to the group! I am so glad that you came – you added so much character to all of our activities. Your personality is funny and you are so nice to everybody in the group! Hope to see you back!

Izzy – It is impossible to be sad around you. You are always laughing, smiling and making jokes. You know how to make the group laugh whether it's belting out Elvis or just telling a story. You are also so talented and such a leader of this group from being Green and White captain for the second year in a row to learning how to get up on a wake board. Both of your older sisters are such great role models for you and I cannot wait to see what the future has in store for you!

Jessica – You are the nicest person ever! Thank you for being such a great camper – from trying new activities to hanging out with everyone in the bunk you did everything with so much energy and a huge smile on your face. Come back next year and bring your sister too!

Jillian – I am so glad you decided to stay seven weeks. You have a great balance of being super competitive but also so sweet and inclusive. This was a huge summer for you! You learned how to waterski and had your first green and white where you dominated in sports! You have realized the importance of cherishing every minute of camp and you enjoy all of your time here.

Julia – Is there anything that you aren't good at? From bag go to soccer you dominated green and white! You are a clear leader in this group and were an excellent co-captain! You are mature and positive about everything and always go with the flow. I am so happy that you decided to stay for seven weeks and can't wait to see you next year!

Kate – It was such a pleasure to get to know you over these last two weeks! Your true colors really started to shine (especially during tubing) and I loved watching you participate in every activity. You add so much to this group and I hope to see you next summer for four weeks!

Kiki – Everybody is so happy that you came back! You are so fun to be around and go with the flow in every situation. Keep telling funny stories, smiling and coming back! You are a great part of this group and add so much personality!

BOWS

Kylie – Thank you for always having so much energy! You are so friendly to everyone in the group and always beyond welcoming to new campers! I loved sleeping next to you for four weeks. You were a fantastic participant in every activity and so athletic, especially at Newcomb, or should I say mucus? See you and Hayley, the honorary Bow, next summer!

Laurel – You are one of the most responsible, caring people that I have ever met. You were a phenomenal captain during green and white and played every event with integrity and heart. You are also such an amazing older sister to Beck. You look out for him and check in on him all the time, which shows how much you care about other people and how selfless you are. You appreciate all the things your staff does for you and you are so much fun to have as a camper!

Lily – I have never met anyone with more energy than you. No matter what the activity is you are always so excited and give it your all. From bear crawling during the tug of war to pumping up the entire white team, you are a force to be reckoned with. You engage yourself in everything from playing the flute in the talent show to being one of the only girls at the track meet. You give everything your all and are a joy to have as a camper, especially because your love for camp is so evident.

Lorenza – It was amazing to watch you break out of your shell this summer. From learning English to screaming your count off number to starring in a talent show dance you really tried it all! You add so much personality to this group and I am so happy you became a part of it!

Niloé – You were such an amazing camper! You are so responsible, so involved and so amazing to be around. Everybody loved hanging out with you and you have so many great friends in the group. You get excited and involved in activities and I hope one day you will stay for the whole session!

Rosie – Was it really your first summer? Didn't seem like it! You jumped right into the group and never looked back. Your competitive, confident nature fit in perfectly with this group! You were a great addition and extra valuable during green and white. I'm so happy you came this summer and can't wait to see you next year!

Talia C – You grew so much this summer! From jumping off the tower for the first time to perfecting your tennis strokes you really took advantage of all The Realm has to offer. It was so fun watching you enjoy activities and branch out in the group. You are so sweet and I cannot wait to see you back next summer!

Talia T – It was a pleasure having you as a camper. You are so positive about everything from sleeping in a bunk bed to going to soccer tournaments. There is always a smile on your face which adds so much spirit to the group! Thank you for passing on your knowledge by trying to teach me Spanish, French and Portuguese! Can't wait to see you your next winter break!

Tyler – I am so happy that you decided to come back to camp this summer and stay for five weeks! You rock the fun buns like no other and are always excited about different activities. Between Laguna Beach and Milan I am so happy that you understand the importance of camp and all that it has to offer.

Staff – I would not have made it through this summer if it weren't for you guys. You were all amazing counselors who cared so much about these girls. Thank you for all of your help and humor. Love you all – keep in touch!

ONE IN A QUILLION!!!

Alright all you quill-billies, it's time to get off the swings, stop playing cards in the bunk, and reminisce on the best summer ever!

Remember getting to camp in late June and returning to the magical place that we get to call home? Smelling the pine needles in the air, and feeling the comfort that only the sun and the breeze at The Realm can provide? Remember finding out that you would be spending yet another summer in the heart and soul of Girls' Camp, which is more commonly known as Siberia? While the location may be inconvenient when it comes to leaving your water bottle in the bunk before lunch, and then needing to walk all the way back from the dining hall to pick it up, there is something truly special about it. It is an underrated privilege to walk through all of Girls' Camp day in and day out, and I wouldn't have it any other way.

Remember our very first evening activity? Playing connection at the Adirondacks on the Quad, getting to know each other, finding out just how much we all have in common, all while eating endless Starbursts? I still can't believe that Sofia had two pet tigers! Remember our fun and spunky dance to Mamma Mia? Remember being pampered on spa night? Cucumbers, facemasks, hand massages, and finding our Zen, what could be better? How about those camp rainy days? Thank goodness for them, because without rainy days we would've never been able to watch our love, Benny Rodriguez, in The Sandlot! Remember the Trash-Fash Fashion show? How could you forget Felicity and Sloane dressed to impress in all their trash bag glory...the judges sure didn't, because we won first place! Remember the fourth of July? Welcoming Berrett and Millie to our Quill family, stuffing our faces at the ice cream truck, confessing our love for one another at the marriage booth, and riding the slip n' slide down the Quad? Let's not forget the best part, when we all went down to the ODT that night to finally enjoy the fireworks. Remember our long and strenuous hike up Rattlesnake Mountain?...Hardest twenty minutes of my life! Remember being woken up late at night with McDonalds and star gazing on the rink? Weirdly enough, that was the first McDonalds experience ever for some of you. Remember all of the awesome camp birthdays we got to celebrate? Claire, Grace, Millie, and Sloane, thanks for the cake guys! There is no one else I would rather parade around the dining hall with, chanting GO GREEN GO and FIGHT WHITE FIGHT!

Remember our first drama period when Apolline blew us away with her amazing acting skills? How about when Eleonore made us laugh with her hilarious stories about school back home. Remember when we had mustache day? Thanks for the 'staches, Bella! I mustache you a question, but I'll shave it for later. Remember how amazing beach day was this summer? Driving out to beautiful Ogunquit Beach in Maine, and spending the day splashing around in the ocean, shopping at the boardwalk for bucket hats and fanny packs, and bringing back gifts for our secret summer sisters? Remember make your GL laugh? You guys are such a hilarious group, and I still feel bad for not spitting out my water...sorry guys, I'm just too tough to crack. Remember going on that epic photo scavenger hunt? Human pyramids on the homerun diamond, making people all over camp pose in a purple bikini top, and chasing down the one and only...xoxo gossip squirrel. Elisabeth, remember Kaniya? You two "mermaid" for each other. Who remembers Maddie dancing every night before bed? Remember when a squirrel ran across Lexi's face? Pretty hard to forget with her sick battle wounds the next day. How about when Erzy took us down to the waterfront to play greasy watermelon? I guess it was more like buttery honeydew, but still, a short, sweet, and epic game. Remember when our bunk was the chosen one and a lightning bolt skimmed the overhang outside? Remember when we got to go tubing as a group, or when so many of you guys got up on waterskies and wake boards for the first time this summer? We can never forget the group's undying love for Alejandra, and singing, to the tune of Kanye, "I wanna be like Ale!!!!" Remember when you guys put together some of the best lip-syncs The Realm has ever seen for EA? I still picture Jasmine crawling like a tiger when I think about it. Who remembers putting on the craziest outfit they could come up with, and being led through an intense blindfolded path down to the waterfront, through the stables, and even through a cave until we reached our final destination at the outpost for s'mores? CHUBBY BUNNY. Remember listening to Sunday Candy every single day multiple times a day, and how Jessie knew every single word? The real JZ!

Remember how awesome it was having all your parents and siblings here on PVD? Who could forget the adorable little pocket Jasmine? It was a bittersweet time when it came to saying goodbye to parents, because they left, but we got to welcome so many faces, new and old, to the Quill family. Maggie and Geier were welcomed back with open arms, and Sarah, Addison, Mackenzie, Caroline and Nina could not have been more perfect pieces for the Quill puzzle, fitting right in seamlessly. Well...seamlessly might be an exaggeration; we still had to add five beds and sets of shelves into our bunk, the rearranging was no simple task, but it couldn't have paid off more! Remember playing the song game with our Scribe Aides on that rainy day in the bunk? When everyone thought that Dream On a Star song from Dance Moms was a hoax, until we looked it up...sorry Sloane!

QUILLS

Remember our incredible journey on excursion? Between Vermont, Maine, Massachusetts, New York, and the Canadian boarder, we had such a blast! From riding the alpine slides at Attitash, to our photo shoot on Hampton Beach, to mini golf, to thrifting, to all of you splitting into groups to "help me with my shopping list" at Wal-Mart, the excursion was epic. Don't forget about Peter Pan in the park! I'm not sure which was more entertaining, the musical itself, or you guys all fan-girling after! Remember presenting camp with our high quality founder's day gift? The Gaga pit really couldn't go another summer without a waterproof first aid kit full of knuckle shaped Band-Aids. Remember when we all thought Green and White was going to break on Founder's Night, and were surprised to see that it didn't, so we all sleep in sneakers...Being woken up at 6am to drums and sprinting down to the lake to see jet skis, and we knew the next five days were going to be the most intense, and most fun part of the summer! We came back to the bunk and voted for camper captains and co's. Maggie, Riley, Carrie and Jasmine all did such a great job leading the group during the war between the mighty White Commodores and the great Green Empire. Remember all coming back together as a big happy family on lazy day, and going to Cozy Corner for Sloane's birthday (just a week late), and coming back to the ODT to enjoy the amazing view, tell secrets, and learn the words to Linger? Remember spending GL swap day with E-rock? I think it's clear who the better Levine is... and it better not be him.

Thank you guys for being so great this summer! It is clear the your passion for camp is strong, and the only thing stronger is your love for each other. You guys are going to be such incredible leaders of girls camp one day, and I cannot wait to see that happen. Keep coming back, and keep being you!

Sofia – You joined this amazingly energetic group seamlessly. I love that you were always so adventurous, and you always had a crazy fun fact to share about yourself!

Eleonore – It was so amazing to watch you come out of your shell here at camp! You started off a little shy, but after a few short days you were as outgoing as ever!

Apolline – It was such a joy to have you in this group! Always willing to try new things, and never failing to express yourself, you were pleasantly surprising in all that you did!

Claire – You always keep it real, and I love that so much about you. You're not afraid to say things as they are, but you are still sweet as can be. These qualities make you a natural leader!

Elisabeth – You always put a smile on my face! I am so proud of your growth throughout the summer. Now that you've seen what a full summer in The Realm has to offer, I hope you keep coming back for as long as you can!

Sloane – You are such a ball of energy! I think it's awesome how involved you are in all that camp has to offer. From playing in sports tournaments, to participating in the big show, you love The Realm and The Realm loves you!

Jasmine – You are such an amazing friend to everyone in the group. I am amazed by your athleticism and sportsmanship too! You shined bright all summer, and especially during green and white.

Berrett – My favorite little Nemo! I can't even put into words how much you amazed me every single day this summer. Your positivity radiates, and your enthusiasm makes the whole group shine along with you!

Ella – You are so hilarious, clever, and sometimes even too smart for me! Never lose sight of how beautiful you are, inside and out. You are so kind and compassionate and the group would not be the same without you.

Geier – You are one of the most well rounded people I have ever met. Somehow you manage to be sporty, social, kind, and positive, all at the same time! You can light up any room that you walk into, so thanks for being you!

Maddie – I always know I can count on you for a good laugh, and so can the rest of the group. Whether it's a fake accent, or a funny story to tell, you never fail to make us smile.

Sarah – You had such a curiosity about camp as soon as you got here, and your enthusiasm was contagious! I loved how eager you always were to put yourself out there and try new things. Never stop being you!

Addison – I think you are one of the sweetest girls The Realm has ever seen! You wouldn't hurt a fly, and I loved how drama free you were. I think you were a perfect fit for the quill 2015 family.

QUILLS

Millie – 12 going on 22! It seriously blows my mind how mature you are, but I wouldn't have it any other way. So many girls in the group look up to you in more ways than you can imagine. Never change.

Caroline K – Although your time here was short, it could not have been sweeter. With your awesome sense of humor and sweet baller skills, you joined this group like it was made for you. I hope to see you back next summer!

Grace – You are such a sweet girl with such a big heart. I love that you show concern for everyone around you, and you never let anyone or anything bring you down. Keep staying positive because it truly is a gift.

Nina – I think you were a great addition to the quill group! Your spunk and pizzazz kept everyone on their toes. Never stop being the exciting and unique girl that you are, because The Realm needs girls like you to jazz it up!

Carrie – All I can think to tell you is how amazing you are, heart and soul. Your inner and outer beauty shine bright in this group, and I don't think it would function properly without you. You are a natural leader, never change!

Emily – You are such a sweetheart; always showing concern for the wellbeing of your friends, and looking out for everyone in your life. Camp is your happy place to come and escape the real world, so never stop coming back to The Realm.

Maggie – I am mind blown at the transformation you made from the beginning of the summer to the end. You went from homesick to the happiest and most positive quill I've ever seen! Your confidence and leadership skills are incredible, so don't ever hesitate to show them.

Riley – You are such a warm and loving person, and thank you so much for sharing that with us this summer. Your kindness is infectious, and I couldn't imagine the quills of 2015 without you in it.

Felicity – Where to begin? You came to camp ready for the best summer ever, and did all you could to contribute to making it just that. You always keep it real, and you never miss a beat. Keep coming back and keep on keeping on.

Mackenzie – I think you came into this group and did amazing things for it. Your spunk always kept things exciting, and your curiosity and willingness to learn about camp kept this group fresh and fun!

Jessie – Big fish little fish cardboard box! I cannot imagine this group without you in it. You are a great friend to all, and I think it's safe to say everyone loves having you by their side. Thanks for all of the joy and smiles you brought to the quills of 2015!

To my amazing staff - Thank you for keeping me sane this summer. The group could not have run as flawlessly as it did without each of you there by my side along the way. I tried my best to show you all the ropes, but I ended up learning more from each of you than I ever thought possible, so thank you for that.

ARROWS

ARROWS, stop scrolling through Instagram, take a break from the selfies, get on benches and get ready to relive your undeniable welcome into senior camp...

Remember the first day, the buses rolling in and everyone piling into Bunks 8 and 9 for the slumber party that was this summer? Remember our first evening activity, playing 'connection' at the waterfront, Tia acting as trips staff, per usual, and building us a fire.

Remember making goals to try new things this summer and actually attempting them? Remember dancing through the sunset and parading our way through camp. That's when I first know you all would take The Realm by storm this summer.

Remember when the van broke down at Cozy? Remember going to Cozy at least once a week? I think the taste of Bobby Sue's cake batter is forever ingrained in my stomach lining, which isn't a bad thing. Remember the need to buy a Bobby Sue's shirt, and by shirt, I mean t-shirt dress? Remember our many other van rides, Chloe and Lily almost killing each other, the bus ride to the West end game... oh wait... the bus back from the Mainers game... you playing 'games' in the back... Remember the actual Mainers game, Nayla bringing her survival kit equip with a bathing suit, flashlight and all other necessities in case a tsunami hits?

Remember our daily schedules? Gaga, arts & crafts, senior waterfront and waterski on the reg. Thanks Stacey! Remember the all Girls' Camp pajama jump, blueberry pancakes by the waterfront and still needing to go to breakfast afterwards. Remember all of our rainy day activities, everyone's favorite muddy Gaga and the "Trashion" show, shout out to Bunk 8's set design! Speaking of Bunk 8 entertainment, remember the late night shows, HBT walking in so confused?

Remember our songs of the summer: Love and Memories, or better known as 'the soccer song from She's the Man', Can't Feel My Face, (shout out to your rockin' dance in the talent show) and of course, none other than Tobachi Luke's Sound Cloud "I got a girl and one biasssss." Remember Lily and Nyla's competition, safe to say Nyla won, but Lily definitely put up a fight! Remember HBT's energy powder and seeing you all walk around with Crystal Lite packets hanging from your lips? Remember when Serena was possessed? There was definitely never a dull night in either Arrow bunk.

Remember mealtime jobs, Chloe's chocolate milk accident and the elimination of liquids in the air forever? Remember "Cheers to the Governa" and "My Mother Is?" I hope you are practicing in the off-season for your Bard summer? Remember being last in line for Sunday Sundaes? Always. At least our cheers were on point... "Let us have the first LICK!"

Remember Izzy's footloose at the tennis courts and bringing back frof and tolf from the dead? Going tubing and booming, everyone flocking to a certain boat? Remember Shaina befriending the kitchen staff, and finding that life-size box of crackers? Remember card games every night, ticket to ride in every moment of down time, the insane amount of letters you wrote, and the countless number of string bracelets crafted on your water bottles? Remember your special flashlight game at the ODT...

Remember when, Haley wasn't in fuzzy pajama shorts, Julia wasn't helping everyone fix their areas, Paige wasn't hugging, Lordy didn't have the best bathing suit collection, Chloe left the Saco river shirt on the beach, Iman wasn't hunting down Nayla, Elle didn't have an unreal voice, Shaina wasn't BFFs with kitchen staff, Nyla wasn't on the Quad, Molly put her hair up at Gaga (lol, jk), Violet wasn't laughing for no reason, Maddie didn't have her ball, Zoe wasn't flawless, Kate could play head-catch, Claudia wasn't amazing at anything she tried, Siena was mean, Claire wasn't untangling her hair, Nayla wasn't carrying her survival backpack, Billi wasn't interpretive dancing, Sam was negative, Emily didn't want to go to waterski, Ava's birthday party wasn't fun, Olivia M. wasn't smiling, Livy wasn't next to Nyla on the Quad, Dina was a bad sport with a clean area, Olivia R. wasn't excited about anything at camp, Lily R. was good at making decisions, Phoebe wasn't the center of the card games, Leah wasn't Cleveland to the soul, Alice had a bad hair day, Serena wasn't taking care of everyone's problems, O was bad at sports, Cece didn't have the most sophisticated summer reading, Casey didn't know every single Robin Hood song by heart, Izzy wasn't wearing flip flops, Lily W. wasn't obsessed with basketball intensive, Leah wasn't jamming out, Alex wasn't driving us to Cozy, Tia wasn't leading dining hall dance parties, Marta didn't wake Maddie up in the middle of the night, Lauren wasn't with Nick Barone, HBT wasn't eating energy powder, Nat wasn't wearing her pink inner-tube?!?! BECAUSE WE DON'T!

ARROWS

Remember the special events...being reunited with everyone's favorite, splash on beach day? Remember getting kicked out of the food line at the Mainers game? Remember putting all our Fourth of July raffle tickets into the 'candlelit dinner with Michael Schloss' box, only to lose to the one and only Toby Bloch?

Remember our evening activities...pizza at the ODT for Ava's birthday, having a birthday, what seemed like, every other day, a crowd favorite: human sundaes, backwards scav on the Quad, the Khalid polaroid's during the regular scav, (shout out to Release Apparel and Max Wasserman's leg hair), our various types of camper hunt, which were always played with Green and White intensity, going to the sandbar and having an Aaron's Party themed dance party, watching "The Notebook" and the quick 180 of people laughing to sobbing in about four seconds? Of course, let's not forget How Well Do You Know Your Group Leader? I could not have been more honored at how well you know me from my toothbrush color to my first camp crushes... shout out to the 'other' brother!

Remember excursion...starting at Canobie Lake Park, riding the log flume repeatedly all morning, some of us taking on "Untamed", and others (MIG) preferring the gondola ride? To each their own! Remember heading to our lovely campsite? I was so proud of how you all pitched your own tents, and helped make the food, even though there were no veggie burgers or salt for the steaks, but hey, the Brie really did add some class to our feast. Remember beating the Lancers to ice cream and mini golf, Livy wading through the mini golf river along with an array of flip flops and golf balls that had someone separated from the group? Remember my mom bringing brownies to Sky Zone as the appetizer for the highlight of excursion: CHIPOTLE!! Remember Paige's meal of rice, lettuce and cheese...mmm...Remember the laser tag extravaganza, the simulator game at the arcade, followed by the first class Chinese Buffet in Portsmouth, hey Dina how were your Buffalo Wild Wings? Remember the 'dèjà vu' game, the soft serve machine and those mini donuts? Remember shopping around Portsmouth, buying the Menemsha Blues shirts, not knowing how to pronounce 'Menemsha' and spilling ice cream cones all over you? Remember tubing down the Saco, landing on that random beach and parading up the hill in the rain? It was well worth the mudslide in the parking lot. Hey Chloe, still have that shirt? TRIPLE CROWN!

Remember Green and White...Billi and Livy leading the mighty White Commodores to victory against Nyla and Dina and the great Green Empire. Your sportsmanship impressed me beyond words and it did not go unrecognized by the Judges or Brass. Always remember tying tug o' war, half of camp coming to cheer you on in your wonderfully competitive volleyball game, the Judges saying how they didn't learn how to play volleyball with such skill until their Shire summers, and of course, our softball game! We owe it all to Stacey's clinics.

Remember the last few days of camp... Maddie's ball and playing pass with it, countless food parties, listening to Scribe Speeches and reminiscing on your past camper days with DJ? Remember GL switch day with Meister and yoga at the waterfront? Remember buying pints of ice cream from Cozy, and cherishing every second of our time here? I am so proud of how you all grew this summer and even though we were only first to flagpole on my birthday, it was the best present I could have asked for and I so appreciate your willingness to try new things this summer. We killed it.

Haley Bloch – You embody what it means to truly love camp. The way you carry yourself, both at activities and in the bunk, expresses how much you respect camp and want to be here. It's people like you that make the magic in the trees.

Julia Charney – You have such a warm heart and I am so glad you share it with camp. I can see that you love it here, and I am so proud of you for the successful summer you had. You are such a good friend, and I know the group would embrace having you around for the rest of your camper years.

Paige Chestler – Your affection is absolutely contagious. It is impossible to feel down around you, as you are so upbeat and loveable. You care for your friends, family and everyone around. You are truly genuine, and it inspires me to be the same.

Jordan Cicero – I have loved watching you mature from a quiet Bow into a confident Arrow. You have become such a strong part of this group, and I love to see you be the friend every girl at camp needs. Keep coming back, camp has so much to offer you.

Chloe Colligan – Watching you love camp more and more each day reminds me how special this place really is. You make me feel like a camper again, and for that I want to thank you. You really get it; you understand your friends, yourself and what it means to take advantage of opportunities presented to you.

Iman Ezzedine – The positive energy you have brought to this group is incredible. You fell in love with camp on day one, and it has been a pleasure to watch you grow and accept this place. Thank you for reminding me to smile.

Elle Feldman – You are the most sophisticated 13-year-old I have ever met.

You are such a strong and independent individual. Your class and maturity will take you far in life, and I am so impressed at the way you conquered your fear of the water this summer.

Shaina Fuente – I can't believe you are the same girl that wouldn't brush her hair as a Bow. You have grown up more in these two years more than anyone, and I could not be more proud of the young woman you have turned into. You are sick at sports and have turned into such a mature camper.

Nyla Gilstrap – You are a true leader, and there is a reason for why everyone in the group respects you. Your inclusive nature is admirable and I love to watch you interact with all campers from Tumblers to Scribes. You love your friends more than anything, and inspire everyone else to be a friend like you.

Molly Goldberg – I see so much of my camper self in you. You love your friends, and truly understand the power of camp, and how much it has to offer. I know you will stick around here for a while, and nothing makes me happier than the thought of you rising through the ranks of Robin Hood.

Violet Goldstone – I can't help but laugh thinking about the countless memories we shared this summer. Your positive attitude and sense of humor are two aspects of your personality that I admire and wish to possess myself. Camp needs more people like you.

Maddie Gottsegen – You will always be my little baby, MIG. Thank you for keeping my camp spirit alive and reminding me how important camper days truly are. I can't tell you how refreshing it was to have your loving friendship and positive attitude throughout the summer.

Zoe Hansburg – I can't believe the little peanut I used to know is a teenager!! Nothing makes me smile more than the fact that you still love a good, hard game of Gaga. Keep doing you, you have an amazing presence on camp and I can't wait to watch you thrive here for years to come.

Kate Heatzig – Your shout-out would feel incomplete without mentioning the infamous night of how we became friends under less than favorable circumstances at the North Conway Hospital. You are such a strong individual and I look up to you in so many ways. I never want to stop having fun with you. Spring Break at your house?

Claudia Joarder – Thank you for taking in camp and opening up completely. This is such a special place, and I am so glad you let it in. You love camp and it loves you back.

Siena MacTavish – You are the nicest camper I have ever come across. Your heart is so pure, and I am confident that you couldn't hurt a fly, even if you wanted to. You are the friend I wish I had, and ever girl needs.

Claire Mansour – You are a quietly hilarious. I loved watching you branch out with new activities, new friends and new experiences this summer. My hope for you is to make your voice be heard, you hold such importance in the group and I would love to see you lead Girls' Camp some day.

Nayla Moawad – I am beyond impressed at the way you stepped out of your comfort zone this summer. You adapted to the camp lifestyle so smoothly and I could not be prouder of the improvement in your English. You are an amazing individual.

ARROWS

Billi Newmyer – Everyone knows Billi Newmyer loves camp, but everyone should also know how much Billi Newmyer loves her camp friends. I wish I had a friend like you when I was a camper and I know every group on camp would benefit from your presence. You are such a genuine and affectionate camper, one that can really make a difference here.

Sam O'Connor – You were so much fun to hangout with this summer. I am so glad you came to camp, because you are a friend this group needs. I am certain you will be a big part of this group through the rest of your camper years.

Emily Ochlis – Your smile keeps me going throughout the day. The way you opened up to the group this summer reminded me how much of an impact camp can have on a person's life. I am so proud of the way you took in camp this summer and made it your own.

Ava Moore – Your calm and collected persona is something I wish to imitate. The way you carry yourself is not only mature, but also unbelievably put together. I admire that about you.

Olivia Mor – Your confidence motivates the group to become stronger individuals. The way you keep your composure is so admirable. I loved watching you make friends this summer that I know you will be in touch with for years to come.

Livy Puri – You are a natural leader and I am so impressed at the way you have developed this year. You have become a role model to so many, and are just a fun friend to spend time with. Camp will help you to grow and learn so much about yourself and I cannot wait to see you become a Scribe and then hopefully a staff member yourself.

Dina Retik – I am so proud of the athlete, camper and person you have become. Your Green and White sportsmanship was unmatched and I absolutely loved seeing you compete. I cannot wait to watch you flourish here at camp and in the real world because I know you will continue to make me proud for years to come.

Olivia Rose – You are such a spirited camper, and a great role model for all international campers who come here every summer. The way you let camp into your life is inspiring. Thank you for always having a positive attitude and trying your best at everything you do.

Lily Rosen – I loved becoming closer to you this year and it is clear the group looks up to you greatly. Take advantage of the opportunities camp gives you; you thrive here, and I know you have a remarkable future ahead of you, both at camp and wherever life takes you. Trust your gut, and be yourself.

Phoebe Rosenthal – I can already see the impact camp has had on you with only a few short weeks. I loved the way you allowed yourself to open up and make new friends in a completely new setting. It says a lot about your character that you could welcome such a new experience.

Leah Schneider – I can tell how much you really care in the way you treat your friends, your family and your time here. You recognize how important camp is and always seize the valuable moments. I am so proud of the way you have let camp mature you these past three years.

Cece Sturman – I can't believe you are a year younger than the rest of the girls given your sophistication and intelligence. You are one of the cleverest girls I have ever met and I am always impressed with your maturity level. I am so glad you stayed for the full seven weeks.

Casey Wallace – I am in awe of how well you adjusted to the lifestyle here at camp. You are such a patient and considerate camper, which make my job along with your staff's so much easier. The fact that you knew you wanted to come back after just one day here speaks a lot to your character and shows your dedication.

Izzy Weitzen – I am so glad you were able to come back for the end of the summer. You are such a kind and compassionate part of the group and I know everyone was thrilled upon your return. You are such a loyal friend, which is beyond admirable.

Lily Wolman – The intensity and athleticism that you put into every game you play is impressive. You are such a passionate camper, and I am so proud of how you give every activity all you have. Putting 110% effort into life is an important skill, and one that you have clearly grasped at an early age.

To my staff – Thank you for all you did for both me, and the group this summer. I know it wasn't easy, but I really appreciate all you did, from helping sit duty to getting mail. Your work definitely did not go unnoticed by either the campers or myself, and I would love to see where each of your journeys at camp takes you. You have all had such an impact on the girls, and I could not have survived the summer without you.

Alice Simpson – You are so easy-going, and were such a pleasure to spend time with this summer. You are such a warm friend, and one that definitely brought a lot of comfort to girls in their times of need. Thank you for being an amazing camper and camp friend.

Serena Singerman – You are wise beyond your years. You are so levelheaded, and one of the most stable human beings I have ever met. You are the group mom, someone they can come to with smiles or tears, and for that I admire you greatly.

Olivia Skala – The way you balance your competitive nature and affectionate disposition make you the ultimate camper. I wish you wouldn't leave camp for your insane athletic tournaments, but I respect the commitment you have to your teams. Likewise, I hope your dedication to camp persists.

Arrows of 2015 -

It has truly been a pleasure to have been your Bow AGL, and now lead you through your Arrow summer. I know you heard me say it often, but Arrow summer was one of my favorites, and I can only hope that you cherish this summer just as much as I did. You each hold a special place in my collection of camp memories, being the first group I had on staff. I feel so lucky to have had you twice, and during such a crucial part of your developmental stage. Thank you for allowing me to be a part of the group, and letting me be such a big part of your camp experiences. It means so much to me, and I can't wait until it's your turn to lead The Realm yourselves in just three short years. I love you.

Bards, Bards, Bards... one "Bards" for every bunk we had. We took The Realm by storm, 34 strong, on opening day in our three bunks in the center of Girls' Camp. Our little village quickly turned into a large family. Our four tables in the dining were conveniently located right next to the speakers to make our dance party jam sessions extra loud and exciting. Your staff couldn't have been more excited to spend the whole summer with all of you.

Remember when Herma filled the remember when box with these memories... the talent show @Africa, Lizzy, Sbutler, Jazzy and Julia found the star, George shaved Angie's legs, MJK had two sandwiches, Brittany Snow day, Katrina nailed a tennis instructor in the face in intensives, we contemplated the afterlife, Anna and Gabi jumped ship with Fuente, harmonizing, Meatloaf face planted during Danish and the kitchen staff laughed at her, #the #sound #is #dj #pg, you got bonus points for eating PLabes' chest hair, trash-fash, dancing and playing pterodactyl in the pouring rain, Teresa slipped getting the guy, Lavinia brought a block of cheese, all the Jessie Days, the West End game, Jawson's face plant while speed walking, Jazzy T talked to Mark, Jazzy T loving traffic lights, Meatloaf and Tara ruined Cari's mouthwash, Jazzy peed during the Jessie story, Alex ate ceramic Shaun's apple from his hand, I bragged about being a really cool Bow, Julie's music videos on Jazzy's bed, Teresa tripped with the broom in backwards scav, Abeer spotted district 8 during the Hunger Games, Louisiana fell off of the boat because of the tube, Billy sat between Eric and me at the cookout, Dana screamed "Since you've been gone" with the music stopped, live laugh laugh, SBut, Catrina and Lavi played field hockey in the bunk with brooms, the millions of ants in all our bunks, Scurran's rainy day playlist, the PG hostess thought Woody and I were married, Julie and Scurran belted out T-Swift, Lizzy killed the freestyle time with 40 seconds, Gabi and Herma capsized eleven times, I was a hardcore soccer mom against Forest Acres, Billy fell running up the ODT path, Emily lost her glasses in the lake, Sbutler's string, #sausagefeast, tubing with Zach Zeller, Anna bit Ari's face because she thought it was a cookie, Lavi couldn't say disrespectful, Slesh accidentally hit Emily with her flip flop, Maddy hit Mark with a ball and he fell over, Julia and Scurran rode dolphins, Maddy's yin-yang tan, Rosie fell in front of the spike ballers, you all lied about having done your jobs and didn't even know where they were, Gabi and the Cozy guy took a twin pic, Maddy's bday, Jinsuls outie, you played Bunny-Bunny on the Quad with DC, we got 10 good countoffs, Jinsul talked to Santi, Claire loved waking up to nuggets in her face, midnight McDonald's, I told Sofia to go to the bunk even though she was in it, I was spotted #seventytwo.

Remember our sweet evening activities... We started off strong with rock paper scissors hype team and s'mores at the ODT and commercials for marshmallows. You guys displayed your senses of humor (some were better than others). We talked about our group expectations and jobs. The job brainstorming didn't work out well, so Cari, Megan and I made a job chart. We forgot some of you, but it worked out in your favor. We attempted to do The Newlywed Game, but had different ideas so it evolved into let's chuck candy at all of you! Our cookout of ribs with the Friars was no joke. It was delicious and hilarious. Then we played sardines and none of you actually looked for the staff. You will never know where we were hiding. Remember making use of the New Quad for backwards scav and loving the privacy it provided. We learned a lot about Jinsul that night. Remember the eventful trip to Rocky Gorge when Hamrle was the star of the show. I have never been more terrified in my entire life. So glad Woody gave you the okay to keep running around the slippery rocks. We finished the night at PG with some delicious Chinese food and met those two adorable boys. We make friends everywhere we go! Remember the long, hot, buggy walk to Cozy with KSol? In this case, it was not about the journey, it was about the end result. The ice cream was delicious and we got to drive back to camp! We played Hunger Games. Anna Herma was the big winner! Sorry to everyone who we killed. Remember watching the Notebook and all sobbing - mostly Sadie, the most beautiful crier in all of camp. Our cookout at the Chalet was delicious and I showcased my nature skills. Who needs cooking utensils and plates? Not us. Some hilarious counselor skirts followed our delicious cook out as well as a great group chat. There was the not-so treasure hunt, which ended with cookie decorating. Sorry we didn't understand how to properly set up a treasure hunt. It's harder than it sounds! We had an amazing night on our boat ride to the sandbar with chocolate and strawberries. We met the coolest girl from Huckins with the best voice we've ever heard. Margo put on a show as well, singing our favorite song, T and A. We played greasy watermelon and pajama jumped. We showered at the ODT and the next night some of you actually had to shower there after all the water in camp ran out! We wrote letters and buried them in a time capsule underneath the DC says sign. Don't forget that! The Polaroid didn't make it in. Such a bummer. We challenged the Friars to a great game of kickball and gave up early to play Gaga instead. The rain stopped Gaga early, and we went back to the bunks to pack for excursion.

BARDS

Remember Beach Day...we rolled up to the beach and it wasn't quite hot enough to join your staff in the water. Rosie visited all of us though. I ran into Jinsul and Rosie in the bathroom #seventytwo. You spent the day on the boardwalk and ate at Splash, acting like twelve year olds to get the children's discount. You're all so entrepreneurial. We returned to The Realm with some quality sunburns, especially Maddy.

Remember PVD...We had a tough morning saying goodbye to Meatloaf. Sofia was a little sick...two times...Your parents all killed Gaga. The rest of the activities seemed optional. I got to meet your cool parents. Randy left my delicious Twizzlers under my pillow! Jawson peaced out and we all had a great cry at crafts. The next morning we lost many members of the tribe and cried in bed for a while.

Remember excursion...Shout out to Ben, Lindsey and Anna for all of their driving. And shout out to Jinsul for always being ready to open the door! It wasn't easy! Pulling out of camp and shortly being informed that someone was missing. Hamrle was quickly chauffeured to Dunkin, and we all had doughnuts. I'm sorry they didn't have enough strawberry. You guys are kind of weird for loving strawberry doughnuts. The drive to Hampton Beach was eventful. Dana almost flew out of the van, but luckily she survived. Once we got to the beach, you wandered the streets and took over the photo booth. Megan, Cari and I guarded that bagged lunches that were more popular at the campsite than at the beach. Then we made our way to the Basketball Hall of Fame. The indoor activity was clutch on the hottest day of the summer. Springfield reached a toasty 101°, but we were inside eating ice cream and pretending to be interested in basketball. Unfortunately, the Friars couldn't join us, but we had fun without them. We arrived at our sick, private campsite and chased away the geese. Teresa showed off her cooking skills that she learned from cooking mama and we feasted on raw potatoes and pie. Why did we have pie? We will never know. All of you passed out at 9:30pm, probably from heat exhaustion. The hot sun awoke everyone the next morning at 7:30! After our fist night of roughing it, we had some cereal and went to Six Flags. You all took over the park. The Friars rolled through. We finished the day riding around that really old carousel that wasn't very exciting. Then, we went to the greatest place on earth...WALMART. Not only was it air conditioned, but also there was a hair salon in it! Who knew you could have your hair washed for $10. Megan, Cari and I rolled out of Walmart with clean hair and the rest of you rolled out with enough food for an army (especially Teresa). Because you guys love camping so much, we went back to the campsite and you took advantage of all the amenities the grounds had to offer. You took a dip in the pool even though you didn't have bathing suits. You never found the Friars...because they actually weren't there, and we weren't lying to you. Excursion conspiracy theories were endless. We dressed in our minion nightgowns to see the Minion Movie. You were the most die-hard fans in the theater. We woke up and had soupy eggs and tiny pancakes for breakfast. YUM! Bard Staff makes a mean breakfast. Cari came in clutch with the chocolate chunks and Megan flipped flapjacks like no other. We loaded up the vans and drove to white water rafting with the Friars. We beat the storm! A few of you fell out and thought it might be the end of your life, but we all survived. As the rain started to come down, we drove to Walmart because you can never have too much Walmart...or can you? Then we drove to our second campsite. While it wasn't as luxurious or populated as our first campsite, it ended up being just what we needed for our fun evening activity! Rosie rested easy in the tent, even though she totally wasn't sick. My bad. Nobody ever asked me if her head felt warm after that. The next morning we got on the road and drove back to camp, stopping at Dunkin and Portsmouth for some fuel. We were all so excited to be back in The Realm. I don't think I was the only one who kissed the ground.

Remember Green and White...The Mighty White Commodores defeated the Great Green Empire. I tried not to be scary and hopefully succeeded. I hope you all realize how much having volleyball everyday paid off because that was the greatest game of Bard volleyball I have ever seen. Some highlights of the war include...Flash cheering on Jinsul in the Track Meet, Dana and Payton receiving high fives from Andrew Cristal, your killer ultimate Frisbee with the most honorable James Newmyer, Andrew and Ryan Cristal, thank god they shortened the field. James was correct in his description of it, short and fat, fo-sho. Tara missed out but was happy in the infirm with her movie. Rosie had a sweet solo in the talent show. Injuries included George's broken toe (from the break...) and Julie's mouth cut from cracker eat. During a pump up, the white team found little Teru hiding under the bench cheering just as loud as everyone else. Ari also made a TPJ friend, little Tyler, the coolest kid in camp by far. I hope you're jamming to the sweet medleys right now. Seriously.

Remember the last few days of camp... GL swap day, Ollie led a great afternoon of senior waterfront with a great game of never have I ever. Then you chilled in the Adirondacks and made lists on lists. Finally, to wrap up the strenuous afternoon, you ran around camp and did every activity. Thanks for visiting me at Gaga. Then, we listened to Scribe speeches and were inspired to sleep under the stars! You all got the strawberry doughnuts you missed on excursion and rolled down the quad to breakfast. We finally had our Despicable Me marathon and we wrapped up evening activities with some Cozy. This time we didn't have to walk.

Alex – You are so sweet and loving that you are always there for anyone who needs a friend. Your love for camp is clear by all your actions, especially those that demonstrate your interest in the betterment of the group.

Angie – You are so thoughtful and care about every single member of the group. You always offer to help others and your smile brightens everybody's days. I can't wait to see you grow into an adult here at camp.

Anna Herma – You possess one of the greatest qualities someone can have – you never want to let your team down. Whether its in Green and White during volleyball or at an activity with the group, you give everything your all because you believe that's what everyone deserves from you.

Ari – Your ability to make everyone feel included and welcomed will get you far in life. You're so funny and nice and always know how to cheer people up. Your Gru accent is almost perfect so keep practicing even though Gretch hates it. Your continuous energy and laughter keeps the group going so never change.

Blanca – Nobody would've guessed you were new this summer. You immediately fit into this group as if you had been here for years. Be sure to come back and treasure each moment here.

Claire – When you first showed up I was shocked it was only your second year. You are a strong member of the group and have the ability to lead the group with ease. Camp needs that.

Dana – Little pug, spending the summer with you was a privilege. You've grown up to be an amazing girl with so much passion for this place. Sometimes being the younger sister means following in big footsteps, and you've surpassed all expectations.

Ellie R. – You always have a genuine smile on your face. I'm so glad we got to spend more time together on the same side of the bunk in the second half. You care for each person in the group so dearly. Don't ever lose that.

Ellie T – A smile was always on your face. I don't know if there was any activity, day or night that you didn't love. That is a quality everybody in camp should strive for.

Emmy – Although it was your first year, you cared about the group as though you had been here for years. Your energy about activities and all things camp is contagious.

Gabi – You grew this summer into a mature and confident lady. Not only are you mature and confident, but hilarious and sweet as well. Keep it up.

George – I don't think anyone laughs at me more than you do. Honestly, you are just always laughing. I love hanging out with you because you just make everyone around you happy. That is why people new to The Realm gravitate towards you. Not because you are so nice and welcoming, though you're that also, but because you just always seem to be having the best time.

Hamrle – Katie, your maturity is amazing. No matter the situation, you always know what to do/say with the best interest of the group in mind. You had such a positive influence on the group this summer and nobody could stop the smile on your face while doing it.

BARDS

Isabella – Only two weeks in The Realm and you truly had a lasting impact. You undoubtedly were here for the best part of the summer, but you still need to return to see what normal camp is like. You're a beautiful girl inside and out. Shine on.

Jazzy T – Your compassion for others is something that I think everyone can learn from. You never fail to put others before yourself, always with a smile on your face. Don't change. I loved hearing your voice all summer long. I hope I hear it all year long too.

Jinsul – I still can't decide if you were my camper or just my friend. I think that you're underrated in the best way possible. Don't take that the wrong way. You aren't the loudest girl in the group but you still have a huge presence. Not a day passed when you didn't make me smile. I love you.

Julia – Your kindness and love for camp is contagious. If anyone needs someone to be cheered up or needs a smile, I can always count on you. You are so loved by everyone in the group whether you're face planting in Girls' Camp or helping someone who feels homesick. Don't let Taft keep you from coming back. You can do both.

Julie – Your undeniable love for camp is clear with everything you do. You bring a crazy energy to every activity or drama period and the group couldn't strive as well without your attitude. I knew you as a day camper, as Michelle's daughter, and as Mikey's sister, and I'm glad that now I know you as a friend.

Katrina – It's not easy coming into a group of girls who have known each other for a while, but no one could have done it better than you. You killed it at every activity and were always giving it your all.

Lavi – The hugs and love that you are constantly giving and expressing describe the sweet, caring person you are. It's shocking that it's only your second summer because you are so important to the group. Keep coming back and don't forget to bring cheese with you.

Lizzy – You have an incredible spirit and passion for camp and people around you. You breathe camp and put 100% into everything you do here. I'm so glad I got to spend so much time with you this summer and get to know you outside of your known identity as DC's daughter and Lauren's sister. You are unique and I love you.

Luisa – Louisiana, coming into a group of girls who are all so close to each other is never easy and you managed to fit in perfectly. Your smile and humor is unlike any person I know and I'm so happy you found camp.

Maddy – The day you left nobody could've guessed it was your first summer. By the end of four weeks you loved this place just as much as I do. I can't wait to watch you over the next few years as you grow in Girls' Camp.

Maggie – You have grown into such a leader over the summer, and it's obvious how much everyone respects you and looks up to you. You're such an amazing girl and I admire the way you always step back to give them a chance to shine and be included.

Marisa – Seeing you smile at camp made my day everyday. I hope that you fell in love with Green and White and excursion. Camp is so much more than doing activities, and I think this summer you really took that to heart and found your place in this group.

Mauldin – Thank goodness you stayed longer. You have the unique ability to be friends with people of all ages, from Tumblers to staff. Your daily smile and laughter keeps the group motivated. With your crazy energy there is never a dull moment. Never doubt that everybody loves you.

Meatloaf – You have a crazy energy that drives the group. Your silly attitude motivates others to join in and you care deeply for the group. Anyone can come talk to you. The group needs your booming laughter to wake up to. Please keep coming back.

Sofia – You are so kind hearted and that helped you find a special place in this group. Your Columbian spice makes the group all the more fun and your GoPros definitely helped with capturing all the memories from the summer.

Tara – I was a little nervous to spend the summer with a camper as mature as you, but I couldn't have asked for a better outcome. Although you love chocking those around you, you also care about those around you. I hope you spend the rest of your time at camp letting everyone see that side of yourself.

Teresa – I am so grateful to have had you as one of my campers. There wasn't a single day that you didn't bring a smile to everyone's face. Don't let anything keep you from coming back to a place that makes you appreciate everyday so much.

Tessie – Every time I looked over at you, you were smiling and it made everyone else smile too. You are always there to be a great friend to anyone who needs it and are so enthusiastic about camp. Even though we spent some nights trying to get you to get in your bed, your unwillingness to waste any minutes sleeping shows just how much you love this place.

My staff – I can't imagine a better staff to have spent my summer with. You never ceased to impress me with your devotion to the group. Beyond spending time with the Bards, we all bonded and you are now some of my best friends in The Realm. I can only hope that some of us can be on the same staff together next year to relive these glory days.

Bards, there are no words I could write that express how I feel about you all. I didn't know it was possible to love another group as much as I love my own. I wish I could say you remind me of my group, but you're so much better than we ever were. You all love each other so make sure that you're all coming back. You all have a special place in my heart. Don't hesitate to call or text me with anything, whether it's a problem you need help with, a victory you want to share with me, or an "I miss you." Don't miss a single day of camp from here on out. No matter what group I have next summer; I will never be more than a few bunks away for help and advice at any time.

Payton – Hearing that you weren't leaving on Lazy Day made me so excited. You are so genuine and sweet. At first, you were a little quiet, but after a few days in The Realm, you started acting like the outgoing girl that I know you are.

Rosie – You are a ball full of energy all the time. It was so difficult to see that you were sick on excursion because you are so positive all the time and never want to miss out on anything. I hope camp brings you and Evin as close as it brought Jill and me. It is a magical place for siblings.

Sadie – My beautiful crier. You love camp and this group more than anyone. The day that you left, something felt like it was missing. You hold a special place in this group as a leader due to your enthusiasm for camp.

Sbutler – Your nickname is pretty cool I guess. Your crazy dancing in the dining hall and excitement when you talk about camp is contagious. Hearing you talk to Morgan about camp and helping her shows what a great sister you are to both her and your group. You embodied "don't waste a minute" and made everything memorable.

Scurran – Your desire to make everyone included is a trait that you should cherish more than anything. You are so inclusive and welcoming to everyone and that says a lot about you as a person. You love camp more than anything and it is clear that camp loves you too.

Slesh – The boot couldn't stop you. You definitely ran a little more in that thing than you were supposed to, but that's what makes you so great. Nothing can stop you from doing what you want and love especially in a place as special as camp.

I think we all know how this is going to start off...HAPPY BIRTHDAY GRACIE!! But actually, this is the real version. So, for a couple of minutes, let's reminisce on the summer of firsts...

Remember day one, you were all so happy to be back in The Realm? How about the smell of that first pasta dinner while walking to flag and the sound of pine needles crunching under your feet? Remember your first evening activity, reconnecting on the Girls' Camp basketball court? Finally, you knew, you were home.

Remember when you were all super athletic, Alle was working hard, mountain biking didn't end with cozy, Gracie's "real" punches, the group wasn't 1/2 foreign, you weren't speaking Norwegian, BS wasn't a late night activity and shots weren't fired...WE DON'T.

Remember Fourth of July with the sound of the Scribes waking you up? Remember the fortune-tellers being super accurate? Remember the most delicious dinner ever? CORN DOGS. Remember the senior camp beach party-arty? Remember when you all knew how to properly play spike ball?

Remember when we had barn time? NOPE. Remember when you killed it in Trash-Fash? Remember when you all got down to business? Remember jamming to IDSM? Remember when Shires swept...the bunk 2K15? Remember the NSA?

Remember your stoplight party? Sophie and Frida's cornrows? When you guys broke the tube and made all the GLs laugh at make your GL laugh? Shout out to Olive. Remember when you killed it at How Well Do You Know Your Group Leader and had fun horroingannig at drama? Remember your totally acceptable lip syncs, falling in love with flatbread, and picking up sticks and pinecones, sticks, sticks and pinecones?

Remember being so blessed on Beach Day? Can the Tumblers, Jesters and SHIRES please make their way to the bus? A couple hours later, camp arrived and we all took Ogunquit by storm, as usual. How much food can you actually consume on one day? Remember dinner in the dining hall instead of cook out on the beach?

Remember when you wrestled the Scribes without "socks"? Remember your Gaga rolls and late nights on the Girls' Camp basketball court? Remember when sleeping wasn't an activity? I like sports and competition, getting better is my only mission, thanks Matty-ice.

Remember when you went to the Mainers game, TWICE? Remember the super duper, fun bus ride with the Foresters? Frida was free at that point. Remember the shockapellas, a very selective and talented group of singers? Zoom, zoom, zoom, zoom, pitch perfect has got nothing on you.

Remember when Abby was appropriate, Gracie wasn't bilingual, Sophie wasn't BIC at life, Rachel wasn't roasting, Daniella was bad at tennis, Frida had wavy hair, Olive wasn't making noises, Hannah wasn't smiling, Heddy wasn't pulling a Heddy, Ariana wasn't being nice to everyone, Liv wasn't a YOB, and Mer never killed it at waterski...WE DON'T!

Remember the most epic frat party with the Scribes, the barn being the place to be all night every night, all the doors closing and it being black out, some fun soda games, then a quick end to the evening with a massive storm?

Remember excursion in Boston, singing Robin Hood songs around Faneuil Hall, having a blast at the aquarium, eating a delicious dinner at Fire + Ice, and Blue Man Group? Remember the REALLY fun Duck Tour with Dr. Quackenstein that we didn't all sleep through, our German friends at the JFK library, walking around Newbury Street and buying some interesting under garments? Remember chilling in the hotel, watching TLC and doing math homework?

Remember that boat ride, going all the way to the main lake, making sure no boats came too close, Liv jumping in the water and making some really interesting new friends? Remember making guac by hand? Yum! Remember when we had a water rave on the tennis court and Liv was pegging tennis balls?

Remember when Gracie hated strawberry ice cream but still managed to get it every Sunday? Swoody, you rock. When was Abby not talking about whale documentaries or Mika? Remember when we didn't have a fat mirror? Thank you Heddy. Remember when the Big 3 loved the ODT. Remember when Liv threw Mushy at Frida's head and it made a bruise?

Remember when Green and White broke at 5:50am, the drum line bringing camp back to 2006, the judges arriving in a boat, DC and Woody coming in on jet skis and the start of the competition between the Green Empire and the White Commodores? Remember leading cheers and teaching songs to your teams? Remember when Sophie killed it in the talent show?

Remember when Gracie's bed wasn't a couch, a restaurant or garbage? How about when Frida and Mushy weren't twins? Throwback to when Abby wasn't a total panda of the sea? Remember Paulina's bathroom-singing to Jar of Hearts? Remember when Sophie wasn't writing the yearbook article? Remember when Daniella and Mer were rolling down the Quad together? SICK.

SHIRES

Remember when we had a daylong water gun fight? Remember mafia with the Foresters, Sophie and Benji making up the world's greatest stories? Remember when the Adirondacks were the spot to be on camp? Remember P.E.E.N? That's important.

Remember your Founder's Day plaque? Chuck loved it. Remember GL swap day, Mark making you do count off, having the sickest schedule ever, and for some reason letting you shave his armpit? Remember when Gracie was promoted to strawberry scooper during Scribe speeches?

Remember the last day, playing Gaga in the rain and a quick infirm trip? How many movies did we end up watching? Too many. Thanks Gracie and Paulina for your help. Remember Abby's "pains" in the dining hall? Remember hardcore dancing and the brownies that were actually chocolate cake? Remember cookie decorating and the sprinkles spilling everywhere?

Shires, don't worry about this summer coming to an end, because you have the most amazing one ahead of you. It's crazy to think that next year you will all be leading The Realm as the Scribes of 2016, but I have no doubt in my mind that you'll be incredible. Take advantage of everything camp has to offer. This place needs you and you need it too.

Ariana – When I found out you were my camp little sister, I couldn't be happier. You are such a sweet, well-rounded girl and it shows. You are always smiling and love to compete with incredible sportsmanship. I hope you choose to stay full next summer and I can't wait to see you take The Realm by storm as a Scribe.

Liv – Although we didn't have much time together, I could tell right away what an amazing person you are. The minute you walk into a room, it lights up. You radiate positive energy and are always there to have fun. Your craziness and love for camp is amazing. By the way, I really admire your passion for literature.

Olive – Being from Montreal, I feel like we share a special Canadian bond. I'm so happy you are keeping our presence alive at camp.

The Realm is such a special place and it stays that way because of people like you. I know you'll be an incredible Scribe next summer.

Hannah – Becoming closer to you this summer has made me fully appreciate just how much of a loving and caring person you are. You have really come out of your shell and let camp in. I have such faith in you to lead Girls' Camp next year. Keep making people laugh!

Sophie – You are amazing. From being an incredible dancer to the kindest, most caring person in Girls' Camp, the list doesn't stop. You are already a leader and I can't wait to see you truly shine next year. I am so proud to be your group leader and that goes for every counselor you have ever had. Keep coming back; this place needs people like you.

Abby – Where do I even start? You are one of the most hilarious people I have ever met in my life. I cannot thank you enough for always brightening my day. Simply put, you are "insane in the membrane". You have the qualities of a true leader and that is why you will be an amazing Scribe next year. I have not doubt that you will lead Girls' Camp with flying colors.

Paulina – Every group needs a person like you. You are always willing to participate and love to go all out. Whether it's mountain biking, Gaga or singing, you are so talented. This summer has really shown how much you've grown since you first came to camp. You sparkle with spirit and that will shine through when you lead Girls' Camp next year.

Heddy – Although we may not know each other very well, I have only heard the best. You are always so bubbly and energetic, two vital qualities you can use for next summer. All those around you admire your free spirited nature. I am sure you will have no problem leading The Realm as a Scribe.

Gracie – First of all, your fake punches do NOT intimidate me. In all seriousness though, you rock. You are looked up to by so many young campers and are a true role model. Being a Scribe next summer will be so easy for you because you are already a leader. To end this, I just had to mention the fact that you are amazing at basketball. Sorry, but it's true!

Daniella – It's crazy to think that this is only your first summer. You fit in so well and are such a pleasure to have as a camper. Tennis is definitely your sport and I love rallying with you. Your determination is such an admirable quality. I can't wait to see you lead Girls' Camp next summer!

Rachel – Having you come back for Green and White was a highlight of this summer. You are an incredible roaster and should definitely consider going professional. Seriously though, you are a crucial part of this group and camp needs you. You are exceptionally mature and a natural born leader. I have no doubt in my mind that you will lead camp with flying colors.

Mer – It seems like you have been here for years. You participate in every activity with a smile on and never complain. Everyone around you admires your energy and ability to laugh at any situation. I am truly amazed by your ability to waterski, especially considering you learned this summer. You will be an amazing Scribe next summer!

Shanna – We are like peanut butter and jelly. I couldn't have asked for a more perfect person to share this experience with. I can go to you with any problem and I know you will always have my back. Come back next summer, I'll miss you too much otherwise.

Shires 2015/ Scribes 2016 – I could not be happier to have had the opportunity to be your group leader this year. Each and every one of you brings something special to this group. I am incredibly confident that The Realm will be in great hands next summer. Your energy, positivity and love for camp are so admirable. I am always just a phone call away! I love you all, thank you for an amazing end to the best summer.

Sup Scribes,

Put down the Cheese-Its, get off of Instagram (unless you're liking my photo), and try to re-live the best summer of your life with me.

It feels like just yesterday that you were all pulling into The Realm with smiles on your faces, bucket hats on your heads, and an incredible amount of energy radiating off of you! Remember seeing and being reunited with all your Scribes of 2015, some of whom you had seen recently and others who you hadn't seen all year? Remember the 4th of July? It rained and we moved in to the Barn but that couldn't stop us from killing it! Even without the Cotton Candy you all managed to have the best carnival that I have ever been to. Seeing you girls lead camp week one was incredible and I knew this was going to be a summer unlike any other.

Remember climbing Mt. Washington and eating clam chowder on the top? You all came in with smiles on your faces...well not all of you! You should be extremely proud of yourselves for all making it to the top. Remember Katahdin. You girls did amazing on both hikes and I couldn't have asked for better attitudes on the mountains.

Remember our three day excursion filled with surfing throughout and making bank.

Remember Green and White, you girls played your hardest and left it all on the fields! I know that at first there were some bumps in the road but watching you come together after Tug-of-War was a feeling I will never forget and a moment that you should be proud of. You all helped your teams more than any Scribe group has before and you should never forget that! Remember our countless trips to Wal-Mart, coming back with, of course, no food at all... sorry Brass! Lastly, remember giving your Scribe speeches down at the waterfront? Those speeches were incredible and you delivered them with poise and passion. They will forever be remembered!

Remember when Aude wasn't riding horses, Ava and Lily weren't being amazing aides, and Cai wasn't being creative...we don't! Remember when Callie was doing the wrong thing, Chanel wasn't crumping, or Devon wasn't being the chilliest girl on camp...we don't! Remember when Evin wasn't being helpful, Fatima wasn't smiling, and Halley wasn't doing an awkward grapevine with Hannah...we don't!

Remember when Jane didn't need a drink of water, Julia wasn't being sassy, and Kendall wasn't taking pictures...we don't! Remember when Maren wasn't being amazing, Sarah wasn't being low key super funny and high key beautiful, or Shelby wasn't dominating the fields...we don't!

Remember when Sophie wasn't being the coolest girl on camp, Swoody wasn't being goofy, and Vicky wasn't killing it on stage with her voice...we don't!

Aude – One of my biggest regrets this past summer was not getting to know you better. You are an incredible girl with so much to offer. Your positive energy radiates throughout the group and is missed when you are not around. You were always willing to do anything that was asked of you and your staff thanks you for that. I know sometimes it may be hard not speaking the same first language as the rest of the group but you made it look easy. You fit right into the group and contributed so much positivity! Come back and be on staff. You have so much to offer and a lot of campers will benefit from your love for camp.

Ava – You surprise me everyday. I didn't think it was possible to be so fun, crazy, and mature at the same time but somehow you manage to do it all. You have been an incredible aide throughout this summer and even in times where others were having trouble. I watched you aide with the Tumblers and each day you somehow did better than the day before. You were always committed to the kids and knew how to comfort them when they were crying, or laugh with them when they were telling pointless stories. You are going to be an amazing group leader, and I can't wait to see your name on a clipboard. You are such an important part of the Scribes of 2015. Without you, the group would definitely not be as cool. There's something about you that just radiates cool and I will always envy you for that!

Cai – You are such a fun, loving, and carefree girl. You make others smile simply by being in their presence. You are one of the most caring people I know. You look out for everyone and sometimes you even notice things before your staff does. Keep your head up and that beautiful smile on your face! You are going to be an amazing counselor next summer and I can't wait to hear all about it! Every camper loves you and you brighten up the room simply by walking in! You are such an important part of the group and I can't imagine how they survived a summer without you!

Callie – Dance like no one is watching. Be silly, keep laughing, and don't look back. You are one of the strongest people I know. You take on the burdens of others around you and handle it better than I ever could. You look out for everyone and I admire you for that. You have the ability to be mature while still being silly and funky. Never stop making people laugh! Remember to put yourself first sometimes and to take care of yourself! You are a special girl and I can't wait for you to be up on that stage with me in a few years... and remember when you are picking your team, don't only pick your friends but pick the best coaches, song writers, and flag makers! See ya on the stage you crazy girl!

Chanel – You are such a strong and beautiful young woman. Never forget that about yourself, no matter where you go. Never doubt your abilities and you will go far in life. Put yourself first. Keep coming back and be the most caring, loving, and fun counselor that Robin Hood has ever seen. You have the ability to change people's opinions of themselves and I know you are capable of profoundly impacting campers next summer. Carry on the legacy of changing lives. I know that sounds like a lot but you truly do have the power! Every camper looks up to you in more ways than you can imagine. The Scribes of 2015 would not be the same without you. You complete the crazy puzzle and make it stronger. Lastly, never give up on camp. Let the magic sink in until you have enough to pass it on to everyone else!

SCRIBES

Devon – When I sat down to write this shout out my mind was filled with incredible things to say. However, nothing that I could think of could quite put into words the way your group and I felt about you this past summer. You made your voice heard and I am so glad that you did! Honestly, coming into this summer I knew you as Devon, the red haired, sweet and quiet girl. Leaving this summer, I now know you as Devon, the most amazing, genuinely caring, loyal, mature, and down to earth young woman. You truly thrived this past summer and I can't wait to see you on staff next year and to also be running The Realm for many years to come. Come back until you are holding a beautifully and artistically decorated clipboard of your own. I'm confident it will be prettier than my clipboards have been!

Evin – Your consideration for your fellow campers and counselors is admirable and goes above and beyond expectations. You always have everyone's back and you notice things that sometimes we even don't and do things before we even think to ask. Whether you were helping down at the waterfront, or cleaning the tables at lunch with food all over your face, you never fail to be wearing a smile. Keep coming back and keep the spirit of camp alive. You live and breathe camp and it radiates throughout the bunk. Never forget how special you are. You will be a great green team color war captain one day. Go Green Go!

Fatima – You are such an incredible girl. You are courageous, friendly, and always willing to help. Thank you for being so great this summer and always being passionate about everything you were doing. Lastly, never forget how loved you are by the Scribes of 2015. This group would not be the fun and loving group that it is without you in it. It was truly a pleasure and an honor getting to know you this summer and I am so glad that I was given that opportunity. Keep coming back and let the magic follow you onto staff. My two bits of advice to you would be to push yourself out of your comfort zone and also to never second-guess yourself.

Halley – Wow, you are amazing. Coming into this summer I didn't know you that well and was excited to meet you. I could not be happier with how our relationship has turned out. You are funny, silly, and always down to have a good time. The Scribes of 2015 count on you for a lot more than you realize. There is so much magic on camp. If it doesn't find you on staff you must find it yourself. I know that sounds silly but it's the truth. Laugh, cry, and keep coming back. If you have nothing at all to laugh about next summer then laugh at your campers. Kids are crazy and the questions they will ask you are hilarious and you would be the kid to find them funny! Lastly, embrace camp and be the wild child that I know you are; however, my advice is also to never stop loving and respecting this place.

Hannah – You're too wise for your own good kid, some times it scares me. Keep being silly and don't let other peoples' opinions influence you. Your courage and strength is admirable. You have the ability to be silly while still being mature. Never let your confidence fade. You are honestly funnier than anyone I know and I am so jealous of you for that. Keep cracking those jokes and making the Scribes of 2015 laugh. People love being around you and so do I. Come back until your name is sown onto a flag. Knowing you, the flag will be funny and go down in history. Regardless of your flag, you will be an incredible white team color war captain one day. Fight White Fight!

Jane – I know I joke around with you a lot but when it comes down to it I want you to know how amazing you are. My bit of advice would be to respect yourself as much as I respect you. You are funny, talented, and so much fun to be around. Your spirit and energy is contagious and radiates throughout the dining hall every day. You have the ability to change the mood of the group and make people smile simply by showing up. Never forget how special you are and never give up on camp. Camp can be magical but you have to let it in.

Julia – You are goofy, honest and I know I can always count on you for a good laugh. You are low-key, one of the funniest girls on camp. Make that high key from now on. Show staff who you are and make yourself known because if you don't they will be missing out. Your high spirits are something that I have always admired about you. Speak up and be a leader in times of need because I know you have the ability to carry the group when they are struggling. Always believe in yourself. You are truly an amazing girl and should be proud of all that you have accomplished throughout your camper summers. My three bits of advice for you would be to keep coming back, to never let anyone tell you to not be yourself, and lastly to, of course, stay sassy!

Kendall – You are spunky, energetic, and absolutely hilarious. Stay strong in times of doubt and keep coming back. Your ability to make people feel special is something to admire. I know you are younger than me but I look up to you in so many ways. You are confident and mature while still being silly and welcoming. Keep coming back. I know I say it a lot but it's the truth. Camp needs more people like you walking around. Take charge and don't be afraid to take the spot light. You are a natural leader. Don't get nervous about what other people will think. Just go for it and people will follow you. Keep your head up and others will keep theirs up too. The group really does look to you for direction in times of need. Keep being the leader that I know you are!

Lily – I think I speak for all the staff in saying I'm so glad to get to know you this summer. I've never seen someone come out of his or her shell so much coming to camp. We have watched you transform from a shy girl who all we knew about was that she played tennis into an amazing young woman who is mature, confident, and loving. You are one of the best Scribe aides that The Realm has seen in years. Keep coming back; The Realm needs more people like you dancing on the stage. You will be a tumbler GL that will go down in history. Carry that clipboard with pride.

Maren – You are the funnier and cooler version of me. I see so much of myself in you with everything that you do. Stay weird and never stop being goofy. Your love for the Scribes of 2015 is incredible and I know, wherever you go in life, the love won't fade. There is something about you that people gravitate towards. I'm not sure if it's the way you make people feel or if it's your genuine care for everyone around you; whatever it is, it's amazing to watch. Keep coming back for as long as you can. Run The Realm from the Tumblers all the way to the staff. Lastly, remember that camp doesn't end when you stop coming back. Take what you have learned and use it because you are the kind of person who has the ability to change lives. I know that sounds cheesy but it's the truth. Be goofy, come back, and change lives!

SCRIBES

Sarah – Like I said to Aude, one of my biggest regrets this past summer was not getting to know you better. You are such a funny girl and I wish I got to spend more than just one summer with you. I admire the way in which you are silly and mature at the same time. Coming into the summer I did not know what to expect when I saw your name on the group list. All I knew was that it was your second summer and you were French. Now looking at that same list I realize that the Scribes of 2015 would be incomplete without you. I know that Shire summer must have been hard jumping into such a wild group. However, if you hadn't told me it was your second summer I would have had no idea. You seem like you have been at camp forever and you are such a crucial part of this group!

Shelby – Honestly coming into this summer I was intimidated by you. I was intimidated not only by your ability to seem like you have been here since Tumbler summer, but also by your ability to be one of the coolest kids on camp. You are funny, athletic, and care about everyone around you. I know it sounds cheesy but I truly am honored that you consider me to be your friend...oh and you still intimidate me! Keep coming back and running The Realm. Lead the FYAs next year and don't be afraid to speak up. You are smarter than you think so trust your instincts and say something. I see a lot of myself in you and it makes me smile. Look out for your friends because they need you! More importantly, camp needs you running around and dancing on tables so keep it up!

Sophie – You're one of the coolest, most laid back kids I've ever met. You have the ability to joke around and be silly while still being more mature than your staff. When mentioned by other counselors or campers, they all love you and want to be your friend. Friend crush would be an understatement. When your name comes up we can't help but smile and say how legitimately cool you are. To be honest, cool is an understatement. I know life has a lot to offer but staff will come and go, and the regrets will start to sink in if you don't try it. Give it a chance and be one of the best Group Leaders that has hit The Realm in years!

Woody – You embody camp's spirit and your love for Robin Hood is contagious. You have the ability to make everyone around you able to see the magic that sometimes seems to fade over the years. Keep being silly and carefree. Never let anyone tell you to change anything about yourself. You are a special girl with a bigger heart than anyone I know! Your love for the Scribes of 2015 is truly something special and I can see it in everything you do. You make sure to include everyone and always give people a chance to shine. I envy your ability to make every one of the Scribes feel so special. Keep coming back and let camp be your home base.

Vicky – If I could say one thing to you, it would be to respect yourself and don't let other people affect you. You are such a strong and brave girl. You are also one of the most fun people to ever hit The Realm. Keep smiling and stay silly because it makes everyone around you smile. Your love for the Scribes of 2015 is truly something special and does not go unnoticed. Be bold and step out of your comfort zone. Push yourself on staff and you will not only surprise yourself but you will also be an amazing counselor. Staff needs more people like you. Never give up on camp, but even more importantly never give up on your self and keep making me smile!

To Ailsa and Kate AKA the best staff on camp – Thank you for everything! I could not have made it through this summer without the two of you standing beside me the whole time! You are both incredible and I wish I had told you that more often.

To the Scribes of 2015:

You are a force to be reckoned with. You represent the best aspects of Girls' Camp and keep the energy up. Alone you are great, but together you are unstoppable. It was an honor to be your Group Leader this summer. I was nervous coming into such an amazing group of girls but you took me in with open arms and for that I am forever grateful. I know I say it a lot but keep coming back. Camp needs you more than you realize. I love you all more than you know and I definitely did not say it enough over the summer. Peace, Love, and Summers Eve!

Robin Hood Gives Back Day is an annual event here in The Realm where we pause and reflect on how vital it is to give back to the community and the people in it. We are all blessed with opportunity, friendship, and peace here at camp. What Woody reminded our campers about, before our guests from The Red Sox Foundation's Home Base Program addressed them, is that much work goes into making the infrastructure of this community work. A lot of behind the scenes work goes into the daily functioning of our camp.

This is what our two guests presented to the campers in reference to the military. Many campers thought that the service men and women of our country fight in wars. They explained to us that there are doctors, lawyers, teachers, and cooks who serve in the military just like the doctors, lawyers and teachers in their neighborhoods who work in their towns.

These people serve the military in roles that are more behind-the-scenes. They make it possible for the fighters to fight, for the navy seals to carry out their missions, and for cargo to be moved from place to place. They all are part of an organization that makes it possible for us to sleep peacefully at night, to partake in opportunities like camp, and to continue on in our daily lives while they handle the conflicts around the world. They spoke of the military families who are left behind during a deployment, what they go through and why it is important to support them as their mothers or fathers are serving abroad. They offered us a different view of the military and our kids responded to that.

We hope our campers will be very attentive to a member of our armed forces when they come into contact with one. We hope that they will extend their hand and say thank you for your service to our country. We also hope that they will ask them, with true interest, what role they served in the protection of our country. Every role is equally important and interdependent. There are no small contributions. For more information, visit homebaseprogram.org or redsoxfoundation.org.

With the spirit of giving back to the community, our kids left the playhouse and hit the ground running! Some were picking up pinecones and sticks, some were raking our beaches, and some were swimming laps for cash that we donated to the Red Sox Foundation and Home Base Program. Robin Hood kids like to help. Each one of them did something to help the community and its members today and we are proud of their contributions. We remind our campers how lucky they are that their parents send them here. We discuss the importance of helping people because it is simply the right thing to do – help a neighbor shovel, help someone with their grocery bags, and hold a door for someone with a smile on your face. Every gesture has value, not only to the recipient but also to the donor. Woody challenged them to continue this kind of service at home. We hope the notion of service will become infectious and that Robin Hood Gives Back Day will be part of everyday somewhere in the Robin Hood Community.

PARENTS VISITING DAY

SPECIAL EVENTS

2015 Excursion Week began right after Parent's Visiting Day. Campers traveled through New Hampshire and Massachusetts, camped out under the New England stars, enjoyed all sorts of adventure and created lifelong memories, strengthening the bonds created at Robin Hood.

Tumblers/TPJs/Jesters/Squires

After breakfast in camp, our Tumblers, TPJs, Jesters & Squires split up into two groups to start their two-day excursion. Tumblers and TPJs started off their trip at Story Land Theme Park in Glen, NH. The campers enjoyed exciting park rides, met their favorite fairy tale characters, enjoyed carnival food and more! Since many of our Jesters and Squires have experienced Storyland over the past few years, we sent them to Whale's Tale Water Park in Lincoln, NH. The kids had a blast! After a day at the park, both groups traveled to their campsite to meet, set up tents, and eat a delicious dinner cooked by Stacey, Jared and their group leaders. The rain didn't dampen their spirits. If anything, it creates a memory that will last a lifetime! The evening ended with a nighttime viewing of Minions at the local movie theater. The next morning, campers enjoyed a delicious breakfast of cereal, breakfast burritos, eggs, and some apple pie! They loved having a sweet treat in the morning. After they closed up camp, all four groups headed to Cranmore Aerial Adventure Park. Various Ropes Courses, bungee adventures were a highlight of the day and everyone enjoyed a delicious pizza lunch brought in from Boston Brothers!

Bows

With an 8:00am departure, that must mean one thing... DUNKIN FOR BREAKFAST! After a few donuts, the group was off to Whale's Tale Water Park, where the campers enjoyed spending time together in the lazy river, wave pool, and waterslides. After heading to their campsite, our campers helped set up tents and prepare a delicious steak dinner! At Weirs Drive-In, the girls enjoyed seeing INSIDE OUT under the stars before heading to bed. After cooking breakfast at the campsite, the group went to Monkey Trunks ropes course. The trip concluded with a delicious lunch at Lakeside Deli and a stop at the Kellerhaus Ice Cream Buffet for a cool treat!

Archers

The Archers set off on a two-day excursion early in the morning. Starting their day at Dunkin Donuts for breakfast, the group headed to Monkey Trunks at Weirs Beach for a day of high ropes courses and challenges. Zip lines and aerial treks were the highlight of this portion of the trip. The group had a picnic lunch from Lakeside Deli and headed to Kellerhaus for ice cream sundaes before heading to Funspot for bowling and arcade games before heading to their campsite and cooking a delicious steak dinner. That night, the boys met up with the Bows for a drive-in showing for INSIDE OUT. After camping out under the stars and waking up to make a delicious breakfast, the campers headed out to Whale's Tale Waterpark. It was an amazing way to end their two-days of fun in the sun before returning to The Realm.

Quills

As the Quills ate breakfast at camp in anticipation of their three day excursion, they wondered what would be on their agenda. The trip started out with a day at Attitash Adventure Park. Waterslides, zip lines and alpine slides were some of the highlights on their first leg of their trip. After a day at the park, they headed to their campsite to cook a delicious dinner followed by a trip to Hodgies Too Ice Cream. After a day of adventure, campers relaxed at Hampton Beach before going mini-golfing. The highlight of day 2 included a showing of Peter Pan, The Musical, through Prescott Park's "Pies in the Park." After the show, the girls even got to meet Peter! Their last day included breakfast at the campground before heading to Water Country Water Park for a great day of rides and adventure on a beautiful sunny day in New Hampshire!

Yeomen

Setting out on their excursion early, The Yeomen made a quick stop at Dunkin Donuts for breakfast before heading to Tandem Kayak down the Saco River. The weather was perfect and the backdrop was perfect for group bonding on the river. Later that day, campers headed to Uberblast where they had full access to the inflatable area, played laser tag, and enjoyed the arcade! It was then time to head to their campsite and set up for the night. Campers pitched in setting up their tents and cooking their steak dinner before heading to a Drive-In movie and seeing The Yeomen ate a Dunkin breakfast before tandem kayaking down the Saco River. This was the first group to ever visit Uberblast and it was the highlight of the trip. The group played arcade games and had full access to the inflatable play area. A delicious meal was cooked at the campsite and later that night the boys went to the Bridgton Drive-In Theater and saw Minions. An adventurous day at Attitash Adventure was followed by mini golf and dinner at Applebees to round out their second day on excursion. With a heat wave during excursion week, cooling off at New Hampshire's best waterpark, Water Country, was just what the men of Upsilon Mu needed. It was a great trip for these boys – one they won't forget!

SPECIAL EVENTS

Arrows

The Arrows left on a three-day adventure throughout New Hampshire and Massachusetts after a Robin Hood breakfast. The trip started out at Canobie Lake Amusement Park. After a day in the sun, the girls arrived at their campsite to prepare a delicious feast. After cooking together and setting up their campsite, the girls met up with the Lancers for mini-golf and ice cream. The next day, Arrow's traveled to Massachusetts to Sky Zone Trampoline Park where they had full access to a dodgeball court. They LOVED jumping around! The girls all enjoyed land and water-rides as well as the great food at the park. The girls arrived at their campsite in Exeter, NH and cooked dinner together. Laser tag at Dover Bowl and arcade games, followed by a dinner at Great New Chinese Buffet in Portsmouth ended day two. The next morning, the girls headed to the Saco River to go tubing and, because of rain, cut their last leg of the trip a bit short! It didn't matter though – they all had the best time traveling and experiencing these adventures together!

Lancers

The 2015 Lancers headed out of camp ready to be surprised one activity at a time. Their excursion took them to OSG Paintball. Armed and ready, the boys spent four hours in the field, enjoyed a picnic lunch and left feeling amazing! They LOVED it! The rest of the afternoon was spent at the campground setting up and cooking together as a group before meeting up with the Arrows for an evening of mini-golf and ice cream at Captain's Cove. The next day we sent the boys to Water Country to cool off in the summer heat wave. A quick stop to a thrift shop after the water park and the boys were ready to roll into the Nashua Silver Knight's minor league baseball game in style. The Lancers used their swag to dominate the on-field games before heading back to the campground for a campfire and s'mores. The following morning, bright and early, the boys headed to the Deep Sea Fishing portion of their excursion on the Hampton River! An annual tradition for the Lancer group, fishing, with Dick, as a group was the only way to end this amazing trip!

Bards/Friars

The Bards and Friars headed out on a four-day excursion to western Massachusetts. We sent the Bards to Hampton Beach for a day of relaxation and boardwalk fun! The Friars set out on their excursion stopping in Portsmouth for a delicious all you can eat pizza buffet. With a little bit of car trouble, what was meant to be a quick stop turned into a day of exploring and shopping in downtown Portsmouth. Friars rallied during the pit stop, while the Bards stopped at The Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame in Springfield, MA. The Friars made their way to the campground and cooked a delicious steak dinner in the twilight. The next morning the boys went to the Basketball Hall of Fame before going to Six Flags New England where the Bards were already enjoying the adventures and water rides in the park and Hurricane Harbor Water Park. The next day both groups went White Water Rafting down the Deerfield River. The level 2-3 rapids were adventurous enough for our campers and they had a ton of fun experiencing this together. To end their excursion, the Bards headed to Portsmouth for a day of shopping and lunch while the boys headed to OSG Paintball for a few rounds in the early afternoon before heading back to camp.

Shires/Foresters

The Shires and Foresters took a trip down to Boston, Massachusetts for excursion. Both groups did some sight seeing, went on the Boston Duck Tour and ate a delicious dinner at Fire and Ice. The Foresters spent the next morning at the John F. Kennedy Library while the Shires visited the New England Aquarium and got a look at some incredible sea creatures. The groups jumped at Sky Zone and saw some terrific shows. The Shires and Foresters were fortunate to sit up close at the Blue Man Group and also saw the comedy show, Shear Madness. The groups also enjoyed quality shopping on Newbury St. and Boylston St. The Shires ended the excursion with a big lunch together and the Foresters enjoyed a day at Water Country Water Park. It was definitely a fun-filled trip that will be remembered forever!

Scribes/Saxons

For their final excursion as campers, the Saxons and Scribes traveled to Cape Cod on a three-day excursion. Throughout their days on the Cape, our campers enjoyed sun, sand and SURF! Everyone took surfing lessons throughout the weekend in different shifts and made memories to last a lifetime. On the first night of their trip, both groups had a nice dinner in Chatham together. The following day, Saxons enjoyed some rounds of mini-golf while the Scribes hit the beach in Eastham. Both groups came together for dinner and a show that night in Provincetown. Both groups spent their final day relaxing on the beach before lunch at Chipotle. Bonding and beaches for their last excursion was an amazing and relaxing adventure. After hiking Mt. Washington and Katahdin this summer, it was well deserved and one that won't soon be forgotten!

SPECIAL EVENTS

EVERY YEAR, SINCE 1927,

Robin Hooders celebrate the birthday of our founder, Andy Friedman.

On August 3rd we take time to honor Andy and his legacy by giving back to the camp that gives each of us so much! The evening starts with a banquet dinner in the Dining Hall, served by the administration and group leaders. Afterwards, the entire camp heads to the playhouse where each group "gift's" the camp with something. Each gift is representative of the group as a whole and adds something special and personal to camp. This is also the evening where we honor our 1st, 3rd, 5th, and 10th year campers. We also take time to honor those staff members who have been here for more than 10 years and are celebrating a milestone. This year we celebrated Steve Rupp for 25 years in The Realm. HUGE congratulations to Chuck Illig, for his 50th summer at Robin Hood. Founder's Night wouldn't have been complete without a FAKE BREAK courtesy of Chuck!

GREEN & WHITE SONGS – GREEN

Wagon Wheel

Picking the bean, praying it would be green
One look around, our emperor's dream
Hike to the plot, swear to God I see the deuce
Made it through the war with conjunctivitis
With Ollie's return the 'dores couldn't fight us
Peter's just the other,
Ollie's doing just fine

Chorus:

We'll claim The Realm for our new empire
50 years both teams admire
Greeeeeeeen
Green Empire
Old Boys: Woof, Woof, Briar
Rockin' The Realm
had the lead since the break
Anchors sunk the white to the bottom of the lake
What's
a Commodore
Old Boys: We, Arnot, Schorr

Smiling all day, never leaving JC
Lainey's smangin all the way to victory
Pod's on a streak, that won't end tonight
The bluff bunk is a hit, say farewell to the shack that always treated Nati so well Crew lives the life
Congratulations to young Pod!

Chorus:

We'll claim The Realm for our new empire
50 years both teams admire
Greeeeeeeen
Green Empire
Old Boys: Woof Woof Briar
Rockin' The Realm
had the lead since the break
Anchors sunk the white
to the bottom of the lake
What's
a Commodore
Old Boys: We, Arnot, Schorr

Walkin through The Realm
Lancers on the quad
What do we see but a true dad bod?
Empire's feeling good, in the hood,
'cause the 'dores chalked the war
Guess you didn't know you'd be fighting on land Back in eighteen ninety nine your ranking had been canned
In the big ten,
We know our history

We'll claim The Realm for our new empire
50 years both teams admire
Greeeeeeeen
Green Empire
Green is fire
Rocked The Realm on the fields in the lake
Challenging the green was your first mistake
Just
Read the score
It's our war

How Far We've Come

Woke up to the sound of the beat of a drum
Jet skis and judges meant the war had begun
'06 all knows that one has been done
Five days Commodores tried to put up a fight
Empire rose up and we conquered the white
Must be so woof to be a Vandy boy tonight

Chorus:

Cuz we believe the war has come to an end
We've built our walls too thick to cave in Empire prevails once more
Let's keep raising the score
Lain and Ver did not need to pick a bean
Their hearts have always bled for the green
Empire takes the war
Green spirit at the core

Pete and Matt your titles have been taken away
Not the first time Pod's lost, always ends up this way
Started off ahead we could not stop ourselves
White looked around and had no one to turn to

But look around on the green, we are a family
With no superiors we come together equally

Say your goodbyes because tonight empire will rise

We believe the war has come to an end
We've built our walls too thick to cave in
Empire prevails once more
Let's keep raising the score
Lain and Ver did not need to pick a bean
Their hearts have always bled for the green
The 'dores have all been banned
Steak dinner has been planned

Commodores, prisoners of war
So thanks for playing, white check the score
You've tried, tried, the war's on our side
Now it's over for you, it's all over for you (x2)

We believe the war has come to an end
We've built our walls too thick to cave in
Empire prevails once more
Let's keep raising the score
Lain and Ver did not need to pick a bean
Their hearts have always bled for the green
Our legacy won't die
When we stand side by side
Green spirit at the core
Empire takes the war
Green spirit at the core
EMPIRE WINS THE WAR

Vienna

Slow down,
It's been a while
As the memories flood back he begins to smile
Since nineteen sixty five the realm has been his home

Where's the magic?
It's in Chuck and the trees
The people have changed but he's always at ease
He wakes us every morning
Along with the cool summer breeze

So thank you for all the joy that you that bring
JC: And for giving all of us
JC: (pause) a reason to sing
Changes and traditions all thanks to you
We hope you realize
The Realm is here for you

Slow down,
Won't say goodbye
This place is your home, we're all just stopping by Boys camp: Taught us how to be a gentleman like him

You've got your passion, you've got your pride
Andy, John and David
all (pause) by your side
Dream on, we really hope that they all come true
We hope you realize
The Realm belongs to you

So thank you for all the joy that you that bring
JC: And for giving all of us
JC: (pause) a reason to sing
Changes and traditions all thanks to you
We hope you realize
The Realm is here for you
We hope you realize
The Realm belongs to you
We hope you realize
We owe it all to you

In Too Deep

The drummers were calling
DC just stop stalling
We're running to the water again

Since the morning of Day 1
Commodores can't stop having fun
Green's Empire will crumble and fall

Maybe the green put up a fight
But judges all know the war will go to the white

Chorus:

And we're sorry green, you picked the wrong bean
Prepare for defeat; just take a look at hist'ry
We have taken command, of the seas and the land
But there's one thing for sure, the 'Dores are gonna win this war

Vanderbilt bred
Our captains have always said
To anchor down we know A-Nuts relates

Peter and Podl at the helm
The white's been storming through The Realm
Hey Laine how bout that Mainers game?

Ollie please don't tell on us
We hope that you make it back onto the bus

Chorus:

We're the Commodores, with our 34s
Captains and the crew, will sail this ship to vic'try
We live 10 for 2, Dick keeps us thinkin' blue
You can't fake the break, this should be a line about steaks

Judges sit back enjoy the show
Is she the GL or a bow?

Matt Podl, is Captain!! (TPJ)
Peter's more than just the other one

Chorus:

We're sorry green, you picked the wrong bean
Prepare for defeat; just take a look at hist'ry
We have taken command, of the seas and the land
But there's one thing for sure, the 'Dores are gonna win this war

Chorus:

We're sorry green, you picked the wrong bean
Prepare for defeat; just take a look at hist'ry
We have taken command, of the seas and the land
But there's one thing for sure, the 'Dores have WON THIS WAR!!!

Love and Memories

Judges, look out upon us
A vision, and 'Dores were the ones
Empire, stuck inside a memory
Did you forget about dynasty?
Past will repeat

Green knows...

Chorus:

For these five days,
'Dores have conquered and prevailed
Anchored, down into The Realm
Sailing, we won't stop with victory
Our legacy, will live on for years

C-L-E raised three
But Lainey, where are you from?
The wall, is a thing of yesterday
We don't need it anyway, let the kids play

Just look at...

Chorus:

Just look at Caesar, and Alex the not-so-great Lain and Ver, tonight prepare for the same fate
Commodores, always sailing with the breeze
Empire, burning to the ground

Oliver's caught in a bind
Watch the white take over
Stand down and surrender
It's amazing to be
With Podl and Pete
But thanks for playing, YES! (fingers)

Chorus:

Commodores have conquered and prevailed
Anchored, down into The Realm
Sailing, we won't stop with victory
Our legacy, will live on for years

Chorus:

Commodores have conquered and prevailed
Anchored, down into The Realm
Sailing, we won't stop with victory
Our legacy, WILL LIVE ON FOR YEARS

High Hopes

Here we are again, these moments could they last forever?
It seems to me that were just scared of never feeling this again
It's crazy to believe that this will be a memory
But it's not that easy

I remember it now; it takes me back to when it all first started Time seemed endless, and I let it slip right through my fingertips
There comes a time to leave behind the place we call our home
But it's not that easy

Chorus:

When we're home
Bonds unbroken, time is frozen
Home...
Surrounded by a love unspoken
Home...
To find ourselves and find our dreams
JC: but were still searching...around

We can only hope, that camp remains and gives the same for those to come Memories they seem to show up so quick but they leave you far too soon Naive, never knew, how much this all would mean to me
But now we've found that

Chorus:

We are home
Back again, we never parted
Home...
Growing up the magic still remains
Home...
Oh when it all comes to an end
SC: Just don't let go
JC: We wont let go

Chorus:

Now you're home
Generations live the dream he started
Home...
Looking back you wish you never parted
Home...
But the dreams still living
And the dreams still living
It lives on

GREEN & WHITE

AS WEEK 5 CAME TO A CLOSE THIS SUMMER, all campers were back from excursion and the energy in The Realm was palpable. Campers sensed that Green & White could break at any moment. Usually around this time, campers are placing bets amongst friends as to the when, where and how Green & White will break and this year was no exception. On Monday, August 3rd, 2015 we celebrated Founder's Day, Andy Friedman's birthday. All day long, campers and counselors went about their day with an added sense of anticipation thinking that today would be the day Green & White 2015 would break! What they were left with was a day of celebrating Andy Friedman, gifting Robin Hood with a number of thoughtful presents and a good old fashioned FAKE BREAK while simultaneously honoring Chuck's 50th summer! Campers returned to their bunks with no break, still wondering how and when Green & White would commence this year?

At 5:50am on Tuesday, August 4th campers were given a wake up call they won't soon forget. Drummers from a local high school led campers through Boys' and Girls' camp, respectively, up to the Quad, down past the dining hall to the beautiful Robin Hood shore on Lake Ossipee. Campers cheered so loudly in anticipation of color war but it wasn't until DC & Woody came jet skiing towards camp in their hats and canes that we knew Green & White 2015 was about to begin. With two speedboats filled with judges behind them, DC & Woody came along shore to officially announce the start of Green & White 2015!

Day 1

An early morning wakeup meant there was much to be done on day 1 of Green & White. Once captains & co's were chosen and groups were split into teams, we gathered on the Quad for the traditional Jelly Bean Ceremony. After all groups were divided into their respective teams, it was time to determine who would lead each group. Under the leadership of Lainey Segel and Oliver Weil, the Green Empire was complete and with Peter Labes and Matthew Podl leading the White Commodores, a truly amazing 5 days of competition was set to begin!

Green came out on top having won a number of the activities and staff volleyball games but with four more days of competition, the first day of activities led us to believe it was going to be anyone's war.

Green 605 White 518

Day 2

After a heat wave during excursions, it was a nice change to have a beautiful, but not too hot, day for the Green & White Swim Meet. Gathered at the waterfront, both teams spent their morning competing in various relays. Swimming their hearts out, with their captain's close by, campers from every group participated in this event. The rest of the day was spent with group competition at various activities. From G&W bocce to G&W basketball, every game was played with intensity, sportsmanship and fun! With Green winning the Swim Meet and many of the activities throughout the day, White team would need a great Day 3 to close the gap. Green 1621 White 1406

Day 3

Day 3 is often an intense day of competition amongst campers and counselors alike. With the Track Meet scheduled and the margin growing larger between the Green Empire and White Commodores, it was important for White to have a great meet. You could feel the energy during the individual and team relays. Saxons and Scribes were on the sidelines cheering on all of the campers who were giving it their all to edge out the competition. Staff basketball drew a huge crowd and, with the help of not one but two Podl's, White team won.

Day 4

After 3 days of competition in the books and Green in the lead it was time for White to take it to another level. If the gap was going to close it would take everything over the last two days of competition to fight for this war. G&W Regatta commenced with Green winning Junior and Senior camp Regatta's. But throughout the day, White was quietly making a comeback. Before dinner, teams presented their flags, with much pride, which will hang in the Dining Hall until next summer. The day ended with staff softball games, which are always a crowd favorite. With no scores announced, there was no way of knowing how big or small the margin really was.

Day 5

Finally the last day of competition arrived and campers and counselors were doing everything they could to lead their teams to victory. Song and cheer practice, group activities throughout the morning and our traditional Day 5 Giant Relay and Tug-O-War. What an amazing day... White wins the Giant Relay and Robin Hood sees one of the most incredible Tug-O-War competitions. Highlights include Scribe tug-o-war ending in a draw.

Teams worked on their final preparation for Song Fest before enjoying a final Green & White dinner. Captains gave incredible speeches that truly spoke of their time and experience at Robin Hood while campers and their families watched with pride.

Finally, the entire camp settled in the barn for the last of this year's Green & White activities. Song Fest was amazing! Judges watched as Green & White, led by their incredible staff members, performed their medleys. What an amazing evening with laughter and tears.

To end an incredible war, Woody announced the final score...

White 3523 / Green 3388

Separated for five days by color, once the winner was announced it wasn't long before there was a mixed sea of green and white in the Barn. After five days of competition, it was time to congratulate the winners, learn each other's songs and get back to the bonds of friendship created throughout the summer – bonds that no color war competition could ever truly break.
